NEW BUILDING URGED TO HANDLE BUSINESS IN LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Congressman Howard Asks $2,000,000 Appropriation Following Report Submitted by Efficiency Commission

EXPERTS SAY QUARTERS ARE ENTIRELY INADEQUATE

Declare Phenomenal Increase in Business of Atlanta Office Has Made More Room Absolutely Imperative

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—It developed today that the efficiency commission in its report on the Atlanta postoffice recommends among other things the erection of a new building to accommodate the growing demands of Atlanta's postoffice business. As a result of this recommendation Congressman Howard introduced a bill appropriating $2,000,000 for a public building to be used exclusively by the postal department.

"In the event a regional bank is located in Atlanta the present postoffice can be used to accommodate this institution and in addition house the federal courts and such other government bureaus as may be located in Atlanta," explained Mr. Howard.

"The proposed new building should be and will be devoted exclusively to the business of the postoffice."

The efficiency commission, which spent ten days investigating the postal service in Atlanta, declares in its report that no other city in America has shown such a tremendous consistent increase in its postoffice business.

"The commission declares the present quarters are entirely inadequate to accommodate the postoffice and this view is entertained also by the supervising architect of the treasury department," said Congressman Howard.

"The importance of the recommendation of the efficiency commission, and the view of the supervising architect will appeal to congress, I believe, and be of material help in securing the two million dollars appropriation for a new building."

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS TO MEET APRIL 22-27

Final Plans to Be Made at Board Meeting in Philadelphia Monday

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Final plans for the third international congress of Mothers here, April 25-27, will be made at a meeting of the executive board in Philadelphia next Monday, it was announced today.

"Formation" and "reformation" will be the keynote of the forthcoming congress, the report of the new home department of the congress setting forth its work of the past year in reaching the homes, thus tending to form correct ideals so reformation will be unnecessary, caused the mothers to choose "formation" for their keynote.

The congress is meeting under the auspices of the government and invitations to the foreign ambassadors have been issued through the state department.

MOTHER JONES TO MAKE NO SECRET OF HER PLANS

Will Make Public Announcement of Time for Return to Trinidad

DENVER, March 18.—Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for "Mother" Jones, today said it had been decided to make public announcement of the time of her departure for Trinidad, where, according to the statement of Adjutant General John Chase, rearrest awaits the strike leader.

Mr. Hawkins said that if "Mother" Jones, who is eighty-two years old, should be arrested he would take the case at once to the state supreme court. Governor E. M. Ammons refused to make any statement as to the policy of the state in case Mrs. Jones went back to Trinidad.

CHANGES NUMEROUS IN JOURNAL'S M. & M. RACE

Results of Mid-Week Show New Organizations Forging Rapidly to the Front

Midweek voting shows many changes in the vote standing for the Journal's M. and M. Campaign. Organizations that were leading Sunday have had to give way to others that were not so fortunate in piling in votes last week. The Grand Rapids hospital, which has been making a struggle week after week for the lead and losing out by a small margin, leads again today, and is the first organization to go into that $25 MILLION class. The Inman Park Baptist church holds second position and a safe margin. Decatur Public School holds third place.

The others have all shown decided gains, and many have bettered their standings in today's issue. Ellen Fitzpatrick holds first place, with Harry Brown, jr., in second position.

Jay Gould Winner of World's Professional TennisChampionship

Won 'Open' Match From Geo. F. Covey, of England, Title Holder

(By Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—Jay Gould, American and British amateur court tennis champion, won the open professional championship of the world here today from George F. Covey, of England, the professional title holder.

The scores of the match were: 6-0, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

The American expert won four sets on Monday in such easy fashion that the result was virtually a foregone conclusion. Gould's playing in the four sets today was fully up to that of the first day. The British champion fought hard to the very end, taking the third set of the day and the seventh of the match, in fine style.

According to the articles of the match, the winner is exempt from playing for the world's championship for one year.

Being an amateur, Gould cannot accept the $1,250 prize money that would have gone to Covey had he won, but instead the American champion will receive a cup valued at that amount from the Racquet club of Philadelphia. Covey will receive two-thirds of the receipts of the match and his training expenses.

Called School Teacher Suffragette; Convicted On Charge of Slander

(By Associated Press.)

COLOGNE, March 18.—For calling a woman school principal a "suffragette," the wife of a physician in a suburban village was today convicted and fined on a charge of slander.

The offense was committed in the course of a quarrel over the punishment by the school principal of the physician's daughter.

The complainant, in supporting the charge before the court argued:

"The suffragettes have shown themselves to be scarcely normal. Educated people are enraged against them owing to their outrages and nobody would entrust children to me if I were a suffragette."

The defendant refused to apologize and declared that the teacher had "acted like a suffragette." She was thereupon ordered to pay a fine.

With the Qualifying of Women; Chicago Now Is Leading World in Voters

CHICAGO, March 18.—Including women who qualified as voters at registrations yesterday and last month under provisions of the state equal suffrage act, Chicago today has the largest voting population of any city in the United States, its total exceeding that of New York City by more than 20,000.

Sixty thousand, one hundred nineteen women registered yesterday, increasing the total women voting strength to 318,648, as compared with a total male registration of 1,043,961. The total Chicago registration now is 693,624.

Leaders of anti-saloon forces were jubilant today over the large registration of women in down state cities where local option elections will be held in April. In many of the cities the registration was greater than the most optimistic had expected, and hope of the nation asserted the unusual interest of the women will mean a substantial addition to prohibition territory in Illinois.

Names Baby After Frank Then Writes a Letter to President to Aid Prisoner

Leo Frank, since first he was lodged in the Tower, charged with Mary Phagan's murder, has received dozens of letters from people he never knew, and quite a few of them have expressed admiration for his attitude towards his prosecution.

The limit was reached Wednesday, however, when he received a letter from a man in a small Alabama town, who declared that he had just named his first baby girl Frank ——— and he wouldn't give the man's name.

The prisoner laughed with some of his friends to whom he read the letter.

"The idea of a man naming his child for a man who has twice been condemned as a murderer, was so ludicrous," Frank explained, "that I couldn't help laughing."

Besides telling Frank about the youthful namesake, the father wrote the prisoner that he had just written a letter to the president of the United States, urging him to intervene in the case, and let Frank have another trial.

DEVONSHIRE LIBRARY IS SOLD FOR $1,700,000

NEW YORK, March 18.—The famous library of the Duke of Devonshire has been acquired by Henry E. Huntington for $1,700,000 through a New York book dealer, it was announced here last night.

The Devonshire library was started early in the eighteenth century and contains an original copy of Shakespeare's Hamlet, valued at $50,000.

The duchess of Brunswick formerly was Princess Victoria Louise of Hohenzollern, only daughter of the German emperor. The marriage of the princess to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland took place on May 24, 1913. The prince assumed the throne of the duchess of Brunswick last November.

VILLA IS SURPRISED AND ROUTED WHILE MOVING ON TORREON

DETAILS FROM SCENE OF FIGHT ARE LACKING

Censor Cuts Dispatches to 15 Words and Authentic Information of What Took Place Has Not Been Forthcoming

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., March 18.—Thousands of persons in this section, whose fortunes are locked up in the military and political developments in Mexico, today awaited authentic information of the reported battle north of Torreon. In the last twenty-four hours exactly fifteen words of a press dispatch seeped through the censor and over the single telegraph line connecting Juarez with the present war zone, it was not restricted as to be scarcely more than an index of what it is assumed the censor removed.

Meanwhile federal agents here asserted that General Villa, moving confidently in the direction of Torreon, suddenly came upon the federals a hundred miles north of where he had expected them, was defeated at Escalon on the main line of the railway and at Rosario.

If the claims of the federals are correct, General Villa had to do battle for his life and is still in a precarious position with an enemy in front and another threatening by a flank movement to occupy his rear.

Federals assert and there were rumors to the same effect in the rebel camp at Juarez, that the first federal detachment moved out of Torreon west of a range of mountains beyond which lies Escalon and the railroad. This column, proceeding in the direction of Parral, is said to have come upon the rebel general, Urbina, at Rosario and the latter was forced to retreat pending the arrival of reinforcements. Rosario is 110 miles west of Jiminez and the latter city is directly in the rear of Escalon.

CUT OFF FROM RETREAT.

The federal attack at Escalon apparently was delayed until the eastern column on the other side of the mountains had engaged Urbina. Confirmation as to the fortunes of this general were eagerly, though not confidently awaited here. Pueblo rebels claim that not only was the rebel western column defeated at Rosario, but that it was unable to prevent the entry of the Huerta troops into Jiminez. If this proves true much of Villa's army has been cut off from retreat with an enemy in front and behind and the mountains and the desert on either side.

This feature of the story received little credence here. Similar belief was found for the report that the federal forces were defeated at Escalon but it is pointed out that the constitutionalists by retreating miles to Rellano, could occupy rifle pits and trenches constructed in the course of previous revolutions and there make a fresh stand.

The number of men engaged in the alleged battles can only be guessed at and estimates vary greatly. Killed and wounded except in the case of General Benavides, reported by Huertistas to have been killed at Escalon where his column, the Zaragoza brigade of 1,500 men, is said to have borne the brunt of the federal attack.

It is pointed out that the revolutions of the last four years have shown consistently that it takes more than one engagement to decide a Mexican battle.

Dispatches to Washington Are Silent About Battle

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—No reference to the battle near Torreon was contained in any dispatches received at the state department today.

Over night official dispatches were summarized in this statement:

"The release of Andrew Hamilton, arrested with Byrd and Goldschmidt, has been reported. The other two men will be brought, it is believed to the Mexico City in accordance with orders to federal Mexican officers to send to the capital all foreigners arrested on charges of furnishing aid to the rebels. Trains run via Saltillo to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz and to Torreon. Monterey is reported quiet.

"Destruction of railroad property by the revolutionists at Monclova is reported. Federals are in possession of the city. The fighting there is reported three Americans were fighting with the Carranistas and that two were killed."

Carranza Is Expected In Juarez Next Week

(By Associated Press.)

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 18.—General Carranza has crossed the international from Sonora and now is in Chihuahua state, according to a message received today from the rebel chief in Chihuahua city. It was believed he would arrive at Juarez by the first of next week.

Carranza's overland ride from Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., across the Chihuahua border was said to have been without incident. The Chihuahua insurgent leader was reported in good health.

WINTER STILL HANGING AROUND; FROST TONIGHT

Just as a reminder that old winter is still lingering close to spring, the weather man predicts that the weather will be much colder Thursday than it has been during the past several days. Frost is forecasted for Wednesday night and the weather man predicts a drop of temperature to about 30 degrees. It will gradually get warmer during the day, but the mercury will remain below 50, and, in comparison with the spring weather of the early part of the week, Thursday will seem much colder than it really is. Fair weather is predicted for Thursday.

BURNS INDICATES HIS BELIEF IN INNOCENCE OF LEO FRANK

Nine Have Narrow Escape in House Which Is Set On Fire for Revenge

"If I hadn't been so ready to wake up—like every mother is—I guess we'd have all been dead today," said Mrs. George Holtman, whose home on Jackson street is thought to have been set afire for revenge Tuesday night. Mrs. Holtman is shown in the picture and her four little children. George, age eleven; Marie, age ten; Katherine, age eight, and Gertrude, age five. The mother insisted she was the little daughter, too, for it was Gertrude who clung to a rag doll and watched the smoke.

BROTHERS ARE HELD FOR SHOOTING AT SYCAMORE

W. G. and J. J. Clark Jailed, Jesse Zorn in Critical Condition at Macon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ASHBURN, Ga., March 18.—W. G. and J. J. Clark, brothers, are in jail here pending an investigation of the shooting of Jesse Zorn, a widely known resident of this county, who was shot last night at his home in Sycamore, three miles from this place.

Zorn was shot while in his own back yard early last night. The Clark brothers, who boarded next door to the Zorn home, claim that, believing a burglar was trying to enter the Zorn house in the absence of the family, they fired on a figure they saw at the back door. They claim that Zorn was running when they fired, twice with a shotgun and twice with a pistol. All four shots took effect, Zorn being wounded in the shoulder and abdomen, hip and ankle.

Zorn was rushed to Macon for medical treatment. He is said to have declared soon after the shooting that he fell at the first shot and that the other three were fired while he lay on the ground.

SHALL WOMEN SERVE ON BOARDS OF CITY?

This and Other Questions to Be Considered by Charter Committee Thursday P. M.

The special council committee on charter amendments, created by a resolution passed a few weeks ago, has been called to hold its first meeting Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in city hall. Council members and citizens with ideas relating to amendments in the city charter are invited to come and submit them.

One of the important amendments to be considered by the committee is the one introduced in council recently by Councilman Claude L. Ashley, of the [illegible] ward, providing that the legislature be asked to amend the charter so that women may serve on the departmental boards of the city. Alderman Thomson says he favors this proposition, although he doubts if the legislature will pass it, even should council so request.

Another change in the charter so that the chief of the construction department shall be elected by the general council instead of by the mayor is another important one which council members are now discussing. Alderman Thomson will take the initiative in this matter.

Alderman Thomson will also advocate a charter amendment authorizing the general council to establish building lines on streets. Already Atlanta's growth has made it necessary to widen certain main thoroughfares and still more must be widened in the future. Hence it is advisable for the city to be able to establish lines outside of which buildings shall not be built, so that when the time comes to widen a street

Negro Driven From Yard of Home of George Holtman Believed to Have Caused Blaze on Jackson Street

Only the wakefulness of Mrs. George Holtman, of 280 North Jackson street, saved herself, her husband, their four little children and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and baby from death by flames Tuesday night, started, it is believed, by a negro in revenge for being ejected from the back yard of the Holtman residence the afternoon before.

Both Mrs. Holtman and Fire Chief Cummings are the authority for the statement that the fire was of incendiary origin. Others are now looking for the negro who is thought to have started it.

Mrs. Holtman was awakened shortly after midnight Tuesday by the noise and crackling flames. The Holtmans live downstairs in the house, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, with their little baby, upstairs. Both families had retired early.

Mrs. Holtman leaped from her bed and rushed into the hall. Thick smoke was coming up from the basement and from a closet on the first floor.

At once, the mother instinct uppermost, Mrs. Holtman rushed into the front room and wakened her little children, George, aged eleven, Marie, aged ten, Katherine, aged eight, Gertrude, aged five. She then roused her husband.

Without stopping to put on any extra clothing, the Holtman family crashed out of the front door into the night. It was raining hard and blowing at the time, and, thinly clad as they were, the little children clung to their mother, sobbing and crying.

Little Gertrude clasped a doll in her arms, a beloved, but much loved plaything that she has been accustomed to sleep with each night since she became its little mother. She had clung to it even while the frantic mother was hurrying them out of the burning home.

Her family gone, Mrs. Holtman's thoughts turned to the Smiths upstairs. She had had no sign that they were awake, so she dashed into the house again and roused them. Mr. Smith, carrying their little baby and with Mrs. Smith at his side, joined the Holtman family out of doors.

The two families took refuge from the wind and rain with the family of Mrs. E. Lichenstein, just across the street, and from there telephoned the fire department. Prompt work saved the greater part of the house and its furniture.

Starting in the basement, the flames never reached the roof, and the most damage was done to the fittings and interior downstairs.

Fire Chief Cummings started an investigation Wednesday morning, and declares that in his opinion the fire was incendiary.

"I found a regular bonfire built under the house," he said, "and papers and other stuff had been gathered together in a closet on the first floor and ignited."

The chief's opinion is further strengthened by the statement of Mrs. Holtman that she thinks the fire was started by a negro.

"He was hanging around the back yard Monday afternoon," she told a Journal reporter. "A big, black fellow. We are from Cincinnati and have been here but a few months, so I was afraid of him. I made him get off the place, but he went in a surly sort of manner.

DELAY IS PROBABLE IN NAMING U. S. ATTORNEY

Senator West Urges Pratt Adams, but McReynolds Is in No Hurry

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—After a conference with Attorney General McReynolds this morning, Senator West concluded the appointment of a United States attorney for the southern district of Georgia may be delayed for some months. The attorney general is in no hurry to relieve District Attorney Akerman, in view of the fact that the government's case against the alleged lumber trust must be reheard. He doesn't want to "swap horses in the middle of the stream."

Senator West called at the department of justice to recommend the appointment of Pratt Adams, of Savannah. He urged the attorney general to waive the requirement that Mr. Adams retire from the law firm of Adams & Adams and in course of the conference gathered the impression that final disposition of the matter may be deferred until the naval stores case has been disposed of finally.

ILLNESS DEFERS TRIAL OF ALLEGED BANK ROBBERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CLEVELAND, Ga., March 18.—The trial of the men accused of the robbery of the bank at Lyerly, which was set for this week, has been postponed on account of the illness of important witnesses. The trial will probably be held at a special adjourned term of court, to be called at a later date.

The three men held are Mark McNew, Frank Matthews and H. Kelly. The bank was robbed on the night of January 23, and $4,000 in cash was obtained, which has not been recovered. McNew is said to have confessed and implicated the other two.

CONFERENCE ON TOBACCO CONCERN IS POSTPONED

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 18.—The conference to consider the complaint of independent tobacco dealers that the Metropolitan Tobacco company of New York, restrains trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which it was announced, would be held today by H. Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney, and agents of the tobacco companies, was postponed until next week from today on account of the illness of Assistant District Attorney Thompson, who had charge of the case.

EVERY CRIMINAL IS CERTAIN TO LEAVE TRACK, HE ASSERTS

"Trail Is Very Plain," States Detective Enigmatically in Discussing Mary Phagan Murder With Newspapers

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN DORSEY'S SINCERITY

"But Smartest Man's Vision Is Liable to Be Distorted," Adds Sleuth-Becker, in Letter, Defends Frank

The indication that Detective William J. Burns believes Leo M. Frank is innocent of the murder of Mary Phagan, in the light of his present information, was made plain by the interpretation of remarks he made during conversation Wednesday morning with newspaper men.

"Every criminal leaves some sort of track," was one of his assertions.

Later he said: "The trail is very plain."

Then he said: "Notwithstanding the various charges that have been made, I think Solicitor General Dorsey has been absolutely honest in this case, and that he never would have prosecuted a man he did not thoroughly believe to be guilty. But, however keen or smart a man may be, his vision is liable to be distorted.

"When the turns his attention to detectives and speaking of them generally declared they too often hit on a theory and then try to build the facts to suit that theory.

"The theory should always be made to fit the facts, although the reverse is true in the work of many detectives.

"Often I have known detectives to follow a given theory until they struck a stone wall. Then they get mad, instead of simply dropping the theory.

"I know of no detective who will hammer to change his theory than myself. On some cases I have had half a dozen different theories. I follow them all, as far as the facts let me, and then I drop it, and start out on an entirely different angle.

Refusing generally to discuss detail points of the case, Mr. Burns made remark, however, that he considers as very important the evidence which H. F. Becker, now of New York, formerly master mechanic of the pencil factory, is reported as being able to give. Becker is said to have data regarding the paper on which one of the notes was written, that it was a piece of trash paper which the southern district of Georgia may be used months before the murder.

BURNS IS CONFIDENT.

Mr. Burns appeared confident that the mystery will be solved.

He said he was not late to get at the bottom of the case. On the other hand, he appeared to think conditions at this late day were favorable for the correct solution than they were at first.

"Sometimes it is better to wait till indignation has subsided and then look at a thing sanely and calmly," said he.

He said the indignation aroused by the murders of Mary Phagan was but natural and did not discredit the community. On the contrary, said he, it showed the community is law-abiding and will not tolerate lawlessness. He assumed race prejudice had militated against Frank. There are undoubtedly people in every community, he said, who are prejudiced against Jews.

"I am glad to see the chief of the city detectives says he will co-operate with me," said Burns, "for rather I am glad he will let me co-operate with him."

Burns would not say, however, when

FORCED TO EAT CRUSHED ICE

And Was Not Even Allowed Privilege of Sitting Up, but Finally Wins Out

Kaplan, La.—Mrs. Casamear Burkhart, of this town, gives out following for publication: "I feel that I owe my life to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I was married last April, and was in fairly good health. Shortly after marriage my health began to fail, and for three long months I was threatened with serious sickness.

I passed most of my time in bed, with a nurse at my bedside. At last, I was told an operation was necessary. I was so weak I could retain nothing on my stomach but crushed ice, and was not even allowed to sit up in bed.

A friend of mine advised me to use Cardui, the woman's tonic, and they got a bottle for me, as a last resort.

After taking Cardui for one week, I was able to be up in my room. After continual use for two months, I was in perfect health, and could do all of my work without tiring.

I take an occasional dose of Cardui and Black-Draught now, to keep my system in good condition.

Several of my friends are using Cardui with good results. I am never without it in the house."

There's a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at your nearest druggist's. Get it and begin taking today. You will never regret it.

Gone Forever Are Dyspeptic Days of Old

The Simple, Safe, Sure Use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Bring Joy to Any Stomach Sufferer in an Easy, Comfortable, Dietless Way.

How many quiet, afraid-to-make-a-noise, unhappy homes there are due to cross, irritated, miserable, close-that-kitchen-door kind of dyspepsia sufferers. Such men and women cannot help their peevishness for they suffer terribly and should not be censured.

A stomach that is irritated, raw, rebellious and not fit to do its work is certainly the cause of constant dragging down and even excruciating agony.

It is a feeling surpassed by no other illness known to man.

No one should blame such a person for ill temper and silent moodiness. Ever and always is that dead, gone, sour tasting feeling at hand to curse every waking hour.

Dyspepsia, bad breath, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach, pains in bowels, nervousness, heartburn, belching, bloating, etc., come from wrongful conditions of digestive juices. There is nothing to correct these horrors until these juices are again replenished.

When the stomach exhausts its juices, when the liver, when the pancreas, the stomach becomes thereby unfit to furnish the proper digestive fluids, one cannot expect this same system, without aid, to do anything else than keep on making their improper digestive products.

Such a condition means all manner of suffering, and unquestionably fatal danger lurks in such delay.

There is relief in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets that means a restoration to normal health, a building up of correct digestive juices and an absolute harmlessness in the method and its result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain qualities in just the right proportion to build up the weakened gastric juice. When the tablet reaches the stomach, it readjusts matters quickly, balances acids and alkalies and stops pain, suffering, etc.

Other ingredients have just as important effects upon the intestines as well as the stomach and thus in a remarkably short time stomach ills, indigestion, etc., disappear.

Go to your druggist today and obtain a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, price 50 cents.—(Advt.)

he expects to call on Chief Lanford and confer about the case.

While he will make no definite statement Burns indicates he will be at work on the case some days before he formulates the final report.

"In a case like this," he said, "a detective must consider the fact that he must satisfy all right thinking people, and I am very certain that when my final report on this case is read there will be no doubt left in anyone's mind as to the identity of Mary Phagan's slayer."

Burns has nothing to say about the number of men he has at work on the case or the methods of investigation they are pursuing. Wednesday morning he went direct from the Georgian Terrace hotel, where he is stopping, to the office of his agency here, and he is devoting a number of hours each day to investigation. Besides W. W. Rogers, one of the men who watched the factory just after the discovery of the body, Burns is reported to have interviewed Newt Lee, the night watchman, who was first suspected of the crime. Apparently Burns has made no effort to secure an interview with Frank Conley, the negro who has been convicted as Leo M. Frank's accomplice in the murder.

Developments in the case are expected Thursday on the return from Washington of Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, of the defense. While Mr. Arnold did not make the trip in connection with the Frank case, it is said new and sensational affidavits have been placed in his hands, and these possibly will be made public.

Becker Defends Frank In Letter to Journal

Henry F. Becker, the former master mechanic of the National Pencil factory, has written to The Journal in defense of Frank, declaring that one of the order blanks on which one of the murder notes was written could not have been picked up by Frank in his office, as Jim Conley claims in his story.

Becker, who is now employed in a pencil factory in New Jersey, identifies his signature on the photographic copy of the murder note, which he has seen, and corroborates the claim of the Frank defense, that the discarded order blanks, used by himself, were carted to the basement of the pencil factory when he left the service of the Atlanta concern.

Becker also pays tribute to Frank. His letter follows in full:

Irvington, N. J., March 14, 1914.

The Atlanta Journal:

Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Just a few lines in reference to your editorial of March 10, 1914, in regards to Mr. Leo Frank's case. I would like to make a few remarks in his behalf. Having been employed as master mechanic with the National Pencil company, where I came in contact with Mr. Frank more than anyone of the employees, I will state I always found him upright and honest, and in regard to female help it was nothing but business through and through with him. There has been a booklet sent me from Atlanta, with a photograph of the notes found by the girl's body, and, as near as I can see, it has my signature.

Before I left the employ of the National Pencil company I sent the bulk of old order books to the basement to be burned, as I kept them for reference to myself, and with the photograph note the date 1909, and, as the negro claims that the notes were written in Mr. Frank's office, which could not be possible, as Frank's order blank books were dated 1913—I am not connected with Mr. Frank in any way or form, but would like to see that justice is done by giving him another trial, so his innocence will be proved.

Hoping you will approve of this and have it published in your paper, I remain

Sincerely yours,
HENRY H. BECKER,
41 Maple Ave., Irvington, N. J.

Frank Juror Replies To Pulpit Utterances

J. T. Osburn, a member of the jury which convicted Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, has addressed a communication to the editor of The Journal in which he replies to the pulpit utterances of three Atlanta pastors last Sunday in advocacy of a new trial for the condemned man.

He says the jury heard "ALL" the evidence and "claims to have sufficient honesty and intelligence to reach the same without prejudice and to render the verdict according to the law and testimony, notwithstanding the opinion of the holier-than-thou gentlemen to the contrary."

He says the jury was not trying "yellow dogs" nor "sheep killing dogs" but a "white man charged with a heinous crime," and realized the solemn responsibility.

He says the jury was not listening to the "inflamed condition of the public mind" spoken of by the preachers.

In conclusion he says the jury, after listening to all the testimony and carefully and honestly considering every point, "believed and still believes, the verdict was righteous and the sentence just."

INJUNCTION RESTRAINS BEAVERS AND VICE SQUAD

Order to Force Woman to Discontinue Keeping Walton Inn Set Aside

Chief of Police Beavers and his "vice squad" were restrained by a temporary injunction granted Wednesday morning by George L. Bell from forcing Mrs. Julia Eisfeldt, proprietress of the Walton Inn, 103 Walton street, to vacate the place.

Mrs. Eisfeldt stated in her petition to the court that she had been given notice by Chief Beavers, through one of his subordinates, on March 13 to vacate the Walton Inn, which she runs as a boarding house. She said she had been tried before Recorder Broyles on March 11 for keeping a disorderly house; she waived preliminary hearing then, and her case went up to the city court.

She states that everything she possesses in the world is the furniture for the twenty-two rooms in the Walton Inn, valued at $6,000, and that her only means of livelihood is keeping a boarding house. She says she has twenty-five boarders, and has been keeping the Walton Inn for seven years. Her lease, she states, does not expire until September 1, 1915.

After granting the temporary restraining order against Chief Beavers and the vice squad, Judge Bell set March 28 as the date for a hearing as to whether or not the injunction shall be made permanent or else be dismissed.

NINE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN HOUSE SET ON FIRE FOR REVENGE

The damage to the house, known as the Selma apartments, is several hundred dollars.

Second Big Fire in Week In LaGrange; $20,000 Loss

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 18.—Property loss estimated at $20,000 was caused by a fire of unknown origin last night in the Unity mill settlement just outside the city limits. There was little insurance. The Elm Unity Co-Operative store, operated for the benefit of mill employes, was almost destroyed before the flames were discovered. Another store and a residence also were burned. Only the distance of other houses prevented the destruction of the entire mill settlement.

This is the second big fire in LaGrange recently, the Callaway department store having been burned last week.

Merchants of Tuscaloosa Suffer Loss of $250,000

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 18.—Three business houses and their stocks were destroyed by fire and water here early today entailing a loss estimated at $250,000. Rosenau company, a department store, at Greensboro avenue and Broad street, was the heaviest loser, its building burning to the ground. The building was valued at $50,000 and the stock at $150,000.

Others who sustained losses were: Maxwell-Raiford, jewelers, $15,000; Kardin, baker, $5,000; Brown, general merchant, $10,000; Miss Wildman, millines loss not estimated.

The fire originated in the rear of the Maxwell-Raiford building about o'clock this morning from some unknown cause. The flames traveled eastward along Broad street until gotten under control when they approached the Kardin building. The Merchant's bank building was just east of the bakery, with two lots between but it was undamaged.

Spark From One House Causes Another to Burn

A spark from one house on Highland avenue caught the house next door Wednesday morning, completely destroying it, and endangering the house from which it originated, but only so far as to make sprinkling the roof necessary.

The house burned was that of Charles J. Lee, at 4 Highland avenue. It became ignited from a spark from the chimney of Mrs. Viola Van Stavoren's house at 8 Highland. When the fire department arrived on the scene, neighbors were spreading wet blankets on Mrs. Van Stavoren's house with such success that it was saved.

Mr. Lee's home was burned badly, the damage amounting to $6,000 or $7,000.

Nature Still "Casts Out Devils"

If you don't think they're REAL devils, just let them accumulate as in constipation and biliousness. A whole brood of demons appear, such as indigestion, flatulency, heartburns, palpitation, dizziness, jaundice, congestion of the liver. Later these grow into Bright's Disease, Typhoid, Malaria, etc.

There's one thing these devils can't stand, and that is Bile. Bile is Nature's great cleanser and disinfectant. When it's dammed up, all the above troubles appear. Release it, and they disappear like mist before the rising sun. That's why salts, mineral waters, oil and common laxatives fail. They don't release the Bile, but merely flush the intestines.

Don't "Wear Out" a Cough or Cold—8 smooth Out with Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Ho ney.

Podophyllin (common Mandrake or May-Apple Root) is Nature's own gift to mankind. Since the days of the patriarchs it has proven the one harmless and certain cure for constipation, flatulency, heartburns, palpitation, dizziness, jaundice, congestion of the liver. Later these grow into Bright's Disease, Typhoid, Malaria, etc. (See Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

PoDeLax is a Podophyllin formula made pleasant in taste and action, and is for the whole family, children especially.

You can reason. You know that a free flow of Bile insures a healthy body. You know that no food would be fit for blood food without the Bile to purify it. We insist that PoDeLax will start the Bile—that it is done gently without griping—without sickening, and we guarantee it.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN WILL DIGEST FOOD WHEN YOUR STOMACH CAN'T—IT'S GREAT

Stops Indigestion, Sourness, Gas and Dyspepsia in Five Minutes

If you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat does like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you need Pape's Diapepsin to stop food fermentation and indigestion.

It neutralizes excessive acid, stomach poison; absorbs that misery-making gas and stops fermentation which sours your entire meal and causes Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer in five minutes how needless are all of Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—you always remember that relief is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.—(Advt.)

REFUSED PERMISSION TO ENTER TRAIN SHED, SUES

Tailor Says He Was Prevented From Assisting Wife and Children on Train

Alleging that a gatekeeper in the Terminal station had forced him to remain outside of the gates when he went to see his wife and children off, and had threatened him with arrest, John Chalman, tailor and importer in the McKenzie building, asked $5,000 damages from the Central of Georgia railroad and the Atlanta Terminal company before Judge Reid in the city court Wednesday.

Chalman alleges that his wife and three little children, fifteen months, two and a half and three and a half years old, respectively, were going to Leland, Fla., on the Central from Atlanta.

He states that tickets, both Pullman and transportation, were purchased for his wife and children. He was carrying the fifteen-months-old baby in one arm, and had a heavy grip in the other hand.

Two of the children had passed through the gate, the plaintiff alleges, when he was stopped by the gatekeeper who said he either had to have a ticket or a pass before he could go through.

He asked to be allowed at least to go and get the little children who had gone ahead alone, but the gatekeeper refused. Finally, said Mr. Chalman, the gatekeeper told him he was under arrest, and walked with him to a special officer in the station. The baby was still in Mr. Chalman's arms.

This officer, according to the plaintiff's allegations, said to the gatekeeper, "For God's sake, let the people go through," which was then permitted.

Chalman states that his wife was frail and ill at the time and could not have managed alone the baby or the big grip which he carried for her.

The defense states that Chalman argued with the gatekeeper, saying that he would go through and that no one could stop him, and blocked the entrance to the gate until the keeper was forced to threaten to arrest him.

Atkinson & Born represent the plaintiff, while the defendants are represented by Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman.

LETTER MAY BE ATTACHED TO PARCEL POST PACKAGE

Burleson Issues Order Which Will Add to Popularity of the Service

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—To further add to the popularity of the parcel post, Postmaster General Burleson today signed an order which will permit the attaching of a letter to a package when both bear their respective rates of postage and are addressed to the same individual. The sending of a communication with a parcel package heretofore has not been permissible.

Postal officials pointed out today that it often is highly desirable that a parcel and communication relating to it be delivered at the same time. The letter or communication however is not to be inclosed in the package but is to be tied or otherwise securely fastened to the outside in such a manner as to prevent its separation from the package.

The new order is expected to enlarge considerably the parcel post service.

NEW AMATEUR BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE FORMED

There is to be this summer in Atlanta a new amateur baseball league.

It will be known as the City Park Department league, will be composed of players not in any other league, and its games will be played on diamonds in various city parks.

And when the baseball season is over, and the championship of this new league has been decided, the league authorities will undertake to arrange a "world's series" with the pennant winning team in some other league.

Dan Carey, general manager of the park department, originated the idea, and he, City Clerk Walter Taylor and the city hall reporters of the three Atlanta newspapers are to constitute the league's official board of directors.

D. G. JONES WITH CARLTON COMPANY

Friends of Mr. D. G. Jones will be glad to know that he is located with the Carlton Shoes and Clothing company, being in the clothing department.

Mr. Jones is well known in Atlanta business circles, and there are many who will be interested in his change.

A Message to Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, wholesome food." The reason is plain: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fattening elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and send them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, wasted tissues, build them up. This person's trouble is like dry goods—meager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, creating soft bony angle and protecting point. Jacobs' Pharmacy and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in increasing nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder. (Adv.)

LETTERS FROM READERS

MORE INDORSEMENTS FOR JOURNAL'S EDITORIAL

Letters Commending Paper's Attitude on Frank Trial Continue to Pour In

Below will be found a number of letters from well-known citizens who indorse The Journal's editorial asserting that "Frank Should Have a New Trial":

FROM WILMER L. MOORE.

Atlanta, Ga., March 14, 1914.

Hon. James R. Gray,
Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.:

My Dear Mr. Gray:

The position of The Journal in giving a strong editorial upon the Frank verdict is being commended by the thinking and fair-minded element of our city.

I trust that you will continue your campaign for a fair trial, and that you will succeed in bringing to your assistance the editorial indorsement of the other Atlanta papers.

Yours very truly,
WILMER L. MOORE.

FROM EUGENE M. MITCHELL.

Eugene M. Mitchell, Atlanta lawyer, says:

Atlanta, March 16, 1914.

Hon. James R. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.

My Dear Mr. Gray:

I wish to commend the editorial in last Monday's Journal on the subject of the Frank case.

Very truly yours,
EUGENE M. MITCHELL.

FROM T. D. MURPHY.

T. D. Murphy, postmaster at Augusta, writes:

Augusta, Ga., March 14, 1914.

Hon. James R. Gray,
The Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.

My Dear Mr. Gray:

I know little of the Frank case. I note with the deepest interest the position of The Atlanta Journal that Frank was not accorded a fair trial. That being your conviction, I want to say that I hope you will succeed in reopening the case to the end that an impartial hearing be given the condemned man.

The murder of the poor child who was slain should be avenged by the law. But in the punishment therefor no injustice should be done another.

Every man is entitled to a fair trial. If Frank, as you point out, was not given this fair trial in fact, I hope your influence will win the square deal for him. If he is guilty he should be punished. If he is innocent he should go free. Above all, his trial should be fair and impartial.

Respectfully,
THOMAS D. MURPHY.

FROM W. F. DORSEY.

W. F. Dorsey, head of the Dorsey Furniture company and mayor of Athens, expresses himself as follows:

Athens, Ga., March 14, 1914.

Hon. James R. Gray,
Care Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

I desire to express to you my sincere appreciation of your editorial concerning the Frank case. In my opinion no more courageous stand has been taken by a Georgia newspaper for what it considered to be the right than your paper has taken in this instance.

I further believe that you have the support of all good citizens who desire to see the law enforced in a manner that will be above reproach and that will not bring shame upon the state of Georgia. As some one has aptly said, it is quite as important that the people believe that their courts are doing justice as it is that they actually do justice, and I do not for a moment doubt that the people of this state who have given the matter sober reflection will agree with you that this man, regardless of his guilt or innocence, is entitled to a trial which will be free from the prejudices and passions which surrounded the other.

You have really done a great service for the cause of law and order, because you have made it clearly apparent that Georgians do not care for other than a legal and orderly procedure in their courts.

Assuring you of my high regard, am

Very sincerely yours,
W. F. DORSEY,
Mayor of Athens.

FROM J. E. CARTER.

J. E. Carter, of Lumpkin, clerk of the superior court of Stewart county, commends the editorial in the following letter:

Lumpkin, Ga., March 13, 1914.
Editor Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

Allow me to congratulate you on your editorial "Frank Should Have a New Trial." I believe it the duty of the press and the citizens of Georgia to leave nothing undone to the end that Frank gets a new trial.

I very much fear that the Frank case has done more to undermine respect for the judiciary than any other event in the history of Georgia. I was in Atlanta part of the time Frank was on trial, and followed the case closely in the press throughout the trial, and I have never yet been able to see wherein a conviction was based. But be that as it may, our people are divided in their opinion as to Frank's guilt or innocence, but one thing they all agree on is he has not had a fair trial and that he should have a new trial.

Yours very truly,
J. E. CARTER.

FROM WM. B. MOORE.

William B. Moore, secretary of the Blue and Gray Memorial association of Fitzgerald, Ga., says:

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 16, 1914.
Editor Atlanta Journal:

I have read the case of the State of Georgia vs. Leo Frank closely from the commencement, and, with all due respect for our supreme court, the trial judge, solicitor and jury, I feel as though the state, Atlanta and Frank have been the victims of extreme haste and passion, and am firmly of the opinion (which is fully concurred in by all cool headed and fair thinking people) first, that Leo Frank should have a new trial; and, second, that he should have a chance of venue.

Yours for fairness,
WM. B. MOORE.

FROM PROF. J. LUSTRAT.

Prof. J. Lustrat, who occupies the chair of languages at the University of Georgia, has written the following letter:

Athens, Ga., March 14, 1914.

Mr. James R. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

My Dear Mr. Gray: Allow me to congratulate you on your splendid editorial of a few days ago on the Frank case.

Public feeling such as prevailed in Atlanta at the time of Frank's trial, has caused in France an innocent man to be sent to Devil's Island, where month after month he had to suffer torments worse than death.

I do not claim that Frank is innocent, but I claim, with you, and many others, that he ought to be given a fair chance to prove his innocence. Sincerely yours,
J. LUSTRAT.

FROM E. H. M'MICHAEL.

E. H. McMichael, Speaker pro tem. of the Georgia house of representatives and member of the legislature from Marion county, writes as follows:

March 15, 1914.

Mr. J. R. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal:

Dear Sir—As a citizen of Georgia and as a lover of justice and fair play, I wish to indorse every word of your able editorial of the 10th advocating a new trial for Leo Frank.

The crime for which he stands convicted was so brutal that the public mind was wild with indignation when he was tried. There was a thirst for the blood of the murderer. So intense was this feeling that the very atmosphere in and about the court house was charged with the sulphurous fumes of anger. I was in the court house several times during the trial, and the spirit, the feeling, the thought of the crowd affected me. Without reason, I found myself prejudiced against Frank. Prejudiced, not from facts and testimony, but by popular belief and hostile feeling manifested by the crowd.

Psychology, or mental science, teaches that under conditions like those which prevailed during Frank's trial a jury may be unconsciously prejudiced or swayed by the popular mind. Frank may be guilty; he may be innocent. Certainly he has not had a fair trial. Let's give him one. The constitution of our state guarantees to every man, white or black, high or low, Gentile or Jew, an absolutely fair trial.

Respectfully,
E. H. M'MICHAEL.

CONVENTION TO AMEND CHINESE CONSTITUTION

Forty-Four Delegates Present Hear Inaugural Address Read

By Associated Press.

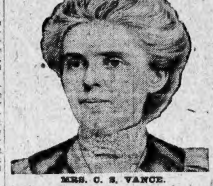
PEKING, China, March 18.—A convention opened here today to amend the provisional constitution of the Chinese republic. Sun Pao-Chi, acting premier, and minister of foreign affairs, presided. Out of the sixty elected delegates forty-four were present.

Sun Pao-Chi read to the convention an inaugural address by President Yuan Shi Kai sketching the ill-effects of the provisional constitution on both internal and foreign relations, owing to its restrictions on the government and its being unsuited to existing conditions in China.

The president added that he felt assured the convention would result in rectification of the constitution in order to bring about peace and prosperity for China and her people.

What is Woman's Beauty but Health

And the Basis of Her Health and Vigor Lies in the Careful Regulation of the Bowels



MRS. C. S. VANCE.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly, among them Mrs. C. S. Vance, of 511 S. Ray street, New Castle, Pa. At times she had spells of indigestion so severe that she thought she would die. Syrup Pepsin regulated her stomach and bowels, and she attributes her excellent health today to this remedy.

All the family can use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently. It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-tonic in America today and thousands of families are now never without it.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington street, Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

LIFE'S OPPORTUNITIES ARE NOT TO BE PASSED OVER

Greatest Satisfaction Received in Doing Everything for the Best

One of the greatest satisfactions of life is to look back upon the opportunities which have presented themselves to you, and your record of achievement. If you can say "I have done all things well," your satisfaction is complete, but if you have here and there left something undone which would have benefited you materially, or would have improved your present condition, you feel the responsibility is your own, and no one but yourself can be blamed for your present condition, or lack of position.

Not only is this true of the battle of life, but is typical of work done in The Atlanta Journal's Big Easter Gift Campaign. Life itself is a contest, and to those who work the hardest and are possessed of determination, go the biggest and best of life's prizes. Likewise in The Journal's campaign will go the best of the many handsome awards, to the candidates who appreciate their opportunities and put forth the greatest effort.

Every division in the territory has a list of awards all its own, and these will be awarded regardless of work done in the other divisions. This means that a candidate who is in one division does not compete against candidates in other districts, except for the Grand Capital Gift of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD and the Studebaker and Paige-Brunswick automobiles. These last named awards are open to all, any one can win them, and the effort of winning is extremely small compared to the value of the award offered.

Unless each and every candidate works energetically and earnestly during these remaining four weeks, during which time the prizes will be won, there will be many a look backward to where a subscription might have been secured and the balance of victory turned in his or her favor. The race is a very keen one, and under the fair conditions to all, the prizes will be eagerly fought for and the margins of victory but slight ones. Do not allow it to be said of you, Miss Candidate, that you overlooked, here and there, enough subscriptions to win. Rather let it be said that you did your best and the result could not have been changed by you.

NEGRO, HURT IN MANHOLE BY AUTOMOBILE, DIES

J. W. Richardson, Chauffeur of Machine, Fined $25.75 by Judge Broyles

Jonas Atwater, the negro workman for the Southern Bell Telephone company who was crushed by an automobile driven by J. W. Richardson, colored, into a manhole at Hunter and South Pryor streets Tuesday morning, died Wednesday morning at the Grady hospital from his injuries.

Richardson, driver for A. F. Lisbman, backed the machine over Atwater, who was sitting on the edge of the manhole, in which were cables of the telephone company.

Richardson was tried before Recorder Broyles at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and fined $25.75. Now that Atwater is dead he may be rearrested on a charge of manslaughter.

BOARD SCORES SECRET REPORT ON SCHOOLS

Chamber of Commerce Criticised for Not Making Expert's Data Public

After severely criticising the Atlanta chamber of commerce because of refusal to make public the reports on the school system and other municipal departments prepared by an expert from the Russell Sage Foundation, the city board of education decided Tuesday afternoon that in the future it will allow no surveys of the schools by anyone except on the condition that the board of education receive not only copies of the reports but of the full data on which the conclusions are based.

The subject was brought up at the called meeting of the board by W. H. Terrell in the course of a discussion as to the need of securing an adequate survey of the school system for the use of the board of education. The majority of the board members joined in the declaration that the action of the chamber of commerce in employing experts to make surveys, and then declining to make known the findings of the experts tended to injure the schools and the city.

"If there is anything seriously wrong we want to know it so we may remedy it," said Major Guinn, "and if not the public is entitled to know it, after such a survey has been ordered."

Major Guinn introduced three resolutions at the meeting which suggested the attitude and program of the board in regard to improving the school system. The resolutions provide for a unit system of study in the high schools; for a rearrangement of grades so that pupils may complete the course of study in seven instead of eight years; for fixing the maximum number of pupils in a grade at forty instead of fifty, sixty and seventy as at present, thereby making necessary a complete change in the present district lines; and a third providing for the detachment of the normal study school from the high school and its connection with grammar schools in order to give more practical training to the teachers.

These resolutions were submitted without argument and were referred to the schools and teachers' committee which is to formulate a report for the board.

REDISTRICTING ARGUED.

The question of redistricting the city was once allowed to pass without argument, however.

A lengthy discussion brought out the statement that the crowded and unsatisfactory condition of the schools is due to the wrong distribution of the school population; and this condition, declared members of the board, has been brought about by class prejudice and the habit of the board in yielding to demands for changes in favor of particular children.

By the action of the board in granting permission to a West End Sunday school to use the Lee Street school house for an overflow meeting Sunday, the first step toward making the schools of the city social and religious as well as educational centers was taken.

Progressive Meeting.

A meeting of those favorable to the principles of the Progressive Party will be held at the Convention Hall of the Kimball House on Wednesday evening, March 18th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of inaugurating the campaign in Georgia.

A cordial invitation is extended to all in sympathy with the movement to be present.

CAREY READY TO EXPLAIN REMOVAL OF TREES

Calls Meeting of Objecting Residents of Grant Park Neighborhood

The city park department is now removing certain trees in Grant Park.

Certain ladies and gentlemen residing in the Third ward near the park cannot see why the trees should be removed and are making strenuous objection.

Dan Carey, general manager of the park department, can give good reasons why the trees should be removed. He believes the reasons will convince any sensible, reasonable person who will listen to them.

Therefore, Manager Carey has arranged for a meeting of the objecting ladies and gentlemen to be held in the Third ward Friday evening, and he will go before them and tell them why the trees are being removed.

Manager Carey hopes and expects the meeting will accomplish two good results: First, to satisfy the objectors; second, to give those present a better understanding of park affairs from the standpoint of the city government.

The meeting will be held at the residence Mrs. D. H. Floyd, 79 Augusta avenue, at 8 o'clock.

MAYOR USES IHS VETO ON MATERIAL PURCHASE

Insists That Street and Sewer Materials Be Bought Through Purchasing Agent

Taking the position that the recently created purchasing department of the city should purchase all supplies of whatever kind, just as the ordinance creating the department provides and requires, Mayor Woodward on Wednesday vetoed a resolution passed by general council last Monday authorizing the construction department to advertise for bids on the materials to be used in street and sewer construction work during the year 1914.

In the past it has been customary for the construction department to prepare the specifications for these materials, get the bids, and turn the bids over to the street committee and the sewer committee of general council for them to open. The committees have then canvassed the bids, decided on the best and the cheapest, and recommended to council that the contracts be awarded accordingly. The materials were bought in this manner a year at a time, and the contracts were made at the first of the year.

Last fall a purchasing agent was appointed, and the ordinance creating the position provided that all supplies purchased by the city, without any exception, should be purchased through his department.

Mayor Woodward supported the ordinance and has supported the department and strengthened it by insisting that every dollar's worth of materials, supplies, provisions, etc., be bought according to the ordinance.

In the purchase of street and sewer materials, which amounts to several hundred thousand dollars annually, the mayor is determined that no exception shall be made. He anticipates that the general council will agree with his position and join with him in upholding the purchasing department. He points out that the street and sewer committees can open the bids just as these committees have done in the past, and advise with the purchasing agent as to the best and cheapest.

"Before the purchasing department was created," said the mayor Wednesday, "the departments of the city were purchasing indiscriminately here and there and yonder. There was no system, no close check on prices or quality of goods purchased, and the result was a huge waste. By making all purchases go through one department, and keeping a close check on that department, the city can save thousands of dollars every year. Already the purchasing agent, in the few months since he started, has saved $9,000, which is more than enough to pay the expenses of his department for a whole year. If he can save in small purchases he ought to be able to save in big purchases, such as street and sewer materials."

POLICE NEED MONEY TO GO AFTER NEGRO SLAYER

County Asked to Pay for Sending Officer to Savannah for Gertie Parks

Lack of money for the transportation of an officer to Savannah and for his return with a negro prisoner was all that remained in the way Wednesday of the punishment of a self-confessed murderer.

Chief Beavers was informed by the chief of police of Savannah that Gertie Parks, a negro twenty-two years old, had given himself up to the police of that city and asked that he be sent back to Atlanta for trial as the slayer of Horace Reeves, another negro, last Christmas day. He said he shot the other negro in a drunken brawl, and that Reeves died a few days later.

Chief Beavers confirmed the facts in the case and wired the Savannah police to hold Parks until they could hear further from him. Then he took up with the county the matter of expense in sending for the negro, the city police having no funds for the purpose.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE PARTY LAUNCHED TUESDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Emily C. McDougald Elected President of State-wide Organization

At an enthusiastic organization meeting held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Emily C. McDougald, 87 East Fifteenth street, the Equal Suffrage party of Georgia was launched.

Many of the most prominent people in Atlanta are members of this new party, which is to be statewide in its scope. Fifty of these Atlantians signed a petition for incorporation of the organization filed in the superior court Saturday.

Mrs. Emily C. McDougald was elected president of the new party; Mrs. Hugh M. Lokey, vice president; Mrs. W. G. Raoul, Mrs. Benjamin Elsas, Mrs. J. L. Anderson and Mrs. P. J. McGovern were appointed as the executive committee.

Most of the members of the new state organization are also members of the Eighth Ward Suffrage league, but the activities of the new party will be far more extensive than those of the league, and many new members, not members of the league, have already been enlisted.

It is planned soon to have headquarters downtown, probably in a hotel, and Mrs. W. G. Raoul was appointed chairman of a committee to make the necessary arrangements.

Also as soon as the organization is perfected, branches will be established in other cities in Georgia. The new party will also join the National American Woman Suffrage association.

FAVORS SUFFRAGE PLAY.

A letter from Miss Carolyn Cobb, of Athens, advocating a suffrage play, to be given in Atlanta, was read and discussed. The sentiment was in favor of having such a play for the cause, but no definite plans were made.

LIST OF SPEAKERS.

Among the speakers were Dr. M. C. Hardin, Mrs. Dozier Few, of Columbus; Mrs. T. K. Glenn and Mrs. Linton Hopkins.

Mrs. J. L. Anderson reported that $90 had been raised for the cause by the suffrage rally in the Atlanta theater last Wednesday night.

In discussing this rally, it was stated that the identity of the young man who had halfway risen to protest against suffrage at that rally had been discovered, and that, by the efficient work of some of the fair members of the league, he had so completely changed his views as to now be an ardent supporter of the suffrage and feminist movements. This news was greeted with applause.

The committees appointed Tuesday night were: Finance, Mrs. T. K. Glenn, chairman; press, Mrs. Frank H. Neely, chairman; membership, Mrs. P. J. McGovern, chairman; publicity, Miss Ida May Blount, chairman; Miss Jane Farrow Cooper, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Harrington.

OLD COSTUMES FEATURE OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION

Several Hundred Persons Attend Entertainment at Capitol View Baptist Church

Costumes imported from Ireland and Switzerland over half a century ago were features of the Old Maids' convention held Tuesday night at the Capitol View Baptist church.

Several hundred people attended and enjoyed themselves to the fullest from start to finish. Rev. A. C. Hendley, pastor of the church, acted as master of ceremonies, and all through the evening the fun flew thick and fast.

The convention was given for the benefit of the church. The proceeds will be utilized for wiring and lighting the structure. The success of the convention financially as well as socially was great, over $150 being taken in at the door.

Thieves Pull Off Fifth Raid on Residence and Get Valuable Clothes

Five burglaries of one home within the past three months is the record for that of Mrs. Katherine Bristol at 214 Courtland street. The last haul to date was made Tuesday afternoon when two suits and an overcoat valued at $235 were stolen from Henry C. Saffold, of the New York Life Insurance company, who has a room in the house.

City Detective J. M. Vickery was assigned to the case, but no tangible clue to work on has been found.

At other times burglars have entered the same home and carried off anything that was not anchored. The gas meter, even, was robbed of several quarters only a short while ago. On other occasions clothing was taken and a diamond pin belonging to Mrs. Bristol is also missing.

SENATOR MAKES CHARGES ON PANAMA QUESTION

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The broad charge that President Wilson determined to ask congress to repeal the Panama tolls exemption as a consequence to his recent conference with Sir Lionel Garden, British minister to Mexico, and that the president's action was the culmination of negotiation with Great Britain for preservation of the Monroe Doctrine threatened by the Mexican situation, was made in the senate today by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington. He was speaking on his pending resolution calling on the president for full information on the tolls controversy.

ATLANTA WINS Y. M. C. A. SOUTHERN HEADQUARTERS

This City Chosen After Committee Tours All Large Cities of South

After a thorough inspection of all the larger southern cities the international committee of the Young Men's Christian association has chosen Atlanta as its southern headquarters. Within the next few days B. G. Alexander, field secretary of the international committee and executive secretary for the south, will arrive in Atlanta to select offices for the headquarters, and shortly thereafter a corps of workers will be brought here.

This means that eventually about fifteen of the 100 field secretaries employed by the international committee to look after the organization and development of the Y. M. C. A. work in America, will be transferred to Atlanta. They are all experts, and their coming will mean much to the city.

The Y. M. C. A. work is directed by the international committee which is composed of 100 business men all over the country, with a working quorum resident in New York. Recently Fred P. Shipp, executive secretary of the committee, made a tour of all the leading southern cities in order to find out where the committee should locate its southern headquarters. Many of the cities offered attractive inducements, such as office rent free for a long term and thousands of dollars to carry forward the work. Atlanta, however, merely said, "You cannot afford to locate your southern headquarters in any other city, because Atlanta is the logical point for your southern offices," and Atlanta won the headquarters.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Surely use Hyomei—all druggists sell it. It is just such a remedy, and is entirely harmless and pleasant to use—you breathe it—no stomach dosing.

The antiseptic oils of Hyomei mix with the air you breathe—its healing-giving medication immediately reaches the sore and inflamed mucous membrane—you feel better in five minutes. It is practically impossible to use Hyomei and not only be relieved but permanently benefited. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00 size.—(Advt.)

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" best for tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—(Advt.)

Cook Finds Man in Her House and Startles the Neighbors by Screams

Residents in the neighborhood of Myrtle and Fourth streets early Tuesday night were startled by screams emanating from the back yard of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence May, 157 Myrtle street.

Thinking murder was being committed, Mr. May, H. T. Phillips, treasurer of the Phillips & Crew company, who lives across Fourth street at 163 Myrtle street, and others rushed into the street armed with revolvers, pokers and other weapons.

Hanging on to the Mays' back gate was found Mollie Rhodes, Mr. Phillips' cook, yelling as if in her last agony.

A hasty inquiry developed that there was a man in her room in the servants' quarters in Mr. Phillips' back yard. Mollie, believing in the bravery of "Circus" Lloyd, Mr. May's butler, immediately after leaving her room, had sought aid from Lloyd by screaming for him through the Mays' back gate.

Mr. May, Mr. Phillips, Elliott Cheatham, John Hardin and other men who had come to the rescue, went into the cook's room. But no man was to be found.

Later, after the cook had made an investigation, Lloyd went screaming again. She had been robbed of every cent. This, upon inquiry, turned out to be 50 cents.

Lloyd, the Mays' butler, had by this time secured a small rifle belonging to twelve-year-old John May, and, armed with this, he made a careful search of all of the nearby back yards. Not finding the robber, Lloyd, who has Indian blood in him, did a war dance with the gun up and down the front lawn of the Phillips home.

PUBLISHERS' SESSION HERE A BIG SUCCESS

Asheville, N. C., in Heart of the Blue Ridge, Chosen for Next Meet

With the election of officers and the selection of a city for the 1915 convention, the thirteenth annual meeting of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association came to a close Tuesday at the Hotel Analey after one of the most successful sessions in the history of the organization.

Asheville, N. C., in the heart of the Blue Ridge mountains, was chosen as convention city for 1915 over Jacksonville, Fla., Memphis, Tenn., and Nashville, Tenn.

The following officers were elected: P. W. R. Hinman, of Jacksonville, president; W. L. Halstead, of Atlanta, vice president; William Clemens, of Birmingham, secretary and treasurer.

But little other business was transacted at the closing session Tuesday afternoon. An accredited list of advertising agencies was passed upon, from whom publishers in the future will accept copy. This will tend greatly to weed out wildcat advertising schemes.

With the closing session, most of the fifty or more publishers who have been attending the convention, departed for their various homes, declaring all th at their stay in Atlanta had been one of the most pleasant and profitable they ever experienced.

Board Gives Salary to Teacher Who Married Without Giving Notice

That man is possessed of "inordinate curiosity" was openly admitted by Major K. J. Guinn Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the board of education, and only one man rose to defend his sex against the allegation.

No "third degree methods" were used in securing the confession as Major Guinn made it voluntarily to insure to a young teacher two weeks' salary which one unromantic member of the board insisted she ought to forfeit because she had not given the board of education two weeks notice in regard to her approaching marriage and resignation from the schools.

It was the case of Miss Anna Belle Adkins, who became Mrs. Thompson without taking the board into her confidence prior to the wedding, that brought up the discussion. Superintendent Slaton tendered "Miss Adkins" formal resignation, and announced her unexpected marriage. Someone called attention to the fact that there is a board rule requiring teachers who resign from the service of the city without notice to forfeit two weeks' back pay, and one member insisted that because there is such a rule Miss Adkins should be made to conform to it.

Major Guinn laughingly took issue. "I move we expunge any such rule. There never should have been any such rule, because you know and I know that it got on the books because of man's inordinate curiosity to know when a woman's going to get married. I think that instead of taking away two weeks' salary we ought to make her a wedding present of two weeks' additional salary."

RADFORD, VA., MAN
Rundown and Nervous, Restored to Health by Vinol

A. D. Robinson, Radford, Va., says: "I was all run down in health, had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. Vinol was recommended to me and after using one bottle I noticed an improvement. Continuing its use I was completely restored to health. The nervousness is all gone. I can get a good night's sleep and have a hearty appetite. I can recommend Vinol to anyone who suffers as I did."

Vinol is the greatest body builder and strength creator we know of. The curative elements of the cod's liver, aided by the blood-making, strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, restore the lacking ingredients to the blood, and the result is health and vigor.

If you need building up try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Elkin Drug company, Atlanta.

A Bright, Attractive Array of Suits for the Junior Miss

Junior Department, Third Floor

If there is one thing we have done well this season it is this---the gathering of suits for young women.

In a season that was particularly kind to the young folk we have extended every effort to make this collection of junior suits all that the novel styles promised.

We believe we have succeeded---for these reasons:

The suits as a whole show the materials favored.
They show the style points that those high in authority in such matters have developed.
They are worked out in the colors and the combinations of colors that are right.

And the meaning, the significance of it all is that you when you start in search of a junior suit may begin and end your search right here!

It has taken great varieties, many suits, to make this statement true.

So whether the object of your quest is a simple little serge affair, neat and attractive and priced, say, at $15, or whether it is a suit that smacks of Paris, that is smart and novel in every line and priced at $30 to $40, it matters little.

It is here.

Will you let us show you how well we can "make good"?

The New Rompers Are Ready

They begin with the creepers, in sizes 1 to 3 years; white, checks and stripes; kimono and set-in sleeves; priced at 50c.

Then come the infinite variety in sizes 2 to 8 years; ginghams and crinkly seersuckers and crepes—washable; low neck, short sleeves; 75c to $1.50.

Children's Wash Dresses 49c

More of those now well known wash dresses at 49c.

Mothers tell us they are splendid—they wash so well; they are so nicely made. Buttons are clear; stitching is even, and colors are dependable. Ginghams and percales; belted, long waisted, low neck and short sleeves.

The Junior Dress

For afternoons and for parties many delightful novelties—crepes that are almost voiles, white with threads of color through them; crepes de chine that are soft and graceful; nets over lingerie; light French taffetas that are all ruffles and shirring.

No picturing them! There are altogether too many. We would but attract your attention to them with the note that these are the most attractive styles we could find for the young folk.

They are priced at $5.00 to $40.00.

Street dresses and morning dresses—many of them washable—we mean the fine French inadras and gingham and linen dresses; styled differently from those you have seen before.

Priced at $2.50 to $7.50.

Seventeen white dresses for children are a bit soiled! So tomorrow they will find new owners---they are marked at half price.

To be accurate, there are 5 in size six, 3 in size eight, 7 in size ten and 2 in size fourteen. They were $2.00 to $20.00, now $1.00 to $10.00. Some are exquisite, lacy affairs.

Men's Spring Footwear!

The English types are greater favorites than ever this season, and our choicest lines run largely in these lasts. The style runs largely on the theory of "common sense" and comfort; although their precise, trim lines, and smart effects keep these facts pretty thoroughly disguised. Young men are a unit in their preference for the English last, and we have the models that will please them best.

From Farm to Kitchen.

Postmaster General Burleson's new order, enabling truck farmers to ship their products by parcel post as far as one hundred and fifty miles at relatively low rates, should have a pronounced effect on the cost of living.

The establishment of direct trade relations between country producers and town consumers is one of the important economic problems of the time. The lack of such means of exchange is responsible for much waste on the farm and for the excessively high prices of many table supplies. By bridging this gap, by bringing the farm and the kitchen into closer touch, the parcel post will serve one of its most useful purposes.

One gentleman who calls another gentleman a liar is no gentleman.

Atlanta's Public Service Corporations

Atlanta's public service corporations are growing with the community, and are sharing its prosperity. Reports recently filed with the State Railroad Commission show that their gross earnings for 1913 were substantially greater than for the preceding year. Those of the Georgia Railway and Power company amounted to four million, seven hundred and sixty-six thousand, six hundred and ninety dollars; those of the Atlanta Gas Light company were eight hundred and fifty-three thousand, one hundred and two dollars; and those of the Southern Bell Telephone company, two million, seven hundred and fifty-eight thousand, nine hundred and fifty dollars.

Each of these amounts represents a fair advance over the earnings of 1912, and bespeaks not only good management in the corporations themselves, but also wholesome business conditions in the city. Atlanta's resources as a fruitful field of investment become more and more evident.

Senator Smith's Important Amendment to the Road Bill.

Senator Hoke Smith accomplished an important result in convincing the Senate committee on agriculture that the Shackleford good roads bill should be amended so that those States wherein highway improvements are made by the counties individually and by the use of convict labor may be credited with such expenditures and with the value of the convict labor in the distribution of the federal fund.

In its present form, the bill provides an annual appropriation of twenty-five million dollars to be apportioned among the States on a basis of the money they themselves allot for road building and maintenance. To a State like Georgia, that plan would be grievously inequitable; for, although the State government itself gives little direct financial aid to highway work, it places at the disposal of the counties some five thousand convicts whose labor, devoted exclusively to public roads, is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. Furthermore, the various counties of Georgia are voting bond issues and are applying liberal portions of local tax money for road improvement. It is but fair that such funds should be considered in the allotment of the federal appropriation.

There are six Southern States—Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Florida and Texas—which now have no State highway commission and which raise their highway funds largely, if not entirely, through individual counties. These states ought to have highway commissions, and they doubtless will have in the near future; but it should be noted that last year the South spent some forty million dollars in the betterment of its roads. Surely, this fund should not be left out of account simply because it was not contributed directly by the State governments, but by the people of the separate counties.

There has been considerable criticism of the Shackleford bill on the ground that it represents a new and questionable inroad on the Government treasury. We are not concerned with that issue. It is very important, however, that if the bill is to be passed it should deal justly with all the States. The amendment to which Senator Smith has won his committee's assent means a vast deal to Georgia and to States similarly circumstanced.

It is easy to distinguish cut glass from the other kind; the other kind is found on bargain counters.

Every man expects to wake up some day and find himself famous—and he often does get as far as the waking up part.

Why Subsidize a Monopoly?

"If the government has built a railroad from ocean to ocean with the people's money, and it were to be suggested that the express companies, for instance, should have the free use of the highway, the roar of protest that would go up would be loud enough to make the firm earth tremble; yet, the substitution of the word 'canal' for the word 'railroad' and of the words 'coastwise vessel owners' for 'express companies' seems to create a conviction that the case is different."

In this apt analogy, the Philadelphia Record lays bare the sophistry of the contention that coastwise shipping should be allowed to use the Panama canal toll-free. Exemption in this case would be nothing short of government patronage to a special interest; it would amount to subsidizing a monopoly at the expense of the people. The owners of coastwise vessels, as the Record says, are no more "American" than are the express companies, and are no more entitled to particular privileges: "Neither of these combinations would share one penny of the government's largess with the persons whose freight they would be enabled to carry without canal tolls. The charges remitted would go into the pockets of the favored monopolists—and stay there, and the people would have to pay for the running of the railroad or canal, as the case might be."

The fact is, the only considerable opposition to President Wilson's request for a repeal of the free-tolls provision in the Panama canal act arises from coastwise shipping interests, which constitute a monopoly in their sphere of transportation, and which are fighting for special favors. Naturally, the judgment of Congress like the sentiment of the public is decisively against a scheme that would place upon the rank and file of taxpayers a burden which coastwise shipping rightly should bear. A distinguished economist, Prof. Emery R. Johnson, of the University of Pennsylvania, reckons that free tolls would cost twenty million dollars during the first decade of the canal's operation. Shall the American people be saddled with this expense merely in order that a monopoly may pile its profits still higher?

That is the economic side of the canal tolls issue; but above such considerations stands the supremely important fact that we are treaty-bound and honor-bound to Great Britain and to the world to permit the commerce of all nations to enter the canal on terms of entire equality. We cannot exempt coastwise vessels from payment of tolls without repudiating an international contract and bringing upon the United States the distrust and condemnation of all the world. Self interest forbids it. If we are to maintain friendly and profitable relationships with other powers, we must keep faith with them. If we are to preserve the good name and the high traditions of this Republic we must live squarely up to treaties.

Even if there were no treaty, making it unlawful and dishonorable to exempt coastwise shipping from tolls, it would be a grave economic mistake to do so, an economic injustice to our own people; and even though it were profitable to exempt coastwise shipping from tolls, the treaty contains the nation's pledge that this shall not be done. There is but one fair and reasonable course for Congress to pursue, and that is the straightway repeal of the free-tolls clause. Indications happily are that the great majority in both Houses of Congress will vote unhesitatingly to that effect.

Every man thinks he needs a wife until after he acquires one.

Newspapers And the President.

The resolution of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association "unqualifiedly" indorsing President Wilson's administration is an appropriate tribute to the national service of a southern-born statesman. These publishers, represent sixty daily newspapers from the Potomac to the gulf. They are in broad and intimate touch with the thought of their people. It is their business to know public opinion and public needs, and to interpret current history. It is very significant, therefore, that they should approve with unanimity and high enthusiasm the achievements and policies of the Wilson administration.

The South may well be proud of the record its great son has made and is still making; and the president, we may be sure, is deeply gratified over so distinctive a measure of recognition from his homeland.

LET'S EAT MORE

By E. R. WOOLEY.
(Copyright, 1914, by E. R. Wooley.)

In these days of high food prices certain individuals are again beginning the howl: "We eat too much."

Bad health, bad debts, and bad temper are all laid to an overconsumption of food. As a nation, we are blamed for gluttony, and again the economical French housewife is held up to view with her eternal pot of soup simmering on the back of the stove.

That economical French housewife and her pot of soup! Let's dispose of her. How may I ask is the modern housewife going to keep a pot of soup simmering all day on the back of a modern gas stove, without a gas bill that will make the modern house husband "say things"—sh!

Who wants soup, anyway, with a foundation of a bit of bone, leftover meat scraps, decayed celery leaves, and any other odds and ends or leftovers not good enough to eat in any other form?

Who wants to live on soup, at that? And when one takes a look at the anemic little French kiddies, and the lack of any little French kiddies at all, who wants to emulate French economy along that line?

The French cook may be able to make sawdust palatable, and to make us think we're getting something really good, because a tasteful sauce has been poured over it; but if she doesn't give us nourishment, as well as taste, what's the use of her economy?

Are the people in the United States eating too much for their own good?

Look at the children in the public schools of the poorer district. Every year their little bones seem to be more prominent, their eyes bigger and more wistful. It's been discovered that a large proportion of them don't even get any breakfast at home, so that women's clubs have banded together to furnish school breakfasts to these ill-nourished little ones.

Get out early in the morning at 4:30 and 5 o'clock—and look at the men with their dinner pails starting for work. Do they look overfed? Not so you could notice it!

Watch the men and women clerks due to arrive downtown at 8:30. They don't look as if they were digging graves with their teeth.

Watch the shop girls parading the avenue at noon—thin little creatures, most of them, who have foregone "eats" in order to buy a pair of satin pumps, or perhaps to help mother pay the rent.

A Scientific Study Of the Sandwich

The widespread interest in scientific circles as well as in the ranks of social workers concerning some of the problems of nutrition among the masses is exemplified by current discussions regarding school lunches, nutritional dietaries, economical menus for the household and the cost of living. These are constantly bringing out the fact that diet customs are subject to wide inequalities in character in different parts of the world and in different strata of society; and they further make it clear that food habits are not so fixed as was once supposed, but are varied to meet economic changes and alterations incident to the shifting of population. The changes in the nutrition of the masses lie in the cities, the country districts adhering more closely to the dictates of tradition. It is in the cities that the most noticeable of the modern changes in dietary customs, such as the increasing consumption of meat and the introduction of ready-to-eat foods, have first taken hold on greater numbers of individuals. Furthermore, the change of diet in large institutions almost always need to be solved with reference to local market conditions.

Max Rubner, the eminent physiologist and hygienist of Berlin, has lately presented some interesting data on one of the many transformations in dietary custom which is peculiarly conspicuous in the cities of Germany. He says that the American sandwich is rapidly becoming popular in Europe, and one who observes carefully the eating habits of workingmen in this country and who has followed the enormous increase in the lunch counter scheme of dietetics among our own population must admit that the sandwich is something more than an accident. Physiologically, it involves the supplementing of bread—the common "staff of life"—with considerable fat, meat and malt. The sandwich represents a step in the evolution of bread-and-butter combinations. Rubner believes that the growing use of the meat-laden sandwich is attributable in Germany to the increased employment of tea and coffee and to the greater consumption of sugar and alcohol. Added to these factors is the growing tendency, especially among the unmarried classes, to eat outside of the home and to patronize the rapid-service, time-saving, sandwich-dispensing restaurants and eating houses.

The advantage of the sandwich is that it furnishes great concentration of nutrients in small volume. The work of mastication is reduced and the entire make-up of the product encourages rapid eating.

The sandwich is not as economical as is popularly believed. It is true that a palatable sandwich can be purchased for a few cents, but the same proportionate expenditure in the household or in the purchase of a warm meal that does the same will procure surprisingly more nutriment, even in the more expensive type of restaurant. It has been calculated, for example, that 25 cents will buy:

	Calories.	Gm. protein.
In public eating house	2,000,	containing .06
In a good restaurant	1,000,	containing .78
In the form of sandwiches	1,140,	containing .38

The sandwich is frequently looked on as the "poor man's lunch" and current practice is tending to increase its use. If it is really desirable to increase the purchasing power of a small daily income so as to increase the amount of food the reform cannot be instituted by pointing to the supposedly inexpensive lunch counter. Rubner's finding shows that the food usually administered on the dietetic side still remain the most economical as well as most rational centers for food reforms.

Income of Writers

Milton sold "Paradise Lost" for £20, $100 in American money. Poor Chatterton, one of the brightest minds of his day, committed suicide by jumping from London bridge into the river Thames. It was either this or starvation, and he selected the former. His verses were a drug on the market.

Literature was a poor breadwinner in those days, and the man or woman who depends upon literature today, unless success has crowned their efforts, stands a precarious chance of making a fortune.

It is pleasant to call attention to certain facts recently brought to light.

In the recent divorce trial in which the wife of George W. Broadhurst sought separation and alimony, it was proven to the court that Broadhurst's income is $125,000. This is from the royalties on his plays alone.

Clyde Fitch, who began life under very impoverished circumstances, left a fortune of $250,000, and his plays are each year turning in a steady income to his estate.

Walter Browne, who wrote "Everywoman," knew what it was to starve.

It is related that five months before "Everywoman" was produced he wandered into Brown's Chop house, in New York, and met a party of friends. "If I only could raise $50," he sighed. "What for?" was asked. "I would get a divorce," he replied.

He did not have the $50, did not get a divorce, died on the night of the first performance of "Everywoman," and his widow received $165,000 the first year in royalties from his play.

Lew Dall's copy of manuscript novels was swelled by the statement that a $10,000 prize for a novel had been won by Lona Dalrymple, a young girl in Passaic.

There is a fortune in the pen if the right hand directs it and the right mind is behind it.

Literature is an uncertain field, but it is one rich with opportunity, a field which does not discriminate against sex. Fortunes have been made and fortunes will continue to be made by the fortunate writer of plays, poetry or ordinary fiction.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS

Sunday Night Thoughts.

"Sweet day, so cool, so calm, so bright.
The bridal of the earth and sky—"
I read George Herbert yesternight
When I was shy.

Not timid or meticulous.
But "shy," as slangy persons say.
In rhymes and themes unpleteous—
I was that way.

For Sunday is a sorry time
For one relentlessly pursuing
The elusive Muse of motley rhyme—
There's nothing doing.

"Sweet day, so cool, so calm, so bright,"
Day of surcease, of cosmic lull.
Grab it from me, so calm is right—
It's downright dull.

Still, it is only comparatively dull in a newspaper office Sunday night. By nightfall on Sunday vacation begins to pall on the average urbanite, who is unresourceful, and he wishes somebody would drop in, or that he might drop in on somebody.

We know one irreligious man who has this plan for dulling the sharpness of Sabbath dullness, as you might say. He attends the church of the priciest sermoner he can find. "After that," he confides, "anything seems interesting."

BY ALL MEANS.

Sir: Can you tell me (my courage almost fails me at this juncture) when people talk about a "lovely contour," is it short for "Conning Tower?"

Passing the Woolworth building at dusk yesterday, we saw the sign "Tower Open." Thanks for the ad, F. C.

The Public Ledger's account of the President's day in Philadelphia—and the one in all the New York papers, too—said that he bought Brand Whitlock's "The Thirteenth Division." The book is "The Thirteenth District," and what we want to know is: Did he ask for "The Thirteenth Division"? Did the lady book-clerk tell the reporter he had bought "The Thirteenth Division"? Or did the title elude the reporter when he came to write the story? Something tells us we shall never know.

Litry tip to the President: If you want a good book, read Mr. Whitlock's "Forty Years of It." Doubtless there is a saner gentleman than Mr. Whitlock now writing on human themes; but offhand we don't recall his name.

The President had come to Philadelphia to consult an oculist. Everybody in town knew it, or should have known it. Shouldn't the saleswoman have tried to sell him a copy of "W W.'s Eyes"?

Old John Siddall is a bit late, but, then, he is a magazine editor. Last week, he says, when no trains entered or left the Pennsylvania Terminal from 7 p. m. Sunday until 12:30 p. m. Monday, he enjoyed particularly this line, hewn in marble and running clear across the top of the station: NOR WIND NOR RAIN NOR SNOW CAN STAY THESE COURIERS FROM THEIR APPOINTED TIME.

WE'VE GOT HIM ON THE LIST.

And that relic of antiquity, who fears the feminist—We've got him on the list—he never would be missed.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

A Government Testing Flume at Niagara.

On account of the steady increase in the size of water wheels and the higher heads of water under which they are being operated in recent years, there is now no place in the United States where they can be adequately tested before final installation. The Holyoke flume, which has done much toward increasing the efficiency of water runners, neither has sufficient head nor is large enough to meet present needs. A wide demand has grown that the government construct and operate a testing flume upon a scale large enough to meet all requirements for some time to come. It has been suggested that this flume be built at Niagara.

A report advocating the construction of a government flume has been submitted to the Boston Society of Civil Engineers by a committee of three of its past presidents. Niagara Falls is suggested in the report as the only suitable place for the establishment of such a test, as it combines the advantages of geographical location and inexhaustible water supply with that of being able to furnish tremendous heads of water. The committee finds that the head on such a testing flume should be variable up to 150 feet.

Water wheel manufacturers, it is pointed out, would not be the only ones to benefit from such an experiment station. It would serve the further purpose of thorough studies on stream flow and control, with the object of determining methods of greatest utilization of the country's water power. Moreover, in contrast to most other government experiment stations, the committee suggests, the testing flume could be made self-supporting by charges of reasonable fees.

Fighting for Foreign Trade

By Frederic J. Haskin

Empires of history have crushed rival peoples, broken their forces for independent development, and brought them under ever-widening sway through superior armies and techniques of warfare. In all likelihood, great wars of conquest by fire and sword are over. The struggle for progressive existence has become all too keen to permit the employment of such bungling, round-about means for the winning of a national advantage. And the advantages sought by nations today are more vital than those of conquest striven for by the empires of yesterday. With their achievement is bound up the welfare of all a country's people; probably more their very survival will be dependent upon success or failure in the economic conflict of nations which began to be clearly defined with the opening of the present century.

Strategic plans for this country's moves in the great international struggle will be worked out in the department of commerce. It is largely upon the efficiency and energy of this branch of the government that the guidance of American business to dominance of the world's trade will depend. Other factors for the winning of this dominance are present, such as stores of raw materials, forestry and agricultural products, water power, inventive and business genius of the people and a great network of lines of internal communication, railways, waterways and roads.

The importance of the struggle has already been made manifest in the bitter clash of German and British interests. Fiercely contested markets have been the battlefields whereon interest and often capital have been freely wagered in efforts to wrest the advantage from the other. Starvation wages and unemployment have been the by-products of defeats, and today thousands of artisans are out of work and upon the streets in Britain who can place the responsibility for their wretchedness directly to the score of the wonderful commercial successes of the Germans. That Germany's competition with England in the manufacture of steel and cloth has put a greater strain upon the vitality of her national life than half a dozen Boer Wars could have done, has been asserted again and again by thoughtful English writers and statesmen. England, undefeatable by powder and shell, now forced back to her entrenchments, is fighting a critical, hand-to-hand battle against the invading forces of German business men, who are straining nerve and fiber to dislodge her from her traditional markets, drive the world output of her factories back upon her home consumers, and thus encompass her complete destruction. There will be more at stake in the economic wars of the future than in the wars of conquest of the past.

The department of commerce, the American war college of economic independence and welfare carries on its work of aiding American business in its conquest of markets through nine large bureaus. These comprise the light house service, the coast and geodetic survey, the census, the bureau of corporations, the bureau of standards, the bureau of navigation and the steamboat service, the bureau of fisheries, and the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

It is the last named bureau which stands upon the firing line of the country's fight for foreign trade. It is in its hands that the main campaigns for the disposition of America's surplus products are worked out. With that percentage of our 95,000,000 people engaged in manufacture, producing $20,000,000,000 worth annually, our export trade in 1913 of $2,465,814,418, as compared with imports of $1,813,008,224, and with our export trade growing at the approximate rate of $500,000 daily, America is taking in the struggle a strong, though not an impregnable, position.

It is the task of the experts in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce to aid American business in maintaining and strengthening its position in foreign markets. Two countries alone surpass America in the amount of their international trade—England and Germany. Both of these countries have reached a point of development where they must sell products to live by food. Their necessity already has brought their efforts for foreign markets to high tension. The keenness of international competition will be increased many times when the manufacturing nations of today lose their vast passive markets and find themselves forced to sell over tariff walls in contest with thriving home industries in China, in other Asiatic and in South American countries. Then will come a time when civilization will be sharply tested upon the whetstone of competition.

The contest will be, is growing day by day, one for an adequate supply of food. Secondarily, it is for the creation of surpluses, sufficient for the steady advancement of the cultural well-being of the people. From both viewpoints America and Americans are among the highest in the world. Compared with the hundreds of millions in Asia, yes, even in Europe, who are starved physically on scant food and spiritually from an entire lack of culture with the fruits of modern civilisation, the American people can congratulate themselves as being among most fortunate nations on earth.

Several services for effective aid in the expansion of American markets are maintained by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. They are all based upon the collection of accurate, first-hand information concerning conditions of production, consumption and distribution throughout the world, the preparation of this data for ready use, and its dissemination among the country's business men.

The field work done directly under the supervision of the bureau makes the greatest appeal to the imagination. This work is performed by a corps of specially trained experts, men who move from land to land, delving under the surface of foreign industrial and trade conditions, seeking out the advantages and the weaknesses of the foreign trade and endeavoring to make an intimate survey of the resources, skill and organization with which he is developing his commerce for the information and forewarning of the American competitors. The work of these agents in the commercial field closely resembles that of the military attache. It is the same continual estimation of the strength of the adversaries, the same defensive effort to keep them from gaining ground upon the land at home.

The agents are detailed by the bureau to investigate special industries of interest to American business. Everything connected with the factors of production and consumption in such industries is studied throughout the countries of the world, and the completed report, the bureau's trade monograph, placed in the hands of those engaged in the manufacture or trade in the class of articles under investigation constitutes a full manual of strategy for the guidance of their attacks upon world markets.

In this way the production and consumption in the cotton industry has been studied by commercial agents. Conditions in this trade have been investigated in Canada, Europe, Africa, Turkey and the Far East. Surveys of the production and commerce in edible oils and the employment of the by-products of the coke ovens in Europe are now being made.

For the use of American exporters the bureau has compiled a World Trade Directory of 1,138 quarto pages, which contains the names of 120,000 individuals and firms in foreign countries engaged in import trade. A continuous and close study is made by the bureau of foreign tariffs and the changes which are continually being made. Further, samples of foreign goods are being assembled from all parts of the world, and these samples are loaned to home manufacturers. In brief, the government is doing all in the power through this bureau to advance America's international trade from third to first place.

ATLANTA CLUB SCENE OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY DANCE

A group of jolly dancers who celebrated St. Patrick's day at a ball at the Atlanta club Tuesday night. The dance was one of the most enjoyable and successful entertainments ever given by the club.

ARGENTINE TANGO SERVED IN IRISH STYLE AT CLUB

Many Enjoy Dance on Green Sawdust Floor of Atlanta Club

The St. Patrick's day dance at the Atlanta club Tuesday night will long live in the memory of those who attended it as the jolliest, merriest celebration that the officers of the club have put on in many a long day.

It was such a dance as Harry Lorrequer or Charles O'Mally might have longed for—a true-green, Irish time. Even the turkey trot—which they say came from South America—and the tango—invented in Argentina, and not "made in Germany"—did not take away the atmosphere of old Erin, for everybody was Irish for once, with the blarney flowing freely and all bulls forgiven in the driving.

The club rooms were gay with artistic decorations. Green sawdust was on the floor, green favors in the shape of shillalahs and shamrocks were given the dancers, the walls and columns were gay with bunting, the red, white and blue sharing honors with the emerald field and the harp that once through Tara's, etc.

The floor was crowded with dancers and everybody had the best of times. One of the honor guests of the evening was Detective William J. Burns, who came at the special invitation of several friends in the local newspaper fraternity. He proved himself a good fellow with the best and as fine a dancer as he is a detective.

When the last strains of "Home, Sweet Home" drifted away with the chords of the hesitation and the jingle of the green anklets, everybody breathed a sigh of regret and declared that had they kissed the Blarney stone they would still be short of voicing just what a glorious, top-notch affair it was.

THEATERS

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
ELJOU—"A Negro Hero."

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theatres are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

Neil O'Brien and his great American minstrels, all new and better than ever will be the attraction at the Atlanta Monday and Tuesday with a Tuesday matinee. Seats are now on sale. This is the second season for this organization, which is again under the direction of Oscar F. Hodge. Manager Hodge has surrounded his star with an amazing array of talent including many of the highest salaried comedians, singers and special feature acts on the minstrel stage. Neil O'Brien needs no indorsement. For years he has entertained thousands with his original wit.

William A. Brady's "Beauty is Only Skin Deep" is the headline attraction at the Forsyth this week. This act is one of the best comedies ever seen here, and is the successful initial venture of Mr. Brady into the vaudeville field. Frosini, the most popular accordionist that has ever visited this theater, is on this week's bill. Armstrong and Clark, the comedy song writers, tickle every one with their "slangy" songs, and Thomas P. Jackson, assisted by Bernard Cavanagh, present a dramatic sketch, "The Letter From Home." John Cantwell and Reta Walker, a clever dance and song due, present a lively number. "Under the Great White Lights," and other entertaining features complete the show.

Fragrant spring flowers in artistic arrangement decorated the home, and French biscuits holding roman hyacinths and lilies of the valley were placed on mantel and cabinet.

Bridge Tea to Visitors

An event of Wednesday afternoon was the bridge-tea at which Mrs. George Traylor entertained at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue in honor of Mrs. Joseph Emerson Brown, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who is being delightfully entertained during her stay at the Georgian Terrace, and for Mrs. Albert Harlan Bates, of Cleveland, O., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Darwin Jones.

Four tables were arranged for bridge, and, following the game, a number of guests came in for tea.

Mrs. Jack Thiesen, who returned Wednesday from a winter spent in Florida, assisted her mother in entertaining and pored tea. The table was artistically decorated in pale pink hyacinths and asparagus fern.

Mrs. Traylor wore a lovely gown of rose-colored charmeuse, and Mrs. Brown was gowned in an afternoon model of green taffeta.

Mrs. Bates' becoming toilet was fashioned of light blue silk, the corsage of white shadow lace embroidered in black.

Underground

"Violet said to the daisy,
"Something is setting me crazy.
Something is itching me top and toe,
Seems that the itching will never go!"
"Maybe," the daisy in whispers cried,
"The bonds of our prison have been untied,
And we are startig to grow."

The crocus heard, the colt's foot, too,
And the bluet dreaming its dream of blue,
And the valley lily and meadow rose,
And the bloodwort ventured, "My goodness knows,
It's surely contagious, for I can feel
A tingling down to my very heel
From the tip of my very nose!"

Some one listened above the ground
Unto the strange and eerie sound.
And ran home telling the world along
In a whiff of beauty he tied in song,
That the itch for spring had begun to start
Wherever the blossoms of beauty throng,
And he felt it, too, in his hungry heart!

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

The Feminine Tendencies for Ribbon.

PARIS, March 18.—A New York authority on woman's dress remarked truly the other day that when fashion favored extremes of femininity there is always a great demand for ribbon.

When fashion apes the mannish, the severe, the classical, ribbons lose prestige.

Just at present femininity—beruffled, bepuffed, befrilled—is in vogue. Ergo, there is a run on the ribbon counters.

There is hardly a hat without its bow of ribbon, and many of the most effective are trimmed entirely with ribbon.

Ribbon ruchinge are in high favor—they go with the styles of the second empire. Many of the new frocks are outlined at the neck with ribbon ruchings. And box-pleated frills of narrower ribbon finish the sleeves and neck lines of many of the new silk coats.

A trick for trimming some of the new white lingerie frocks is to arrange tiny knots and ends made of strands or strips cut from wide ribbon along the shoulders and on the skirt and about the girdle. This wide ribbon, cut, naturally frays, and the effect is quite good.

Girdles are made of wide taffeta and moire ribbon. Sometimes they are made with wide bows at the front or back, and sometimes they end in sash ends at the left side. These ribbon sashes or girdles are used on most of the washable afternoon frocks.

Ribbon on Blouses.

As for blouses, there is hardly one that does not show ribbon somewhere. In some of the new lace and chiffon blouses ribbon still appears in the form of a band under the chiffon or lace across the back and front just above the waist. In the blouse sketched it is shown arranged in this way.

Even when ribbon is not used in the new blouses, most of the white ones show a touch of color, in the form of buttons or embroidery. For the first time in several seasons handkerchief linen blouses are in fashion again, and these are generally embroidered in some color. White cotton crepe is also much embroidered—in rather large, daring figures not closely applied.

Blouses still show large armholes and bagging lines in general. Although some of the striking models in regular frocks show bodices that are buttoned snugly down the front, there is as yet no tendency of this sort in blouses.

It is interesting to consider this subject of the bodice. Corset, for instance, insists on the snugger bodice. All the great designers are giving it at least polite attention. Yet the average silhouette, if such a term can be applied, still shows the loose, bagging bodice. And the kimono cut of sleeve and shoulder can still be counted on for much wear.

It would be a shame, indeed, if, after we had perfected the bodice cut on kimono lines, it should be permanently doomed to oblivion by fashion. For it took many months of experimenting and altering on the part of the dressmakers to make the kimono bodice at once comfortable and graceful.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1914.

Mars doth bless With evil rays.

An uncertain day. While Mercury is in friendly aspect Mars is evilly disposed. According to astrology it is not an auspicious time for taking great risks in any important matter.

Under the kindly influence of Mercury editors, publishers and advertising men should prosper, but today's configuration gives warning against possible controversies and difficulties.

There is a lucky omen for writers, teachers and students. Architects, lawyers and scientists, also, should find the influence conducive to good work, which will bring them benefits.

While this configuration prevails young persons should be particularly fortunate.

The time is favorable for short journeys or minor changes, but not for any important move which bears on future prospects in life.

The signs are promising for gain through speech. Orators, congressmen and legislators of every rank should be able to make convincing plans while the figure exercises its strong sway.

It is not a fortunate day for persons who indulge in gossip or criticism. Mars gives an inclination to resent the slightest blame and increases combativeness.

Decrease in the birthrate is indicated by many signs and much illness among women is prophesied for the late spring and summer. Fevers and diseases of the digestive apparatus will be common.

Bereavement and illness are persistently foreshadowed in the horoscope of the czar of Russia.

The death of a man who has aspired to be president of the United States is predicted before summer.

At the end of this month better conditions are presaged for the pope of Rome and the Vatican, but later in the spring trouble is indicated by the stars.

Accidents to children who attend amusements or parties are foreshadowed. Warning against crowded places is made by the astrologers.

Persons whose birthday it is may have a busy year in which many anxieties appear. They are counseled not to lend money. Women should beware of nervous disorders.

Children born on this day are likely to be extraordinarily clever, but they may not have the faculty of making the most of their talents. They are on the cusp between the signs Pisces and Aries and may partake of the qualities of both the fishes and the lamb.

SIMPLE WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get set about four ounces of plain common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in well with the finger tips. By morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. If you want your hair, you should certainly get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing else will starve the hair so quickly. It not only ruins the hair and makes you look old, but it finishes it stringy, lifeless, brittle and lifeless and everybody notices it.—(Advt.)

MERCHANTS MUST SEND SAMPLES TO NEW YORK

Atlanta Concerns Are Handicapped in Selling Supplies to Fort McPherson

It was brought out Tuesday at a meeting of the wholesale trade committee of the Atlanta chamber of commerce that Atlanta merchants who bid on commissary supplies for Fort McPherson must send their samples to New York in order to compete with New York merchants.

The reason for this, according to the committee's information, is that Fort McPherson, since the abolishment of the department of the gulf, is under the command of the First division, which has headquarters on Governor's Island, New York, and buys supplies from that point.

The only supplies bought by the Fort McPherson commissary are perishable supplies, which constitute only a small part of the general supplies of the fort.

The meeting of the committee was held for the purpose of investigating the reasons why Atlanta merchants do not enjoy the same advantages as they formerly did in selling supplies to Fort McPherson.

After a thorough discussion of the subject, the committee directed the chairman, Lynn Fort, to appoint a subcommittee to make further investigation and report back. The subcommittee will probably be ready to report next week.

CHECK FOR $87,500 PAID FOR NEW ALARM

Transaction Between City of Atlanta and Okonite Company Is Closed

Mayor Woodward on Tuesday approved the action of general council, taken Monday, in purchasing the new fire and police alarm system from the Okonite company for $87,500.

Shortly after the mayor affixed his signature to the papers passed by council, a voucher and check for this amount was drawn, the comptroller's and the check was duly signed by the mayor turned over to the Atlanta attorney for the company, Judge Spencer R. Atkinson.

This closes the whole transaction between the city and the Okonite company. The alarm system is finished, is in use, and is the property of the city. The Okonite company has its money in full settlement and has given the city a bill of sale.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

To gossip is to talk about other people and what they are doing or what they have done or what they are going to do. Peter Rabbit and Winsome Bluebird were gossiping in the dear Old Briar Patch. Winsome sat in a little cherry tree and right under him sat Peter. Winsome had just arrived from way down south to spread the glad news that Mistress Spring was on her way and would soon reach the Green Forest, the Green Meadows, and the Smiling Pool. You see Winsome is the herald of Mistress Spring and keeps just a little way ahead of her. When the little meadow and forest people first see his beautiful blue coat, or hear his sweet whistle, they know that Mistress Spring is surely on the way and not very far behind, and then great joy fills their hearts. First comes gentle Sister South Wind to prepare the way, then Winsome Bluebird, and after him the beautiful Mistress herself.

Peter Rabbit was brimful of curiosity, just as he always is. You see it was a long time since he had last seen Winsome Bluebird and all the other birds who had gone to the far away south when the leaves began to drop in the fall, and of course he wanted to know all about his old friends and neighbors, how they were, what they had been doing and when they were coming back. And Winsome wanted to know all about how Peter and Reddy Fox and all the other little people who hadn't gone to the beautiful south had spent the long winter. So there was a great deal to talk about. Yes, indeed. There was a very great deal to talk about. Winsome felt that he ought to be flying about over the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, where other little people could see him and hear him and so know that he had arrived, but he had traveled a very, very great distance and he was tired, and so he sat and rested while he rested he gossiped with Peter Rabbit.

So He Rested While He Gossiped With Peter Rabbit.

'Is Ol' Mistah Buzzard on his way here?" asked Peter eagerly.

"Not yet," replied Winsome. "He won't start until after he is sure that Mistress Spring has got here," replied Winsome.

Peter looked a little disappointed, for there is nothing that he enjoys more than to watch Mistah Buzzard sail round way, way up in the blue, blue sky. He is rather fond of Ol' Mistah Buzzard, is Peter Rabbit, for big as he is Mistah Buzzard never offers to hurt any of the very little people, not even little Danny Meadow Mouse. "Why isn't he starting right away?" he asked.

"Well, you see," replied Winsome, "Mistah Buzzard doesn't like the cold.

"But it isn't cold now!" interrupted Peter. "Why, this isn't cold at all. You ought to have been here when it really was cold—when the Smiling Pool and the Laughing Brook were covered with ice and the Green Meadows and the Green Forest were all white with snow, and poor Mrs. Grouse was a prisoner under the hard, icy crust. Then it was cold! Why, this isn't cold at all."

Winsome Bluebird fluffed up his feathers just a little. It was almost like a shiver. "This is cold enough for me!" said he. "Tell me about poor Mrs. Grouse, Peter. Did she get out?"

"You tell me about Ol' Mistah Buzzard first, and how he spends the winter, and then I'll tell you about poor Mrs. Grouse," replied Peter.

"All right," said Winsome. "There's isn't a great deal to tell, but I'll do the best I can."

OPERA SEATS MUST BE CALLED FOR AT ONCE

Tickets Laid Aside Will Be Held Only Short Time. Plenty of Space Left

All grand opera patrons, including guarantors, who have made reservations for the coming season, but who have not paid for and taken up their tickets, are requested to do so at once by the Music Festival association. The sale of season tickets will close on March 28, little more than a week distant, and several days before the close of the sale all reservations must be actually taken up and the money paid in.

C. B. Bidwell, treasurer of the association, and assistant treasurer Cecil Meyer, state that after having this season sale up-to-date in the whole five years of opera in Atlanta. The total amount of the gratifying season sale has been taken in at the same relative time last year and all indications point to a record-breaking attendance.

Business Manager Harvey Johnson, who is handling the out-of-town correspondence, reports that the attendance from other cities in Georgia and from outside southern states will probably also exceed that of preceding years. Mr. Gatti Casazza, executive head of the Metropolitan, has been informed of the magnificent prospect and has expressed his keen gratification at the outlook. There is every reason why this year's season should be the biggest. Not only has the list of operas a strong appear, but the number of the famous stars who will be brought south this year exceeds that of any preceding season.

The sale was so heavy the first few days that some people got the impression that most of the best seats were gone. This of course, was not the case, as the auditorium has a seating capacity of over 6,000 and splendid locations may still be had in all parts of the house. The season sale, it will be recalled, is only a part of the advance ticket sale. No tickets have yet been sold for single performances, nor will any be sold until April 6, when the single performance sale begins. That sale will continue up to and through the opera.

While it is impossible so far in advances to predict the relative drawing strength of the operas, it is believed that the opening night, when Farrar and Caruso appear in "Carmen" will be the biggest night in point of attendance in the history of grand opera in the south. Interest apparently indicates that before the curtain goes up the auditorium will be sold to its very doors.

The sale of seats is at Phillips & Crew and the Cable Piano company.

ASKS NATIONAL PARK IN FOREST RESERVE

Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee Sends Resolution to President

The executive committee of the Atlanta chamber of commerce has adopted a resolution asking the president of the United States to establish a national park in the government's southern forest reserve in the Appalachian mountains. The resolution reads as follows:

GERMAN ARMY AVIATOR DIES FROM HIS INJURIES

METZ, March 18.—Lieutenant Bongard, a German military aviator, died here today from a fractured skull, caused by an aeroplane accident last night.

MANY INDUSTRIES ARE WANTED IN GEORGIA

Inquiry Sent Out by State Chamber of Commerce Brings Prompt Replies

Answers have been prompt and enthusiastic to the letter of inquiry which the Georgia chamber of commerce distributed recently among towns and cities of Georgia. That inquiry related to manufacturing, and asked specific information as to the industries for which there is need in each community and as to the inducements in the way of financial support and co-operation that would be offered by the community.

"This movement will result in bringing a number of factory builders from other sections of the country to Georgia," says a statement issued Wednesday by the Georgia chamber. "It is has already far exceeded that which had been taken in at the same relative time last year and all indications point to a record-breaking attendance."

Business Manager Harvey Johnson, who is handling the out-of-town correspondence, reports that the attendance from other cities in Georgia and from outside southern states will probably also exceed that of preceding years. Mr. Gatti Casazza, executive head of the Metropolitan, has been informed of the magnificent prospect and has expressed his keen gratification at the outlook. There is every reason why this year's season should be the biggest. Not only has the list of operas a strong appear, but the number of the famous stars who will be brought south this year exceeds that of any preceding season.

The sale was so heavy the first few days that some people got the impression that most of the best seats were gone. This of course, was not the case, as the auditorium has a seating capacity of over 6,000 and splendid locations may still be had in all parts of the house. The season sale, it will be recalled, is only a part of the advance ticket sale. No tickets have yet been sold for single performances, nor will any be sold until April 6, when the single performance sale begins. That sale will continue up to and through the opera.

While it is impossible so far in advances to predict the relative drawing strength of the operas, it is believed that the opening night, when Farrar and Caruso appear in "Carmen" will be the biggest night in point of attendance in the history of grand opera in the south. Interest apparently indicates that before the curtain goes up the auditorium will be sold to its very doors.

The sale of seats is at Phillips & Crew and the Cable Piano company.

Athletics Beat Cubs in Heavy Hitting Game

Mackmen Win Fifth Game From O'Day's Charges, Making Count Three and Two in Their Favor—Schang Hit a Homer in the Eighth Inning

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 18.—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Chicago Cubs here Tuesday in a game which was characterized by hard hitting and mediocre fielding, the final score was 15 to 11.

The Chicago outfield fielded more cleanly than the world's champions, but the latter had the Cubs outclassed with the stick, and rapped both Smith and Koestner hard.

Brown, of the Philadelphia team, was also punished severely, but Durning, who relieved him, managed to hold the Chicago sluggers in check. Shawkey pitched the last two innings for the Mackmen and was also effective.

Schang lifted the ball over the right field fence for the circuit in the sixth inning. A running shoestring catch by Johnston in the second was the fielding feature.

The Cubs piled up five runs in the first on a triple, a double, two singles, two errors and a pass. The Athletics also scored three in this round on four singles. Two passes, an error, a single and a wild pitch yielded the Cubs two more in the second and they added two more to their score in the third, two singles, a pass, an error and a stolen base.

The Athletics made three in the third on a triple, two singles and a pass. In the fourth the Mackmen batted two times on a double, two singles, an error and a stolen base. The Cubs added one more in the fifth on two passes, a single and a balk. The Athletics also made one in this round on two passes and a single.

In the sixth the Mackmen made three on a single, a pass and a home run. They made another trio in the seventh on a double, a single, an error and a pass. The Cubs made their last run in the eighth on a pass, a single and an error. Homerun Baker was in the game. Score by innings:

Welsh, Winner Over Joe Rivers

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 18.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight, of Pontypridd, Wales, won a decision over Joe Rivers, of Los Angeles, at Vernon Arena, Tuesday, after twenty rounds of fighting. Welsh had a lead on points nearly all the way.

Welsh now is in line for a fight with Willie Ritchie, the champion, possibly on July 4.

Gould Must Win Three More Sets

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—When the court tennis match for the open championship of the United States was resumed today at the Philadelphia Racquet club Jay Gould, the American and British amateur champion, had to win three more sets from George B. Covey, the world's professional champion to capture his title. The articles of the match provide that the player winning the first seven sets takes the championship.

Gould won the first four sets on Monday in such fashion that few followers of the ancient game believed that Covey can overcome Gould's lead. The American champion was at the top of his game Monday.

Pitcher Cullom Reports to Gulls

MOBILE, Ala., March 18.—With the arrival of Pitcher Nick Cullom and Shortstop Lobrad, the Mobile baseball team started work today with fourteen men. Manager Briscoe Lord expects the three missing members, Catcher Charles Schmidt, Outfielder Jimmie Clark and Infielder Al O'Dell, within time for them to get into practice for the exhibition games with Detroit Saturday and Sunday.

TINKER'S FEDERALS MAKING OF REAL TEAM---FULLERTON

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 18.—It is rather unfair to pick the best, most modern and most interesting of the training camps of the major leaguers, study their training methods and then move to the first camp of a new league and criticise a team thrown together from all sorts of material.

After watching the old teams, with their perfect organization, their coaches, trainers and veterans at work on established camps with all modern conveniences, the Chicago Federal league teams looks a bit hushy. It has a lot of wretched material, a poor field, the players are strangers to each other and scarcely known to each other. Manager Tinker is hardly acquainted with his own men, nor do they know each other.

But the team he has is a good one—good enough to give all comers a battle. If the major league club owned Tinker's pitching staff it would be figuring on a pennant.

Let us examine the team. Art Wilson and Jimmy Block are the experienced catchers. Wilson has been McGraw's second string catcher for years. He is a near great catcher. He is a smart, intelligent man, a clever catcher and he wants to work. There never has been a chance for him to work steadily. Now he has it. Block is the old White Sox catcher, a slashing right field hitter, a fair catcher, above the average, and a dandy fellow to have on a ball club.

McDonough, a relic of last year's Feds, is with the team, but the real promise is in little Mulvaney, a Cincinnati lad, a fighting, hustling kid of the Steve O'Neill type. He looks good. Tinker had an eye on him as a catcher for the Reds and brought him to the Feds. Tinker still hopes for Red Killifer, who did a double jump, but that is too remote a possibility to count upon.

In Ad Brennan and Hendrix he has two wonderful pitchers, and in Seaton, the star of the Phillies. Seaton was turned over to the Brooklyn Feds, but wants to stay with Chicago, and President Weeghman is trying to arrange a deal to keep him. With that trio the team is strong enough for anyone. There are Black and Pendergrast, McGuire of last year's Feds, Schmidt, Glazer, Watson, who was with the Cubs, and a bunch of others.

There are three first basemen: Beck, Jacason and Kading. Beck has had a lot of major league experience and is a good man. Jackson was one of ice stars in the Pacific northwest.

The infield probably will be Jackson, Farrell, Tinker and Zelder, unless Tinker lands the National league star second baseman who wants to join his team. Zelder is a known quantity and a great ball player. Farrell is one of the most promising youngsters in the business, fast, brilliant and a clever kid. He needs training and experience, but working with Tinker will help him a great deal.

Little Alex Zwilling, formerly with the White Sox, is one outfield fixture. He is one of the best hitters in the game, a slashing left-handed batter, spry and quick, but not very fast. He failed with the White Sox mostly because he was a kid who was having too much fun and who took on too much weight, as is ten pounds lighter than he was then, faster, and he is married and taking life more seriously. Wheat, who was one of the Reds' most promising youngsters, is there to fit in at any spot. Leach looks fair and much is hoped for Fritz.

LOSING THE SECOND

BY INNES BROWN.

Well, the entry from a few leagues to the north of us didn't have much difficulty in nicking the home guard for the second battle of the two-ply clash. Score, 10 to 5.

That is, they did not meet much difficulty, when once they got under way. Everything rocked along rather smoothly for five innings, with a run from three all. But in that frame, direful things began to happen.

The period of hard knocks and bruises came in the second lap that Key Perryman occupied the mound for the home boys. As might have been expected, according to all the dope of tradition, a former Cracker, Al Shamwiller, had a hand in the onslaught. McLarry piped a double home from Perry's delivery, and Beaumiller drove him home with a punch to center. Ebel failed to climb to one that Schwind fired a bit wide of Dodge's grounder, and Beaumiller scored.

With a two-unit margin against them Smith's supporters carted one over on Kircher's ringing double to left. Flanagan's single, after Leverett had thumped Al Nixon in the back. The visiting hands failed to produce, however, and the chance to tie it up again was lost.

The visiting delegation scored any argument in the bloody seventh. It's a long story how they did it, but they scored four runs, and incidentally, all hands took a turn at bat. Any detail should make mention of a vicious slam against the right field fence by Severson for three bases, singles by Ingleton, Dodge and Leverett, a free pass to Stansbury, and some bad bobbles on the part of the Crackers.

It is no matter of difficulty to understand the ultimate result, when it is recalled that the visitors amassed a fat total of fifteen safe punches, which two wins good for three counters. Five of these were garnered from the fork-handed delivery of Spilling Jack Doscher, while twice that number were grabbed at the expense of Perryman.

At the same time that the visiting athletes were solving the deliveries of Perryman and Perryman, the locals were showing improvement over yesterday's form with the stick, at the expense of Clemons and Leverett. Just what produced the most prolific crop of safeties so far as effectiveness was concerned, The Local's shortstop poled out a triple and a double, both of which figured in the run-getting. George Kircher was the only Cracker bested Schwind to get an extra base drive. Kirch drove one to deep left that would have been good for one circuit, but for the fact that it struck the fence in front of the left field bleachers and bounded over to Stansbury. It was some sweet drive.

By the way, Kircher had a very nice afternoon in the outfield. He pulled off the most sensational piece of fielding of the day, when he ran well over toward center on McLarry's vicious drive in the second, and speared it well up over his head.

Manager Hayden shoved several relief men into his line-up before the fray had ended. Beside a change in the box, he worked three catchers. V. Clemons started the game, was replaced by Severold, who in turn, gave way to O'Donnell. In the ninth he replaced Beaumiller with Clothier. The latter got in just in time to peg Munch's grounder high and wide, allowing Dutch to run up at second. However, he retrieved himself a few minutes later when he drove McConnaily low fly over his shoulder.

The only substitution that Manager Smith made, except on the slab, was Munch. During behind-the-bat "Red" Lynch was on the shelf with his system choked with cold. Welchones was also nursing the ache in his pitching and pinch hitting. Mannah handled third, while Kircher, Nixon and Flanagan chased around meadow work, while Tommy Long loafed.

Johnny Dodge at third for the Colonels licked like a big leaguer Tuesday. He grabbed everything that came his way, let three out of five including a triple, and stole three bases, including the home safety, of third in the second. It isn't a rather peculiar fact, however, that although he got on each of the five times he came to bat he failed to score a single run, even with the three bases stolen and the triple.

"Dutch" Munch looked pretty good behind the willow during the innings he worked. Two bags were stolen on him, both by Jack Stansbury. On each occasion Munch got the ball down to second in time, but the throw was a trifle high. In his two times at bat he stung the ball hard, but both drives went almost straight at shortstop. He held Perryman up nicely, and stopped several wicked ones that the big hurler started a-biz wild.

Owing to the fact that Hedgepeth and Sindler failed to report, Manager Bill Smith is rather shy on twirlers to work during the exhibition games. He does not look for anything else. He held Perryman up nicely, and stopped several wicked ones that the big hurler started a-biz wild.

A SCENE FROM "WHEN GOD WILLS."

This Gripping Drama Will Be Released by the Universal Company at the Savoy Thursday—Read It Today and See It Tomorrow

The miner leered drunkenly and made a ribald inventory of Martha's charms. "So you won't dance with me—eh, little one?" he sneered. "Too fine a lady to dance with Pete, the miner. I s'pose. Say"—

He reeled and snatched at her girdle, and a foul whiff of camp whisky sickened her. She brushed him aside, but the miner seized her hands. "Say, angel-face, I've got the goods. Look here." He slapped a bulging pocket. "Gold. Just struck it rich down the creek. Give you a bun'red for a dance."

Martha averted her face in disgust, but the miner's cunning eyes had glimpsed the hesitancy in her face. "A hunnerd of the yellow stuff for just one dance," he repeated.

The dance in the town hall whirled giddily about them. At home her husband lay sick—dying, perhaps. Only a few hours ago she had snatched from his wasted fingers the revolver with which he had meant to end his own misspent days. The doctor had said only a trip to Seattle and a visit to a famous specialist could save his life. She had gone to the town hall dance that evening in the hope of getting employment as a ticket seller and making an humble start toward the amount needed for the trip. The hundred offered by the grogsy wretch would help if she could but conquer her disgust.

A KISS FOR A MAN'S LIFE.

Then love for the wasted man tossing on the bed in the cabin smothered her loathing and she glided into the waltz with a sickening shudder as his rough arm circled her waist and his withering breath smote her face. His grasp tightened and as he reeled with her over the floor the veins at his temples bulged and his breath came in heavy, sickening gasps.

"A kiss, angel-face!" he panted. She shrank and wriggled furiously in his grasp. "The whole bagful of the yellow stuff for a kiss—just one!"

She would have given up her life, willingly and gladly for the sick man at home, but she felt this would be worse than a thousand deaths. Yet—love seemed so great and the sacrifice so small. A mere touch of fulsome, searing lips, a moment's choking back of supreme loathing, but—

Before she knew it love had conquered, and snatching from the fingers of the drunken wretch the gold for which she had sold herself she ran toward the cabin. But she knew that eyes hungry for scandal had watched. It would be a toothsome "morsel" of gossip for their chemises. And even as she ran she heard hurrying footsteps behind her. The gossipers were in pursuit—they had seen Harras' young wife kiss Pete, the miner, and they meant to make the most of it.

She stumbled into the cabin and held the bag of gold, before the feverish eyes of the sick man. "I have it—the money!" she murmured brokenly, "and you are going to get well, sweetheart!" And as she pressed lingering kisses to his face she knew that bitter as the sacrifice had been she would do it again—a thousand times if necessary.

Brawling voices were heard outside the cabin and suddenly the door burst open and Pete lurched across the floor. He was followed by the village gossipers, their faces flushed with wine and grinning evilly.

MINER PAYS DEBTS IN FATE.

Pete, gibbering drunkenly, snatched Martha to him and attempted to kiss her. He did not see Harras rising weakly from his bed and fumbling for a weapon. A bit of steel flashed, and the wretch crumpled into an inanimate heap at her feet. The gossipers slunk out of the cabin, mumbling something about a good-for-nothing drunkard having "met what was comin' to him."

The nearest railroad station was many miles away, and Martha dreaded the long, bitter journey.

But they must start at once, and her arms were strong and fortified by love. She would suffer for him, starve for him, die for him. The sick man leaning heavily on the girl's arm, they tottered away into the hills.

Throughout the night they wandered over treacherous paths and after a brief rest they resumed their journey in the morning. The girl's steps grew feeble and her face flushed, but she struggled bravely forward, encouraging with smiles and happy chatter the man tottering beside her. But as third night again crept over her, she felt a chill in her heart. Beyond the void and the waste lay health for the man and happiness for both of them. But could she endure longer? Her mind reeled and her aching feet faltered. Her dimmed eyes glimpsed vaguely the wild and darkened mountains ahead. And then utter weariness and despair seized her, and with her arms about him they sank into a hollow between the rocks.

She had exerted the last flimsy remnant of strength in desperate effort to live for the man beside her. Now, as darkness thickened about them, she saw no other prospect than death with him in her embrace. She crept closer to him—they would die side by side, with her wanin hand fanning his fevered face and her lips touching his in a long, lingering kiss as their lives flitted out.

THE LIGHT IN THE FOREST.

Then her aching eyes glimpsed a fluttering light between the trees. Hope flickered again, and with it came a quiver of strength. A surging sweep of love fanned the faltering power in her, and gathering all her despairing strength, she crept with him toward the light, pleading with him, begging him to fight for life that they might live for each other.

At last the awful struggle was over. She opened her eyes and glanced with dazed and over so weary eyes about the cabin. A kindly old man was stooping over her husband. She struggled to her feet.

"You're a brave child," said the old man. Don't worry. Your husband will be all right."

Martha's eyes glimpsed the long journey ahead of them. She felt she could struggle no more. She produced the bag of gold and gave it to the old man. "Take it," she said weakly. "You must see he gets to Seattle—I know you will help us."

The old man was eager to assist, and it was arranged that one of his helpers was to take the sick man to Seattle at once. In the meantime Martha was to stay in the cabin and help the old man.

The aged man viewed their parting with sympathetic eyes. "I know you'll get well, sweetheart," murmured Martha, "and we will live our lives for each other." She tried to smile, but mist dimmed the light in her eyes.

Her husband had not been gone long when Martha began to suspect that a mystery hovered about the cabin and its aged occupant. She was sent on stealthy, mysterious missions, but Burke, the old man, treated her with fatherly care and affection. He cautioned her against the internal revenue officers who of late had been prowling about the district, and slowly understanding came to Martha. Her old protector was a whisky runner plying his illicit trade under the eyes of the law. Knowing no other law than that of the hills and the waster, he regarded his business merely as a matching of his wits against the wits of the law, and Martha, thankful for the assistance he had rendered, smothered her scruples

IN THE WILDCATTERS FRONTIER CAMP.

"Guess you've charmed those revenue officers, child," the old man told her one day, caressing her hair in a fatherly way. "Since you came here they haven't bothered me any more. You've thrown 'em off the track. Guess they think there can't be any crooked business in a place where there's such a sweet and innocent young thing as you."

Martha smiled abstractedly. Her thoughts had been with her husband. Frequent reports from Seattle had buoyed her hopes, and there were prospects of an early reunion. Her humble part in the old man's scheming to cheat the law seemed so insignificant in comparison with love.

One day she received a message that inspired her with mad, tremulous joy. Her husband was completely restored to health and would join her in a few days. She told the moonshiner, and though he loudly bewailed the loss of a capable assistant, he congratulated her in words that she knew came from the heart.

"Your husband mustn't know," he told her. "Maybe he wouldn't understand. Better clear away the evidence before he comes."

Martha caught his meaning and proceeded to hide the tell-tale bottles in a safe niche in the hills. Her task was barely completed when she caught a glimpse of the revenue officers wending her with keen eyes. They were caught, she reasoned with a pang, and Martha filled with pity for the old man who had befriended her. With no other thought than that she must flee, she turned her back on the watching eyes and raced toward the cabin

HE'S WILL IS ACCOMPLISHED.

Her husband must never know, she thought, and for the first time she realized the wrong she had been doing unthinkingly. Passing a campfire she pushed a protruding rifle into the flames. There was a flash and a report of explosion, a fiery flame dazzled her eyes, and then she fell.

"Oh, sweetheart!" she mumbled, her eyes beginning to glaze. "Why couldn't we—live—for love?" Then a thousand colors flashed before her and with a gasp and a moan she died.

The revenue officers carried the body to the whisky runner's cabin, and as they pushed the door open a cry of anguish burst upon their ears. A man flung himself down beside the body, sobbing tears and kisses over the lifeless face.

"My wife!" he groaned. "My darling! My brave little sweetheart! Why couldn't—?" And then mighty, fear bruising anguish smothered his words.

After a while he staggered to his feet, his eyes staring wildly about the room. At length they were fixed with the intensity of a madman upon the old whisky runner. With a strangled cry he leaped at the old man's throat.

"You're the cause of this," he groaned. "And—"

Something checked the blow aimed at the old man's face. Harras clutched at his throat, reeled and with a brutish gurgle sank limply to the floor.

The old man watched him with unseeing eyes. Then he reached forth his hands to receive the handcuffs.

"Reckon God must have his will," he murmured brokenly, "and the law its way."

Big Entry List For Penn Relay

More Than Two Hundred Schools and Colleges Have Entered Mer.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—Although the date for the closing of the entry lists for the Pennsylvania relay carnival on April 25 is more than a month distant, 213 institutions have already signified their intention of sending teams for the different events and it is expected the total number of entries will exceed 300. The list to date includes sixty colleges, twenty high schools, forty-four preparatory schools and thirty-eight grammar schools.

Before this year's have taken on international aspect because of the entrance of Oxford university of a team of four milers, all of whom are star sprinters. Chicago and Pennsylvania are the only American colleges so far to enter a team to compete against the Englishmen. It is expected, however, that Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, and possibly one or two other institutions will also be represented in this event.

Jack Sentell Denies Report

Jack Sentell, who has appeared in local boxing rings on several occasions in the past, writes from Jacksonville to deny a report published in a local paper to the effect that Terry Nelson won a decision over him in a twenty-round battle in Jacksonville. Sentell asserts that the result of the match was a draw and that he should have had the verdict had one been rendered. He states further that he would be glad to meet Nelson in a local ring, if some promoter will stage the battle, and that he will post a side bet to make it interesting. He wants the match made for a decision

Cleveland Naps Arrive Thursday for Series With Crackers

Naps Furnish Next Argument With Crackers

Manager Birmingham Will Bring His Crew From Athens Camp for First Battle Thursday--Lineup Will Include Many Well Known Stars of Game

The Crackers have an off day today, so far as a match game is concerned. Their next battle will be fought on Thursday, when Joe Birmingham, taken a run over from the Athens camp with the Naps to take a fall out of B. Smith's proteges. With the arrival of Rube Kissinger, who came in Tuesday, the local crew is now completed and Smith is well on to his job of separating the grain from the chaff.

The Cleveland team will bring a bunch of players well known to local fans. Chief among these, of course, will be Joe Jackson, the slugging garbeer from the Palmetto state. Next to Joe in local esteem, will come Larry Lajoie, the eternal Frenchman, who was playing baseball almost before Jackson ducked his swaddling garments. Doc Johnson, the manager boy, and former Southern leaguer, is also included in the layout. The pitching staff includes Willis Mitchell, a former Mississippi A. & M. star, and Nick Cullop, whom Frank Moffatt dug up for the Southeastern league a year or two ago.

The Naps will line up with a young star on short, whom very few local fans have ever heard of. He is Dunleavy and will work in these local games, since Ray Chapman, the regular on the job, was sent home a few days since with a broken ankle, sustained by sliding into a bag during practice at Athens a few days since. Terry Turner, one of the old faithful, is still in Hot Springs, where he is doing his conditioning, preparatory to the coming campaign. The line up will also include Nemo Leibold, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the smallest men in the big leagues. However, he is a mighty big little man. At least he was big enough to hit .300 in the American league last season, while a great big bunch that have it on him here were in physical makeup were edging along further down the line.

Manager Birmingham has some twenty-eight or thirty players in camp, but it is hardly probable that he will bring all of these along just for these games, since the Naps play an opening engagement here a bit later. With the team will come Secretary W. R. Blackwood, and the following newspaper men: H. P. Edwards, Plain Dealer; Tom Bruce, Leader; H. T. McDaniel, News, and Fred Turbeyville, Press.

Following is the lineup which will probably be used here, exclusive of the pitchers:

Evans Reports to Brooklyn Federals

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—Steve Evans reported to the Brooklyn Federals here Tuesday, leaving but two men absent from the camp—Seaton and Cooper. The first is at Shreveport, La., where the Chicago Federals are training, and the latter is thought to be on his way to Columbia. The weather here has been fine for spring work and the players have not lost a practice since their arrival last week.

THE BALLARD OF THE BRAVE.

We have loved, but we have lost;
We have fought, but we have
We have paid the bitter cost,
Yet our hearts have never qualled;
failed;
We have fallen in the fray
Through the sweep of countless guns;
Yet we've risen, and today
We are standing to the guns.

We have felt the slash of pain
Where the gory cleft was deep;
We have battled long in vain,
But we've never stopped to weep;
We have never cared to know
Where the laureled highway led;
Only that we face the foe
At the line—with unbowed head.

We've dreamed throughout the night—
Not of glory without end,
But the whirlwind of the fight
Which the coming day would send;
We were tempted and we fell—
To the bitter depths—and then
From the very maw of hell
We have struggled up again.

Only those who face the sweep
Of a life which Fate defies,
Yet fight upward from the deep
Know wherein true valor lies;
Only those who, beaten down,
Rise again as from the grave
Shall with harp and holy crown
Chant the ballad of the Brave.

This might even be extended into the "Ballad of the Braves." It's quite certain they were not very far away from the "maw of hell" when George Stallings took charge. Yet, here they are a year later buzzing around in the day's fan conversation as the sable equine of the N. L. pennant affair.

Stallings took the Yanks from last place to fifth and from fifth place to second in two years. He has taken the Braves from last place to fifth in his first season, and we'll lay you a cigarette against a match that he takes them within the immediate vicinity of second place by October.

THE CLEAN-UP.

If a novelist could clean up a young fortune from a dissertion upon "V. V.'s Eyes," only think of the possibilities ahead in compiling a yarn upon "Ty's Eyes," or "Baker's Lamps." We offer the suggestion freely to any one who yearns for kale and glory.

EXPLAINING A MYSTERY.

We have wondered for some time just why it was that eager scribes have refrained from discovering new curves, such as the "Double Dip" or the "Phantom Twist."

This used to be one of our grandest little spring institutions. But no more. And the reason is simple. The new dances have absorbed all the names in sight devoted to the twist or dip of flop or wiggle and the scribe has no original label left to hang upon any newly developed curve.

YES, IT'S THE OLD STUFF, BUT—

In the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to Archer's peg.
In the spring a fuller crimso comes uppon the Grandoldope;
In the spring a fuller crimson comes upon the Grandoldope;

F. R.—Lay it to ignorance rather than spotted taste. It was our hasy recollection that Gen. Packenham got away safely.

NATIONS AND HEROES.

"After batting around this globe and emulating the rolling stone," writes H. A. B., "for the past twenty years, it is my belief that the average Englishman, Dutchman, Swede or American will about boil down to the same level and that pretty nearly every county has about the same percentage of regular guys and about the same percentage of boneheads and rummies."

We'll agree with H. A. B. in the main, but we insist upon one exception. If we thought the world in general had no more regular fellows —and had as many rummies and boneheads and worse as Mexico carries there would be little incentive to prolling even the sheh or civilisation.

A LIKELY THEORY.

Still, in the main, the above theory is about correct. The present lightweight champion is a German. The one before him was a German and the one before him was a Dane. The greatest batsman of fifteen-year history is a Frenchman and the most valuable all around player a Dutchman. Matheswon's ancestors were English, Walter Johnson's were Scotch. And before we get mobbed let's not forget that John L. Sullivan, John J. McGraw and Connie Mack are Irish.

"Why so many J. J.'s in sport?" asks a reader. "There are J. J. Corbett, J. J. Jeffries, J. J. McGraw, J. J. Callahan, J. J. Evers and many others."

We have no idea unless it is upon the theory that one good J. deserves another.

SHARP SPORT JABS

WHY, OH, WHY?

Some people are crazy about tennis. Thousands have golf on the brain. But they forget all these in a jiffy When they go to a baseball game.

"From what part of the south do your southpaws come?" a gid asked Joe Tinker at Shreveport.

"Dunno, kiddo," retorted Joe.

Ty can demand a little more kale on the strength of that.

Now that Bombardier Wells has knocked out Bandsman Blake for the championship of England, let him meet Kid Secondrater of the U. S. A.

Ad Brennan, of the Tinkers, was the first Fed leaguer to sign, first Fed on the training field and the first man to throw a ball in the first Fed practice game.

G. W. HAS NOTHING ON AD.

Take a glance at the names of the fighters and wrestlers and notice the scarcity of Irish.

These English people are very persistent, especially in tenhis, golf and yachting.

We should peave!

Baseball has no show in England as it provides no regular intermission for drinking t ea.

A DIP INTO THE PAST.

On September 8, 1892, at Glenville, Ohio, Evangeline won a fifth heat in 2:11 3-4, making a new trotting record. Uhlan stepped it in h:h4 1-2 last year.

Leach Cross vs. Charley White, in April, at Milwaukee or Kenosha: lightweighters.

BAN JOHNSON, READ THIS.

The St. Louis Federal MAJOR LEAGUE team has a twirler named Bushman and Second Baseman Bucher.

Sure, they came from the bushes. But so did Walter Johnson and Eddie Collins.

Colonels Well Pleased With Training Trip

President O. H. Wathen, of Louisville Ball Club, Says His Team Found Conditions Very Favorable at the Florida Camp--Will Train South Again Next Year

During the two games just played with the Louisville team, there was a noticeable difference between the condition of the visitors and the home team. The visiting hurlers were twisting their offerings quite a bit more freely than the home guard and the rest of the bunch were also outting their whips loose with more abandon than the locals dared. The reason for this is very evident. The visitors have been spending the past three weeks at Fort Myers, Fla.

President O. H. Wathen of the above club states that he is very well pleased indeed with the results of their training trip. In speaking of this, the first southern training junket of his club, he said: "We had about all that could be asked in the way of weather for our workouts. On just one morning of the entire time that we were in Fort Myers, did the boys fail to get out for their daily morning practice, and even that day, we played a game in the afternoon.

"Our secretary joined us here on our arrival, and tells me that had we trained at home this year, we would not have had more than four or five days at most to work out of doors up until the present time. If our showing in this season's race proves a disappointment, it cannot be laid to any lack of, opportunities for getting into shape this spring. We will surely come south again next spring."

The visiting official has many amusing stories to relate in connection with their Florida trip. Among others he tells one of how zealously the Floridians guard the reputations of their climate in different localities. While the team was in Fort Myers a cool wave struck that section. A few days later he carried his team up to St. Petersburg for a practice game with the St. Louis Browns. In discussing the climate, one loyal resident of the latter place observed that during the snap a light frost had appeared at Fort Myers, although none had been seen at St. Petersburg, which the Louisvillian thought rather remarkable, seeing that the latter place is some considerable distance to the north.

McDermott Is Going Abroad

NEW YORK, March 18.—John J. McDermott, twice the open golf champion of the United States, will go abroad again this year in an attempt to win new honors. Word to this effect was brought to New York yesterday by a friend to whom McDermott told of the proposed trip.

McDermpot has been in the south for the last few weeks playing exhibitions with Tom McNamara and Michael J. Brady, as well as in open tournaments. He is declared to be in good golfing form although his recent illness has caused him to lose about ten pounds.

Gardner Won From Milburn

Memphis Billiardist Lost to New Yorker in Amateur Championship Tourney

NEW YORK, March 18.—By winning Tuesday's game from Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn., Edward W. Gardner, of New York, stands well in the lead for this year's amateur billiard championship title, an honor which he has held on three previous occasions. Today's victory was the fourth successive winning bracket for Gardner and he is the only one of seven contestants in the tournament who has not experienced defeat.

Gardner played well today and his run of 124 in the tenth inning, was a masterpiece of cue work. The century mark had been reached only twice during the competition and Gardner now stands an excellent chance of winning the special prize for the high run. This cluster was made up of good all-round billiards as also was his unfinished 81 with which he completed the necessary 400 points for game in the twenty-ninth inning.

Milburn's efforts netted him only 162 points today, his best run being 32. The Memphis cueist has played and lost five games and as he has only one more to play he has no chance of winning any prize, unless in his final contest he should make the highest run of the tournament.

Scores:

Gardner, 400; average 13 26-29; high runs, 124, 81, 29.

Memphis Won From St. Paul

MEMPHIS, March 18.—Memphis, of the Southern league, defeated St. Paul, of the American Association, 6 to 3 here Tuesday in the third of a series of exhibition games. Of the series Memphis won two. The visitors' misplays helped Memphis to several runs today.

Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Memphis	6	8	0
St. Paul	3	7	4

Smith, Harrell, Hawkins and Gibboney; Karger, Walker, Gardner and Miller.

Charles Taft Won't Sell Cubs

Cincinnati Capitalist Announces That He May Succeed Murphy as President

CHICAGO, March 18.—Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, who recently acquired the controlling interest in the Chicago National baseball league club, announced today that he might succeed Charles W. Murphy as president of the Cubs. He also declared he had not attempted to dispose of his stock to Chicago syndicates.

"I think the Cubs a good paying proposition and I can see no reason for selling, Mr. Taft was reported to have said. "I have never offered the stock for sale. All talk of such transactions have come from the other side of the fence. I think that I will run the Cubs myself. There must be a lot of pleasure in bossing athletes."

Upon his arrival here last night Mr. Taft announced he had come to Chicago to reconstruct the club. He spent today looking over the club's ball park and in arranging for improvements to the stands which must be made before the opening of the season.

Sally Leaguers Draw With Newark

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 18.—Columbus and Newark went seven innings Tuesday afternoon which resulted in a victory for the latter by the score of 2 to 1. Newark furnished the pitchers for the local team. O'Rourke, of the Newarks, gottwo three-baggers out of three times up, and Kimball, of the locals, got two hits out of three chances. This was the second time the local team had been on the diamond this season.

Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	1	4	3
Newark	2	6	1

St. Bride Apartment House on Cain Street Sold for $49,000 — Washington Street Corner Figures in Exchange of Property—March Building Value $55,000 Ahead of Same Period Last Year—First Auction Sale Announced

The Charles P. Glover Realty company announced Wednesday the sale, through Mr. Glover, of the firm, of the St. Bride apartment of 52 East Cain street, by Hamilton Douglas to William Hurd Hillyer, the price being $49,000. No trade was involved in the transaction.

The apartment stands on a lot 55 by 100, and brings in an annual rental of $6,000. The company added the announcement that it will assume charge of the new owner in the management of the property.

WASHINGTON STREET SALE.

The Burdett Realty company has sold for D. W. Deadow to an investor No. 230 Washington street, the corner of Clarke, a two-story, nine-room house, on a lot 71x170, for $26,000, the seller taking as part payment a lot, 60x200 on Piedmont drive, no consideration being given.

The purchaser of the Washington street property will convert it into a two-family apartment house.

BUILDING SHOWS GAIN.

Ben J. Massell on Wednesday took a building contract for a two-story and basement building at No. 429 Peachtree street, north of Pine. The building will occupy a lot 21x100, and will be designed for automobile needs, although no tenant has yet been secured.

The total of building permits for March so far is $55,000 ahead of the corresponding period in March, 1913, but the year is still too young.

Indications are that March will continue the lead, for no large permits were issued during that month last year.

Wednesday's permits included several dwellings, most of which, however, were of small cost. The weather just now is reasonable for outdoor construction.

FIRST AUCTION SALE.

The old Farrington homestead has been subdivided into seventy residence lots, and will be sold at auction on or about April 1 by Foster & Robson will conduct the sale.

J. W. Ferguson & Son will be the auctioneers.

SHORT COVERING CAUSED THE ADVANCE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 5 to 13 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

NEW YORK, March 18.—After opening steady, unchanged to 2 higher, cotton sold 3 to 8 net higher on active old crop months during today's early trading. Business was brisk and new crop positions held within a point or two of the highest prices of the day. General business was restricted by wire troubles but foreign and local shorts continued buyers of old crop months, bringing prices some 7 to 14 points net higher shortly after midday. Active months sold about 5 to 15 points net higher during the early afternoon and reactions of 4 or 5 points followed under realizing.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—Better cables from Liverpool on a steady tone. Buying increased after the call, a good part of it being for the account of shorts who were compelled to cover an hour later the opening the market stood 5 to 7 points over the finish of the previous session. Buying of cotton for the long account flooded the market and in the trading up to noon prices went 7 to 11 points over yesterday's close.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 18.—Europe sailing the bullish meaning of yesterday's cotton market was simply and consumption in this country and Liverpool was good with futures about 3 points higher, spot sales 10,000 bales, Indian sales about 2,000 bales on yesterday's drop in futures, bearish efforts and active scale sellers were prominent in New York with a very large straddle short interest in the summer positions in fighting for all prices.

The reserve shown by the bull element over Friday's drop is encouraging, indicating no change in the meantime and they are evidently looking for the end of the New York cotton change yesterday unanimously voted acceptance of the government's standards to become operative April 1, 1915. The next steps towards final reform have to be commercial differentials and certification per bale to avoid the prohibitive expense of re-certification. The New York contract will then be in greater harmony with other cotton spots and will serve better as a medium of supply to consumers and will avoid the erratic differences between the new and old crops as at present such a disturbing feature. The map shows cloudy weather in the southern belt. Generally fair in the southern half. Continued cold expected tonight in the northern portion. Frost or a light chill in the western half of the belt with a cold wave by Friday in the northern and western quarters. Partly cloudy to fair and warmer in the eastern states, becoming unsettled and colder late tomorrow.

Final ginning reports were at practically unchanged figures. Trading small, no support. A few scattered buying orders by commission houses, a further exodus by smaller longs before Friday's ending of the week. The market is somewhat outlined again and should be in good technical shape for an advance after the report. Although there is no support at present and no material buying power developed by the bears of the bear element, the large discount in the near months and the closing hour of the session may be the short side seem to point even bearish activity to a little quick selling.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, March 18.—Market has been very quiet during the morning. No trading of importance, but there was a disposition to buy on sell soft spots and the market ruled very firmly. Am inclined to believe any change would cause a rally.—Anderson.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET HEAVY IN LATE TRADING

Rumor of New Government Suit Against Lehigh Valley Caused Heavy Selling

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 18.—New stocks were big to rapidly at the opening today, Canadian Pacific, Kansas and Texas preferred and Pennsylvania Gas rose 2 points. Aside from these changes the movement was narrow. Trading was fairly active with a firm undertone.

Improvement in the copper metal market was reflected in a rise in all of the copper shares, especially Amalgamated. Decision to suspend withdrawal of Colorado, Southern first and second preferred took off the edge of the general rise.

Although the market's position appeared to be fairly strong, no initiative was displayed on the long side and the failure of the bulls to attract a following resulted in active selling by room traders.

Announcement that the Colorado and Southern dividends had been suspended, afforded a pretext for general selling on the ground that it indicated inflation of the unfavorable position of the Atchison, Colorado and Southern common but 1¼ and the first preferred 3½ points.

Coppers benefited for a time by higher prices for the yellow metal, but from the steel issues were confusing. United States Steel ultimately weakened and the New Haven list gave way with it. The early advances were cancelled before noon.

Bonds easy.

Announcement of the retirement of George F. Baer from the directorate of the Lehigh Valley was followed by active selling of that issue which fell from 147¾ to 145¾. Exhaustion of the general selling pressure was followed by one in the early afternoon, but the buying was extremely timid.

Trading interest converged on the speculative bonds. Rock Island collaterals fell 1¾ to 58¾, the owner figure touched. Wabash, new, yesterday, 46 gained nearly as much.

Closing movements showed increase in selling pressure toward the end on rumors of a new government suit against the Lehigh Valley and weakness of Rock Island bonds.

STOCK MARKET OPINION

Financial Bureau: Bullish operations on a moderate scale continue against the short side of the stock market. Cotton rallies expected in well informed quarters. Wheat is well taken on the recession.

New York Herald: The action of the market indicates evidently that actual holders of stocks are standing pat in the belief that this is to be a bull year.

New York Sun: Dealings are highly professional and gains are not extensive. Trading is largely upon industrials and specialties.

New York Tribune: The closing was rumors to account for the rise, one being that the government contemplates no drastic situation might be looked for soon.

NEW YORK STOCKS LETTER.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Conflicting rumors have been responsible for the change in sentiment in the stock market as actual news and prices will probably drift temporarily. The market is now in position to be made to move in either direction. Although there is no support at present and no material buying power developed by the bears of the bear element, the large discount in the near months and the closing hour of the session may be the short side seem to point even bearish activity to a little quick selling.

COTTON GOSSIP.

Times-Democrat says: History has repeated itself once more another bullish document has been put forth and prices have shrunk. In old days, overbearing was his brother wrong headed. If the government had said that the American mills were consuming at the record rate of 1,000,000 bales a week and that it is hard to get anything big enough for the general appetite, Mr. Taylor next the census bureau will promulgate its report on ginnings to March 1. On August 25 last year 15,326,000 bales had been ginned; from from January 2, 30 to March 1 of the same year 6,000,000 more. It is commonly thought that the ginnings for the remainder of 1914 will be less by about 100,000 bales. It is consequently fairly to assume that the public looks for ginnings of about 14,100,000, exclusive of linters. This is a trifle over the estimate of 14,000,000 on May contracts in New York, as compared with 15,000,000 bales in the year 1911-12. And the underwriters who are selling the winter months at a great discount from the price of the nearest peas auxious days and night before their eyes. Such is the truth in the bank.

The board of managers of New York cotton exchange yesterday adopted the government standard types of grades of cotton. The change will be effective on all contracts for cotton maturing on and after April 1, 1915. Following the announcement of the managers: "Resolved, That the government standard types of grades of cotton, viz: middling fair, strict good middling, good middling, strict middling, middling, strict low middling and good ordinary, shall be the basis for determining the grade of cotton to be delivered upon contracts maturing on and after April 1, 1915."

LONDON STOCKS

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, March 18.—The stock market opened generally depressed. Brazilians were lowered owing to fairly free realizing. Closed irregular and easy. Copper shares were good realizing under the lead of Rio Tintos.

American securities opened quiet and a fraction lower. Light covering rallied the leaders during the forenoon and later the whole list improved on New York buying. Closed steady, a fraction below the best.

COARSE GRAINS LED THE ADVANCE IN CHICAGO PIT

Corn Closed 7-8 to 1c Higher, Oats Firm—Wheat, Pork, Lard and Sides Steady

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 18.—Higher cables than expected tended today to make the wheat market firm. Commission houses, inclusive in the southwest led, however, to caution on the part of the bulls. Opening prices were a shade to ¼ higher but not all if the gain was held. Talk of a possible suspension of the Spanish duty helped to sustain the wheat market. So also did a sharp drop in northwestern receipts. Closed easy, though at a shade of ⅛@¼c up, compared with last night.

Danger of a set harvest in Argentin strengthened corn. Besides, Kansas sent word of the most active cash demand thus far this season. The market noted ¼ to ⅜@⅝c up and scored a material further advance.

On the bulge there was free profit-taking in corn, but offerings were quickly absorbed. Closed steady, ⅞@1c net higher.

Oats clubbed with corn. Cash houses were active buyers.

Considerable strength developed in provisions notwithstanding very heavy hog receipts. The firmness was largely due to the decided falling off in hog slaughtering west compared with last week and a year ago.

Outseeding has begun and acreage will undoubtedly fall under that of last year.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

Kept Her Locks Dark, Thick, Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—(Adva.)

MAY CONVICT THREE SUSPECTS.

The outfit dug up beneath the house at 89 Brookline street by detectives has resulted in the arrest of three suspects. It is the most complete yeggery layout ever seen in Atlanta. Here are some of the things shown in the picture:

No. 1. Two bottles of fuses and caps for setting off charges of nitroglycerin.
No. 2. Nitroglycerin in bottle.
No. 3. Steel cutting saw and large "jimmy" to left.
No. 4. Putty, for stopping up holes in safes after drilling.
No. 5. Rosin.
No. 6. Steel drill. This tool on test by officers bored a hole in a "burglar-proof" lock. It is considered the prize article of the outfit. It is innocent and inexpensive looking. Its cost is estimated at about $35.00.
No. 5. Is the bunch of currency which was torn to shreds when some safe was blown. This is thought to be from the Walker store, of Griffin, which was recently robbed of $805 by safe blowers.

Said to Have Robbed Safes at Milledgeville and Griffin, Ga.

Through the efforts of Atlanta's "vice squad" two gangs of alleged yeggmen are now behind the bars awaiting trial on charges of having robbed safes at Milledgeville and Griffin, Ga. They are known to claim another member, John Nolan, who was convicted at Marietta Tuesday of robbing the N. C. & St. L. train about two months ago.

The latest yegg arrest came Tuesday afternoon with the discovery in the basement of a house at 89 Brookline street of a complete yeggmen's outfit.

The police were tipped off to the Brookline raid by C. R. Walker, of Griffin, whose store was robbed of $805 last Saturday night. Walker, believing that the safe crackers came to Atlanta, told Chief Jett of his suspicions.

The arrest of two suspects, W. B. Gray, alias William Grant, alias Billy Desmoines, and A. O. Perry, followed. They gave the address of 89 Brookline street.

Redford Fields, who lives at this address, came to see the two suspects Monday. His actions aroused the suspicions of Sergeant Bullard, head of the vice squad, so the Brookline house was searched Tuesday afternoon.

In the basement was found a yegging outfit, consisting of two bottles of nitroglycerine, exploding caps, fuses, oil of mustard, three pistols, overalls, steel saws, safe bits, and a roll of money, partially torn from some explosion.

Fields admits that John Nolan, the convicted bandit, was a member of their gang. Other members are believed to be four men, arrested recently by the local detectives and now in jail at Milledgeville charged with robbery there of $25,000 on February 14.

Postoffice Inspector Adamson has notified local detectives that he thinks Fields, Gray and Perry were in part responsible for the theft of $40,000 from a train running between Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, Ala., a few weeks ago.

The arrest of the three was consummated by Sergeant George Bullard working in connection with Harry Scott and J. H. Kelley, of the local Pinkerton agency.

An Invitation to Women

No suffering woman should seek the treatment of any unskilled person who has not had special training in the care of the delicate feminine constitution. I therefore invite every invalid woman to consult our Staff of Physicians, Surgeons and Specialists at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, New York, by letter or personally at my expense. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, New York.

Remember your daughters as they turn into women are subject to the same sufferings—to the headaches, backaches, hot flashes, dizziness, extreme nervousness, low spirits, lassitude—which afflict so many women at times. But the condition indicated by these symptoms may be remedied if the proper help is sought promptly.

DR. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

is prepared under the direction and according to the directions of a physician of long and varied experience in the treatment of the troubles of the organs peculiar to women. It is soothing and strengthening. It is, indeed, a restorative, invigorating tonic which has lasting good effect upon the health and strength of women. Weak women are made stronger; sick women healthier by use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Two Daughters Given Health

Mrs. Stinson

"It is with pleasure that I write you a testimonial of what your 'Favorite Prescription' has done for me and for my two oldest daughters," writes Mrs. Ora Kirkman, of Altoona, Wilson County, Kans. "I would not have my only boy ill if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I also recommend Favorite Prescription to mothers who have girls just turning into womanhood. I gave it to my oldest daughters, and it worked like a charm. They are now stout, healthy young ladies, and I will always recommend this remedy to my friends and to all who suffer from female complaints."

For over forty years Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has given universal satisfaction. Now it may be obtained in either liquid or tablet form from all dealers in medicines—or send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box of the tablets to Dr. Pierce.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets help and regulate stomach, liver and bowels. One to three tiny granules to a dose. Pleasant to take as candy.
