INVESTIGATOR SAYS HE WAS PAID $500 BY CLUB INTERESTS

W. C. Jones, "Stool Pigeon" Employed by City Detectives, Creates Court Sensation by His Charges

JOHN S. M'CLELLAND DISCLAIMS KNOWLEDGE

L. C. Raoul, of Owls Club, Is Fined $200 and Held Under Bond on Charge of Selling Whisky

W. C. Jones, the missing "stool pigeon" employed by city detectives to aid in the investigation of locker clubs in Atlanta, and who returned Tuesday after an absence of several months, created a sensation in recorder's court Saturday when he declared he had been paid $500 for signing a certain paper and that he had been supplied with funds during his absence by persons connected with various clubs against which cases have been made.

The statement was evoked by a question from Attorney C. L. Anderson, in the trial of L. C. Raoul, manager of the Owls club, who was on trial for violation of the law against keeping whisky on hand for sales purposes.

Jones said he left Atlanta because "other parties" were influencing him, and that he was paid $500 in Cartersville for signing a certain paper, and that from time to time he was furnished with other money while traveling around to various cities. He stated that the $500 was paid to him by 'Mr. McClelland,' and detectives say he later said that he meant John S. McClelland, the lawyer.

When seen by a Journal reporter, Mr. McClelland gave out the following signed statement in reply to Jones' charge:

"I was employed by clients who had received a letter from W. C. Jones, wherein he stated that while in need of money and in destitute circumstances, he had lied in order to procure money from the Anti-Saloon league, and that all statements he had made in regard to buying whisky from the locker clubs were lies.

"I went to Smyrna for the sole purpose of verifying this letter, which Mr. Jones did verify and that he was the author of the same. This affidavit was signed in the office of Colonel W. T. Townsend, of Cartersville, Ga., and the notary public witnessing was the cashier of the Cartersville bank.

"I had no knowledge that Jones was to receive any money or had received any and have no knowledge now that he received any. My only mission was to confirm the letter that he had written.

"I might add that I went in the capacity of notary public to take his (Jones') affidavit, but after reflection decided to have absolutely nothing to do with it and took him before entirely disinterested parties.

J. S. M'CLELLAND."

SAID HE GOT $500.

Jones said that when he left Atlanta he went to Smyrna, where he was supposed to meet T. M. Webb, who is connected with one of the clubs, but that Mr. Webb failed to show up. Instead another man came and later Mr. McClelland and a Mr. Brickar. From Smyrna Mr. McClelland went with Jones to Cartersville, said the witness, and in Cartersville asked him to sign a statement before the notary, offering him $500 if he would. He said that he signed the paper and received the $500, and that Mr. McClelland then left him, returning, he supposed, to Atlanta.

Jones said that he and W. E. Little then went to Chattanooga, Memphis, San Antonio and San Francisco and that he received money at each place he was away. He came back Tuesday, he stated, because he had a message saying that everything was all right.

Ever since returned to the city, Jones has been under the supervision of an officer. He testified Friday at the trial of the managers of the Metropolitan, Eagles and Theatrical clubs, but as he was not asked then concerning his absence, made no statement.

RAOUL IS FINED $200.

L. C. Raoul, of the Owls, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or serve 30 days at the stockade. He was bound over to the superior court for selling whisky on a bond of $1,000.

Following Jones' statement Recorder Broyles called City Attorney Mayson to him and directed the city attorney to investigate Jones' accusations.

William Wolpers, who was arraigned with Raoul was dismissed as the city attorney stated that there was no evidence to show that he had been connected with sales of liquor as he was an employe only.

NATIONAL GUARD IN LINE FOR WAR DUTY IF U. S. INTERVENES

Militiamen of Several States Will Constitute First Reserve Force If Troops Are Needed for Service in Mexico

GEORGIA STANDS READY TO FURNISH HER QUOTA

Atlanta Military Men Say State May Supply Two Full Regiments If Call for Volunteers Is Made

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—The national guard of the several states will constitute the first reserve force of the United States in event of armed intervention in Mexico.

The president will call upon the respective states to supply their quota of militia to be furnished in company or regiment units but to be sworn in individually as volunteers for the regular army. It will be necessary that each guardsman shall be commissioned as a United States volunteer in order that they may be sent into foreign territory.

It is believed that the strength of the national guard would be sufficient to meet the immediate requirements of the United States, and that by commanding their use the president would obviate for the time being at least the necessity of calling for volunteers from the public at large, as was the case in the Spanish-American war.

The war department officials believe that a better and more efficient body of soldiers is to be obtained on short notice by resorting to the national guard, and that, moreover, the national guardsmen by virtue of joint maneuvers with the regular army in the past, would work in good accord with the army.

Georgia Military Men Tell of State's Strength

Local military men are confident that in the event the United States intervenes in Mexico the government will call on all the states for volunteers, and they express the opinion that if such a call is issued Georgia will furnish at least one regiment and perhaps two.

The present strength of Georgia's militia is as follows: Three regiments of infantry, with twelve companies to each regiment, each company consisting of fifty-eight privates and three officers, the average complement of each regiment being 650 men; a separate battalion of four companies with 58 men and three officers to each company; five troops of cavalry with about 58 men and three officers to each troop; one battalion of field artillery, consisting of three batteries of 100 men each. These batteries are each equipped with four three-inch field guns of the very latest type.

Georgia has a coast artillery corps of about 200 men, which will be available only for coast defense service.

The militia is fully supplied with the most modern regular army equipment, including twelve ambulances and a field hospital.

Just what proportion of the men now affiliated with the militia would enlist if volunteers are called for cannot be estimated, but the number would no doubt be very large.

Church Officials Decline To Accept Bequest for $150,000 Bread Line

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 18.—Trinity church has declined the bequest of $150,000 in the will of Henry M. Gescheidt, who died on January 13 last, to establish and maintain a bread line, it was announced yesterday. A stipulation of the bequest was that the name Gescheidt be stamped on every loaf of bread given away.

The bequest reverts to the Five Points House of Industry for the same purpose and with the same stipulation. If it also should decline the money, the beneficiaries would be eight hospitals and a home for the blind.

The rector and vestry of Trinity church said they declined the bequest in order that the last named institution might benefit.

Mayor of New York Says Little Gold Frog Brings Him Good Luck

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 18.—Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, who narrowly escaped assassination a bullet yesterday, thinks a talisman given him when in Costa Rica brings him good luck.

He was expressing himself to friends at the Press club last night Mr. Mitchel displayed a 14 gold image of a frog about an inch and a quarter long which he carries with his knife on one end of his watch chain. It is one of the small gold tokens that are dug out of old graves all through Central America and usually sold to tourists.

"When this was given to me," said the mayor, "I was told that it would always bring me good luck; I believe it has."

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1913, the total number of immigrants was 402,432, composed of 150,-542 British, 139,000 Americans and 112,881 from all other countries. The decrease is 4 per cent.

COL. BOIFEUILLET MAY RUN FELDER CAMPAIGN

Persistent Rumor in Macon Says He Will Take Charge Soon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 18.—It is persistently reported here, and so far undenied, that Colonel John T. Boifeuillet, secretary to the late Senator A. O. Bacon and clerk to the Georgia house of representatives, will manage the senatorial campaign of former Attorney General Thomas S. Felder.

Close friends of Mr. Felder admit that negotiations are now in progress between Mr. Felder and Colonel Boifeuillet and that it is quite probable that Colonel Boifeuillet will take charge of the former's campaign.

Greene County Committee Will Fix Primary Today

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GREENSBORO, Ga., April 18.—The Greene county Democratic executive committee will meet in Greensboro today and settle upon the date for holding the county primary. Other business which is mainly formal will also be transacted. The committee will be presided over by Chairman J. B. Williams.

Dr. C. C. King, of White Plains, has announced his candidacy for the state legislature, only making a formal statement of his entry. Captain Alex H. Smith, of Greensboro, has said that he would be a candidate for the legislature although he has not made a formal announcement.

E. L. Lewis is a candidate for re-election as tax collector, and J. H. Armstrong is an announced candidate. Both were in the race two years ago. Kitto Smith is a candidate for re-election as tax receiver, and C. N. Bryant has announced his candidacy.

Thus far three officials are without opposition for re-election. They are E. C. Hixon, sheriff; L. H. Branch, treasurer; S. H. Willis, clerk of superior court.

Judge Fite for Congress If Lee Runs for Governor

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., April 18.—The local friends of Congressman Gordon Lee were greatly interested in the story sent out from Washington that Mr. Lee might be a candidate for the governorship; but many expressed the belief that he will again offer for congress this year, and that he will not be opposed.

However, if he does run, there is likely to be a lively scramble for congressman from the Seventh district, and Judge A. W. Fite will, in all probability, be one of the candidates.

Judge Fite, who adjourned court here yesterday afternoon, said before leaving for his home in Cartersville, that if Mr. Lee decided to get in the race for the governorship, he would probably run for Mr. Lee's present job. Judge Fite, in spite of the rumors, will not be a candidate for governor unless something should arise to change his present attitude. While here he stated that he had received a number of letters urging him to run, but he didn't see how he could make the race.

Boy, Accidentally Shot, Dies

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., April 18.—Lee McLaughlin, fifteen-year-old son of Rev. L. A. McLaughlin, of Talbotton, died here last night from the effects of a bullet wound accidentally inflicted January 2.

WHAT ABOUT THOSE BONDS FOR GRADY?

Between contagion and us stands a shanty. That's the word for it! A veritable shanty is Grady hospital's present-day ward for contagious cases.

Are you proud of it, Atlanta?

Are you content with it?

It wouldn't be there but for the Rotary club. It wasn't there a few weeks ago. No such thing existed at Grady as a ward for contagious cases. The Rotary club members chipped in and bought its equipment; and the mayor rented the shanty. They've got it full of patients, now—sick folks who otherwise might be sending their illness in every direction. There's not enough room for all who ought to be in it.

On May 5 we've got to vote on a bond issue of $750,000 for bringing Grady hospital up to the demands on it.

In that bond issue is this item: "For contagious wards, white and black, $50,000."

Do we need contagious wards, when we haven't any?

Is there grinding on isolating people who've got smallpox, diphtheria, or any of the other diseases that we catch only when we're exposed to them?

Is there economy in guarding our homes against the menace they offer?

Or should we let them be scattered over the town, in our own neighborhoods, in the neighborhoods of our cooks and butlers and maids, and chauffeurs and washerwomen who have entry among us past all other precautions?

Answer these questions, Atlanta!

Think them over well. They're big with meaning to you. On what you say about this Grady bond issue rests your future good health and efficiency.

Will you vote "aye" for the Grady bonds?

CHIEF CUMMINGS SORE OVER MAYOR'S REMARKS

Intimates He's Going to Fight If Mayor Doesn't Let Him Alone

Fire Chief W. B. Cummings and some other heads of departments bitterly resented the bullet yesterday, thinks a talisman given him when in Costa Rica brings him good luck.

He was expressing himself to friends at the Press club last night Mr. Mitchel displayed a 14 gold image of a frog about an inch and a quarter long which he carries with his knife on one end of his watch chain. It is one of the small gold tokens that are dug out of old graves all through Central America and usually sold to tourists.

WILSON WILL RECEIVE MEMBERS OF D. A. R.

Many Delegates Arrive in Washington for Annual Meeting Monday

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—With only two more days before the annual meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, delegates began arriving in Washington today in increasing numbers. Many Daughters are already here and nearly every incoming train today brought its quota. An unusually large number of delegates is expected to be present when the meeting is formally opened Monday afternoon in Memorial Continental hall.

With Mrs. William Cummins Story, president general, and other officers of the society here, all is practically in readiness for the meeting. Numerous entertainments have been planned in honor of the Daughters, chief of which will be the reception by President Wilson at the White House next Wednesday.

The proposal to pay off a large part of the indebtedness on Memorial hall is arousing considerable interest among the Daughters and a special effort is to be made to raise donations for that purpose. According to the treasurer general $25,000 had been paid on the building during the last year.

YOU MUST SALUTE FLAG BY 6 O'CLOCK TOMORROW, SAYS WILSON TO HUERTA

Unless Order Is Obeyed, President Will Ask Congress Monday for Authority to Take Any Action Necessary—Secretary Daniels Discusses With His Aides Proposed Movements of Naval Craft in Case of War

UNLESS HUERTA ACCEPTS DEMANDS IMMEDIATELY, VERA CRUZ AND TAMPICO WILL BE SEIZED BY U. S.

Will Not Wait on Arrival of Fleet in Mexican Waters to Seize Cities—Entire Congress Prepares to Back Mr. Wilson in Move—Final Notice Flashed to Huerta After Cabinet Meeting—Salute Without Qualification Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Huerta will salute the American flag at Tampico before 6 p. m. Sunday or President Wilson will go before congress in a joint session Monday and ask for authority to take such measures as may be necessary.

This statement was issued at the White House:

"General Huerta is still insisting on doing something less than has been demanded and something less than would constitute an acknowledgment that his representatives were entirely in the wrong in the indignities they have put on the government of the United States.

"The president has determined that if General Huerta has not yielded by 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon he will take the matter to congress Monday."

Secretary Bryan explained that President Wilson's statement meant Huerta would be obliged to guarantee the salute without qualification by 6 p. m. Sunday and that physical obstacles might defer its being actually fired by that hour.

Huerta has reiterated his counter proposition for a simultaneous salute; but President Wilson has informed him that the United States stands on the original demand of Rear Admiral Mayo that he must accept immediately.

TO SEIZE RAILWAY.

Secretary Bryan prepared President Wilson's answer which was immediately sent to Mexico City. It set forth that unless Huerta accepted the American demands immediately the plan for seizure of Tampico and Vera Cruz will be carried out without waiting for Admiral Badger to reach Mexican waters.

The plan for seizing Vera Cruz and Tampico may include the seizure of the railway from Vera Cruz to Mexico City as far as a trestle about twenty miles west of Vera Cruz.

While President Wilson's final message was in transmission to Mexico City orders were flashed out from the navy department setting all the forces already in Mexican waters in readiness to enforce its terms.

There were no orders to the troops at Texas Cities.

White House officials announced that unless Huerta saluted the flag, according to President Wilson's demand, as soon after receipt of today's message as was physically possible, action would be taken without any further exchanges.

Members of the cabinet were summoned to the White House for a conference. Postmaster General Burleson was the first to arrive. Others left their offices and rushed to the executive office in their motor cars.

The only comment of White House officials was that Huerta was "very obstinate." This was taken in official circles to foreshadow the announcement of some drastic action.

As President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and Secretary Tumulty returned to the White House offices their faces were very grave and they were silent. All callers and those who had engagements with Mr. Wilson were turned away with the word that "very grave business" was being considered.

DANIELS BUSY.

The board of aides, which with Secretary Daniels is the executive force of the navy, went into a secret conference to complete plans for the movements of the fleet and marines.

Huerta's reply to the latest representations of the United States was described by officials today as "unresponsive." As Charge O'Shaughnessy's dispatches were being deciphered it became known that there was more quibbling over terms.

Secretary Bryan took the latest dispatches to the White House to lay them before President Wilson who again called his cabinet to go to White Sulphur Springs for the week-end. It was known that Huerta was making another effort to stave off the negotiations.

WAR CONFERENCE ON LINKS.

President Wilson had gone to the golf links and Mr. Bryan and Secretary Tumulty, taking an automobile, carried Charge O'Shaughnessy's dispatches to the president, who read them on the greensward at the outskirts of the city.

President Wilson has told leaders in congress that he would order the fleet to seize Vera Cruz and Tampico as the first opportunity it noted congress he would be sustained in whatever he finds necessary to do.

CABINET ABANDONS GOLF.

President Wilson abandoned his usual Saturday holiday and returned at once to the White House, where he went to his study with all the latest dispatches. Secretary Tumulty announced that the president would make a statement soon.

FREE HAND FOR MR. WILSON.

Discussing the probabilities, Senator Simmons, one of the administration leaders, said that the action of congress doubtless would be similar to that taken before the war with Spain in Cuba.

"Congress undoubtedly would give the president plenary power to deal with Mexico as he saw fit to uphold the honor of this government," said Senator Simmons. "It would adopt a general resolution broad in its terms, that would give the president a free hand and authority to uphold this honor and to afford protection to life and property certainly would come within the

ALLEGED YEGGS FREED, BUT LIBERTY IS SHORT

Three Accused of Safe Cracking, Released by Federal Judge, Are Re-arrested

A. O. Perry, Rexford B. Fields and W. B. Bray, alias Grant, alias "Des Moines Bill," the alleged "yeggs" arrested at 89 Brooklins street by Assistant Chief E. L. Jett, Sergeant George C. Bullard and Plain Clothes Officer T. D. Shaw, who found a complete safe-blowing outfit in the house, were Saturday at noon given a clean bill of health by United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter.

This sudden turn in the case came as a mild sensation to those who were present at the commitment trial and proved such a great surprise to Mrs. Fields, wife of one of the prisoners, who was present, that she had to be restrained from making a demonstration of her happiness. Her joy was short lived, however. At the announcement from Commissioner Carter that the government had not sufficient evidence to hold the men over on the federal grand jury, two deputy sheriffs from Spalding county immediately stepped forward with a state warrant charging them with the blowing of a safe in Griffin, Ga., and handcuffed the trio together.

The prisoners were then returned to the Fulton county jail there to await advices from the sheriff of the county where they are wanted.

The case against Perry, Gray and Fields grew out of a positive identification of the former by A. E. Merville, a postal clerk on the Queen and Crescent route, who declared he was one of the gang of yeggs who robbed his mail car of $40,000 in currency last February. At the same time Merville offered a partial identification of the other two men held here.

The prisoners, free for less than a minute, took their rearrest calmly. They asked to see the warrant for their arrest and offered no resistance to being taken. Mrs. Fields was the only one interested who seemed stunned by the sudden turn in affairs. She kissed her husband good-by as he was led back to the tower.

SAY DUNBAR BOY WAS EATEN BY ALLIGATORS

Defense in Case Will Try to Show How Boy Was Devoured in Lake

(By Associated Press.)

OPELOUSAS, La., April 18.—Now that the prosecution has submitted practically all of its evidence in the trial of W. C. Walters, charged with kidnaping five-year-old Robert Dunbar, close observers of the proceedings are turning attention to the vital effect any verdict that might be returned would have on those directly involved. Not only has the life of Walters in jeopardy but the happiness of two women who claim one boy as their son is at stake. Any verdict will bring disappointment to one woman or possibly leave legal doubt as to the identity of the boy.

Mrs. C. F. Dunbar, of Opelousas, accepts the child taken from Walters when he was arrested at his cabin near the state is trying to prove it. Julia Anderson, of North Carolina, maintains the boy is her illegitimate offspring and the defense contends it has witnesses to prove that.

Two salient points are undisputed—that the boy the Dunbars have in their possession was the one found with Walters in Mississippi and Alabama left North Carolina with the boy known as Bruce Anderson. This has raised the question as to the child as identified as Robert Dunbar, where is Bruce Anderson? If he is identified as Bruce Anderson whose is Robert Dunbar?

MAY BE FREE BY ALLIGATORS.

The state has indicated that it will attempt to show Robert Dunbar was not stolen from the vicinity of Lake Swayne as alleged in the indictment and was eaten by alligators which thrive in this section. Dragging the lake failed to solve the mystery but other speculation is heard over the testimony of two Mississippi women yesterday that they saw each with a boy were seen in Poplarville, Miss., soon after Robert Dunbar disappeared. Both testified that the man they believed to be Walters did not leave the town with the same boy he arrived with.

If Walters is found guilty he may, under the Louisiana law, be sent to the gallows. Should the jury in reaching this verdict decide that the boy is Robert Dunbar he doubtless will remain with the Dunbars and Julia Anderson will be deprived of the child she says she bore and wants to rear.

Should the verdict be not guilty and the child identified to the satisfaction of the jurors, as Bruce Anderson the Dunbars doubtless would be ordered to part with the child they say they believe is theirs and whom they have taken into their home as their adopted boy.

HOLIDAY ASPECT IN TOWN.

Those who have watched the case closely say that efforts of each side to prove the boy in the one they contend him to be might raise the question of reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the accused. This would make possible a verdict of not guilty and leave the identity of the child a mystery.

The trial with its complicating ramifications has aroused this section of the country and Opelousas has taken on a holiday aspect. Some of the principal witnesses of both the Dunbars and Gulf railroad has offered to run a special train free for the benefit of court and jurors if it is decided to inspect the place where Robert Dunbar was last seen by his relatives the day he disappeared. The request was met by crowded yesterday that an adjournment became necessary. Women even crowded upon the judge's rostrum and it was impossible to proceed with the trial.

PLAN TO AMALGAMATE ALL RAILWAY CRAFTS

Will Introduce Subject in Convention of Railway Dept., A. F. of L.

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, April 18.—Today's session of the convention of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor opened with supporters of a plan for an amalgamation of all railway crafts still hopeful. A resolution calling for amalgamation was defeated by the convention yesterday, but its supporters said that by a vote of five member organizations in a district of the question of amalgamation still can be put before the various crafts for a vote by referendum. This, they said, would be attempted.

Open Road Has Lost All Lure for Little Jack Hume, Aged 12

Nomore will the lure of the open road call to little Jack Hume, aged twelve. He is "cured," and so announced to the court. Mrs. S. O. Starnes, of Center Hill, when he returned home the other day after wandering away to Austell, Ga., with a young companion, he went on the road.

When little Jack disappeared from home last Wednesday evening his aunt was terror-stricken. She called up the police, called up the papers, and had everybody looking for the young Jack.

In the meantime, Jack, according to the story he told on his return, has met close to his home about dark that day a fifteen-year-old son of rest who persuaded him to "follow the Romany queens."

Little Jack followed as far as a farm house in Cobb county where he spent the night and left his hobo friends to continue the journey alone. Jack got as far as Austell, twenty-five miles away, and there the wave of homesickness that comes to the lad so tugged on his heart strings, so that he "right-about-faced."

Very tired little boy, bareheaded, coatless, shoeless, arrived at Center Hill Thursday evening and rushed into his auntie's arms.

"Gee! but I'm glad to get home again," he announced. "I didn't know how much until I didn't have it."

And now Mrs. Starnes wants all the posters and the police and the people to know that they needn't look for little Jack any longer.

FRENCH PEASANTS THINK CAILLAUX A PLOT VICTIM

Many Will Probably Support Him for Re-election to Chamber of Deputies

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, April 18.—The campaign of Joseph Caillaux, former premier and minister of finance, for re-election to the chamber of deputies is attracting tremendous attention because of the assassination of Calmette by Madame Caillaux under circumstances alleged to have been used by M. Caillaux to postpone the trial of the swindler Rochette.

While Mme. Caillaux awaits in prison the opening of her trial for murder, her husband's political friends are busy rounding up the support of the voters in his constituency of Mamers, in the department of the Sarthe. He has represented this constituency in the chamber since 1898.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, senator from the Sarthe, is Caillaux's principal supporter. Efforts of the baron and other Caillaux partisans have been so vigorous that the usually quiet and cautious peasants of the district are begining to regard Caillaux as the victim of reactionary plots in Paris and are inclined to give him ardent support.

Arguments used in behalf of Caillaux are that his adversaries have not hesitated to use any means to ruin him. It is stated that he is threatened daily by blackmailers.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant alluded in one of his campaign speeches to anonymous letters to Mme. Caillaux. He added:

"I myself receive daily anonymous letters saying the loss of my son last year was a punishment from heaven."

Adversaries of M. Caillaux allege that the influence of the government is being used energetically in favor of the former premier.

M. Caillaux himself is taking no part in the speech-making.

(By Associated Press.)

Owing to the critical status of the Mexican situation, the presence of Mr. Flood, as chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, is required near Washington and it was reported that he may be required to spend their honeymoon near Manassas, an hour's run from the capital.

Among Miss Portner's attendants were to be Miss Genevieve Clark and Miss Douglass Fuller, of Winchester, Va. Harry Flood, jr., will be the best man. The ushers included Thomas B. Byrd, of Richmond, and Lieutenant Richard Wilson, U. S. N.

FIVE INSURANCE CONCERNS SUED BY MRS. CARLTON

Widow of Shoe Man Asks for Payment of Over $125,000

Asking more than $125,000 in insurance, damages and attorneys' fees, Mrs. Louise H. Carlton, widow of the late James E. Carlton, with James E. Carlton, jr., John T. Hall, jr., and Charles D. Hurt as plaintiffs, filed suit in superior court Friday afternoon against the Aetna Life Insurance company, the Continental Casualty company, the Travelers' Protective Association of America, the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland and the Travelers' Insurance company.

In each of the five suits the plaintiffs allege bad faith on the part of the insurance companies not paying the insurance alleged to be due for accident, disability and for the death of James E. Carlton.

The plaintiffs allege that James E. Carlton, who was a prominent Atlantan, having founded the Carlton Shoe and Clothing company, and also its president, was injured by falling from a moving train of the Macon, Dublin & Savannah railroad near Pikes' Peak, Ga., June 4, 1912.

With his right forearm fractured, severe concussion on the right side of his head and on both knees and with other injuries, he was taken to Dr. Howard Willis, Atlanta hospital where he remained until June 7, when he was removed to the Fisher-Davis sanitarium in Atlanta, where he died July 17, 1913.

Each of the five policies sued on in the suits have been entered as accident policies, and in each suit, in addition to the amount due for the death of the policyholder, money is also asked for the time during which he was in the hospital.

Also, in each suit, $2,500 is asked as attorneys' fees, and 25 per cent of the total damages claimed is asked in addition as damages for the non-payment of the claims by the companies.

Suing as the guardian of James E. Carlton, jr., and with James E. Carlton, jr., joined as plaintiff, Mrs. Louise H. Carlton asks from the Aetna Insurance company $15,000 for the death of her husband, plus $250 for hospital expenses, and the amount due under the disability clause of the policy, $2,500 for attorneys' fees and $3,837.50 damages.

Suing as the only plaintiff, Mrs. Louise H. Carlton asks from the Continental Casualty company $30,000 for the death of her husband, $700 for disability benefits, $2,500 for attorneys' fees and $7,675 damages.

As executors of the estate of James E. Carlton, Mrs. Louise H. Carlton, John T. Hall, jr., and Charles D. Hurt ask from the Fidelity and Deposit company, of Maryland, $15,000 for Mr. Carlton's death, $225 for disability and hospital expenses, $2,500 attorneys' fees and $2,831.25 damages.

SUES AS GUARDIAN.

As guardian of James E. Carlton, jr., and with the latter as plaintiff also, Mrs. Carlton asks from the Travelers' Insurance Protective Association of America $5,000 for the death of her husband, $800 for disability and hospital expenses, $2,500 for attorneys' fees and $1,325 damages.

As executors of the estate, Mrs. Carlton, John T. Hall, jr., Mr. Charles D. Hurt ask $15,600 for Mr. Carlton's death from the Travelers' insurance company, $450 for disability and hospital fees, $2,500 for attorneys' fees and $6,000 damages.

In addition to the above sums, totaling $126,068.75, interest on all of the amounts claimed at 7 per cent from the dates they were due is asked.

Copies of the suits were served late Friday afternoon on the Atlanta agents of the defendant companies, and Judge J. T. Pendleton, of superior court, set Monday, May 4, as the day for the first hearing of the cases.

King & Spalding, attorneys, represent all the plaintiffs.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by Hendin, of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

In order to accommodate the crowds, "Dope," the special feature film that has been playing to delighted audiences at the Grand this week will be shown four times today at 1:30, 3, 7:30 and 9 o'clock. Without question this is one of the most interesting and best acted films ever shown in Atlanta and the management expects big houses at all performances today.

One of the big features on the opening bill of Junior Keith vaudeville at the Grand next week is "Noodles" Fagan, champion newsboy of the world. "Noodles" is one of those chaps that has succeeded in spite of many hard knocks and from newsboy on a New York daily he has become a big attraction in the vaudeville world. He has toured the principal cities of the globe many times and comes here with a brand new singing and talking specialty that it is expected to make him a big favorite at the Grand. The program will include four solid vaudeville acts and a big feature film, "Should a Woman Tell?"

"The New Persian Garden," a miniature musical comedy, with Louis Simon, Ina Hutchinson, Bessie Clayton and Fred Lyons and ten others, is the headline feature of the Forsyth's vaudeville entertainment. It is a beautiful scenic and well worth topline position. There are six other big offerings making up a standard vaudeville entertainment.

Next week "The Green Beetle" will star of the bill. This fantasy is pronounced by Mgr. Hill as a wonderful scenic production, with eight people. Mae West will supply beauty, charm, life and vivacity. Other features are Ed Conlin, Steele and Carr, and Ergotti and Lilliputians, with four other talented offerings.

Today's performances, matinee and night, will conclude the engagement at the Grand of the photodrama, "The Dope," which has attracted so much attention during its week's engagement at the Grand that it was the most amusing comedy ever produced in America. Miss LaVerne will be seen in the part of Ann Sanders, which was created and played for two solid years at the Astor theater, New York. "The Lily" will be presented for the last time at the Lyric this afternoon and evening.

CENTER HALL MAY BE INCORPORATED AS TOWN

Committee to Investigate Advisability of Proposal Made at Mass Meeting

A committee was appointed by a mass meeting of Center Hill residents, Friday afternoon, to investigate the question of incorporating that community as a town. The committee will report at another meeting to be held when it is ready to return its conclusions.

The meeting Friday night was called by the Westmoreland Chautauqua of Center Hill and was held in the local school house. Mrs. Cordle, president of the league, presided over the talk and Mrs. John Starr stated to the men the reasons underlying the women's interest. The ladies of the executive committee occupied seats on the platform. After the meeting the ladies served refreshments.

Pronounced differences of opinion as to whether incorporation is desirable developed in the speeches there were several of these, among the speakers being John Starr, O. H. Starnes, Wilson Sumlin, Henry Hann, Roy Daniel, Rev. Mr. Cordle, J. M. Averitt, George Sumlin and Mrs. John Starr.

It was on motion of William S. Wier that the committee was created. Two members, Mr. Incorporation, and two favoring it, were named, these four selecting T. M. Willingham as umpire. The committee is made up of Mrs. O. H. Starnes, A. E. Griffith and M. Denton.

Center Hill is a progressive community of a number of handsome and pretty home son the river car line. It has its own streets and the general appearance of an organized town.

SUIT IN COURT MORE THAN 23 YEARS, SETTLED

NEW YORK, April 18.—The case of Donnelly against McArdle, which has been in the courts for more than twenty-three years, has been settled. Michael Donnelly, the plaintiff, will within ten days receive the $45,000 judgment for which he has spent the best years of his life and about $186,000 in costs.

The suit grew out of a business transaction between Mr. Donnelly and his brother-in-law, Patrick J. McArdle. The latter died four years ago, but the suit against his estate was persisted in.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist. "It is a happy thought for a wife or husband to the drug store for 'Mother's Friend' is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the finest work of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relax contractions before doing to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments all feel the strain and stretch without the corresponding surface skin which has been involved during the period of expectation, and in 30 years accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of those unsightly blemishes and other distresses, such as laceration of the external skin often the case when this gentle form of relief is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM WINDOW OF HOSPITAL

H. H. Fudge, Salesman, Succeeds in Second Effort to End Life

In full view of a negro cook who stood in the hospital kitchen below, H. H. Fudge, a patient at Grady hospital, passed a moment on the ledge of a window on the fourth floor of one of the hospital buildings Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock, then dived headforemost.

Apparently he aimed for a small iron grating in the hospital courtyard. The grating measures about fourteen by eighteen inches. He broke four of the bars. His skull was crushed by the fall and his neck was broken. When orderlies and nurses reached his huddled form a few seconds later he was dead.

This did the unfortunate man conclude his effort, unsuccessful last Wednesday, to end his life. He was in the hospital for treatment of the wounds he inflicted on himself three days ago in attempting suicide with a small pocketknife. He came to Atlanta from Jacksonville last Wednesday morning and had passed through the gates of the Terminal station and was nearing the waiting room when he laid down his suitcase, took out and opened his pocketknife and inflicted the wounds in the heart several times. His wounds were serious and the hospital doctors at first thought he would die. He was recovering nicely, however, when he finished the matter Saturday.

NO SLEEP, SAYS HE'LL SLEEPING.

The nurse on duty in the ward where Fudge was convalescent said she passed him at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and noticed he was sleeping.

Fifteen minutes later the negro cook, Boling Gaither, saw a figure climb out through a window on the fourth floor and dive into the courtyard. He called the nurse and physicians, but Fudge was had not been missed from the ward.

Mr. Fudge was fifty-four years old and is survived by his widow and three children. He was a salesman traveling for the Magnolia company, of New York. His home was in Atlanta at 19 Simpson street.

"His was a deliberate when he jumped out of the window, just as he was when he tried to kill himself with a pocketknife in the Terminal station Wednesday," said Mrs. Fudge Saturday morning.

"He had been suffering with malaria fever, and was tired and nervous from his trips as a salesman.

"After attempting himself Wednesday he told me at the Grady hospital that a crowd of men were trying to lynch him in the station and that others were standing around laughing at him. He was afraid of them, he said, so he stabbed himself.

WAS UNEASY IN MIND.

"I was with him every day at the hospital and he never left. I left him late Friday afternoon, when I saw him like as well and he was glad that he had not killed himself. He seemed better in mind, but was a little uneasy. His did not worry me.

"I told the hospital authorities that the stab wound was not worrying me, but that I was afraid he would kill himself. I knew he was still suffering from a touch of delirium, and was afraid he might do it when I was away.

"He was a good man, and one of the most popular traveling men in Atlanta. He has friends who will regret to learn of him."

Mr. Fudge was a native of Albany, Ga. For nineteen years he had been traveling for the Albany, N. Y., firm, manufacturers of pickles and dye.

Three children are Miss Betty, twenty years old; Miss Miriam, eighteen years old, and one son, Norman, sixteen years old.

Interment and funeral probably will be held in Albany, Ga., said Mrs. Fudge, but she said Saturday morning that the arrangements had not been completed.

Harry Poole, undertaker, has charge of the body.

CHANGE DOORS IN HOTELS TO MAKE EXITS EASIER

(By Associated Press.)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 18.—Hundreds of doors on hotels throughout the state are being changed to open outward, so as to make escape from factories, theaters and amusement places have been rehung or rebuilt in the last few months, as a result of orders issued by direction of the inspectors from the state department of labor and industry, who have been closely examining the means of egress at the hotels, taverns and other places of public entertainment in the state.

Many notices have been served and it is declared that no prosecutions have been necessary to secure enforcement. The example set in theaters has been readily followed.

WILL INTEREST WOMEN IN GRADY BOND ISSUE

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin Requests Organization of Clubs in Each Ward of City

To systematize and extend the work of Atlanta women in behalf of the Grady bond issue movement Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, president of the City Federation of Clubs, has requested the chairmen of the various civic wards to organize neighborhood clubs in each ward. By this means it is hoped practically every woman in each ward will be enlisted in the campaign for the passage of the bonds.

The larger organizations of women are doing all they can to further the movement, but it is believed the smaller neighborhood clubs can more easily reach the voters and bring better results.

There are ten civic clubs, one in each ward, and they will begin at once to organize as many neighborhood clubs as possible.

"The various organizations have responded beautifully to the call for help," said Mrs. Lumpkin Saturday morning. "They are working hard, but to be sure of success we must enlist the sympathy and co-operation of every woman in the city. It is essentially a movement in which women should be interested, not only as a matter of civic health and municipal pride, but as a personal matter touching deeply their own home interests."

The Order of Old-Fashioned Women Friday signed a pledge to co-operate in every way possible in securing the bond issue, the resolutions of indorsement being signed by Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. Henry Inman, Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mrs. William H. Kiser, Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, jr., Mrs. Julian Field, Mrs. Preston Arkwright and Mrs. Maud Harker Cobb.

The Atlanta Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance union also enthusiastically indorsed the movement Friday afternoon at its meeting at Trinity church, the members pledging themselves to work actively in behalf of Grady.

BERVERDGE MAY GET NOMINATION TO SENATE

Progressive Convention Opens Today in Indiana

(By Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 18.—Whether Albert J. Beveridge would accept senatorial honors if United States senate was the question uppermost in the minds of the delegates to the Indiana progressive convention today when that body opened its deliberations here today. Although the former Republican senator made it known Friday night that he did not desire the nomination, it was predicted shortly before the convention was called to order he would nevertheless be chosen.

One of the questions which was expected to provoke much discussion in the consideration of a platform was that of a prohibition plank.

Harry E. Rutledge, as temporary chairman, was to make the first speech. He was to be followed by United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota, and Miles Poindexter, of Washington, and Charles Sumner Bird, of Massachusetts.

MITCHEL'S ASSAILANT HELD FOR GRAND JURY

"Why Not Boost It a Little? He Asks When $25,000 Bond Is Fixed

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 18.—Michael J. Mahoney, the gray-haired crank who yesterday attempted to assassinate Mayor Mitchel and in so doing wounded Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, was arraigned in the Tombs police court today on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He was held in $25,000 bail for the action of the grand jury. When the amount of the bail was announced by Magistrate Simms, Mahoney replied broadly and said:

"Why not boost it a little. The more the merrier."

Mr. Polk was resting quietly at the New York hospital today. Surgeons expect he will recover rapidly if no complications develop. He spent a comfortable night.

Before his arraignment Mahoney was taken to police headquarters, where his detectives, all panicked, looked him over. None of them was positive they had ever seen the man before. Mahoney was pronounced at 8 a. m. after having followed four hours' sleep. Until 4 this morning he was closeted with detectives who put him through a rigid "third degree."

He explained that when he bought the revolver he fired yesterday he thought the man who sold it to him in Jersey City had no record with the police.

Mahoney faces a possible maximum sentence of twenty years, but should he be adjudged insane he will be committed to an asylum for the criminal insane.

Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, today received a bouquet of lectures written by Mahoney in which he attacked the official acts of Mayor Mitchel, Mayor Gaynor, ex-Governor Pittsburg, and Colonel Goethals, governor of the Panama canal zone, and after a two hours' study of the aged counsel District Attorney Whitman expressed the opinion that Mahoney was of the "embittered and sodden type of humanity." The statement forecast the probable action of the district attorney that he would not oppose action to have the prisoner adjudged insane.

FUNDS OF GOVERNMENT LOOTED IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, April 18.—Since the decrease in the number of American supervisory auditors, cases of shortage in accounts are said to be showing an alarming increase. The auditors' department today reported three cases of shortage aggregating $11,500 and expressed fear that there are many more.

The American inspector in the provinces of Pangasinan, Luzon, declares that there is a conspiracy to loot the government of funds.

ASK BRITISH TO ARREST YOUNG LARCENY SUSPECT

BALTIMORE, April 18.—The British government has been called upon to assist in the capture of Arthur B. Ingram, of Baltimore, who is accused of the larceny of negotiable bonds valued at $100,000 from the Fidelity & Deposit insurance agent, of this city. Mayer is believed to be a passenger of the United States steamer Britis, which sailed from New York for England on April 8. He is nineteen years old and was Taylor's confidential secretary.

FEEDING OF CROWDS AT SHRINE MEET A PROBLEM

May Overtax Maximum Capacity of All Cafes—Chance for Private Restaurants

It begins to appear that there may not be enough restaurants and cafes and other dining places in Atlanta to feed all the visitors who will be here three weeks from now at the Shriners' gathering.

"I consider this a very serious problem," said J. C. Greenfield, secretary of the Shrine committee on arrangements, Saturday. "We have found room for everybody to sleep. Somewhere and somehow we have managed to put them all away. But the matter of feeding them is a proposition which may be beyond the maximum capacity of our regular dining places. The big hotels will keep their dining rooms open twenty-four hours every day, and that will help immensely. But I am afraid still greater provision must be made."

The suggestion has been offered that temporary restaurants be established downtown to care for surplus crowds. The opportunity will be big for local societies of women, if they plan well in advance and seek to merit the patronage of the visitors; but the planning must be done now and the supplies must be ordered, if a venture of this kind is to succeed.

Evidence of private activity in preparations for the Shriners' coming is manifested in return postcards which have been addressed to a number of Atlantans. These set forth that rooms will be needed in private homes to accommodate the crowds, and request that the addressee send information to a certain postoffice box as to the number of visitors he or she can accommodate and at what rate each per day.

"We do not know who is circulating these postcards," said Forrest Adair, potentate of Yaarab temple, Saturday. "The Shrine committee has nothing to do with them. It seems to be a private enterprise which probably is quite legitimate, but we are not responsible for it."

Hundreds of rooms, including many among the best homes in Atlanta, have been tendered to the Shriners' committee at headquarters in Masonic temple. These will be available for the week of May 3 to 16.

LEE WANTS TO ABOLISH CITY PURCHASING AGENT

Fifth Ward Councilman Would Do Away With Recently-Created Office

Councilman Jesse B. Lee, of the Fifth ward, has drafted an ordinance abolishing the city purchasing agent, which office was created toward the close of 1913 and has consistently saved the city money in the purchase of supplies.

Mayor Woodward said that the office continues throughout the present year to save at the rate it has saved since it was created, the total saving for 1914 will run in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Councilman Lee says the purchasing agent was established only the current supplies for the various departments and not intended to buy rolling stock, such as fire engines; equipment, such as fire hose; materials, such as sewer pipe, asphalt, granite, etc.

These things the purchasing agent has bought, however, and in so doing has been backed by Mayor Woodward. The mayor insists that the purchasing agent should buy everything, from a package of washing powder to a pump for the waterworks.

SCOTS OBSERVE 'DOGWOOD' DAY WITH ANNUAL FEAST

The blooming of the dogwood told the Scots it was time for their annual feasting, an dthey minded its message by returning Saturday at the Lithonia Scots' camp, a day in the bright spring woods. The Lithonia Scots were the hosts of the occasion, and a number of Atlantians were among their guests. Scotch songs and games, with recitations of Bobby Burns' poems and a big barbecue shortly after noon, were included in the program for the day.

"Dogwood day" was instituted as an annual movable feast several years ago, and has been celebrated each year since then.

ATTACK YOUNG GIRL, TWO MEN HELD ON SUSPICION

Two white men, H. Amasson, of 47 Longley avenue, and J. L. Perkins, of 181 Julian street, are being held at police headquarters under suspicion of having attacked a ten-year-old girl at dusk Thursday afternoon. The former has been identified by the girl and a little boy who saw them enter the house together.

Perkins is said to have offered to apprehend the guilty man if taken to the scene of the alleged crime. He was accompanied to the place by the child and her aged grandmother.

Both cases will be heard in recorder's court Saturday afternoon.

CHOIR MEMBERS GIVEN GOLD CROSSES OF HONOR

Those receiving this year were Miss Ella Whitaker, J. H. Lucas and T. F. Lockwood, Jr. Heretofore two crosses have been given at a time, but the records of these three were so splendid that discrimination was impossible.

These crosses are the only jewelry allowed to be worn with vestments.

SAYS CRITIC CLOSES HIS THEATER JUST FOR SPITE

Councilman Lee Will Introduce Bill to Abolish Job of Theatrical Censor

Because of the "Sunday school attitude" and alleged favoritism of Officer Ed Arthur, police censor of local drama, Councilman Jesse Lee, the "lone citizen," has been compelled to close up the Columbia Burlesque theater, of which he is the owner.

At least, so Councilman Lee told Recorder Broyles in court Saturday morning and followed it up with the statement to Chief Beavers that he would introduce a resolution in council abolishing the job of police theatrical critic.

"Arthur has used it to vent his wrath on me," the councilman told the chief. "He abuses this position to favor his friends and injure his enemies, and because he is sore on me I have been the one to suffer."

The chief laughed and made no answer.

Councilman Lee's statement egrw out of the case of George W. Milton, who calls himself "producer for the Columbia," and who was hailed into court by Officer Arthur because of his remarks and actions at a show at the Columbia last Monday night.

Ethel Gibson, an actress, who was served with charges at the same time, did not appear. She is understood to have left town, and will be held in contempt of court.

Arthur told the recorder that Milton's remarks during the show, "A Tango Rehearsal," were too suggestive for Atlanta theatergoers to listen to, and that his actions were even worse.

The recorder fined Milton $50 and costs.

Whereupon Councilman Lee arose in court as the owner of the Columbia and pleaded with Judge Broyles that a stop be put to what he characterized as Arthur's "Sunday school methods," which, he said, forced him to close up the Columbia.

BISHOP KILGO SCORES "THEOLOGY" IN PRAYER

Hits Preachers Who Call for "Short, Snappy" Petitions

Modern science and theology, modern preachers and Pharisaical prayers, all came in for a taste of the lash in Bishop John C. Kilgo's sermon on "Prayer" Saturday morning.

The bishop declared that prayer was not beautiful, not entertaining, but a desperate cry of agony to God. When persons speak of the "beautiful, sweet prayer" of the preacher, he said, you can take it for granted that he didn't pray at all.

"I don't like flippancy in prayer, either," he said. "When a preacher strides about the platform, crying, 'Just a few short prayers now, make 'em short and snappy and to the point,' clapping his hands and hustling things up, why, it shocks my ears just about as much as profanity.

"There is no theology about prayer, no subjective or objective theory. There's too much theology in the world now. Nor does prayer depend on science. We were asking things of God and getting them long before we found out what was inside a tadpole or before we discovered such a thing as theology."

Bishop Kilgo will preach at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon he will address a men only mass meeting. He preaches again at 7:45 o'clock Sunday night. Sunday's services will begin with a rally and song service at 9:30 o'clock, led by Prof. E. O. Excell.

They make a plaything of the real God and trifle with Him. They have given Him to understand they can run their existence quite well without Him, and that they have no need for Him.

"They smoke, they curse and they drink. In an exclusive hotel of our national capital I have seen them maudlin drunk, garbed in silks and jewels and satins fit for the robe of a princess, yet vulgar in even their public conduct.

"They are plunging into hell and drinking nightly toasts to the devil. Heaven grant that the sage God they reject will pity the offsprings whose lives will be burdened by their mother!"

Bishop Kilgo harshly criticised the modern preacher who left God and Christ out of his sermons. He declared that there were numerous preachers—even in Atlanta—who were running their churches without recognizing God. "Judases who regard God as a valuable heirloom that was handed down to us—some old and venerable fixture that is out of style and which we never use, except to preserve for memory's sake and for tradition."

"We are almost a godless age and a godless people," said the bishop.

The vices of modern women and "the Judases of the twentieth century pulpit" were exposed Friday night by Bishop Kilgo in his sermon at the St. Paul's Methodist church that marks the opening of daily revival services to be held there.

"These women," said the bishop, "worship Gods of their own choosing.

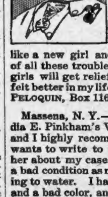
IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.



Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water, and pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N.Y.

YOUR CHOICE

"He that is not for Me is Against Me"

---Matt. 12:30

Liquor always harms; it never helps.

It breaks hearts.

It brings degenerate children into the world.

Destroys homes.

Makes paupers.

Promotes prostitution.

Produces disease.

Causes nine-tenths of our crimes.

It has made, it does make, men murderers.

Every city, town, village and hamlet—yea, almost every house that has stood for a generation bears witness to the horrors of the liquor trade and its victims.

But strangest of all are the clubs; organized originally only for the pleasure, happiness and good of people, they have taken their stand with the lawless.

They deliberately disregard the rights of others.

They violate the law.

They teach disrespect for law.

They pay men to commit crime.

They cause men to swear falsely.

In them men in public office show their open disregard for the laws of our State.

And forgetting that, when long ago men tried to silence the Church, Peter said: "WE OUGHT TO OBEY GOD RATHER THAN MEN," some members of clubs try to silence the Church of the living God as it warns; but they fail.

For the Church strives to—Build homes.

Heal broken lives.

Cure sickness.

Promote honesty.

End lawlessness.

Save men, women and children.

Her standard is the Cross of Christ. His crucifixion is the measure of the sacrifice her members are called to make to rescue God's children from sorrow and sin. His life the proof of their ultimate victory. The nature of liquor, its destruction of souls—the purpose of the Church, the saving of people—these forbid and prevent their mingling in locker clubs.

The choice is not between your club and your Church. The choice is between lawlessness in your club and Christ in your Church.

God grant that you banish lawlessness and save your club.

But if this be impossible, follow Christ.

Christianity cannot compromise with crime.

Jesus said—

"He that is not with me is against me, and he that gathereth not with me scattereth."

Simple; no mystery.

Love cannot be indifference.

Truth may not unite with falsehood.

Law is incompatible with lawlessness.

You cannot build up and tear down at the same time. You cannot serve God and Mammon. You cannot fight on both sides, for good and for evil, in the same battle.

Your place is with the Church of the living God, "the pillar and ground of the truth."

Come and go with your Church.

As the battleships get nearer, however, Huerta will reduce his conditions.

There is no doubt about the fact that some of these Georgia candidates will have to be disappointed.

Here we were crying for warm weather to come, and now that it is here what are we going to do about those spring clothes?

Walking on Railroad Tracks.

In directing attention to the danger and the frequent loss of life involved in trespassing upon railroad tracks, the Public Safety committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has undertaken a sorely needed reform.

If five thousand people should be killed in a shipwreck or in a train collision, the world would stand aghast with horror. Yet, more than five thousand are killed every year as a consequence of thoughtlessly walking on railroad tracks. So great a sacrifice of human life should not be suffered to continue. The fault is not with the railroads, but with the unfortunate individuals concerned. The railroads do all they can to discourage and prevent walking on their tracks; and in some European countries, notably in England and Germany laws against such trespassing have been enacted and are enforced. In the United States, however, we must depend for the most part upon educational methods to reduce the number of such fatalities.

Realizing this fact, the Public Safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce is sending letters to the members of its own organization and to civic bodies in other parts of the State, urging the importance of co-operative efforts to end the practice of walking on railroad racks. This movement should accomplish substantial results, for, no one who is apprised of the great number of persons killed in this manner each year can fail to exert his influence for the needed reform.

If all the boards of trade and chambers of commerce in Georgia will give this matter their attention and impress its seriousness on their own communities many lives will be saved in this State. Contrary to general opinion, most of the people killed on railroad tracks are not tramps but respectable and valuable members of the community; and they are killed simply as the result of a common, yet perilous practice.

Don't walk on railroad tracks yourself; and tell others how dangerous it is to do so.

At any rate, we haven't Huerta at but one end of the continent.

One must admire ex-President Taft for a certain restraint. He hasn't yet started a magazine.

When Villa gets hold of Huerta, we strongly suspect that Huerta will cease to be a factor in Mexico.

The Atlanta Postoffice.

The need for more space and more equipment in the Atlanta postoffice is so imperative that the Government's supervising architect has recommended the immediate expenditure of thirty-six thousand dollars to complete the basement of the building and to construct mezzanine floors.

These improvements will relieve the congestion temporarily, but there is no escaping the fact that within the next few years a new and larger postoffice in Atlanta will be a downright necessity. It is well therefore, for Congress to remember that in meeting the urgent needs of the present hour it is not solving the larger problem of the months and years just ahead.

The business of the Atlanta postoffice has been multiplying steadily and enormously, and from this time forward its growth will be still more rapid. Competent observers estimate that the present building will be absolutely inadequate to the needs of the service two or three years hence. The parcel post is becoming heavier every month and all classes of mail matter are increasing in volume.

In these circumstances, it will be the part of wisdom and economy for the Government to begin plans for a new building in the near future. Otherwise, the present quarters will be hopelessly outgrown before new and ample quarters are ready.

Congressman Howard is urging this matter upon Congress. He is supported by an abundance of facts and by the report of the Efficiency Commission. It is to be hoped that the interests of the local postoffice will not be ignored.

Huerta intends to make that salute as conditional as possible.

If it does nothing else, the departure of Uncle Sam's ships to Mexico will show the world that he still keeps a pretty respectable navy.

We shudder to contemplate the number of highballs that will be consumed by the United States navy between now and July 1, when the lid goes on.

Mayor Mitchel.

The attempted assassination of Mayor Mitchel, of New York City, is a source of profound regret to the entire nation; his escape without injury is a matter of equally widespread rejoicing. It is a distressing fact that men eminent in public service should be in peril of their lives from "cranks," persons who have no grievance to right, no sane end in view, no mental or moral responsibility.

The would-be assassin in this instance appears to be of the same type as the man who shot Mayor Gaynor some years ago. This type of the insane criminal, or the criminal insane, is found in all countries and all times, and tragically enough their bullets or daggers are generally aimed at the highest and most useful leaders.

Since his inauguration as Mayor a few months ago, Mr. Mitchel has proved his devotion to the best interests of New York City and to the finest ideals of public service. He has shown, moreover, rare skill in the tremendous task before him. He was elected as the candidate of those who believed in honest, efficient government and who were united, regardless of party lines, to free New York from Tammany's oppression and disgrace.

His death would have been a public calamity, indeed; for, he is doing so well the great work for which he was chosen that his place could scarcely be filled. He is now in the prime of early manhood, with promise of still wider usefulness in the riper years ahead. That he has been spared for continued service to the nation's metropolis and to the cause of good government the country over, is an occasion of deep gratitude to American citizens.

There are no tomorrows on the calendar of the chap who does things.

Anyway, the bald-headed man realizes that he has come out on top.

Some things come to those who wait, but especially if they are not vaccinated.

Supporting the Fifth Regiment.

It is gratifying to know that Atlanta employers are responding so cordially to the appeal of the Chamber of Commerce for the Fifth regiment. Indications are that members of the militia will hereafter have little or no difficulty in securing leaves of absence to attend the annual encampment, and that they will be encouraged to remain in the service. Such at least is the import of hundreds of letters which the Chamber of Commerce is receiving from representatives merchants, bankers and business men generally. The great majority of employers who have their own and the community's interests at heart will join in this generous movement, and in every reasonable way help the regiment to live up to its duty and its ideals.

Nothing less can be expected of a city whose people are so public spirited as Atlantians are. The Fifth regiment is distinctively an Atlanta institution. Its officers and men are drawn entirely from Atlanta's citizenship and they are devoted to Atlanta's interests. They give the city a prestige which it could attain in no other way, and they stand ready to protect the welfare and the life of the people in any hour of peril. Without the co-operation of employers, however, it cannot continue to succeed. As a matter of civic patriotism, every employe who is enlisted in the regiment should be encouraged to remain there.

Editorials in Brief

Some British newspapers are playing with a trick of spelling English words, the game being to make up a new spelling, in which none of the letters of the old spelling shall be used; that is, to substitute different letters that, in the positions into which they are put, will suggest the same sounds as the old spelling. The words thus undergo a complete change of costume. Words so translated may be called "metagrams" or (in analogy with paraphrase) "paragrams." Two examples given are "phya" for fire and "phyoocha" for future. These involve pronunciations that most Americans do not use, or would not accept. Another case of this kind would be "sefa" for cipher.

More exact "metagrams" or "paragrams" may be found "Cyphed" for sift, "kauphy" for coffee, "phycs" for fix, "phyckst" for fixed, "kawph for cough, "kawpht" for coughed, "cy" for sigh, "enque" for oak, "pheaque" for folk.—From the Simplified Spelling Bulletin.

Among the snobbishnesses of literature that irritate us beyond measure is the over-employment of quotation marks. The Brain at Its Brightest

What is the best way to get ideas? Mr. Bernard Shaw has said that he can write best when on the top of a 'bus; Thackeray found that he could not think in an empty room, and he used to go to his club so that he could be surrounded by other men; Flaubert, when in the throes of composition, used to throw off one garment after another; Balzac would stay in bed for a fortnight and live on coffee; William Blake would walk up and down the shore at Brighton; Carlyle would isolate himself in a bare room at the top of the house; Borrow believed in a glass of ale; Macterlinck seeks inspiration on a motor-bicycle.

So it would seem that there is no standard method. Each man has to discover the particular stimulant—whether it be the top of a bus or a chair in a club or a cup of coffee—which does the trick for him. There is one novelist who can write only when walking up and down his room and dictating to a typist; there is another whose ideas evaporate when he takes up a pen, but flow easily when he sits down to a typewriter; another who finds a recording machine stimulating; another who cannot write a line except in shirt-sleeves; another invents plots while playing Patience; another who thinks of his best things when in his bath.

Even a doctor can give us a new method for the coaxing of ideas. "Every man," said Dr. Clippingdale, M. D., the author of several interesting books, "must find out the best method for himself. A leader-writer once told me that he had most ideas after he had dined on two dozen oysters, a wild duck, and a bottle of champagne, but probably such a dinner would make another man quite incapable of writing. On the whole, I should advise those who want to have plenty of ideas to go to bed early, and to work only or chiefly in the morning. The normal brain is always at its best after sleep, and if a man can think of nothing just after breakfast he is indeed in a bad way. And as a rule when a man finds that his brain is more active in the evening, it is time for him to change his mode of life, and very likely medical treatment is needed. The normal brain develops its maximum efficiency in the morning, and it is only the unhealthy brain that 'wakes up' in the evening—usually under the influence of some stimulant or other.

"Personally, I find that I often have the best ideas when dressing in the morning, and it is not unusual for me to go down to my study in a dressing gown to make a note of them. I noticed that a novelist said the other day that he had his best ideas when shaving. But there is, of course, no connection between the ideas and the shaving. The explanation is merely that his brain is fresh at the time, just as mine is fresh when I am dressing.

"In the evening ideas do not come so easily without a stimulant. I have sometimes sat up writing till four in the morning, but I doubt if I should have had any ideas if I had not had several cups of tea. Such a practice is bad. The drinking of alcohol, when so many writers have relied on, is worse. The time is bound to come when it deadens instead of stimulates the brain.

Some change often produces ideas. After sitting helpless at a table for half an hour I find sometimes that the mere act of walking upstairs starts the train of thought for which I have been waiting. A man may have an unproductive evening, too, and find that the moment he goes to bed he thinks of all kinds of good things. That has often happened to me, and I usually get out of bed, put on a dressing gown, and go back to my study. A short walk is another good stimulant. Nearly every evening I walk down to Earl's Court to get an evening paper, and I am seldom at a loss for ideas then.

"The best advice that can be given to any one who finds that he cannot think as brightly and clearly as he desires is to change his mode of life. Repose is one of the most essential things. The man or woman who has a good a position as the man who has them in the morning. So long as your brain is active when you are dressing there is nothing to worry about."

Miss Cicely Hamilton disagrees with Dr. Clippingdale. "I know," she said, "that doctors always tell you that you ought to be at your best in the morning, but I never can. It takes me some time to wake up, and I can always work best in the evening. My favorite place for writing is bed. When I have something to write I go to bed, and I find that ideas flow more easily there than anywhere else—though my state tells me the ink is bad for the sheets. If I am short of ideas I often find that a walk about the London streets, followed by an hour or so at a noisy concert, brings them to me in anything."

Mr. John Hassall finds that he can have ideas at any time. "All I do is to sit down opposite a piece of white paper. I know I've got to think of something, and so I think of it. I never walk up and down the room, and I should be sorry if I had to wait for ideas in the bath. A white piece of paper, at any hour of the day or night, is enough for me."

Madam Lisa Lehmann believes in the morning. "Ideas always seem to come easier in the morning, but they're very unreliable things. Sometimes they come at the oddest moments—when one is on the top of a bus, or going down a tube lift, or walking about a shop. Often, when a good idea has suddenly occurred to me, I have had to make a note of it under difficulties. I once wrote the notes of a song on a tram ticket. There is no way of getting ideas. You have to wait till they turn up, and you must never despair. I remember poor Coleridge Taylor saying to me, 'I can't think of anything. I haven't had an idea for a week. I shall never write another note.' I told him that intervals of idleness were necessary, and that he would write something great in a few days. When I met him a week after he told me that he had just finished some work which pleased even him."—Daily News and Leader.

"The Graveyard of the Seas"

The great gray waste of waters lying off Newfoundland and out where the melting bergs smoke in the warmth of the gulf stream maintains its ancient reputation as the "Graveyard of the Seas." When the sealing ships of the north Atlantic touch the home ports this spring there will be read from the pulpits in the little fishing towns a longer list of dead and missing than is usually read on the "memorial day."

The loss of three-score men from the sealing fleet in 1914 is not the greatest loss of life in these shifting gray waters and the Titanic's 1,500 dead were strewn in the north Atlantic in April, 1912, but the toll taken from the fishing ships of New England and the eastern provinces of Canada is always heavy.

In all the world there is no coast where the sea claims its dead more certainly than in those waters that lie around the "banks" and off Cape Race, Belle Isle, and jagged Labrador. The loss of the Titanic gave the world a glimpse of the terrors that lie in the gray seas, studded with bergs and pack ice, the home and the hunting grounds of the fishing fleets of Gloucester, Chatham, Portland, and a score of other New England fish towns.

The cities, the towns, the fields, and the highways have been made measurably safe. The "lines of the sea" are as they were when Eric the Red's oars smote the north Atlantic. The man who "goes down to the sea in ships" still runs the ancient hazards of that calling, slightly lessened. The sea is there and the gales with the grinding ice floes and the dangerous coasts, and those elemental forces of nature refuse to be harnessed.

Not until the world's commerce is air-borne and the deep sea ships are rotting at the crumbling wharves of forgotten ports will tales of ocean disaster cease to come out of the ports of St. John's, of Cape Race and of Fogo island.—St. Louis Republic.

II.—SPREAD OF MAHOMMEDANISM.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The raid of Mahomet's soldiers on Arabian caravans in the sacred month of Rajab, when all Arabs abstained from fighting and pillage, resulted in reprisals by the desert tribes. Mecca, the prophet's home town, assisted the tribal chiefs in the onslaughts on the Moslems, but after a number of engagements the disciples of the new religion won a decisive victory. Immediately Mahomet had a revelation which gave him the joyful news that he had been assisted by a regiment of angels, and that date was proclaimed "the day of deliverance."

• • •

Those revelations were an ever present help in time of need. They always communicated themselves to Mahomet in time to justify his actions. They consoled the prophet, convinced skeptics and placated enemies. Once when the Islamites were hotly besieged by warriors from Mecca, it was suddenly revealed unto the prophet that the pagan god Desaer was of equal rank with Allah. The instant transmission of this important discovery to the Meccans raised the siege. Later Mahomet repudiated this revelation as a fabrication of the devil.

Foreign converts, who first entered the fold as wandering political exiles from other countries, were of great assistance to the rising religionist, statesman and militarist. Persians taught Mahomet to use the trench in battle, and from the Byzantines he got the rude catapults that not only decimated the ranks of the opposing tribesmen, but shook kitheir simple souls in terror. The Moslems came to understand that these strange engines of destruction were sent by Allah. From other lands came converts more numerous than those won in Mahomet's native Arabia. Persons, some even of high rank, who came to have plenty of ideas to go to bed early, and to work only or chiefly in the morning. And as a rule when a man finds that his brain is more active in the evening, it is time for him to change his mode of life, and very likely medical treatment is needed. The normal brain develops its maximum efficiency in the morning, and it is only the unhealthy brain that 'wakes up' in the evening—usually under the influence of some stimulant or other.

"Personally, I find that I often have the best ideas when dressing in the morning, and it is not unusual for me to go down to my study in a dressing gown to make a note of them. I noticed that a novelist said the other day that he had his best ideas when shaving. But there is, of course, no connection between the ideas and the shaving. The explanation is merely that his brain is fresh at the time, just as mine is fresh when I am dressing.

"In the evening ideas do not come so easily without a stimulant. I have sometimes sat up writing till four in the morning, but I doubt if I should have had any ideas if I had not had several cups of tea. Such a practice is bad. The drinking of alcohol, when so many writers have relied on, is worse. The time is bound to come when it deadens instead of stimulates the brain.

CHURCH PEACE UNION MAKES PRIZE OFFER

Big Awards to Be Given for Best Monographs on International Peace

NEW YORK—The Church Peace Union, endowed with the other day by Andrew Carnegie with $2,000,000, announces money prizes for ministers, and religious body, for young women and young men, for Sunday school pupils, and it has just voted $10,000 for the expenses of a world peace conference to be held this summer either in London or in Berne. The prize open to ministers is $1,000 for a monograph on any phase of international peace, preferably 15,000 words long. It must be 10,000 words at least, and must not exceed 20,000. The union hopes to obtain in this way a monograph that it may find worth printing for general distribution, possibly translated into several languages. Three prizes of $150, $100 and $250 are offered for monographs on the same subject, not to exceed 5,000 words, written by students in theological schools.

The union proposes to distribute $3,000 in prizes to young men and young women and to Sunday school pupils, these are to for essays, fuller announcement of conditions are to be made later. It is stated that invitations to twenty American clergymen, various religious bodies, are to be accepted by me to England, Germany and Switzerland, expenses to be paid by the union, to speak in behalf of world peace, and the co-operation of the people of the nations named to make closer the friendship between that people. The purposes of this invitation by the union is to make larger use of the church in the interest of peace. The headquarters of the union, located temporarily in the Bible House, New York, are to be removed at once to the new educational building at Seventy-Fifth avenue, where any information desired may be obtained by writing to the secretary.

MISSIONARY BOARDS MAKE ADVERSE REPORTS

Say Money Was Hard to Get During Past Year for Their Work

NEW YORK—Two great missionary boards, both doing home work and together handling $1,200,000 a year, have just closed their books for the year and report unfavorably on the times. One of them, the Congregational home, states last year to have been one of the most difficult in its long history to get money. There was no let up in interest, but people had not the money to give. The other, the Baptist home, fell into debt during 1913. Two years ago it had a surplus of $40,000. Last year it paid one half of it, but this year it went back again to the old mark of $75,000.

Financial committees of these societies express the conviction that not a small part of the trouble is due to the New Haven railroad and its management. Both societies draw heavily upon New England, and in hundreds of instances their supporters in New England have contributed out of good will, but sent no money because there had been no railroad dividends. The Baptist society closes with the absence of one commanding appeal last year attracted the income to some extent, and the striking off debt did the rest. The Congregational society handles $600,000 and ended its year with all debts paid, but had only about did the rest. The Baptist society handles in its regular work $600,000 more, with $100,000 additional in specials.

The Northern Baptist convention, to which these societies report, meets in Boston on June 17, next, the date being later than usual because of the celebration of the Northern Baptist union. The committee is preparing for big Baptist rallies.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY DR. MARION McH. HULL.

April 19, 1914. Luke 14:26-34.

Golden Text: Whosoever shall say shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for My sake shall find it. Matt. 16:25.

As Jesus completed His journey through Perea going on His way to Jerusalem, great crowds were following Him attracted by His eminence and healing. It is possible that the largeness of the invitation which He gave at the home of that Pharisee, under the picture of the parable of the great supper was responsible in some measure for the size of the crowd that was following Him at this time. Jesus did not want anyone to be labor under any false impression, however. He was always so fair in His dealings that they gave the people now some other words which would make them understand fully what discipleship involved, so that they would not follow Him under any false ideas.

THE COST OF DISCIPLESHIP.

"Turning to them, He said, If any man come to Me and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after Me, cannot be My disciple." He then went on to tell them two parables to show that one started to build a tower and was not able to finish it so he became the laughing stock of those who passed by; and of the other parable of the king who went to war, having 10,000 men against his opponent who had 20,000, and had to make peace with him rather than lose the battle. These parables are to show us to understand that the most careful consideration must be given to the question. And then one will not start to follow Him if he be of you that renounceth not all that he hath, he cannot be My disciple" (Luke 14:33). Before considering further let us ask who is the builder, and who is the king who are to be likened to. To interpret that as meaning any man, we must admit that when any one of us begins to obtain resources wherewith to which we can build a character, we find that we have no resources that are worth while to begin with. The words of Isaiah, all of our righteousness is as filthy rags. We must also admit that we have no resources with wmuch to carry on any war. On the other hand, Christ is the builder: at His disposal are the resources of heaven. Christ is the King, who goes to war to win the world from the power of Satan, and all His forces are the hosts of heaven. He has counted the cost. He has made a careful consideration, and expects it now as His determined conviction that without such loyalty as He describes of them at this time, He cannot accomplish His purpose with them; and therefore, if they will be His disciples they must meet these demands.

What are these demands? Shall we hate him mother and other relatives? Shall he hate his life? Christ never taught anywhere that man should hate his brother, nor that we should love one another. This is but one of many instances where we find the Bible. We must remember that this book is an Oriental book and takes every opportunity to express it in our plain language, that the things of the kingdom of God must have the second place in our affections, that even our mother—yes—even our own life itself must have second place when we follow Him. In another place, He expresses the same truth in these words, "If any man would follow after me, let him take no thought of self, but tak up his cross daily, and follow me." Christ knew that Christ must have first place in our lives, and in our affections; other things secondary place.

We hear a good deal today about people bearing their crosses. Nowhere did Jesus teach that we must bear our crosses. What He taught was that every one must bear his cross if he be to be His disciple. To understand this we must again turn to the customs of the day and to the fact that the cross of crucifixion was a common thing at that time. All too often the victim was seen going to the place of execution bearing his cross. Not many weeks after this Jesus bore His cross to the hill Calvary, until He fainted beneath His load. What He demanded therefore, of any one who would be His disciple was that he must be willing if necessary to die for Him. Not counting his life dearer than his loyalty to Him.

The final test which He made was that the man who would be His disciple must "renounce all that he hath." In many ways that was the hardest test that He put. Many men are willing to give up family—yes—even life itself, who are not willing to renounce all that they have, position, wealth and the more material things. But nothing less than how small or how large, steps in between me and my Lord, absolutely unfits me for being His disciple.

Think this thing through carefully, put yourself in the place of Jesus, and I think that you will agree with me that He was entirely fair in His demands. He had counted the cost, and had come to this conclusion—without such loyalty as this, no one could be His disciple, and He could not accomplish His work in them and through them. It is the unreasonable demand, therefore, which He made of them.

Which, then, is the cost of discipleship, the surrender of your will to Jesus Christ, no more or no less.

THE COST OF DISCIPLESHIP.

Yes, to be a disciple costs everything, and it costs nothing, it is everything. Did you ever stop to think that there are only two masters that we can serve? One is Satan and the other is Christ. We must serve one or the other. If we do not serve Christ, there is but one alternative, and that serve Satan. Then stop and consider what the cost of serving Satan. It is nothing more nor less than the cost of serving Christ—the surrender of your will to the rebellious dominion of this usurper of this world kingdom. You pay everything that you have if you serve Satan, and you pay everything that you have if you serve Christ. We recognize the fact that we must pay in the service of Satan. The old German proverb, "He that dances must pay the fiddler." He that is looking for nothing We pay for everything we get, except one thing—"the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

What do you get for the price you pay to Satan—and it is nothing? That is sin's wages. For the time being we have a sense of pleasure in the service, which does not satisfy, which demands more and more, a greater and greater price for the same amount of satisfaction. The sting of inevitability is always in the pleasure of sin. We are driven on to greater and greater sorrow. Some have strife and disease; all ultimately get death. We pay our soul to Satan, but we do get back from him anything that is worth anything? No! It is worth nothing.

What do we get as the reward of discipleship? Peace, lack of worry, assistance in overcoming power, joy, purity, prosperity, the life that never ends, pleasure forevermore, the path which shineth more and more unto the perfect day. Yes, eventually discipleship gives us the crown of life that have that anything else (and for which every earnest soul strives, immortality and incorruption, in the likeness of Christ. Oh, the pity of it! Only those will attain that' likeness who give Him all, who follow Him. No acceptance is granted only to those who accept Him, enlist under Him. The terms of discipleship is high: what is worth while costs much; but we get everything for it.

Do not let the price you have to pay be a stumbling block in your way. The price is small, as compared with what you get for it. For while Christ demands everything of me, that everything is small, as compared with what I get; for when I give all of myself to Christ, He, in turn, gives all of Himself to me, and that is infinitely great.

The most sacrifice to give up something when we get back much more in return. Just so, while Christ asks of me all of myself, my time, my money and your life, all that you are, it may seem large; but He gives back much more. He can repay.

Himself, and it is the best trade you ever made.

Will you not pay the price today and be a disciple of His?

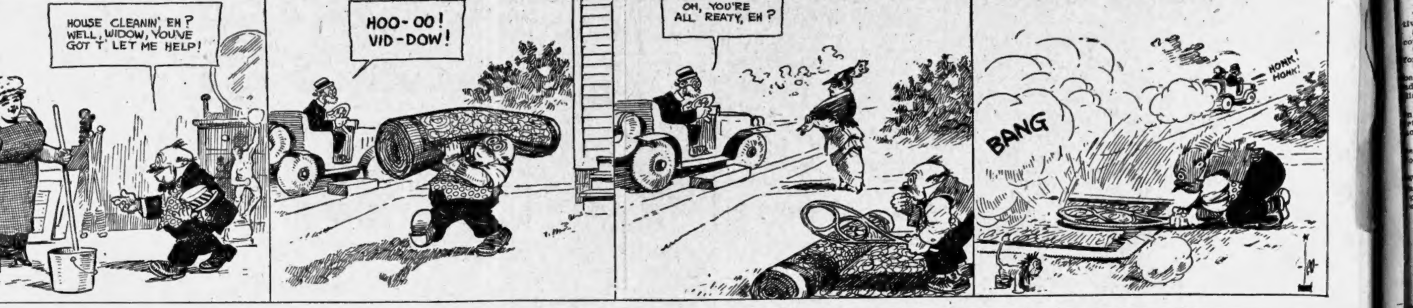
Commodores Took First From Jackets; Play Second Game Today

LITTLE PAL---IS HE GROWING JEALOUS? --BY LEO



Two Big Rounds Won for Vandy Over the Jackets

Commodores Piled Up 4 Runs in the Sixth and 7 in the Eighth--Pound, for Tech, Had Great Day at Bat--Visitors Made Three Double Plays

Hitting the pill opportunely in the sixth and eighth innings, Vanderbilt romped home victor over Tech yesterday in the first game of the series, 11 to 3.

Eleven hits were made by both teams, and the only difference in them was that Vandy's came when they meant runs, while Carothers succeeded in keeping the Jackets' hits far apart.

Pound was the hitting star of the game, getting four safe wallops out of four attempts. One went for three sacks, one for two and the other two for one each. All of his hits were of the clean variety and two of them scored runs.

Davidson also got a nifty pinch hit in the sixth, hitting the ball over if. Montague's head in center for a triple, counting three men.

Evers, in left field, had a good day with the stick, getting two safe taps out of four trips to the pan.

Errors hurt Tech considerably during the game. Five bobbles were credited to Tech, four of which resulted seriously for the Jackets.

T. Montague had an unusual experience in the eighth inning. Two men were on the sacks and one out, when H. Turner hit a hot grounder toward Tyler. In some manner, as he was running to field it, his foot hit and kicked it about thirty feet into right field, Vandy getting two runs on the play.

Eubanks fanned six men during the seven innings that he performed in the box, and allowed two men to get to first transportation. Jordan fanned two and walked the same number. Carothers twirled the whole game for Vandy, and pitched nice ball throughout, always tightening when Jackets men were on the paths. Five men fell victims to his benders during the pastime, while four drew free passes.

Only one bobble was made by Vandy and that came in the second inning, Morgan throwing the ball to third trying to catch Pound, who scored after the wild heave.

Three double plays were pulled by Vandy during the game, Morgan and Polk figuring in two of them.

Evers had a good day in the field, making four spectacular running catches and assisting in making one of the three doubles pulled by Vandy.

Only one game will be played this afternoon, instead of two, as announced at first. The festivities will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Sikes will pitch for the Vanderbilt team. Coach Heisman will likely send Bryant to the mound for the Jackets in an effort to stop the onslaught of the Commodores.

This afternoon at 3:30 the Tech "Federal" and the Tech High baseball nines will meet on the Marist college diamond.

The Tech "Feds," composed of Tech players who are not eligible for the varsity for one reason or another, have been playing fast games with prep and amateur teams in and around the city and have shown up excellently on data.

Tech High will use Parks in the box, with Hooper doing receiver's duty, while Senter will hurl for the "Feds," and Morrison catch.

Cairo Team Won

CAIRO, Ga., April 18.—In the second game of the season the local ball team shut out the Boston High school team by the score of 9 to 0. Batteries: Boston, Blanton and Walton; Cairo, Laing and Shanlaurs.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

APRIL PLUS OCTOBER.

"Mack's club always gets away slowly in the spring."—Exchange.
In the spring E. Collins fumbles,
In the spring F. Baker fans,
In the spring C. Bender's beaten
Steadily by minor clans.

In the spring the Mackmen stumble,
Losing all their skill and science,
Do they look as bad in autumn?
Ask the Giants.

"KEEPING HIS EYE ON THE BALL."

Having heard that Mr. Mack had developed into an ardent golfer, we invited him to a friendly bout at niblicks upon any opportune date.

"I'll be very glad," remarked Connie, "to take you on—any day after October 15. In the meanwhile I will stay in good practice by keeping my eye on the ball—but it will be a baseball."

At that it must be a terrible strain upon one's eyesight to keep an eye on some of the balls that Baker catches in the groove. The Athletic leader must carry a Lick telescope around.

A CORRECTION.

We make no pretense of being infallible; but, for all that, we are always glad to correct any mistakes that may creep into these dispatches.

It seems now that we were guilty of a grewsome error. Five weeks ago we called the opening day score of Washington vs. Boston with Johnson facing Collins at 1 to 0. Bum guess. It was 3 to 0. We apologize.

After the rat day in Philadelphia the Giants are said to be highly incensed at the way the Feds disrupted the Phillies. Mr. Marquard is also thinking of suing the Feds for damages for having overlooked Sherwood Magee. A number of eminent attorneys have stated that he has an open and shut case—If you know what sort of a case that is.

The Feds have not only started, contrary to midwinter report, but they have started briskly, playing good ball before firstclass crowds.

According to the Pittsburg Feds, Tom Seaton joined the Brooklyn Feds after all. They claim that the rumor is more than well founded.

There is a vast difference between the looks of Mack's bill club in April and October. But there is also a vast difference between playing for a club owner and 60 per cent of $150,000. Briefly, about $90,000 difference and an average of about 11 base hits per game.

Rival ball clubs that have been feeding upon the soft, yielding flesh of the Yankees for three or four seasons are liable to absorb quite a bump this season and a touch of indigestion. Chance hasn't developed any pennant contender yet, but he has the most improved machine in either circuit. It might be whispered that there was more room for improvement, but it isn't every leader who always makes good use of the room.

Chance has undoubtedly started back to where he belongs, which is somewhere around the crest. When he started he had had nothing to build around. Now he has four or five brisk youngsters who are sure to stick and to hold on at top speed. Give him another year and the old handle of P. L. will be called back into play.

DENT WILL COVER ROAD GAMES FOR THE JOURNAL

Elliott Dent, one of the mainstays of the Crackers' hurling staff and also one of the most popular members of the club, will cover games played by the Crackers on the road this season for The Journal. In addition to writing reports on the games, Dent will also tell of interesting experiences the player may have while on foreign invasions. Dent is well qualified for handling the road games, and his accounts should prove highly interesting to Atlanta fans. He accompanied the team to Memphis, and will begin this work at once, starting with today's game with the Turtles. Watch for his story of the first battle away from home in Sunday's Journal.

Bagby Hurls Pels To Victory

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 18.—For the second time in the present series Montgomery and New Orleans batted into extra innings Friday afternoon before a decision was recorded. Phenomenal pitching by Bagby, who yielded neither a hit nor a run, and allowed no local batter to reach first base for the seven innings he was on the mound, saved the game for New Orleans. He relieved Wilson in the fourth inning, whose wildness permitted Montgomery to score three runs in each of the first three innings.

Preps Organize 'Federal' League

Another "Federal" league has been organized and this time, it is right in our midst. Three teams of the local prep league, not exactly liking a certain ruling made by the governing board of the prep league, decided to withdraw, and have now dubbed themselves the "Prep Federal League."

At ar acent meeting of the governing board of the prep league, which board is composed of one member from each school, a rule was passed that no player that had not entered school before March 1 would be allowed to participate in the athletics of that school, a rule somewhat like the one-year rule of the S. I. A. A. Four of the teams in the league voted for this, while the Peacock-Finch, Stone Mountain and Boys' High representatives voted against it. The ruling was adopted and the above three, not liking the decision, conjecture whether or not the four teams will finish the remainder of the season, without disbanding.

The "Feds" propose to play games among themselves and with out-of-town prep teams.

Just what final action will be taken is not yet known, as each side is holding out that they are right and will not come across to the other.

Boys' High Play Riverside Nine

One of the most important games in the battle for the state prep baseball championship will be waged today when the strong Boys' High team journeys to Gainesville to play the Riverside Military academy.

Every time that Boys' High has played Riverside, they have been defeated. But this year they have an unusually good team, and have had the help of a very able coach, and expect to win this struggle.

Friddell will be the selection to do the hurling for the Purple and White aggregation, while Coach Anderson will in all probability send Morris against Boys' High. Weaver will do the receiving duty for Boys' High, while Jones will be behind the plate for Riverside.

Cochran High Beat Hawkinsville Boys

COCHRAN, Ga., April 18.—The Cochran High school and Hawkinsville High school met on the local diamond Friday afternoon, the score resulting 4 to 1 in favor of Cochran. The pitchers for both sides pitched excellent ball. Strikeouts were 8 to 10 in favor of Cochran; bases on balls off Cochran pitcher, 4; Hawkinsville, 1; hits, 6 to 5 in Cochran's favor. Hawkinsville made two errors and Cochran one. Batteries: Cochran, Durham and Walker; Hawkinsville, Bozeman and Bailey. Time of game, 1:45. Umpire, Coley.

Finding Murphy in the seventh and eighth innings, and making five runs in those two rounds, Stone Mountain "Feds" defeated Peacock "Feds" Friday afternoon by the score of 5 to 4. TECH HIGH, 5; G. M. A., 2.

In a close game played at Marist college yesterday afternoon Tech High was returned victor over G. M. A. by the count of 5 to 2. The game was, with the exception of the first inning, a pretty pitcher's battle between Parks and Smith.

Bradley at short played some very good ball for Tech High, handling all of his chances in fine style, and not making a bobble. Parks beside pitching good ball, proved to be exceptionally strong with the stick.

MARIST COLLEGE WINS 13-INNING CONTEST.

Marist at last came to life and after dropping three straight games, defeated Tech High Friday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3, taking thirteen innings, however, to turn the trick. The game which was played at Decatur on the Donald Fraser campus, was one of the prettiest prep league battles ever waged by two prep teams, and inning after inning both sides would be retired without a man reaching first.

Marist tied the game up in the ninth and won it in the thirteenth. In the thirteenth inning, McCall got a life on an error was sacrificed to second and scored when Brock the pitcher hit a hot double to left field.

Big Demonstration Planned for Opening Game in Crescent City This Afternoon

NEW ORLEANS, April 18.—In an effort to win the prize offered by President Kavanaugh, of the Southern association, for the largest attendance on opening day, many New Orleans merchants today declared half holiday in order that their employes might attend the initial game of the season to be played here this afternoon between the New Orleans and Birmingham baseball teams.

A parade twenty blocks long is one of the features planned in celebration of the occasion. Governor Hall, members of the commission council of New Orleans, and at least one justice of the state supreme court have announced that they will ride in the parade. Actor Mayor Ricks has agreed to pitch the first ball.

Four bands will play during the parade and game.

Manager Dobbs has not announced his battery for the contest. Weather prospects are not altogether encouraging, although indications this morning were that showers promised for tonight by the cool head necessary for this job, as has been demonstrated in many a trying battle on the diamond.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION. Macon, Ga.

It seems to me I have heard you say, read it after you, or received the impression in some way, that you knew of something that would keep ticks off of cattle. I have some cows that have never had ticks on them, and am staying awake at night worrying with fear of their getting loaded up.

If you can help me any in this will appreciate it. W. T. C.

ANSWER.

The only way to keep ticks off of cattle is not to allow the cattle to come in contact with tick-infested pastures. Often after blue-water ticks will be left standing in pastures that overflow, the ticks or seed being washed down for miles above. This is one way they can get in a pasture, and the other way is by being brought there by cattle or some other animal. If you haven't any ticks in the pasture now and do not allow anything to carry the seed there you will not be bothered.

It is best to have a dipping vat convenient in any tick-infested district and dip immediately when they appear begin dipping your cattle, or if properly sprayed with an ordinary spray pump will answer the same purpose, but it must be thoroughly done. Dr. Nighbert, of Atlanta, will give you a formula for making a mixture, also plans of a dipping vat. If the cattle are dipped or sprayed four to six weeks it will kill all the ticks on them and usually get every one in the pasture at this season of the year, and during the breeding season. A mixture of ten gallons of water, one 5-cent package of powdered lime and one gallon of crude tick oil will make enough mixture to spray fifteen to twenty-five head of cattle. This is a cheap and convenient way to get rid of ticks.

DORSEY TO FIGHT MOTION FOR A NEW FRANK TRIAL

Will Probably Rely on Decision of Supreme Court in Famous Cawthon Case

Interest in the case of Leo M. Frank now centers in the unexpected move to set aside the verdict of guilty on the ground that Frank was absent from the court room when it was rendered. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey is preparing to vigorously combat the motion, which is set for a hearing on Wednesday morning.

The solicitor, it has been learned, will not only contend that the waiver by Frank's attorneys was sufficient, but that Frank had knowledge that the waiver was to be made and consented to it.

He will contend further, it is understood, that Frank, passively, if not actively, consented to the waiver since he did not except to it in the original motion for a new trial. Mr. Dorsey will argue, it is said, that no point can be made in an extraordinary motion which was known at the time of the ordinary motion and not excepted to.

It is said that the solicitor will rely largely upon the decision of the supreme court of Georgia, written by Justice Andrew J. Cobb in the famous Cawthon case, 118 Georgia. The circumstances in the Cawthon case were very similar to those in the Frank case, as the following excerpt from the decision shows:

CAWTHON CASE VERDICT.

"The accused excepted to the action of the court in receiving the verdict in his absence, the assignment of error in the bill of exceptions being in the following language: 'After the evidence, statement of prisoner, argument of counsel and the charge of the court had been concluded, and while the jury were out considering their verdict in the case, the presiding judge, with the consent of the defendant's counsel, and in the interest of the safety of the prisoner and the preservation of order, sent the defendant back to jail, and the verdict finding him guilty of murder was received in the absence of the prisoner, who was in jail under this charge and could not control his movements; and such reception of the verdict in the absence of the defendant, being also with the consent of defendant's counsel, who stated that they would take no exception thereto, and in the interest of the prisoner's safety and the preservation of order.'

"The defendant excepts to the receiving of the verdict finding him guilty of murder in his absence, as being illegal, and in violation of his statutory and constitutional right to be present in the court room, when the verdict was received; and says that his counsel, although acting in perfect good faith and in the interest of his personal safety, had no legal authority to waive his right to be present; and he says that for this reason the verdict in this case should be set aside."

SMITH VS. STATE.

Commenting on this the supreme court decision says: "In Smith vs. State, 59 Ga., 513, it was held that notwithstanding the accused may be in custody, he may consent that a verdict shall be received in his absence, and that a verdict received in his absence in pursuance of such consent is valid, notwithstanding he was at the time confined in jail. This was not a capital felony, but we are unable to perceive any sound distinction, with reference to the prisoner's right to waive his presence, between this class of felonies and any other.

"Whether reference to whether the accused in a felony case can waive his right to be present during the progress of a trial between arraignment and verdict, it may be taken as settled that he may make an express waiver of his right to be present at the reception of the verdict."

This last statement deals more specifically with the state's fight on the defense's contention that Frank had no right to waive his presence, even if he and his attorneys both desired that he remain away from court.

DEFENDANT'S PRESENCE.

Judge Cobb in writing the decision touches upon the point of counsel waiving a defendant's presence without the consent of the defendant. He says:

"Speaking for myself, I am inclined to the opinion that the right to make the waiver resides in counsel, whether the accused be present at the time of the waiver, his authority arising from the mere relation of attorney and client. The reasoning of the courts that hold to the contrary is not, in my opinion, satisfactory or by any means conclusive. Counsel is generally better fitted to take care of the rights of the accused than he is himself, and the accused is better protected from improvident waivers by his case being left to the control of his counsel. But under the facts of this case it is not necessary for a direct ruling to be made upon this point, as, in our opinion, a waiver by counsel, in the presence of the accused, unrepudiated by him at the time of the waiver, is so binding as to make valid any action of the court based thereon."

Detective William J. Burns, who has been absent from the city, in Chicago and other cities, is not expected to return before Monday.

His report on the Frank case, disclosing much new evidence favorable to the defendant, which he is said to have discovered, will probably not be filed immediately upon his return. In the order signed by Judge Ben H. Hill in which the extraordinary motion for a new trial is filed, it is expressly stated that the paper can be amended at any time before its final disposition. Action to set aside the verdict will probably be argued first, Berrs will have porbably a week more in which to complete the report.

Coxey Has Trouble Keeping Army Sober On Trip to Capitol

"General" Rails at Members of Fife Corps for Trading Instruments for Beer

(By Associated Press.)

OLUISVILLE, Ohio, April 18.!—Because members of the fife corps of Coxey's "army of the commonweal" traded their instruments for beer, became intoxicated, it was charged, and were jailed by the village marshal. General" Jacob S. Coxey issued an edict against drinking as the army left here today on the third day of the march to Washington. "I don't belong to the W. C. T. U., but from now on you're either got to 'cut out the booze" or we don't want you along," was the substance of the leader's address to his "troops."

"We're marching to Washington to teach the president a great moral lesson, and Coxeyites will die before they will permit it getting drunk."

"General" Coxey was pleased as much by the prediction of a gypsy fortune teller he met on the road, that he would live to be 160, as by the increase in the number of his recruits to more than a score.

WILSON HAS NOTIFIED DICTATOR OF MEXICO THAT TIME IS FIXED

authorization that congress would give. Congress certainly would respond decisively and quickly if the president should find it necessary to communicate to it in this matter."

Scenes attending the morning's developments in the Mexican situation were dramatic. President Wilson had gone across the Potomac to a secluded club where he plays golf.

When Charge O'Shaughnessy's dispatches were deciphered and their import became known to Secretary Bryan and Mr. Tumulty, a hurried attempt was made to get the president on the telephone. Secretary Bryan and Mr. Tumulty started in a fast automobile and while they were rushing across the Virginia hills the White House telephone had succeeded in reaching the president, who hurried back to the club house and started to Washington.

Secretary Bryan and Mr. Tumulty met the president out on a tired dusty road and in the sun of a bright June day the important dispatches were communicated and the journey was continued to the White House.

WRITES STATEMENT.

The president went to his study where he wrote his statement giving Huerta until 6 oclock Sunday night. He stirred it himself upon his personal typewriter as is his custom with important official documents. Then he decided that inasmuch as there probably would be no action before tomorrow night, he could change his plans and go to White Sulphur Springs any way and bring Mrs. Wilson back to Washington.

At the navy department, in the absence of Secretary Daniels, who is in Cleveland, Ohio, today, the board of aides, the executive arm of the service, went into executive session to make the finishing plans for moving ships and munitions.

There was no acticity at the war department and no orders were issued for the troops at Texas City.

At the state department Secretary Bryan called a hurried conference with John Lind, the president's personal representative in Mexico, who has just returned from an eight months' stay in Huerta's country and brought back first hand information. After a conference with Mr. Lind Secretary Bryan hurried back to the White House where other cabinet officers had collected and although with grave faces, the officials dially discussed the developments confidentially.

TEMPORIZING ENDED.

"The temporizing is ended," said one of the cabinet officers who is personally close to Mr. Wilson.

"We have the punch, we know it, and we are going to deliver it. Huerta has had his last chance."

While the text of Huerta's message today and the president's reply were not made public it was known that Huerta contended that all the offenses for which the United States asks apology have been apologized for and that "he demurs at anything further."

Officials pointed out that the naval forces at Vera Cruz and Tampico were sufficient to carry out the president's plans without waiting for the arrival of Rear Admiral Badger's fleet.

The transport Hancock already has arrived at Tampico with 800 marines; the battleships Virginia, Connecticut and Minnesota and the cruisers Des Moines, Dolphin and San Francisco also are there. The scout cruiser Chester and the transport Buffalo also are at Tampico with the collier Cyclops.

At Vera Cruz are the battleships Florida and Utah and the transport Prairie, the latter having a large complement of marines. Rear Admiral Mayo commands the ships at Tampico and Rear Admiral Fletcher commands at Vera Cruz. When Rear Admiral Badger arrives he will take supreme command.

The flagship Arkansas and other ships of Admiral Badger's fleet were off Key West last night, making about eleven and a half knots, and at that rate would reach Tampico by Tuesday. Orders from Washington, however, putting the new fast ships under forced draught would bring them into Tampico on Monday prepared for action if President Wilson has to lay the situation before congress

The fact that the senate not in session today, having adjourned over until Monday, was referred to by some officials as the only reason the president had not taken the Mexican matter to the capitol today. On Monday there will be an opportunity for Mr. Wilson to address the house and senate in a join session.

Huerta's final defiance came as a distinct surprise to some officials and confirmed the suspicion of others who never have believed he was sincere in his promise to Charge O'Shaughnessy last Tuesday. In some circles there was a conviction that Huerta, beset with internal troubles and menaced by the continuing advance of his enemies from the north, was bent on making trouble with the United States in the hope of uniting the warring Mexican factions in a common cause. Officials here, however, did not expect that the constitutionalists, with whom the United States has no quarrel, would be concerned in the dispute with Huerta.

The armored cruiser South Dakota, with 586 marines, was ordered to sail today from the Bremerton yard to San Diego, Cal., there to await further orders.

The South Dakota will stop at Mare Island to take on 400 additional marines which cannot be accommodated on the collier Jupiter. The Jupiter and the South Dakota will then proceed south together.

Villa Doesn't Think War Is Probable

(By Associated Press.)

TORREON, Mexico, April 18.—"I do not believe the existing trouble will result in war between the United States and Mexico," commented General Villa today.

"I regard the complication as one existing between President Wilson and President Huerta, and question whether even the bombarding of Tampico would be construed an act of war against Mexico, since Huerta is the offender and illegally holds that port."

Plans for Safety of All Foreigners Agreed On

(By Associated Press.)

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, April 18.—Plans for the safety of foreigners and foreign property in Tampico were agreed on yesterday by commanders of German, British and American vessels at Tampico in conference with General Luis Caballero, chief of the rebel forces operating against that port. This information was conveyed to General Carranza today in a report from General Caballero, who telegraphed that "you may rest assured that any word sent you to the effect that I might enhance the present international complications comes from a traitor."

WOULD SIT DOWN COULDN'T GET UP

And This Lady Would Do a Little Work and Have to Go to Bed for an Hour

Columbia, Tenn.—Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this town, says: "I was a sufferer from womanly troubles for five years, and it got me down so, I could not do any of my work. Would have to lie in bed nearly all the time. When I would sit down, couldn't get up, without pulling at something to help me.

I would do a little work, and have to go to bed for an hour.

I would have those awful trembly spells, and a swimming in my head. I surely felt that I had rather be dead, than be in my condition.

I finally wrote to the Ladies' Advisory Department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and they advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, for my troubles. I did and now I am sound and well of all my troubles. The second bottle helped me so much that I didn't have to go to bed any more.

I certainly feel that Cardui is worth its weight in gold to every suffering woman."

If you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, try Cardui.

For more than 50 years Cardui has been used with entire satisfaction by hundreds of thousands of weak and ailing women. It will surely help you, too.
