

there when he called me and talked to me about the work.

Q. And that was on Saturday? A. Yes, sir, that was on a Saturday.

Q. About what time, now? A. I don't know somewhere about three o'clock, though.

Q. Sometime about three o'clock? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your Saturday hours, Jim? A. I always generally have to work from the time I get back there until half past four that evening.

Q. What time would you usually get back there? A. I would leave away from there about half pass twelve, ring out the clock, and come back about half past one or two o'clock.

Q. Would you ring in again? A. Yes, sir; sometimes I would and sometimes I wouldn't----

Q. The first time you say you ever watched, you say you watched for Frank and somebody else last July? A. Yes sir.

Q. You don't know who the man was? A. Yes, sir, I know who the man was.

Q. Who was he? A. A man named Mr. Dalton.

Q. Where is he? A. I don't know where he is now.

Q. How do you spell that? A. I don't know how you spell it.

Q. What did he do? A. A young lady that worked at the factory-- I don't know what her name was---she would go off and get him and bring him in there.

Q. You don't know where he lived? A. No, sir; I don't know where he lived, but I know where she lived.

Q. How come him to tell you who she was? A. She was the one told me his name.

Q. Where is the young lady? A. I don't know, sir, if she's anywhere in the room and if she'll stand up I can tell you if it is her.

Q. Give us her name? A. I don't know, sir, what her name is; the detectives know the name, I don't.

Q. Detectives tell you who she was, sir; they didn't tell me who she was, I described to them where she lives at

Q. Where does she live? A. She lives on West Hunter Street.

Q. Where? A. Between Hunter and Haynes Street, around about Magnolia Street, down there.
