SMALLER REVENUE FORGES CAR CUTS, STATES ATKINSON

Heads of Georgia Railway and Power Company Declare That a Policy of Retrenchment Is Necessary.

PETITIONS ARE FOUGHT BY PROMINENT CITIZENS

Better Times Are Near, and There Is No Reason for Reduction of Service, They Tell Commission.

In presenting the final plea of the Georgia Railway and Power company, whose petition to discontinue certain extra car services on fourteen different lines was heard by the state railroad commission on Wednesday and vigorously protested in person by more than one hundred citizens, H. M. Atkinson, vice president of the corporation, declared before the commission that, owing to the falling off of the revenues of the company in the last several months, retrenchment is necessary.

The argument for both sides was concluded on Wednesday and the commission took the matter under advisement. At the opening of the hearing Wednesday morning President Preston Arkwright, of the street railway company, stated that during the last three or four months of 1914 the average decrease in revenues under the corresponding months of 1913 was over $20,000 per month.

Citizens Protest. The hearing was productive of many vigorous protests, most of the protesters declaring that they are not now receiving the service they should have, and that the proposal to reduce this service is ample cause for indignation. It was also declared that the street railway company is taking a pessimistic view of the outlook, and is filing its retrenchment petition just at a time when business is about to start and they would not be obdurate when times get better, and we can put these cars back on.

Conditions Are Serious. "We feel that conditions confronting us are serious. Therefore we ask that you will grant this petition if we did not have to ask your consent we would be forced to this move and would take these cars off in an hour. The granting of this petition would have a most favorable effect upon the financial centers where we must go for help. Whatever may be your decision in this matter, we will abide by it cheerfully."

Mr. Atkinson declared that he could not successfully file a pessimist, but that he believes improvement of conditions will be secured if the petition is granted. "We do not want to make these reductions in service," he said, "but it is about the last thing left for us to do."

Mr. Atkinson deplored the semblance of a fight against the petition of the company and stated that it seemed to him more like a conference of friends. The hearing before the commission opened in the senate chamber Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and lasted until nearly 6 o'clock in the afternoon, from 1 to 3 o'clock being taken for lunch. The afternoon session was held in the commission's quarters.

Arkwright Shows Patronage. Preston Arkwright presented to the commission a mass of figures and statistics showing the status of the patronage and receipts of the company for the last four months of the year 1914, going into the detail of each car affected in the petitions, as against the same periods of 1913, and as against some other former years.

SALOON BUSINESS ON DOWN GRADE IN NEW YORK STATE

Albany, N. Y., January 13.—Saloon business in New York state is on the decline. William M. Farley, state commissioner of excise, declared in his report submitted to the legislature tonight. The commissioner points out that since the passage of the 1910 law limiting saloons to one to every 750 of population, 1,613 saloons have quit business. The report shows that in the state there are 384 towns where liquor is sold and 497 that have voted "dry."

READY TO FIGHT WIFE IN COURTS

Mrs. Hazel Sherman Brands Injunction Petition of Mrs. Arthur St. George Joyce as Absurd.

Says Mrs. Hazel Sherman, accused by Mrs. Arthur St. George Joyce of pursuing Mrs. Joyce's husband: "Any woman that has to go to court to keep her husband's affection is a poor wife in my estimation."

Mrs. St. George Joyce, who only recently came to Atlanta from the east with her husband for the alleged purpose of fleeing from the blandishments of Mrs. Sherman yesterday filed in superior court an application for an injunction to restrain the other woman from alienating the affection of her husband.

Temporary Injunction. The petition was granted temporarily. Judge W. B. Ellis will decide in open court next Saturday whether or not it is injurious to the peace and tranquility in the Joyce household for Mrs. Sherman to speak or in any other wise communicate with Mr. Joyce. Mr. Joyce is a publicity expert, and formerly held the position of financial editor of The Public Ledger, in Philadelphia. He has been in Atlanta for two months or more. Mrs. Sherman, also a Philadelphia woman, is visiting her mother, Mrs. B. M. Graves, at 29 Carnegie way, where she was seen last night by newspaper men.

WOODWARD OPENS FIGHT TO REDUCE CITY'S PAYROLL

Today a Number of Employees Are in Danger of Losing Out or Having to Work for Smaller Salaries.

CALLS A HALT ON WORK OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

Mayor Shows That It Takes Almost Entire Tax Money for One Year to Meet Payrolls of Departments.

So thoroughly alarmed is Mayor James G. Woodward over big increases shown by the city payrolls from year to year, and he is so firmly convinced that a cut of $150,000 to $200,000 a year from salaries will not interfere with the operating efficiency of city departments, that he called a halt when the finance committee Wednesday took up salary apportionments and today a number of city employees are in danger of losing their jobs or being reduced.

The mayor has shown to the finance committee that it takes almost the entire tax money for one year to meet the payrolls of all departments and he is not standing alone in the position that there should be a substantial reduction to permit of a part of the tax revenue being spent for improvements. According to figures in the possession of the finance committee the tax revenue for 1914 amounted to a grand total of $2,221,314. This includes only the income from real estate and personally assessments.

Figures shown by the comptroller's tentative sheet of salary apportionments last year prove that Atlanta paid out in salaries alone exactly $1,988,803, or almost a sum equal to the city's tax income. "Such a condition reflects no credit on the heads of departments, the general council, or the administrative heads of the government," says the mayor, "and any system should be changed. I believe that the city could cut from $150,000 to $200,000 from the payroll, yet maintain efficiency, and I feel satisfied that the men who will be cut down won't quit their jobs."

Finance Chairman Farlinger and Councilmen Inman and Johnson are standing firm with the mayor in his fight for salary economy. Other members of the committee favor making reductions, but their views are not as sweeping as the mayor's or those members who are with the chief executive. Wednesday Mayor Woodward held up a warning hand to the finance committee while the schedule of the salary demands were being discussed. It will require $580,000 next year for teachers' salaries alone, and of that amount about $39,000 will be required to meet automatic increases of teachers' salaries, and the remainder, he said, under the rules of the board, to an advance in salary.

TONS OF TOBACCO SENT BY AMERICANS TO ALLIED TROOPS

Paris, January 13.—Two and a half tons of tobacco and cigars, half of a shipment recently made by Americans as a gift for the allied soldiers in the trenches, arrived here today and caused perturbation in the fiscal department as the duties were $30,000. The government offered to remit the duties if the tobacco were intended for hospitals, but the donors wanted it to go to the men in the trenches. The shipment has not been cleared, but it is said the decision will be favorable. The shipment includes cigars, pipes and tobacco for General Joffre, from his American friends. There also is a case for King Albert of Belgium. Special cases are included for Brigadier Rielle, of the Twenty-second French artillery, and Sergeant Cotteret of the 133d French infantry, both of whom have been decorated with the military medal.

OLD JEFFERSON COLLEGE SAVED BY ITS STUDENTS

Natchez, Miss., January 13.—Students tonight saved Jefferson Military college with buckets they protected by fire. The building of the institution and extinguished the flames after a dormitory had been destroyed. The damage was estimated at $9,000. Jefferson college is 113 years old. Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, was a graduate. Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, and other men prominent in public life are alumni.

CAN CONGRESSMEN "HECKLE" WILSON WHEN HE SPEAKS?

Washington, January 13.—Whether President Wilson can be "heckled" when he appears before a joint session of congress to deliver a message in person was discussed on the floor of the house today. Speaker Clark, asked for a ruling, suggested that the last president who addressed congress in person, Thomas Jefferson, submitted to questioning from the floor. Representative Smith, of Michigan, raised the point in the form of a parliamentary inquiry. "It would be difficult to decide that," said Speaker Clark, "President Wilson is the first chief executive since the earliest days who has appeared before congress. The latest precedent obtainable is during the administration of Thomas Jefferson. He came to congress to deliver a message, and was interrupted by members from the floor." The discussion closed, without definite result.

BURGLARS GREETED BY HALL OF SHOTS

Mrs. Ben Tye and Mrs. S. S. Franklin Help to Save Their Homes From Robbery.

Operations of burglars kept the police busy throughout last night. Five burglaries were reported. In two instances the intruders were thwarted by the wakefulness of occupants. An attempt was made to rob the home of Benjamin W. Tye, well-known attorney, at 905 Peachtree street, shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Tye had retired. The robber had broken into the sleeping porch, adjoining their bedroom, when Mrs. Tye awoke and gave the alarm. Mr. Tye secured his revolver in time to take a shot at the intruder and had partially opened the bathroom door to enter the apartments when Mrs. Franklin awoke.

Neighbors were alarmed by the report of the pistol and the fleeing burglar was shot at twice by them as he turned into Twelfth street and disappeared. A burglar broke through the bathroom window of the apartments of Mrs. S. S. Franklin, No. 2 Peachtree Place, and had partially opened the bathroom door to enter the apartments when Mrs. Franklin awoke. "I have my pistol and will shoot you," she bluffed. The burglar quickly retreated and made his escape through the window.

Undaunted by the cleverness of the burglar, Mrs. Franklin and her daughter secured their pistols in time to run out on the side porch of their apartment and take a shot at the fleeing burglar, who escaped. "My Lady Raffles" was out again last night, and the detectives plainly saw her footprints on the porch of the residence, and had partially opened the street. Mrs. Hudson's residence was looted early during the night and a large quantity of ladies' jewelry, dresses and other clothes was stolen.

Dr. G. P. Hughey, of 88 West Eleventh street, reported that his home had been burglarized and a ladies' watch stolen by the night intruder. G. F. Rogers, of 88 Holderness street, also reported that his residence was burglarized and a ladies' watch, a ring set with diamonds and opals, and $2.50 in money had been stolen.

GERMANS GRAPPLE WITH THE FRENCH IN BLOODY BATTLE ALONG RIVER AISNE

For a Week Struggle Has Been Going on Northeast of Soissons—The Germans Bring Up Fresh Troops and Regain Some Ground.

OFFENSIVE IS RESUMED BY THE RUSSIAN FORCES; EAST PRUSSIA MENACED

Germans Continue to Attack the Russian Lines in Poland Without Success. Turks Have Taken Tabriz, in Persia, and It Is Said Will Attempt to Invade Egypt.

London, January 13.—Battles, large and small, all having an important bearing on the situation, are raging at widely separated points in Europe and Asia. The Turks have occupied the Persian town of Tabriz, which is a Russian sphere of influence; are battling with the Russians in the Caucasus and are reported to be making preparations to invade Egypt.

The Russians have resumed the offensive in East Prussia, while the Germans continue to attack them in Poland, and they again are trying to cross the Nida river in Southern Poland, held by the Austrians. The battle creating the greatest interest is that in the Aisne valley, northeast of Soissons, where the French have been attacking the German entrenchments for a week. They took important positions Friday and again Sunday, but the Germans, bringing up reinforcements, recovered some of the lost ground. Otherwise the unfavorable weather has compelled the French to take a more defensive attitude to artillery engagements.

RUSSIANS ACTIVE IN EAST PRUSSIA

Renewed Russian activity in East Prussia indicates that the freezing over of the Masurian lakes has occurred at last, for otherwise it would be impossible for troops to advance through the narrow defiles defended by the Germans. The Russians claim also to have made a further advance southwest of Rawa, another indication that they contemplate a repetition of their attempt at an invasion of East Prussia from the north and south, despite the fact that repeated German attacks south of the Lower Vistula in Poland are keeping them fairly busy. These attacks are being made at different points and, according to the Russian official statements, are easily repelled.

There is no recent account of fighting in Southern Poland and Galicia, but a Bucharest dispatch says the Russians have begun an attack on the Austrian fortifications in the mountains which divide Bukovina, now in their possession, and Transylvania, an attack on which is considered likely to bring Rumania into the war on the side of the allies. TURKS TO ATTEMPT INVASION OF EGYPT.

The Turks, according to a Cairo dispatch, have decided at last to attempt an invasion of Egypt. In London little credence is given this report. It is not believed possible that troops can cross the desert east of the Suez canal, and even if they conquered the waterless waste, they would be so exhausted that the British forces in Egypt, it is confidently believed, could easily repel them. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, addressing a gathering of Australians today, said it was not likely the Australians who were guarding Egypt, with New Zealanders, Indians and English territorials and regulars, would have much fighting to do there and that they soon would be in France.

FRENCH ADMIT SLIGHT YIELD

Paris, January 13.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight: "To the northeast of Soissons our counter-attack has progressed slightly beyond Cuffes and Crouy. However, we were unable to debouch from Crouy. Our troops, subject to a violent attack to the east of this place, have yielded slightly near the village of Moncel, but which they are still occupying."

NO GERMAN SUBMARINES DESTROYED OFF DOVER. Dover, January 13.—(Via London.) The port authorities deny the report current here today that two German submarines were fired upon and sunk by the coast batteries off Dover.

Many Villages in Ruins; Property Loss Will Run Far Into the Millions

Shock Was Very Severe in Rome and Many Historic Buildings Were Shattered, But Casualties Were Few in the Capital—Greatest Loss of Life Occurred in Territory Adjacent to Rome—In the Village of Avezzano Alone 8,000 Persons Are Reported Dead. Relief Measures Taken by the Government.

Rome, January 13.—Italy has been visited by an earthquake of wide extent which, according to the latest advices, has resulted in the death of 12,000 and injury to possibly 20,000 more in towns and villages destroyed.

The shock was the strongest Rome has felt in more than a hundred years. The town of Avezzano, in the Abruzzi department, 63 miles east of Rome, has been leveled to the ground, and here 8,000 persons are reported to have been killed.

In many small towns surrounding Rome buildings were partially wrecked, while at Naples a panic occurred, and houses fell at Caserta, a short distance to the east.

WIFE HELD FOR CRIME AFTER 4 MONTHS' PROBE

Coroner's Jury Holds Mrs. H. W. Davis as Instrumental in Husband's Death.

Athens, Ga., January 13.—(Special.)—A coroner's jury empaneled on October of last year to investigate the death of H. W. Davis, a prominent citizen of Jackson county, returned a verdict today finding that Davis came to death through instrumentality of his wife, who has been arrested and is in the custody of the sheriff at Jefferson. A committing trial occurs tomorrow. It is believed that Mrs. Davis, if guilty, is not the principal. Davis was reported to have heard a disturbance in the chicken yard about 3 o'clock in the morning and arose to see about it. A shot was heard and he was found dead on the veranda.

The state contends that the shot which killed Davis was not from the pistol found in his hand. Family differences and insurance are both said to enter into the evidence. The coroner's jury held frequent sittings from time to time over parts of four months, the jury maintaining secrecy about their findings.

ERA OF PROSPERITY FORETOLD BY REDFIELD

Secretary of Commerce Says Outlook Is Good for the United States.

New York, January 13.—A greater era of prosperity is in view for the United States, Secretary of Commerce Redfield said tonight, addressing the fourth annual dinner of the Queensborough Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Redfield discussed American trade relations and industrial conditions resulting from the war in Europe and cited the advances in freight rates granted to the railroads and the opening of the Panama canal as factors leading toward an improved business status. Discussing foreign commerce, he said: "Our floating debt to Europe, which it once was felt might have to be paid fully in gold, has instead been paid in goods more than protected, so there seems to have begun an inward flow of gold responding to the reduction in the price of exchange."

W. Morgan Shuster said that in furnishing supplies to the nations at war the United States was handicapped by an inadequate merchant marine. "Any other nation," he said, "that possessed our wealth and opportunities, would long ago have obtained full control of the world's trade."

REPUBLICAN GUNS TURNED ON WILSON

President Bitterly Attacked by G. O. P. Senators—Democrats Predict Renomination and Re-election of Wilson.

Washington, January 13.—One of the liveliest debates of the present congress stirred the senate today when republican leaders launched a vigorous attack on President Wilson's Indianapolis speech, the administration's Mexican policy and democratic legislation. Democrats met the attack with praise for the president and a prediction of his re-election.

The debate was precipitated over Senator Cummins' resolution asking the president to indicate what the government proposed to do with Mexican customs collected during the occupation of Vera Cruz. Action on the resolution was postponed until tomorrow.

Senator John Sharp Williams, one of those who repented to republican criticism of the administration, declared with emphasis that President Wilson would be renominated and re-elected for the presidency, because "the American people have found him not only able to take the place of men about whom they were quarreling, but good enough to stand in his own stead."

"You cannot embarrass the administration nor befuddle the American people with any such resolution," said he, launching into a defense of the president's policy. He declared if "a certain American had been in the white house there would have been stern messages to congress climaxed with 'come on by' language."

Senator Cummins voiced a wish that President Wilson could be confined more closely to "the exercise of his constitutional powers."

Senator Borah made a general broadside attack on the administration. He declared President Wilson's statement at Indianapolis that it would bring "deep bitterness to men, who should dare to break the solidarity of the democratic team for any purpose or any motive," voiced "the sole and only principle on which any corrupt political machine ever was organized or put into existence."

Senator Borah made a general broadside attack on the administration. He declared President Wilson's statement at Indianapolis that it would bring "deep bitterness to men, who should dare to break the solidarity of the democratic team for any purpose or any motive," voiced "the sole and only principle on which any corrupt political machine ever was organized or put into existence."

It is the evident intention of the committee to require young Cummings to continue gathering statistics, but perform the work for a ladderman's salary of $1,080 a year.

Chief J. L. Beavers' department was next discussed from the standpoint of performance, but nothing definite was done in the matter of cutting down the payrolls. The committee refused to increase the salary of Probation Officer Coogler, and decided to let the salary of juvenile Probation Officer Gloor remain at $193 a month.

Wanted Places Abolished. Mayor Woodward urged the committee to abolish both places.

The committee was unanimous in favor of increasing the salary of the investigator in Chief Beavers' office from $105 to $115 a month.

Sixteen men in the detective department will be reduced to the rank of patrolmen, with salaries of $95 a month. The men are to be uniformed whenever the chief requires them for beat duty, and can be used as detectives whenever the occasion demands.

The committee is favorable to Commissioner Andy King's scheme of placing men with motorcycles at each fire station in the city, but because of the finances at the disposal of the committee it is not likely that more than six men in various parts of the city will be assigned to this duty.

Nothing the committee acted on is final. The increase and cuts in salaries will be considered again, and it is probable that some other conclusion will be arrived at.

But the mayor is firm. He said Wednesday before leaving the city hall that he will insist that the committee make deep cuts in the city's payrolls, and he promises to sit up with the committee if his wishes are not adhered to.

The latest suggestion as to the extension of hours for the school children of Atlanta is enough to make the uninitiated gasp.

The plan, as proposed by its advocates, is this: School hours to begin at 8:30; recess of an hour and a half at noon. Then the children must return to school and bend over their desks from 1:30 p. m. until 4 p. m.

In common fairness, The Constitution withholds unqualified condemnation of the mooted plan until it has been appraised of its compensating virtues. It will take a baggage van of these virtues to win our approval, and that of the city, if we know sentiment in Atlanta.

It is safe to predict a small sized riot in the homes of the 26,000 school children affected whenever it is announced that the board of education is seriously considering such a proposition.

The plan contemplates keeping children indoors during the principal hours of sunshine, morning and afternoon. It shuts them off from that child's heritage of healthful outdoor recreation, the absence of which means a future generation starved in mind, stunted in body.

It means most of the children will have to go home unattended at an hour verging on twilight, exhausted in mind and body. What gain there is in scholarship is likely to be paid for in life and efficiency.

And all this not to speak of the system of slavery to which the teachers would be reduced—not to speak of the hundreds, if not thousands of families who, to a large extent, are dependent upon the helpful earnings of the boys of these households who care for themselves and materially assist their families by an hour or two's healthy exertion morning and afternoon!

As to the teachers it is a nice academic argument to say that the scholar is to come first, and the teacher second. But if the teacher is to be driven to the scrap-heap by overwork, where will the city find substitutes willing to take up their tasks under these conditions? The plan may keep children off the streets, but it will keep them out of the sunshine and out of the parks as well.

And since when did Atlanta go into the nursery business on a wholesale scale? Speaking of child labor! This plan would make the kind of child labor against which the reformers rave look sickly. It exhausts not only body, but brain, and takes certain toll of the future.

The system may be an excellent one, but we must emphatically be "shown" before we see it that way.

SPRING STREET PROJECT.

A committee of Spring street property owners appeared yesterday before the finance committee of council and asked for an appropriation, not large enough to complete the project, but to continue the work of improvement to which the city is committed, in making of Spring a continuous boulevard from the heart of the city to Brookwood.

The project occupies the favorable position of having as its special champion Chairman Farlinger, of the finance committee, who was a leader in the movement before his election to council. Mayor Woodward is also a staunch friend of the improvement.

Aside from these strategic advantages, and more important, are the intrinsic merits of the proposition. Admittedly, there is need of a thorough north and south boulevard, unobstructed, from the center of the city to the suburbs, to lift the load on Peachtree, the most used thoroughfare in the county, not to speak of advantages to the territory immediately affected. Ivy and West Peachtree, the improvement of one completed and the other under way, do their part in this service for a portion of the route. But neither provides an uninterrupted north and south channel, and both pour traffic into Peachtree at narrow and congested points.

Spring street runs, as the crow flies, from a point within easy access to the city's heart to Brookwood. It now is unobstructed by car tracks, and probably always will be, as it is flanked on both sides by lines that provide ample service for the territory.

The continuation of work on Spring is next in line with the program of steady improvements to which the city stands committed. It affects the entire community. The finance committee and council should, and doubtless will, appropriate enough to keep the project actively progressing.

ATLANTA ANSWERS CROAKERS.

The announcement that the European war, or no other depressing influence, is strong enough to break the chain of Atlanta's annual seasons of grand opera is Atlanta's answer to the croakers!

In a sense, Atlanta is serving the whole south.

For news now has gone to the world that the foundations of prosperity in the south are solid as Gibraltar; that Atlanta can and will maintain its rank, side by side with New York, as the only two cities in North America where the Metropolitan Grand Opera goes uninterrupted on.

Atlanta has the money and the nerve to stake an enterprise requiring a fixed expenditure of nearly $75,000, as well as to take care of the ordinary demands of business steadily returning toward the normal.

Any section that has in a single crop, cotton, even at present prices, a cash equivalent asset approximating $720,000,000, and easily convertible into cash, not to cite other sources of wealth that top these figures, can afford a season of grand opera or anything else it wants.

The decision of the directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association is about as complete an exhibition of the "Atlanta spirit" as has been staged in years.

LEND NOW!

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is supplementing its timely "Build Now" movement, with a "Lend Now" movement. Details are told in our local columns today.

The "Build Now" movement is catching on like a house afire. In some quarters it is impeded by reluctance of investors to advance money, their theory being that by waiting they can expect a drop in the value of real estate.

Such conceded experts as Forrest Adair, Harris White, president of the real estate exchange; S. B. Turman, M. L. Thrower, and others, knock this reasoning into a cocked hat. They unite in saying that the man who waits to lend in Atlanta real estate is losing money.

Which is the truth. The "Lend Now" movement is logically and corollary of the "Build Now" movement. Working together, they will save money for property owners; earn interest for investors; provide employment; set money in circulation, to the direct and indirect benefit of every man participating.

Build now! Lend now, to help building!

THE NEW TAX LAW.

Commenting on a recent Constitution editorial, which dealt with the new Georgia tax equalization law, M. F. Adams, of Eatonton, makes the cardinal criticism that there is as yet no equalization as between the counties. He says that until this adjustment is made the law will be imperfect.

Mr. Adams is right. Simple equity, as well as the purposes of the framers of the law, and the law itself, contemplate equalization as between counties. That is the goal to which the state tax commissioner is steadily and successfully working.

But Rome was not built in a day. It must be remembered that the law was put into execution almost immediately upon its enactment. The machinery of all new laws, and especially the machinery creating what is virtually a brand-new tax system, is necessarily crude and slow-working at first. Those charged with enforcement must make haste slowly. Even as it was, the first year's operation of the law was marked by outright defiance in a few counties. The law touched one of the main springs of human nature, and the result was inevitable.

The tax commissioner could not, in the nature of things, enforce tax equalization as between counties until he had some statewide basis upon which to proceed. That basis has now been afforded him in the first year's administration of the law. From this time forward, we may look for the disappearance of those defects which grow not out of the law itself, but its very newness.

As against all these handicaps, the law increased the taxable values of the state in the neighborhood of $80,000,000. It added to the tax digests the equivalent of a big principality of acres, and city property that had theretofore been long absent from or had never seen the digests. Best of all, the manifest equity and virtues of the law knocked the props from under its bitterest enemies. The effort to repeal at the last session of the legislature was a farce, as well as a tribute to the sound sense of the people of this state.

The tax commissioner will gradually work to the enforcement of every principle of the law. The fact that these principles are sound is testified in the fact that Virginia and other southern states are contemplating tax reform laws along the lines of the Georgia system.

Thinks Regional Banks Not Doing Any Good

Editor Constitution: We had hoped much good would come to the entire country, especially the south, from the regional banks, but so far as I am informed and believe, they have added to our troubles. They have taken from the member banks about $300,000,000, and instead of placing it among the banks needing it, that their customers might be accommodated, they have placed the loaning rate so high that but few can afford to take their money on the rates and conditions exacted, and as a consequence these millions are placed in cold storage, out of reach of the business world, and thereby causing a greater money stringency than before the establishment of the reserve banks.

Since the establishment of these regional banks everyone dealing with banks is forced to pay much higher discount rates, so far as I am informed, that they were before.

If a member bank wishes to rediscount its best paper and presents it to the reserve bank (if it is possible to comply with the many unreasonable exactions demanded), the interest or discount rate charged on these class notes or bills for three or six months is 6 per cent. The member banks, of course, drop the deal right there and send their notes to New York, where they can be rediscounted at 3 1/2 to 4 per cent, and with the money thus obtained in New York the member bank accommodates its customers at 7 per cent or above.

It is hardly to be expected that a member bank will pay to the regional bank 6 per cent when it can be had on the same security in New York at half that rate, and not one-tenth of the trouble and red tape exacted by the government banks.

Unless the interest rates are greatly lowered the entire system had best be wiped out and the government take out of control, and sent back to the member banks to be used in the general business of the country.

The discount rates in London, Berlin, Paris, etc., are 2 to 3 per cent. If the United States cannot in times of profound peace do as well by her people as those war-torn countries, she had better get out of the banking business altogether and relegate it to the states.

It is a great hardship upon the south that as a result of the Titanic European war $400,000,000 worth of one cotton crop, and our people by reason of the national banking laws are made to pay the highest interest rates of any semi-civilized country in the world.

It is a great misfortune to the country, more especially to the south, that the European war should prostrate our greatest industry, thereby, to a large extent, paralyzing manufacturing, commerce, trade and farming.

In times like these now existing it seems to me that the government should take the system should come to the aid of the people, instead of making things harder for them.

Longleaf Pine Suitable for Kraft, Papers and Pulp

(Report U. S. Forest Service.) That long leaf pine treated by the sulphate process properly handled will give excellent kraft pulps and papers, especially the very strong and very tough, lightweight brown wrapping papers, is the conclusion reached by the department of agriculture after a series of tests to determine the wood's possibilities as a source of pulp.

This conclusion is of significance at this time, because war has cut off the German supply to this country. The high specific gravity of the wood and the resultant high yield of pulp per cord, says the department in a recently issued bulletin, is longleaf pine an advantage possessed by few other commercially important woods suitable for pulp making.

This new use for longleaf pine furnishes a means of utilizing the waste in slabs, edgings and trimmings from southern mills. Tops and defective logs left in the woods and small logs, which at present are converted into lumber with little or no profit, would furnish a supply of raw material for pulp making even greater than that derived from the mill waste.

The tests were made at the forest service laboratory and were of two kinds, those to determine the effect of varying the cooking conditions in the sulphate process, and semi-commercial tests carried on by both the laboratory and a private mill. The sulphate process was found to be superior to the soda, at least so far as longleaf pine is concerned. In the former process the pulp can be very much undercooked and still produce a fair quality of paper, while a soda pulp must be comparatively well cooked before a good paper can be made from it. The best sulphate kraft pulps were obtained with a total duration of cooking of only 3.5 hours, against 8 hours for the best soda pulp.

Gratitude is a cardinal virtue that should be encouraged at all times, but especially in a statecraft, should have a still higher place than gratitude; and if only gratitude demands that we help the French, for the help they gave us, why not also make up our minds for German soldiers to show our gratitude for the help Germany has given our country? Surely, Baron DeKalk, who came over with Lafayette, and who was a German, deserves as much gratitude for giving his life in freedom's cause as Lafayette, and Baron Steuben, that staunch old Prussian disciplinarian, who developed the recruits into effective fighting men in the colonial army!

His work, though not so showy as Lafayette's, certainly had as important a bearing on the final success of the colonies. Then, there was young Muehlenberg, who deserted the pulpit to take up arms under Washington, and finally was made general and became the personal friend of General Washington, because of his bravery and nobility. These are just a few mentioned off-hand. There were others, too, in England and France are two of the richest nations on the globe, and the markets of the world are open to them, because England is "Mistress of the Seas."

It is not enough that we sell them war supplies, while we pray for peace, but we must even overlook the suffering of our own poor and contribute $2 or more each to make the allies a present of clothing for their soldiers!

With such actions charged up to us, can we expect Germany to trust us to be fair to her when the time comes for peace negotiations? Can we be an impartial umpire after actively assisting one side?

We can help the world much more by maintaining real neutrality, and doing all in our power to end this awful war, than we can by doing "kites" of clothing to one side or the other.

The Unemployed.

Editor Constitution: The effects of many industrial relief committees would be more effective if they knew the formula for estimating the number of unemployed in a given district.

The formula is as follows: Multiply the land value by the average rate of interest on land investments, then divide by the amount of a year's earnings and wages for one worker, and the result is the number of unemployed citizens. This formula applies everywhere and anywhere, but estimate the cities and country together.

The United States census of 1910 estimates the average land value of the United States at about $60,000,000,000. As it doubled between 1900 and 1910, it is probably about $70,000,000,000 now, multiplied by 4 per cent gives $2,800,000,000 for land rent. This amount divided by $1,500 per year, the average unemployed, the assessors of any county can easily tell the number of unemployed belonging in that county, although some of them may be away looking for work.

There is a reason for this definite ratio between the land rent and the unemployed. Everyone pays land rent in prices and rents. The people get practically nothing for the land rent, therefore it reduces their consuming power or ability to demand labor by just that amount. In the United States every $1,500 of land rent means one worker idle.

The land rent is determined by the land value usually, but sometimes it is the reverse, and they are both largely determined by the density of population. Therefore, there is always a definite relation between the population, the land value, the land rent, and the unemployed; in the United States, there being about one unemployed to each $1,500 of land rent, or to each $55,990 of land value, or to each $15 people. Each man, woman and child pays about $30 a year for permission to use the earth.

Yet, the earth is really public property, and the land rent belongs to the public. The land rent paid to the land owners by the people in prices and rents should be collected by the government and used for public improvements. Logically, this would require the steady services of all of the unemployed, and, therefore, raise all wages and increase all business and the using of the earth.

Ownership of the earth and the land thereof, is simply the problem of ownership of the earth and the land thereof. MAURICE F. DOTY, M. D. 562 Pine Ave., Chicago, Jan. 10, 1915.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

BY GEORGE FITCH. Author of "At Good Old Swash."

No resident of Europe excites more interest in the feverish reader of the daily war news than the Crown Prince of Germany, who will some day be called upon to rule either Europe and large sections of China or the fifth ward of Potsdam—depending upon circumstances which have been happening in great profusion since last August. Unfortunately, the hurried correspondents who have been taking notes upon the present hostilities have not had time to compile a biography and description of the crown prince for the benefit of his many friends and supporters in this country. Through a careful reading of newspaper articles and perusal of magazine pictures we are now enabled to supply this deficiency and to turn a searching eye of information upon this eminent character.

Will some day be called on to rule either Europe and large sections of China or the fifth ward of Potsdam.

The crown prince's undressed name is Frederick William. He is the son of William Hohenzollern, a well-known character on his planet, and was born in 1882. He was married in 1905 to Duchess Cecilie, and has three sons, none of whom has as yet taken an active part in the war.

The crown prince is a tall, slender man with a good-natured face and a moustache apparently suffering from mal-nutrition. He wears a long military coat with the two-acre skirt so popular in German army circles and the typical German helmet provided at the top with a spike as a protection against falling aviators.

The crown prince is a great horseman, a scholar, a good sport and a tremendous soldier. During the present war he has led armies simultaneously in France and Poland and has been one of the few men in history who have suffered a disastrous defeat, won a brilliant victory, addressed the people from a palace window and passed away quietly in a field hospital, all on the same day.

The crown prince has had many brilliant field charges, but has also spent his entire time planning the war with a pair of calipers and a map in Berlin. He has been wounded seventeen times, five times in a vital place, has been captured four times and killed twice. He has also fallen from several aeroplanes and is at present chasing Russians and driving his father's automobile through the Rhine country.

Having read the war news faithfully for information regarding this remarkable character, we are not certain whether he is a man or a fraternal order, but present the above conclusions plausibly and hope for the best.

The Two Magicians.

In fallows down and woodlands brown Strays phantom shadows go, Through leafless trees the moon shines down It eerie chastened glow.

Across gray skies dull cloud-banks loom, In heaps the grasses lie, While wild winds, in the gathering gloom, Like frightened ghosts speed by.

Through mists the rugged mountains tall Their hoary heads uplift, Where echoes loom of night-birds call And stars gleam thro' the rift.

Like when in heart's firm faith abides, And friends are tried and true, There's peace and hope whate'er betides, And skies beam bright and blue.

Magicians, Love and Home, impart Their joys though clouds loom gray, There's sweetest music in the heart, On right and rainy days.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

AT THE END.

We do our little stunt on earth, and when it's time to die, "The ice we cut has little worth—we wasted time," we sigh. When one has snow above his ears, and age has chilled his veins, he looks back on the vanished years as if sprinkled with pain. However well he may have done, it all seems trifling then! alas, if he could only run his little course again! He would not then so gratefully prize the sordid silver plank; for when a man grows old and wise, he knows that coin is junk. One kinder action of the past, if such you can recall, will soothe you greatly at the last when memory is All. If you have helped some pilgrim climb from darkness and despair, that action, in your twilight time, will ease your weight of care. The triumphs of your business day, by stealth or shrewdness gained, will seem, when you are tired and gray, to leave your record stained. Ah, comrade, in the dusk of life, when you have ceased your grind, when all your strategy and strife are left for aye behind, when you await the curtain's fall, the setting to the struggle, you will struggle to recall the good that you have done!

Claims New Tax Law Not Yet Complete

Editor Constitution: In your editorial of yesterday headed, "A Tax Reform Pioneer," you make use of the following language: "The spectre of unequal state expenses has bearing unequal shares of equal weight has been practically abolished, in Georgia." The writer is a sincere friend of the law which was intended to bring about that result in Georgia, and hopes earnestly that its purpose will ultimately be accomplished. However, the editorial statement seems premature, unless something was done by the state tax commissioner which escaped the notice of the newspapers.

Some of the rural districts understand that the commissioner accepted, without change the digest of each county "in which an effort had been made to equalize," and apparently made no effort to determine whether these efforts of local boards brought about equality as between counties. In fact, the writer, after considerable investigation, reached the conclusion that local assessors followed such different plans as that, in one instance coming to his attention, lands on one side of a county line selling at $20 per acre were assessed at $5, while lands on the other side of the line, within a short distance, selling for $50, were assessed at $6.

In the case of two adjoining counties in middle Georgia, the United States census records show the average value of land in the one to be almost exactly double that of the other, yet the assessed values per acre in the two counties were practically the same. The fault is not in the law, but in its administration. A great many cases of some instances in which large sums of money and larger areas of land were "discovered," and taxed; but such instances seem to have been comparatively few, and the fact is that the people of Georgia are simply paying a lower rate on higher valuations on property already returned for taxation. In the case of one county a belated "equalization" was permitted by the commissioner, but if he made any other effort at equalization, he would, with county, the facts were not made known.

No equality in taxation will exist in Georgia as a result of card writing, speeches and the efforts of local boards of assessors. I am not making any charge against you, and seek no notoriety, hence prefer to remain, M. F. ADAMS. Eatonton, Ga.

The Smoke Nuisance.

Editor Constitution: In the report of the Saturday meeting of Atlanta's city fathers I notice that some of the worthy members are contemplating doing away with the smoke-ordinance, or if not doing away with it, making it more lenient. I am sure that a great injury as a city, its citizens personally and their health a still further injury, hence would be a great mistake.

I have been for several years past a resident of Atlanta and am now proud to say a citizen of this city.

I have at times made considerable study of the smoke nuisance, and having lived in cities where they are not troubled with smoke, I naturally am very averse to the nuisance and the expense it necessarily entails to all.

First of all, it is anything but healthy to breathe an atmosphere thoroughly impregnated with particles of carbon, emitted from one's own or a neighbor's chimney, or an adjacent factory, or a street car, or a swallow black saliva or expel it, as well as taking the noxious air into your lungs, thus impairing your general health.

Second, the particles of black smoke gather on our newly painted buildings, residences, etc., causing more frequent need of painting; gathers in our homes, when incense are raised in our offices, stores, etc., falls on our victuals as we eat, on our provisions as they are being prepared for the table; on the provisions exposed for sale at the stores, causing more frequent need of everything we eat to a morsel or less, and we are powerless to prevent it, unless we prevent the smoke nuisance.

Third, should one desire to wear light-colored clothes, the smoke causes such frequent changes, that to increase one's laundry bill three to four times.

Fourth, many people who are looking for a permanent home in a southern city, where they

Laud Friend of College. The Agnes Scott faculty also passed resolutions, in which they testify that in the passing of Mr. Inman, the college has lost a noble and generous benefactor, a peerless leader and a sympathetic and faithful friend.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which is the men's organization of the Episcopal church for this diocese, has appointed a committee to attend the services.

Burton Smith, president of the association, in making the appointment, said: "Mr. Inman was not of the Episcopal church, but his religious influence extended far beyond any creed."

Lowry National Bank. Tribute to the memory of Samuel M. Inman was paid Tuesday afternoon by the stockholders of the Lowry National bank, who, at their annual meeting, adopted resolutions.

"In the unsearchable councils of God, our friend and co-worker, Samuel Martin Inman, died on Tuesday, January 12, 1915, at the age of 61 years, 10 months and 10 days."

At 5:30 o'clock he was given a committal hearing, pleaded guilty and carried before Judge Egan of the city court, and at 9:30 sentenced to eight months on the gang, with the alternative of a fine of $400. From the time Cole committed the robbery until he was on his way to the gang was only nine hours.

"LEND NOW" MOVEMENT SUGGESTED BY CHAMBER

Many Property Owners Ready to "Build Now" if They Get Loans.

To lend more impetus to the "Build Now" campaign of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, which has created a well defined interest among builders and has been resulting in considerable building activity already, the members of the "Build Now" committee have suggested a corollary movement to be called the "Lend Now" movement.

The need of this movement is self-evident. The "Build Now" committee has learned that there are numerous property owners in Atlanta who are desirous of improving their property and will do so as soon as they can make proper loan connections.

The loan end of the building business is so far presenting the most formidable difficulty to builders by reason of the timidity of those in possession of loan money.

Real estate men, however, state that more gilt-edged security in way of real estate is available now than at any other time in a long while.

Boosted by Forrest Adair. In this connection Forrest Adair, one of the leading real estate men in whose judgment has made money for hundreds in Atlanta besides himself, says: "Atlanta real estate has always been gilt-edged security, and during the present period, as far as I have been able to observe, it is more so than ever."

Other Realty Men Approve. Mr. Adair's view of the situation is amply supported by Harris J. White, president of the Real Estate board, and S. B. Turman, another leading realty man.

M. L. Throver, another leading realty and renting agent of the city, declared that within the last 30 days the demand for apartments has been very large and that, despite the fact that there have been built in Atlanta this year more than a dozen new apartment buildings, there is still a great many more apartments. There is also, said Mr. Throver, a great demand for residences in select residential districts for sale.

DR. JACOBS RESERVES ROSWELL ROAD DECISION Will Discuss Matter With Chas. Smith Before Acting on Widening Movement.

Notwithstanding the fact that a building has been started on part of the property, the county commissioners Wednesday morning accepted the offer of 10 feet of land along the Roswell road at Buckhead, which was made by the property owners some time ago with a view to widening the road.

The excavation extended to the present road line and includes the required 10 feet for widening. Dr. Jacobs will withhold his final decision until he has conferred with Chas. Smith, who is now out of the city. The widening project will be suspended pending Dr. Jacobs' decision.

ASK FOR EXPENSES OF SPRING STREET

Delegation of Citizens Appear Before Finance Committee and Ask for Needed Appropriation.

Directing attention to the fact that the improvement of Spring street from Carnegie way to Brookwood will give the city another continuous thoroughfare from the center of the city to the limits, a delegation of citizens appeared before the finance committee Wednesday and urged an appropriation of $11,678.50.

The delegation informed the committee that it is the aim of the property owners to begin work on Carnegie way, starting at Peachtree and terminating at Simpson street.

The delegation submitted an estimate furnished by the construction department for paving and grading, also estimates of the cost of sewers and the necessary for opening and extending the street from Fourteenth to Brookwood.

The paving will cost the city $8,450; sewers, $3,333; retaining walls at Sixteenth street, $500; purchase of right-of-way from the Davis estate, $1,900.

It is understood that the county commissioners are anxious to do their share of the work, and the property owners are anxious for the city to make an appropriation in order that all the details of starting the actual work can be worked out within the next few weeks.

Members of the finance committee indicate that they are impressed with the necessity of opening Spring street, and it is expected that the appropriation of $11,678.50 asked for will be put in the January sheet.

With Spring street opened for traffic it will afford a continuous thoroughfare from Marietta street to the Peachtree road, and the improvement will have the effect of relieving traffic congestion along Peachtree street.

THE WINDOW LOOK IN. Running Things. Most of us think we could run the other fellow's business better than he does. That's quite a human weakness. Everybody could improve his newspaper, for instance; and in consequence the ordinary editorial office gets many well-meant suggestions. But the publishing of a newspaper is a distinct work, and must be done on their own initiative by trained men who understand it.

NURSES IN THE WAR

The women of the Red Cross are nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying. The women of Europe not only wrap bandages and scrape lint, but they tend the farms, dig coal, carry burdens and do the work of the men now under arms. Every male fighter, however brave and heroic, was born of woman; the high courage and hardihood that are a nation's strength are inherited from the mother. Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It practically does away with the pains of maternity. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her, and enjoy the hours of happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child. Thousands of women who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to suffer from ailments peculiar to women when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the womanly functions to perfect health.

NURSES IN THE WAR

The women of the Red Cross are nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying. The women of Europe not only wrap bandages and scrape lint, but they tend the farms, dig coal, carry burdens and do the work of the men now under arms. Every male fighter, however brave and heroic, was born of woman; the high courage and hardihood that are a nation's strength are inherited from the mother. Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It practically does away with the pains of maternity. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her, and enjoy the hours of happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child. Thousands of women who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to suffer from ailments peculiar to women when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the womanly functions to perfect health.

Bill Smith Mails Contracts Out

SPORTS—EDITED BY DICK JEMISON

CONTRACTS MAILED TO THE CRACKERS

Manager Smith Sent Out Documents on Yesterday. Names of Players Secret for Few Days.

With the return from Washington Wednesday noon of President Frank G. Callaway, of the local baseball association, manager Smith, directors Nunnally and Ryan held a conference with him of a strictly confidential nature concerning the affairs of the club for the 1915 season.

What transpired at the meeting is being kept secret and will be kept secret until Sunday, when Manager Smith will announce in the Sunday papers the plans for the season. Contracts were mailed to all players on the reserve list of the Crackers, those drafted and purchased and others who will be turned over to the Crackers by the St. Louis Browns and other big league clubs.

The names of these players are also being kept secret, but in Sunday's paper a complete list of the players to whom the contracts were mailed, the prospects for the coming season, in fact a general done story, such as the fans have been looking for, will be printed.

With this information local fans will have a chance to speculate on the prospects of the locals for the coming season and will have their first inkling of the players that will be secured through the affiliation with the Browns, something that everyone has wanted to know.

Bill's Visit to Poncey.

Manager Smith paid a visit to Poncey as Leon yesterday and stood in open-mouthed wonder at the immensity of the work being done by the county commission.

After viewing the work for a while, Bill said: "I wish you could see the place. It looks like the Panama canal looks in the pictures. To me it looks like the place is big enough to float a battleship."

Maybe the field will look the same when the work is through and we get the sod back and the ground rolled, but it does not seem possible that they will be able to get the job finished by March 1 as they promise.

"My chief worry now is, if I can get it through in that time, if I can

Both men have signed articles posted a forfeit and started work in real earnest for the affair.

The rest of the card, including two good preliminaries and a semi-wind-up, has not yet been decided upon, but it is safe to bet that Potts will use Battling Budd in his fight Tuesday night with Kelly.

The rest of the details, including the prices for tickets and the places where they will be on sale, will be announced later.

J. T. Dabney has been secured to referee all fights.

JOHNSON-WILLARD FIGHT OPPOSED BY CARRANZA

El Paso, Texas, January 13.—Because it would increase Villars' wealth, the Carranza government will oppose the entry into Mexico of Jack Johnson, the American negro prize fighter, to meet Jesse Willard in Juarez on March 6, according to Andres Garcia, Carranza consul here, Garcia telegraphed today.

Johnson is a fugitive from justice in the United States and is understood to be present recently issued American passports before he is allowed to pass through any port held by the Carranza forces.

Johnson is at Buenos Aires, Argentina, or on his way north. He naturally would attempt to enter Mexico through the east coast ports of Tampico or Vera Cruz, both held by Carranza troops. The trip from some Central American border port would be difficult, as would any entry from the west coast.

HERMAN AND MANAGER OFF FOR NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans Bantam Could Have Run Out of Bout With Eggers.

Pete Herman, the New Orleans bantam, and his manager, Red Walsh, left yesterday afternoon for their home town. But before leaving, they gave Mike Saul their promise to return here the latter date, for another engagement.

Herman is due the thanks of Atlanta fans for the splendid manner in which he has conducted himself in both appearances in this city and the little Pelican bantam is a credit to the game.

Herman fought here without a guarantee on both appearances when everywhere else he received guarantees. And despite the fact that he was ill the first time he fought and had a boil under his nose in the Eggers engagement, he did not endeavor to run out of either bout, as some fighters would have done.

The boys agreed to weigh 118 pounds at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Eggers weighed 119 1/2, which made him come in at about 122, while Herman weighed but 115.

Other boxes would have refused to have gone on under such conditions, and Herman, who is a business man, went through with his end and his manager, at waived the weight stipulation and did not insist on Eggers paying the weight forfeit of $25. They considered the feelings of the Atlanta fans as being the paramount thing to be considered.

Herman has earned a place in the hearts of Atlanta fans and will always be welcomed back here.

BASKETBALL SEASON AT M. M. C. A. STARTS

Ottawas, Winnebagos and Cherokees Winners of Tuesday Night's Games.

With three hard-fought games played off in jam-up style, the basketball season of the local Young Men's Christian association was officially opened last night. The league is composed of six teams of men of the association.

Last night the winners of the opening struggles were the Ottawas, the Winnebagos and the Cherokees, and the Mohawks were the ones "scalped."

CHEROKES 11, APACHES 9.

The first game played resulted in a victory for the Cherokees over the Apaches by the count of 11 to 9. The game was hotly contested, and both sides played well.

The score at the end of the first period was 7 to 5, with the Cherokees leading. During the second half both sides played better ball, and several spectacular shots were unworked for the fans. Elrod on the Apaches made a very sensational goal from the middle of the field.

The playing of Sloane, Anderson and Clibourne was good for the victors, while the work of Elrod and Elrod was the best for the losers.

WINNEBAGO SCALP COMANCHES.

The Winnebago team of the league had an easy time taking the scalp of the Comanches last night, defeating them in a sensational style, 19 to 9. The team work of the winners was especially good and showed that they had practiced for the day. The Comanches of the other teams have forgotten to do so.

The Winnebagos played great ball in both halves, and after the first few minutes of the game the outcome was never in doubt. The work of the losers made, played good ball.

OTTAWAS DEFEAT MOHAWKS IN HOT STRUGGLE

Probably the best game of the evening's card was the last, the game between the Ottawas and the Mohawks, which the former won by the count of 25 to 13. The Ottawas, while being a rather small team, played great ball, and the Mohawks were taken to a local bank which wired the bank at Fellsmere. It was found that there was no money deposited to the credit of such a man. The police were then notified and search was made for McRae, but he could not be found. It turned out afterwards that the money had been hidden in a back to back in Boston, where he had boarded the train No. 180 for the Atlantic Coast Line, paying the hackman with a check which was found to be bogus.

McRae or Ray was seen yesterday morning looking individual, about six feet tall, smooth shaven, with hair turning slightly gray, and apparently between 35 and 40 years old.

AT THE THEATERS

Raymond Hitchcock.

Discriminating Atlanta will welcome the return of the genial and ever popular comedian, Raymond Hitchcock, who will appear at the Atlanta, Friday, and Saturday with a Saturday matinee, under the direction of Cuban actor, in a brand-new musical offering. The play is the joint work of Channing Pollock and Ronald Wolf, with an elaborate and tuneful musical setting by Charles J. Gebest, the same authors and composers of "The Red Widow." The dril comedian and popular character of one "Dr. Arbutus Budd," a specialist in beauty, cosmetics, and perfume, is the star of the show.

Keith Vaudeville.

A grand bill of real vaudeville is making the Forsyth unusually busy this week. As the Oklahoma cowboy vaudeville's most natural comedian, is winning a hit at the Atlanta, the comedy duo, Rogers and Positively, in a class by himself, Rogers, Rochester, the Atlanta girl with the double voice, wins admiration and applause. Vaughan Comfort and King King renew minstrel show successes here; Mr. Hymack makes his quick change; Delaney, a sensational in acrobatics, the act of Beaumont and Arnold, is clever and "Colonial Days" is a magnificent musical offering.

"Fedora."

The late Fanny Davenport, one of the world's greatest actresses, reached the zenith of her remarkable career when she played "Fedora." This was the production that attracted universal attention to the actress. It is being shown in motion pictures at the Grand Thursday afternoon and evening. Later audiences graded its presentation for the first time. Wednesday at the Grand "Fedora" is a sensational European drama in five acts. There is plenty of real action in the film and through it runs a strong story that couples anarchism and love. The climaxes are spectacular, especially those showing the great race track scene, the battle between a mad scientist and a notable member of English royalty, and the dramatic suicide of "Fedora" on the stage of a London music hall in full view of the big audience. On Friday and Saturday the Grand management will present the notable Paramount release, "It's No Laughing Matter," with the well-known Mabel Trish leading role. Arbutick was the sheriff in the "Round Up."

THREATENING NOTE SENT TO TIFTON POSTMASTER

Tifton, Ga., January 13.—(Special.)—W. H. Bennett, a recently appointed postmaster, either has a badly misguided friend or someone is trying to play a bum joke on him. Monday Mr. Bennett is in receipt of an unsigned letter advising him not to accept the appointment, as his enemies are men of money and are apt to hire someone to stab him. He also advises Mr. Bennett to keep his eyes open if he does take the job.

THOMAS CO. COMMISSION TO BUILD DIPPING VATS

Thomasville, Ga., January 13.—(Special.)—At their monthly meeting here this week the county commissioners decided to appropriate money for establishing dipping vats for cattle in this county. These vats will be established in districts wherever sufficient water is shown by the owners of cattle to warrant them. The matter was brought to the attention of the commissioners by C. T. Overton, chairman from the state agricultural college, and W. R. Tucker, county demonstrator.

OLD-TIME LOG FIRE WILL START AGAIN IN CAFE AT ARAGON

Once more the great old-fashioned fireplace in the lobby of the Aragon hotel is coming into its own, according to H. A. Tisdal, manager of the hotel, on the occasion of the opening of the new Aragon cafe, an old-fashioned log fire will be lighted in the fireplace, as typical of the old south. The new cafe will specialize in southern cooking.

The fireplace, one of the most elaborate, has for many years been unused, having been discarded for more modern heating heat, but once more for the "atmosphere" of the old-fashioned hospitality a great log fire will be kept burning.

Stock Market Shows Improvement—Russian Credit Loan—Gold From China Received—Bonds Firm.

New York, January 13.—Continued improvement in the investment market was shown today in the increased demand for listed and unlisted bonds and notes at higher quotations.

The Russian loan, which amounts to $120,000,000, takes the form of a 4% 10-year loan.

FAIR APPROPRIATION URGED BY REALTY MEN

Thought Favorable Recommendation Will Be Made by Finance Committee.

Real estate men predict that the establishment of a permanent Southeastern fair at Lakewood will do much to develop real estate values in the south side. Accordingly, they are a unit in urging that the finance committee recommend favorably to city council the request of the chamber of commerce for a city appropriation of $75,000 for part working capital to start the fair machinery in motion.

The board of county commissioners has already agreed to advance $75,000 to the citizens of Atlanta, through the chamber of commerce, have arranged to subscribe a similar amount. Both these appropriations are conditional, however, upon the city appropriating a similar amount. The amount necessary to begin active work being approximately $225,000.

The county officials are so impressed with the proposition of a permanent fair to "boost" Atlanta, that they have pledged, in addition to the $75,000, to supply all the labor necessary in grading and constructing streets and walks needed as approaches to the fair grounds at Lakewood.

It is not expected that any opposition will be shown on the part of the city council finance committee and the understanding is that the necessary favorable recommendation will be made. It is pointed out that the city itself has nothing to lose by the project, but everything to gain since it owns Lakewood Park and it will acquire as its own property all the permanent buildings not erected at Lakewood. These can be used during the winter months each year, the fair is not in progress, as recreation centers for the general public. It is proposed to install golf links and tennis courts on the site, and to erect the greatest recreation centers in the county. The fair itself is to be modeled after the best of its sort and is expected to soon become the greatest attraction in the city.

The chamber of commerce, the members of which are fostering the fair idea as a great business "booster."

SMALLER REVENUE FORCES CAR CUTS

and mercantile establishments had cut down forces and that there is little construction work in progress, he alleged, has been responsible in part for the lighter passenger traffic. He made use of the city's "putting skilled mechanics to work digging ditches at a loss to the city," so that they might have work to support his contention.

Charter Is Mentioned. Mr. Arkwright was interrupted by a citizen who declared that the charter was not granted to the street railway company, but to the public, and that, therefore, the question of dividends does not arise.

Mr. Arkwright replied that earnings depend on the question of service, because the street railway is a public utility. "You cannot get a 10-cent service for a 5-cent fare," he said. "There are people in Atlanta who ride on the cars only in the middle of the day, but who insist that the cars run late at night and early in the morning, because they cannot tell when they may want to ride on the cars at that time. With a 5-cent piece this man pays not only for the ride, but for the ride he might take in the early morning or late at night."

Mr. Arkwright declared that any change made now would not be permanent, but that as soon as conditions warrant the company would put the service back in operation.

When Mr. Arkwright had presented his case each line affected was presented separately for protest.

The commission already had many written protests against the proposed changes. At the hearing there was no protest against the proposed changes.

Protest Against Changes. Wightman Bowden represented a body of citizens protesting against changes on the Inman line. He complained that the cars on this line are already crowded and that they need better service instead of reduction of service. He suggested that in addition to the present service the Hayes station be operated on the line between Elizabeth street and the bridge on Edgewood avenue, instead of being expressed from the street at the present time.

FOOD CROPS MARKETS PROMISED TO FARMERS

Local Wholesale Dealers in Grain Declare They Are Willing to Buy.

The efforts of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce to give the farmers of Georgia definite assurance of a market for the food crops they are urged to plant in the place of an undue acreage of cotton has met with the hearty support of the leading grain merchants of Atlanta. The chamber has just received the following letter from the local wholesale dealers in grain, stating that they are eager to buy Georgia-grown food crops:

"Georgia Chamber of Commerce, Gentlemen: At your request, we take pleasure in assuring the public that we are prepared to buy Georgia-grown corn, wheat, oats and hay, and cash if we can purchase them at the same price that we pay for the same quality of these products from the west."

"Of course, the Georgia products must be properly prepared, graded and sacked, baled or packed in accordance with commercial handling, according to the customary standards of the trade."

"The Georgia farmers will produce and prepare their products according to trade regulations, they need have no fears of the lack of cash market."

"Yours truly, (Signed) W. S. Duncan, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, by J. A. Wootley, Emmett, Toney & Co., by J. H. Emmett, W. L. Pain Grain and Hay Co., by W. J. Crosswell, Holbrook & Smith, by E. A. Holbrook, T. H. Brooks & Co., Joseph Gregg & Son, by Joseph Gregg, by W. J. Morgan, by A. H. Morgan, Atlanta Milling company, by C. V. Danahall."

NO MONEY TO ENFORCE VITAL STATISTICS LAW

The state board of health is now in the position of having been ordered to enforce the new vital statistics law and the public health law without having the money appropriated for the purpose to do the work. Upon this dilemma the board has sent The Constitution a card as follows:

"In view of the fact that the board has been informed by the governor and the attorney general that it was not warranted in exceeding its appropriation in order to put this law into operation, the only course of action left open was the following:

"That knowing our financial embarrassment, and no appropriation having been made, we have been forced to conduct of this department, the board has no other recommendation than to refer the entire matter to the legislative committee of the state board of health, with the request that they confer with the governor as to the ways and means of meeting this dilemma, and, if nothing can be done until the next legislature, to push with vigor such measures as will enable us to carry out the will of this honorable body, and that the board will proceed with its work of organization already begun in October."

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

In connection with its "Build Now" campaign, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce committee has suggested a sort of reinforcing movement, to be known as the "Lend Now" movement. This policy is suggested to loan men as a means to forwarding a number of building projects which the committee believes would be carried out were loans a little more readily secured upon real estate as a security.

Annual Dinner. Details are being arranged for the annual banquet of the Atlanta Real Estate board, which will be held some time in the near future.

THE TREATMENT OF INFLUENZA OR LA GRIPE

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for influenza or La Grippe. Dr. James Bell, of New York City, claims he is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious. When called to a case of La Grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present. The chamber, which occasionally subsides in the disease, has generally passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be freed with salts, followed by a course of iron and quinine. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one A-K Tablet every three hours quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.
