

DORSEY REPLIES TO THE CHARGES OF MRS. L. FRANK

Says the Wife of an Accused Man Would Be the Last to Learn of Her Husband's Guilt.

MRS. FRANK BITTER IN HER CRITICISM

Detective Department Not at All Disturbed Over Denial of the McKnight Woman That She Signed Affidavit.

"The wife of a man accused of crime would probably be the last to learn of the facts establishing her husband's guilt, and certainly would be the last person to admit his culpability, even though it is proved by overwhelming evidence.

"Perhaps the most unpleasant feature incident to the position of prosecuting attorney arises from the fact that punishment of the guilty inevitably brings suffering to relations who are innocent of participation in the crime."

"Following from its exposure." These statements are contained in a signed letter for publication given to the Constitution yesterday afternoon by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey shortly following the issuance of a letter criticizing him by Mrs. Leo Frank, wife of the man indicted for the murder of Mary Phagan.

Scores the Detectives. Mrs. Frank's letter rings with caustic denunciation of the solicitor and the detectives for imprisoning the servant girl, Minola McKnight, and leaving the sensational affidavit purporting to have been signed by her husband's innocent and expresses confidence that he will be acquitted.

She arraigns the circulators of unfavorable and untrue news, charging her all-god unhappy married life and asserts that the suspected man could not have been "the good husband he had been to her if he were a criminal." It is the duty of the government issued by any member of the Frank family and created wide interest.

In accounting for the affidavit of the McKnight girl, she says that it is not probable that the negroess told such a story, as one would have doubtless concocted any kind of tale in order to escape the tortuous third degree to which Mrs. Phagan's girl was subjected at police headquarters on the day she made the affidavit. The wife corroborates her husband in his statement of his conduct at home on the day of the tragedy and says that other stories are absolutely false.

In speaking of the Phagan situation, Solicitor Dorsey says that a bill of indictment has been found by the grand jury, composed of impartial and respected citizens, and that as solicitor general he welcomes all evidence from any source that will aid an impartial jury in determining the guilt or innocence of the accused man. It also is Mr. Dorsey's first statement for publication.

It follows in full: "Solicitor Dorsey's Statement."

"I have read the statement printed in the Atlanta newspapers over the signature of Mrs. Leo M. Frank, and I have only to say, without in any wise taking issue with her premises, and I might, that the wife of a man accused of crime would probably be the last person to learn all of the facts establishing his guilt, and certainly would be the last person to admit his culpability, even though proved by overwhelming evidence to the satisfaction of every impartial citizen beyond the possibility of reasonable doubt."

"Since the discovery of this crime I have rigidly adhered to my consistent policy of refraining from newspaper interviews or statements with relation to the Phagan case, inasmuch as the state must depend on convict and punish the perpetrator of the crime, and it is my purpose to adhere steadfastly to this policy, submitting to the jury of Fulton county citizens to be selected under the fair provision of the law, the evidence upon which, alone, conviction or acquittal must depend."

"A bill of indictment has been found by the grand jury, composed of impartial and respected citizens of this community, and as solicitor general of this circuit, charged with the duty of aiding in the enforcement of our laws by the prosecution of those indicted for violating the law, I welcome all evidence from any source that will aid an impartial jury, under the charge of the court, in determining the guilt or innocence of the accused."

"Perhaps the most unpleasant feature incident to the position of prosecuting attorney arises from the fact that punishment of the guilty inevitably brings suffering to relations who are innocent of participation in the crime."

PURPOSES TO TAX TOBACCO "TRUST"

Anti-Trust Amendment to Underwood Tariff Bill Introduced at Attorney General's Suggestion.

Washington, June 5.—In accord with suggestions of Attorney General McReynolds, Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, introduced today an anti-trust amendment to the Underwood tariff bill, which would levy a special additional excise tax on a graduated scale upon manufacturers of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff. The amendment, coming from a democratic member, will receive thorough consideration from the finance committee. The proposed tax would not reach a manufacturer until he had produced about 25 per cent of the total production of articles in his line. Over that amount he would be taxed in a rising scale on tobacco, 1 cent a pound for the first million pounds, 2 cents a pound for the second million pounds, and so on up to 6 cents a pound. These graduated taxes would be in addition to the regular 8 cents a pound tax that all manufacturers pay on tobacco.

Strikes Big Companies. Companies of ordinary size would not be subject to this tax, because it does not apply to a product below $100,000 worth of tobacco, or 4,000,000 pounds of snuff a year, so that of the 2,700 tobacco companies in the country, probably only three would be affected, and of the 75 snuff companies only three would be affected. In the matter of cigarettes, the tax would only fall on two, or at most, three companies out of 478, and of the 2,000 cigar companies, only two have a product large enough to be taxed. Seventy million dollars was the amount of the total excise last year on tobacco products, and Senator Hitchcock has estimated that if the tax had been levied on last year's business "the following trust concerns" would have paid the additional tax as follows: American Tobacco company, $7,600,000; Liggett & Myers, $3,100,000; Lorillard company, $144,000; American Snuff company, $17,000; George W. Helms company, $49,000; Weyman & Burton company, $61,000.

"There would also have been other companies subject to this tax if it could be shown that they were under the same ownership or control as any of the big companies," said Senator Hitchcock today, "and in the case of the Lorillard company, it would be subject to a much higher rate of taxation if it could be shown that it is owned or controlled by the same interests that are back of any other company."

Solve Trust Problem. "It is probable, therefore, that this tax in the aggregate would reach $15,000,000 a year, which is so large that it would soon force a ready solution of the tobacco trust. It is not that it would yield a handsome revenue to the treasury and so handicap the trust that it could not carry out its progress of crushing independent companies."

"The government already has the machinery to enforce this tax. Tobacco and snuff manufacture in all forms is under complete government control. The power to tax to the point of destruction is unquestioned. It is summary, simple and irresistible. If it succeeds in this line of manufacture it may succeed in others."

Stalking Wilson's "Insidious Lobby"

This is the subcommittee of the United States senate committee on the Judiciary which started an investigation into the activity of the lobby at Washington. The inquiry was brought about by the statement of President Wilson calling attention of the public to the existence of a "numerous, industrious and insidious lobby." The personnel of the committee consists of Leo B. Overman, democrat, of

WILSON VISITS SENATE WITH LIST OF NAMES

Discusses Diplomatic Selections After Absent Senators Are Called Into "Marble Room."

Washington, June 5.—President Wilson appeared unexpectedly at the president's room at the capitol today with the biggest list of diplomatic selections he has made since he took office. It was the president's fifth visit to the halls of congress, but this time he found the door of the "marble room" locked, the senate had adjourned and the sergeant-at-arms was taken by surprise.

"I guess I'll have to get a duplicate key for this door," said the president smilingly, as the sergeant-at-arms hastily dispatched a messenger for the key. Hardly any senators were in the building, but Secretary Tumulty soon sent out a call for about twenty-five of them and they came in quickly from the senate office building.

The individuals about whom the president talked and some of the countries follow: Thomas Nelson Page, of Virginia, to be ambassador to Italy. Justice J. Gerard, of New York, to be ambassador to Spain, when the bill making Madrid an embassy instead of a legation passes, probably within a few weeks. Colonel Thomas H. Hinch, of New Jersey, to be minister to Persia. Charles W. McAlpin, secretary of Princeton university, to be minister to the Netherlands. Joseph E. Willard, of Virginia, to be minister to Belgium. Major E. J. Hale, of North Carolina, to be minister to Costa Rica. P. A. Stovall, of Georgia, to be minister to Switzerland.

Former Governor Benton McMullin, of Tennessee, to be minister to Peru. Dr. E. L. Jefferson, of Colorado, to be minister to a South American country, probably Arganthe Republic. Henry Morganthau, of New York, to be minister to Turkey. Albert Schmelemann, of Wisconsin, to be minister to Norway. Frederick O. Penfield, of Pennsylvania, probably ambassador to Austria. When the president got through talking to the senators he met the newspaper men in the corridor and explained that his visit had been chiefly about diplomatic appointments and that no official list would be made public until word was received from the various foreign governments as to the acceptability of the individuals selected. Senators Thomas and Stone talked and inquired about the proposed amendment concerning the tobacco industry, but learned that the president had not given full consideration to it yet.

The president left the capitol as inconspicuously as he came. The attendants held an elevator for him, but the president thanked them and declined, a guess that a good democrat and can walk down," he said, with a laugh.

INDIANAPOLIS COPS MUST ARREST WOMEN SANS UNDERSKIRTS

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Women in Indianapolis who wear the new style split skirt also must wear undergarments, as the traffic squad of the police force has been asked to enforce the order, which was given out by Superintendent of Police Martin J. Hyland today.

The order was issued after Superintendent Hyland had received a letter signed "The Ladies," and which read as follows: "We, as the ladies, ask that you prohibit the wearing of split skirts without undergarments. We hope that you will take this seriously."

GRAND JURY PROBES DETECTIVE "LEAKS"

Court Officials Worried Over News Growing Out of the Phagan Murder Mystery.

It is understood on good authority that the grand jury has been called upon to make a searching investigation into the apparent "leakage" in the detective department, which has enabled the newspapers to publish every important development in the Phagan murder mystery before such development had, often times, been brought to the official attention of the solicitor general's office. It is said that certain court officials deemed the matter of such importance that they called the attention of the grand jury to it in the hope that the responsibility might be properly placed and a reputation of the "leaks" prevented.

It is a matter of history that as soon as some new angle to the case developed it was given the widest publicity, and the case of the state, in all its details is today known to the attorney for the defense as thoroughly as it is known to the solicitor general.

Don't Blame Reporters. No blame is attached to the newspapers for printing the news. Court officials are of the opinion that the grand jury should investigate the matter of the "leaks" in the detective department, which has enabled the newspapers to publish every important development in the Phagan murder mystery before such development had, often times, been brought to the official attention of the solicitor general's office.

IN ANNANIAS CLUB BATTEN IS PLACED

Beavers and Men and Religion Leaders Indignant in Refuting Charges of Minister.

When told by a Constitution reporter last night that Dr. Zano Batten had maintained his story of encountering fifteen naked women in a back block of Atlanta's downtown section, Chief Beavers said: "If Dr. Batten really told this story and maintains that it is true, then all I can say is that he is in the sphere as secretary of a religious organization—he ought to be an official in the Ananias club. That's all. I don't believe that every male occupant of Atlanta's largest office building could go out on the streets at night and be accosted by as many as nineteen girls or women. They're not here, the women aren't, and, besides, they don't accost folks."

"That's why I know there is no truth in any such story as the one that comes from Philadelphia." "Marion Jackson, of the executive committee of the Men and Religion Movement, said to the reporter: "Atlanta, from a standpoint of morality, is much cleaner than the reputation for veracity of some folks back of Atlanta's largest office building. I don't believe that every male occupant of Atlanta's largest office building could go out on the streets at night and be accosted by as many as nineteen girls or women. They're not here, the women aren't, and, besides, they don't accost folks."

Attended Sociological Congress. Dr. Batten was in Atlanta during the recent sociological congress, in which he was a prominent figure. He made many acquaintances among the religious folk of the city, and is remembered by scores. He seemed well pleased with the situation that has arisen from the famous campaign and his alleged criticism is utterly at variance from his expression of commendation during his visit to the sociological congress.

Caustic arraignment of the Philadelphia pastor for his purported slander of Atlanta, Dr. John E. White, the pastor of the Second Baptist church, of Atlanta, declares that Dr. Batten has a mania for such criticism as he has reported to have made of this city. Besides this mania with which the Atlanta minister accredits him, Dr. Batten is said by Rev. White to be affected with a vivid imagination of a sort which is valuable only to writers of lurid fiction, but which is disastrous when applied to pulp practice.

It is very easy to sit a thousand miles distant and reflect on the character of a city, but when it comes down to the problem of proving assertions especially to substantiate the criticism alleged to have been made of conditions in Atlanta."

HOT ON LOBBYISTS' TRAIL, COMMITTEE EXTENDS PROBE

GRAND JURY MAY DROP VICE PROBE

Foreman Beck Delines to Talk of Probable Action of Jury—Felder to Issue a Public Statement.

"The grand jury has finished its questioning of witnesses with its adjournment, and unless members of the jury should desire that those of the several witnesses summoned, who have not been heard, should be brought before them, there is nothing more to do. This was the statement made yesterday by W. Beck, foreman of the grand jury, which adjourned at 1 o'clock after a three-day probe in vice conditions in Atlanta.

Foreman Beck stated that the body would meet again Tuesday, but at the instance of the solicitor, and to take up the criminal business which the present probe and the lengthy examination preceding the indictment of Leo M. Frank had greatly delayed.

Asked as to the nature of the action that the grand jury would take in regard to the results of its vice probe, the foreman replied that he was not in a position to state this. "We have tried to follow the words of Judge W. D. Ellis, who requested this jury to look into alleged vice conditions here," he replied, "and whether we make definite indictments against offenders, or take action by giving a general report to a judge of the superior court, is something that has not been determined."

Lawford Makes Statement. Newport Lawford, chief of detectives, was the first witness to be called Thursday morning. According to his statement the grand jury members questioned him about conditions here, principally, although they also asked him in regard to the dictagraph affair, and also asked why there was a bitterness between him and Colonel Thomas B. Frank.

A. L. Colyar, Jr., who sprung into prominence as a result of the recent dictagraph row, and who is now under arrest on forgery charges in Knoxville, was next called before the grand jury. With Colyar and G. C. February, secretary to Chief James L. Beavers, the grand jury closed its examination and hearing of testimony.

It is stated that the grand jury went into great detail with Chief Lawford in regard to the preparation of a dictagraph trap for Colonel Felder, and also the attempts to prove that he had offered bribes for affidavits in the Phagan case.

Whether this indicates or not the taking up and examining the charges hurled between Colonel Felder and the police department in which charges of cohabitation were freely used on both sides, is a question that the members of the grand jury will not discuss. Foreman Beck merely stated that the matter is not yet taken up, when he was asked in regard to it. Whether his answer might indicate that the case would be taken up or not, was a point upon which he refused to throw any light.

Whisky Shipments Not Probed. The expected taking up of the shipment of liquor into vicious resorts has not yet appeared and J. E. Skaggs, agent for the Southern Dispensing and Wholesale Co., who was called before the grand jury on Wednesday, declares that no question of this nature was asked him. He stated that his appearance was due to the desire of the grand jury to connect the Phagan case in connection with one of the other phases of the vice probe.

Among the witnesses summoned to the Thursday session was Eva Clark, the woman known as "Becky" who stated that Mayor Woodward requested be allowed to return to her old home at 56 Jenkins street. Instead of answering the summons the woman sent a note to the grand jury to decline to appear, claiming that she was too ill to be present.

Felder to Issue Statement. At the conclusion of his testimony before the grand jury, Chief Beavers stated that he would furnish for the Sunday papers and for the Associated Press a statement of the entire events leading up to the dictagraph plot laid for him, and would also show how said plot had been added to what he really said in the conversation with E. O. Miles, G. C. February and Colyar.

"I have got all the facts and can show the whole thing, but I don't intend to put the people of Atlanta in possession of facts that will stir them more than anything else has ever done," that has been said in the whole case."

Chairman Overman Will Ask Senate for Unlimited Time in Which to Make Sweeping Investigation.

ALL "TARIFF CALLERS" WILL BE SUBPOENAED

The Prohibition and Liquor Forces, Alaskan Railroad Forces, Labor Unions and Farmers' Organizations Included.

Washington, June 5.—The senate "lobby" investigating committee decided tonight to extend its present inquiry into a sweeping investigation of all organized efforts that have been made to influence action upon legislation of any kind pending before congress, or under consideration in the recent past.

This action was determined upon at the end of the afternoon session, after several senators had added to the testimony already given, tending to show that well organized and vigorous work is being done by commercial interests upon the sugar, wool and other tariff issues. The committee decided to subpoena practically all persons thus mentioned by senators as among the "lobby callers," and to learn the exact nature of all organized work that is being directed toward influencing any member of congress upon any subject. Efforts of the committee will be centered first upon the sugar fight; next upon wool, and after that a full investigation will be made into the activities of prohibition and liquor "lobbies," the Alaskan railroad forces, labor unions, farmers' protective organizations and practically all other organized bodies that have carried on publicity campaigns, "endless chain" letter writing or other means of influencing members of the senate or house.

"New Lobby" Formed. Senator Overman, chairman of the committee, said today that he believed the investigation already had established the fact that powerful influence was wielded upon senators by the organized forces of the lobby. He said, constituted a "new style lobby" of tremendous power.

Senator Reed, a member of the committee, said today to President Wilson during the day that he believed the testimony of Senator Randall and other witnesses fully established the truth of the president's recent statement upon the "lobby" question. The investigation was based, that "a powerful lobby existed in Washington, at least upon the sugar tariff issue."

The senate committee tonight has so broadened the scope of its work that members don't know when the inquiry can be concluded. The ten-day limit, fixed by the Cummins report upon the "lobby" question, but Senator Overman will ask the senate to give him unlimited time for the probe. Thus far only senators have been examined and the senate list will be finished tomorrow.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate was directed tonight to issue many additional subpoenas for persons wanted as witnesses.

Call Sugar Men. The next phase of the investigation will be taken up Monday with the calling of the first men identified with the free sugar and anti-free sugar campaign. Names given by President Wilson, others furnished by the members of the senate on the witness stand and still others that have been sent to Senator Overman by outside parties constitute the list of those who have been or will be subpoenaed.

Members of the senate have almost unanimously testified that no improper methods have been used to influence them and that the men who have called upon them are not "lobbyists" in the sense that the term is generally used. The committee found it impossible to limit the list to those who have been or will be subpoenaed.

the crime, but who must share the humiliation flowing from its exposure. This however is an evil attendant upon crime and the courts and their officers cannot allow their sympathies for the innocent to retard the vigor of prosecution of crime for were it otherwise sentiment and not justice would dominate the administration of our laws.

Detectives Not Starved. Chief Lanford and Harry Scott are charged are not the slightest perturbed over the report that Minola McKnight the servant girl in the Frank home had repudiated the affidavit sworn to which she attested, Tuesday afternoon. The chief declared that he did not believe the report and that he did not think the woman would renounce her sworn statement in the manner reported.

Members of the committee agreed that even though the raising of money for publicity campaigns might be legitimate, the tabling of false statements or misleading public documents would be an invidious attempt to influence the public and members of congress.

That detectives have in some cases been used to shadow members of congress in the interest of getting certain legislative action is a point that Senator Cummins will endeavor to establish. He asked Senator Smoot today whether the latter knew of any such activity. Senator Smoot said he had heard of it but did not give the committee any information. Senator Cummins declined to state what further witnesses would be produced or to indicate the nature of the detective work that had been done.

Senator Smoot gave the committee the names of many persons who called upon him on tariff subjects. He said he had taken no part personally in the organization of any fight against free trade and he did not know of the existence of a lobby or the use of money further than as public advertisements indicated it.

Senator Williams whose subcommittee has had charge of the income tax feature of the tariff bill expressed the belief that there had been an organized effort by the insurance companies to rally policy holders against the income tax insurance officials probably will be asked to appear later.

Mr. Frank's Letter Follows. Editor Atlanta Constitution Atlanta Ga. Dear Sir: The action of the solicitor general in arresting and imprisoning our family because she would not voluntarily make a false statement against my innocent husband brings against me a detective acting under the necessity of shielding his own reputation against attacks in newspapers but of an intelligent trained lawyer whose sworn duty is as much to protect the innocent as to punish the guilty. My information is that this solicitor has admitted that no crime is charged against this cook and that he had no legal right to have her arrested and imprisoned.

The following statement from the Atlanta Journal undertakes to give the history of the arrest up to the time the woman was carried to the police station in the patrol wagon, weeping and shouting in a hysterical condition.

JAPAN'S LATEST NOTE DISCUSSED BY WILSON

Says the New Communication "Opens Way for Very Interesting Friendly Negotiations"

Washington, June 5.—After reading Japan's latest note on the California anti alien land law and just before a conference with Ambassador Chinda, President Wilson today expressed the opinion that the new communication opened the way for "very interesting and friendly negotiations."

The president had a brief conference with Secretary Bryan and an informal talk afterwards with Viscount Chinda. He had explained earlier that he did not expect to make any official reply to the Japanese ambassador but would discuss the Tokio note orally.

The president let it be known that there was much matter for discussion in the Japanese note but that change of the documents thus far exchanged by the two governments had in themselves suggested a solution of the land law difficulty. He indicated that the negotiations would proceed slowly and carefully with a view to obtaining a frank expression of the opinions held by the two nations.

Na suggestion for arbitrating the dispute has thus far been made it was learned authoritatively but white house officials today reiterated their confident expectation of an amicable settlement eventually.

GRAND JURY PROBES DETECTIVE "LEAKS"

Officials recognize that that is the provincial paper but they deplore the apparent ease with which the news has been secured. The policy of Solicitor Dorsey has been one of absolute silence. To all inquiries he has stated that he had nothing to give out.

Not so with the detective department. Hundreds of readers of the newspapers have learned of new angles in the Phagan case and the being the matter to the official attention of the solicitor general. At the present time the average man on the street has an intimate knowledge of the case against Leo Frank. He knows just what witnesses will be called just what they will testify to just what affidavits will be presented and if he has kept a newspaper he has copies of the affidavits in his possession.

The surprising thing about the whole conduct of the case is the fact that there will be no surprises. To go back and recapitulate the fact that the Fomby woman had made a sensational affidavit leaked out shortly after she had affixed her signature to it. The ink was scarcely dry before a newspaper reporter had seen it and she had given him the substance of its contents. Following the publication of the affidavit itself.

Next came the sensational confession of James Conley at the National Pencil factory who stated that he had helped Frank dispose of the body and Conley had not recovered from the awfully extra long and flaring headlines that night. The Constitution reporter had little difficulty in getting the details of the confession.

My husband was at dinner for lunch and in the evening at the hours he has stated on the day of the murder. He spent the whole of Saturday evening and night in my company. Neither on Sunday or Saturday or any other day did my husband by word or act or in any other way demean himself otherwise than as an innocent man. He did nothing unusual and nothing to arouse the slightest suspicion in me or to be innocent. There is no evidence against him, except that which is produced by torture. Of course evidence of this kind can be produced against any human being in the world.

I have been compelled to endure without fault either on the part of my husband or myself more than it falls to the lot of most women to bear slanders that have been circulated in the community to the detriment of my husband and myself were not happily married and every conceivable rumor has been put afloat that would do him and me harm with the public in spite of the fact that my friends and I are aware that these statements are false and all his friends and myself know that my husband is a man actuated by lofty ideals that forbid his committing the crime that the detectives and the solicitor are seeking to fasten upon him.

I know my husband innocent. No man could make the good husband to a woman that he has been to me and be a criminal. All his acquaintances know he is innocent. Ask every one who knows him and see if you can find one that will believe he is guilty. If he were guilty, does it not seem reasonable that you could find some one who would testify that will say he believes him guilty?

Being a woman I do not understand the tricks and arts of detectives and prosecuting officers but I do know Leo Frank, and his friends and I know and his friends know that he is utterly incapable of committing the crime that these detectives and this solicitor are seeking to fasten upon him. Respectfully yours MRS. LEO M. FRANK

JUDGE GARY'S TESTIMONY IS DENIED BY ROBERTS

Never Heard That Steel Company Announced Prices of Products to Trade Papers

New York June 5.—Perival Roberts Jr. a member of the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation testified today that he never heard that Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman and James A. Farrell president of the corporation sold its products Mr. Roberts was under cross examination in the government suit to dissolve the corporation. Both Judge Gary and Mr. Farrell have testified that the corporation's prices were announced to trade papers, so that everybody would know what the corporation was selling at.

Today Mr. Roberts said that trade paper prices were sometimes fictitious and cited instances when sales were made by the corporation at prices lower than those published. I would attach the same importance to prices published in trade papers that I would to hearsay evidence, said the witness.

Didn't these prices have any significance to the trade? asked Judge Dickinson attorney for the government. Not so far as buying and selling was concerned. They were the same as a thermometer. Then of what use were they? They gave a general idea of what was going on.

They indicated the opinion of those journals of what they believed prices to be. Were they accepted as base prices? No. Then the published prices of the steel corporation did not indicate the prices it sold at? I didn't know they had a published price.

Didn't you know that Judge Gary and Mr. Farrell gave such prices to these journals? No I didn't. Mr. Roberts explained that all things being equal the corporation sold at a fixed price but that the market was made by the buyer and seller, according to conditions.

PURPOSES TO TAX TOBACCO "TRUST"

Attorney General McReynolds today had an extended conference with Senator Simmons chairman of the finance committee about the graduated tax plan. The senator expressed great interest in the idea and promised that the committee would give it careful consideration.

Senator Borah introduced an amendment to the tariff bill which would bar from entry all goods manufactured wholly or in part by children under 16 years of age or by children under 18 years of age who are required to work more than eight hours a day or more than forty eight hours a week. It also would bar all imports made wholly or in part by convict labor.

Senator Johnson's subcommittee had under consideration today the wood pulp and paper schedule and Senator Johnson is preparing a report embodying the views of the subcommittee on the schedule as it passed the house in the Underwood bill. Print paper in the Underwood bill was placed on the free list. During the subcommittee hearings the committee was urged by manufacturers interested in Canadian wood pulp lands to put a retaliatory duty on print paper because of Canadian restrictions against the shipment of wood pulp.

Whether the committee has taken any action upon the proposed amendments has not been learned, but it has had the matter under consideration for more than a week.

MARAUDERS AT TAMPAUCO HARASSING AMERICANS

Residents Threaten to Take Situation Into Own Hands Unless Help Is Sent

Tampuco, May 31.—(Delayed in translation).—Chaotic conditions prevail in Tampuco and vicinity. Killings and depredations by bands of marauders from both conflicting Mexican factions are reported daily. Americans in this district are being harassed and old farmers have threatened to take the situation into their own hands unless the United States government affords them immediate protection. This town has been cut off from the outside world for a month, and all messages are transmitted by wireless. Railroad service is demoralized and trains are being operated on an average of less than one a week.

Revolutionists wrecked a train near the point where the United States battleship Connecticut is anchored. Government troops shot and killed four civilians and telegraph poles near the scene of the wreck. The United States battleship arrived here two weeks ago from Vera Cruz.

Owing to the lawlessness which prevails here apparently the present government will not be able to cope with the revolutionists. Various rumors are current as to the sources of the finances with which the two sides are meeting the expenses of the warfare. One of these is to the effect that an English oil interest contributed a large amount to the Huerta government, and this allegation is cited as a possible reason for the recognition of the Huerta regime by Great Britain.

Another unauthenticated report alleges that an American oil interest contributed to the support of the revolutionists. These rumors indicate the lawlessness which prevails and the hopelessness prevalent of the restoration of normal conditions under present circumstances.

MANY AMERICAN REFUGEES ARE FLEEING FROM MEXICO

Galveston Texas June 5.—Among 108 refugees who arrived in Galveston last night on board the steamship Harry Morse from Tampico Mexico was H. I. Volght, who was recently attacked by marauders at his home near Tampico and seriously injured while defending his wife and sister. He still shows signs of his injuries.

Although no one was allowed to board the Harry Morse pending quarantine inspections it is said that a number of other people are flocking into Tampico in the hope of being able to return in safety to the United States.

WARSHIP OF MEXICANS
FLEEING FROM BIPLANE

San Francisco, June 5.—Officers of the United States naval cutter Saturn, which was captured yesterday from Guaymas, reported that Didier Masson and his biplane had proved a source of anxiety to the Mexican federalists. The day the Saturn sailed from the southern port the Mexican warship Morales made a hasty departure to sea, the reason given being that she was fleeing from the biplane and the French aviator employed by the rebels.

McCALL APPOINTS NEW MERCER COMMITTEE

Will Hardly Nominate Jameson's Successor Before Next Baptist State Convention.

Macon, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—Before leaving for his home at Quitman this morning, Judge J. C. McCall, the new president of the board of trustees of Mercer university, named the new prudential committee, to succeed the one which resigned along with President Jameson, at the request of the trustees. The new committee is composed of the following: Judge J. C. McCall, Quitman, president of the board of trustees; G. W. Garner, Macon, secretary of board of trustees; A. L. Adams, Macon; Hugh Willis, Atlanta; and E. A. Callaway, Washington.

A. L. Adams was the only one of the members of the old committee to be reappointed. When the new president of Mercer is elected he will also become a member of the committee.

Judge McCall has not yet named the committee to nominate the successor to Dr. Jameson. He stated that he wanted more time in which to consider probable candidates to this important committee, and also desired to confer with prominent Baptists of the state before taking any definite step. Judge McCall has the power to call the trustees together at any time he desires. It is hardly probable that another meeting will be held before the next regular Baptist convention in November.

Judge McCall and President Sellers, of Mercer, today held a conference, at which the principal subject discussed was co-operation between the members of the faculty with a view to increasing the enrollment at Mercer during the next term. All of the members of the faculty have pledged themselves to assist in every way possible, and today Judge McCall issued an appeal to the former students of the university to rally to the aid of President Sellers and begin at once to work with a view of putting Mercer in the front rank of southern colleges.

Judge McCall was silent today on the question of abolition of the Greek letter societies. He said that while the question had been tabled for the present, it was subject to recall at any time. It is known that the non-fraternity men are not at all pleased with the former students of the university already laying their plans to renew the fight to have the "frats" abolished.

MAY FAVOR REMOVAL OF DEAF INSTITUTE

Mutes, in Silent Macon Convention, Discuss Proposition—Will Take Vote Tomorrow.

Macon, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—Two hundred members of the Georgia Association of the Deaf are in Macon attending the third annual convention of the association. The principal question that is being considered at the present convention is the removal of the state school for the deaf now located at Cave Springs and it is probable that tomorrow the convention will vote to ask the legislature to establish the school in Macon, as the most central point in the state.

It is claimed that the Cave Springs school is inaccessible and therefore does not benefit the deaf people of the state as much as if it were more centrally located.

A movement was started this morning to secure uniform constitution and by-laws similar to the one now used by the national association. This movement is favored by J. W. Michaels, of Knoxville, Tenn., who has attended several national conventions.

Speeches in Sign Language.

All speeches and discussions in the convention today were in the sign language. President I. N. Marchman in his annual address stated that the association had experienced a rapid growth since its organization three years ago and stated that already through the association much has been done to increase the facilities for educating the deaf and dumb of the state and urged the members to continue their efforts in that line.

In discussing the movement to have a centrally located state school Mr. Marchman stated that he was in full sympathy with such a plan and thought the little deaf and dumb children of south Georgia should be given facilities for securing an education.

Addresses were delivered this morning by a number of well-known Macon men. Mayor John B. Moore extending the official welcome on behalf of the city.

AGED CHATHAM SHERIFF IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Thomas F. Screven Never Held Office Until After He Passed Seventieth Year.

Savannah, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—Captain Thomas F. Screven, sheriff of Chatham county, died this morning, after a lingering illness. He was 79 years old.

For several months Captain Screven had been seriously ill, due to advanced age and a general breakdown. For years he had been in feeble health, but he was not a man who would give up as long as he had the strength to keep him on his feet.

Captain Screven was the son of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Screven. Educated at the University of Georgia, he subsequently studied medicine with Dr. John D. Martin and Dr. William Duncan. But he never practiced medicine, electing to become a rice planter.

He never sought nor held public office prior to 1906 after the political upheaval in Chatham county. Those who were managing the reformer chose him for the position of sheriff and he was elected. He succeeded himself at each successive election, without having to make any specially hard fight for the place.

Captain Screven was married twice. His first wife was Miss Moore, of Atlanta. Some years after her death he married Miss Sallie Buchanan, daughter of Admiral Franklin Buchanan, of Maryland. He is survived by his wife, three grandchildren, Mrs. Lyman Wilcox, T. Foreman Screven and Miss May Bond Screven, children of the late John Screven who married Miss May Bond.

NEW ADMINISTRATION TO ENFORCE FOOD LAW

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5.—There has been and will be no step backward in the enforcement of the pure food law under the new administration. Dr. Carl Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, today told the National Wholesale Grocers' association, in annual session here. He added, however, "that the administration of the law will gain in effectiveness if coupled with a policy of education and instruction."

Dr. Alsberg said he hoped to make the chemistry bureau as valuable to the consumer as the department of agriculture as a whole had been to the farmer.

THOMASVILLE HAS
FIRST COTTON BLOOMS

Thomasville, Ga., June 5.—(Special.) Cotton blooms are being exhibited now, the first brought in here being from the thirty-acre field of D. M. Minton, about five miles east of Thomasville. The bloom was very fully developed and had already begun to turn pink.

Mr. Minton's crop is in a very fine condition and the plant will average fifteen or more inches in height. There are a number of other fine crops in the same neighborhood, as well as in other parts of the county and the present indications are that the predictions as to a very late crop will not be verified.

THREATENS COMPETITOR OF SHOE MACHINERY CO.

Boston, June 5.—"Nothing but the blue sky" was the description Sidney W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, gave of what was in store for Frank W. Merrick and Clarence S. Luitweller, after they refused to sell out to him, according to the testimony today of Mr. Luitweller in the government's dissolution proceedings against the United company.

Mr. Luitweller is treasurer and Mr. Merrick president of the Union Lock Stitch company of East Boston, manufacturers of stitching machines, in competition with the United Shoe Machinery company.

Both testified that Winslow, in 1905, told them after they had refused to sell: "I'll see that you will never make a dollar."

STUART NOMINATED FOR
GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

Richmond, Va., June 5.—Henry Carter Stuart, of Russell county, candidate for governor of Virginia in the democratic primary on August 5, was unofficially declared the party nominee this afternoon when entries closed without opposition to his candidacy.

The state democratic committee will later declare Mr. Stuart the official nominee. Four years ago he entered the primary against William Hodges and St. George Tucker, but was forced to withdraw on account of the serious illness of his wife, who was in Europe. Thus far there has been no direct indication that the republicans will nominate a candidate for governor, although even in that event Mr. Stuart's election is assured, Virginia being overwhelmingly democratic.

Power of Newspaper
Advertising

The manufacturer who desires to create a direct demand for his goods in any particular community MUST use the newspapers.

Any other advertising medium can do the work as well or as quickly.

A recently printed article by a firm of widespread reputation said in relation to newspaper advertising:

Newspaper advertising cuts out duplication and other waste.

It enables you to sectionize or nationalize.

It enables you to advertise whenever you please.

It permits you to reach all worth-while consumers.

It dovetails your advertising with your sales work.

It enables you to adapt your advertising to any climate, advertise economically, and, further, enables you to try out plans without heavy expenditure of money.

DEFENSE RESTS CASE IN CONSPIRACY TRIAL

Atteaux Denies He Was in Plot to Plant Dynamite on Premises of Strikers.

Boston, Mass., June 5.—After introducing several witnesses to corroborate testimony given by the defendant yesterday, the defense of Frederick E. Atteaux, in the dynamite conspiracy case, rested today.

Among witnesses for Atteaux were William B. Watts, former chief procurator of the Boston police, and A. A. Corby, of Lawrence. Their stories tended to confirm the version of the dynamite affair given by Atteaux, who set up that John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pitman hatched the plot to "plant" dynamite on the premises of textile strikers at Lawrence.

On cross examination Watts said he thought Breen was trying to blackmail Atteaux.

FOR 40 WAGER ROLLS WHEELBARROW 30 MILES

Ferry, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—George B. Wells, a young man of the city, took up a "dare" that he would not roll a wheelbarrow to Macon for a purse of $10, made by his friends. A subscription was started and a purse of $40 was raised. On Monday morning at 3:18 o'clock Mr. Wells started between the handles of a wheelbarrow from the courthouse on his journey to roll the wheelbarrow to the courthouse in Macon, thirty miles. At 2:40 o'clock he completed the journey, rolling his wheelbarrow up to the courthouse in Macon. He came back in an automobile this morning, arriving here about 8 o'clock.

FLEEING FROM BIPLANE

San Francisco, June 5.—Officers of the United States naval cutter Saturn, which was captured yesterday from Guaymas, reported that Didier Masson and his biplane had proved a source of anxiety to the Mexican federalists. The day the Saturn sailed from the southern port the Mexican warship Morales made a hasty departure to sea, the reason given being that she was fleeing from the biplane and the French aviator employed by the rebels.

IN DEPUTY'S CUSTODY
COLYAR VISITS WIFE

Declares Effort to Get Him Out of State Is Due to Parties in Dictagraph Affair.

A. L. Colyar, Jr., one of the principal figures in the dictagraphing of Colonel Thomas E. Felder and Mayor James G. Woodward, who was arrested yesterday morning by Sheriff C. W. Mansum on a warrant from Knoxville, was released later in the day in custody of the sheriff. Colyar is in the order that he might remain at the bedside of his sick wife.

Pending the sheriff's action in accordance to his request that he be not placed in jail, Colyar took a plea of the deputy acting as his own attorney, although he later retained John Y. Smith to represent him. The habeas corpus will be heard at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by Judge John T. Felton.

Colyar, who was recently arrested by the city police and held for a short time, claims that Governor Hooper, of Tennessee, will never sign a requisition for him and that the effort to get him out of the state is due to certain parties to the dictagraph affair, whom he does not call by name.

Sheriff Mansum stated that Colyar would be allowed to go in custody of the deputy until this morning. He declared that he had no authority to accept any bond Colyar might offer until he was advised by the Tennessee authorities to do this, and that he had telegraphed asking if he should accept a satisfactory bond, but up to a late hour Thursday night had received no answer.

Whether Colyar, who, it is understood, is wanted in Knoxville on a charge of forgery, will be thrown into jail today or will be allowed bond is something upon which the sheriff states that he is not yet in a position to say.

Boston, June 5.—"Nothing but the blue sky" was the description Sidney W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, gave of what was in store for Frank W. Merrick and Clarence S. Mr. Luitweller is treasurer and Mr. Merrick president of the Union Lock Stitch company of East Boston, manufacturers of stitching machines, in competition with the United Shoe Machinery company.

Both testified that Winslow, in 1905, told them after they had refused to sell: "I'll see that you will never make a dollar."

THOMASVILLE HAS

Thomasville, Ga., June 5.—(Special.) Cotton blooms are being exhibited now, the first brought in here being from the thirty-acre field of D. M. Minton, about five miles east of Thomasville. The bloom was very fully developed and had already begun to turn pink.

Mr. Minton's crop is in a very fine condition and the plant will average fifteen or more inches in height. There are a number of other fine crops in the same neighborhood, as well as in other parts of the county and the present indications are that the predictions as to a very late crop will not be verified.

CORDELE MAY SECURE
SEABOARD RELAY SHOPS

Cordele, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—Since the shops of the Seaboard Air Line railway at Americus are being dismantled and practically the entire enterprise removed to Jacksonville, there is considerable discussion over the possibility that the railway company will establish relay shops at Cordele. It is known that Cordele has been discussed in official circles of the road as the location for such an enterprise.

In fact, it is gathered from authentic information that more than a year ago city officials of Cordele were conferred with by parties interested in the railroad company, and that it was definitely understood at that time that the proposition of locating the main shops of this division of the road at this city would be taken under serious advisement. At that time the company asked an indentment of $50,000 and grants of certain lands to establish the shops here.

The removal of the shops from Americus, it is understood, was largely due to the 16-hour law, the location of the shops there making it disadvantageous to the road to comply with this law in freight schedules between Americus and Savannah.

Therefore, the feasibility of locating the shops here suggested itself to the officials of the road, and the belief is entertained here that this plan has not been entirely abandoned by the company.

STUART NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

Richmond, Va., June 5.—Henry Carter Stuart, of Russell county, candidate for governor of Virginia in the democratic primary on August 5, was unofficially declared the party nominee this afternoon when entries closed without opposition to his candidacy.

The state democratic committee will later declare Mr. Stuart the official nominee. Four years ago he entered the primary against William Hodges and St. George Tucker, but was forced to withdraw on account of the serious illness of his wife, who was in Europe. Thus far there has been no direct indication that the republicans will nominate a candidate for governor, although even in that event Mr. Stuart's election is assured, Virginia being overwhelmingly democratic.

A REFRESHING INCIDENT.

A recent incident in Indianapolis, Ind., reported elsewhere on this page, dramatizes on a small scale the whole story of the burial of sectionalism and the renaissance of America. Deeds, not words, are the witnesses in this case to the complete obliteration of sectional bitterness.

Surely, one need go no farther than this incident to realize how genuine and widespread is the dissolution of sectionalism. In the Indianapolis case, as in others, it is deeds and not merely words that speak. These sleeping confederates could not have been more tenderly remembered in their own beloved Dixie. The great chorus of renationalization is dominant. The protest of the irreconcilable, on either side, is so rare as to be exceptional. It excites pity rather than censure. Verily, we are, north and south, "back in the house of our fathers."

REAL CHANCE TO INVESTIGATE.

Sinister and disquieting rumors about the receivership of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad are going the rounds. If half of these criticisms are based on truth congress could well afford to quit exploding blank cartridges about pink tea lobbyists and discharge real cartridges at the evils here alleged. The pink joy-ride probe at Washington is negligible by the side of what is charged in the Frisco deal.

In the first place, the receivership seems to have been authorized on an entirely explicit hearing—that piratical old device that brought so much disrepute on the railroad business heretofore. A system valued at scores of millions and representing the investments of thousands of people, was, it is claimed, thrown into the courts without the slightest opportunity for the other side or for the security-holders to be heard. If this charge is true the fact should be established and those responsible for it should be punished. The business standards of today condemn the old policy of railroad "scuttling." If the Frisco receivership is a case of scuttling we ought to know it and steps ought to be taken to the end of preventing a repetition.

One of the gravest charges is that the management of the road, only last April, disposed of $3,000,000 worth of securities in France virtually under false pretenses. They represented that the property was in first-class shape. They said nothing whatever about the financial clouds impending. On the strength of these pleas they sold the securities in France at a much higher rate than in America, so absolute was the confidence in the representations made. And within less than two months comes this midnight receivership, apparently without a word of warning to the foreign security-holders or anyone else, with the exception of the parties immediately interested. This procedure appears to be a direct blow at our international credit. We need foreign capital as never in the history of this country. But how can we bid for it if Europe fears we are simple and unashamed gold-brick artists, and that our courts are winking at such proceedings?

Congress may well divert some of its energies now directed at senatorial pink teas to this grave issue. If, as is charged, the matter comprises a national scandal it should be disclaimed by the nation and positive measures taken to make impossible a recurrence.

WHITEHALL STREET REGRADE.

The finance committee yesterday took definite action toward the improvement of Whitehall street by putting $3,500 in the June apportionment sheet to be expended on improving that part of the street, between Mitchell and Garnett streets. The improvement is to be made in strict accordance with the plans of the city engineer. But the appropriation affects only that section of Whitehall between Garnett and Mitchell. No succeeding council is committed in any way. The completion of the improvement between Garnett and Mitchell will involve the expenditure of $11,300. The difference between the cost of the completed work and the city appropriation will be borne by the property-owners, the county doing the work. The city council will, of course, approve this item without question.

The original plans for the improvement of Whitehall street will be executed in due time, and this part will be finished this year. To meet the financial exigencies caused by the crematory tangle and to avoid binding any subsequent council, the work must be done in sections—each standing by itself. Between Mitchell and Garnett the grade will be changed so that at Trinity avenue it will be lowered eight feet. When the next council takes up the work, as it assuredly will, it will find the Whitehall improvement completed to Garnett street, and it can then proceed to the completion of the regrade.

In the meantime, property-owners between Mitchell and Garnett, knowing now where they stand, can proceed with permanent improvements without delay or uncertainty. There is no question that council will approve the recommendation of the finance committee. Whitehall has waited long enough for this improvement. The entire city is interested in it.

PAVING PEACHTREE

Peachtree street has never in its history been well paved from one end to the other—and all at the same time. Whenever one part has been in good order others have not been so. There has never been a time when any sort of vehicle would have been justified in leaving Five Points for Buckhead, assured of safe and comfortable passage all the way.

Such a condition should obtain with no street, and least of all with the most important thoroughfare in the city and the county, and Peachtree merits that distinction. Day in and day out it is called upon to accommodate more traffic than any other one street in any southern city. And this traffic comes from every part of the city and county. The upkeep of the street is not a local issue. It affects every section of the community.

From Sixth to Fifteenth streets Peachtree has just been resurfaced. But from Fifteenth to Buckhead it is in worse condition than ever. In many places it is impassable and traffic is often compelled to detour to side roads.

Fortunately, the county commissioners have committed themselves to the relief of this condition. At their latest meeting action was postponed until the special meeting of Tuesday. It is to be hoped that they will then authorize the immediate improvement of this stretch of the street. The matter is one that interests the entire community. The traffic demands upon Peachtree will be especially heavy with the current summer season. For the convenience of city and suburban traffic and the safety of life, no time should be lost in placing this link in good condition.

SOMEWHAT STARTLING

The following editorial extract from The Seattle Times is startling and self-explanatory:

The Portland Journal, after having read what Miss Adeline Parker, one of the high school teachers of Seattle, said at a meeting upon the university campus the other day in which these words were used: "Perhaps all of us would be handsomer if we had a dash of negro blood in us," criticized thus: "An open forum had been discussing prejudice against the Japs. Miss Parker's contribution in behalf of open-mindedness is startling and unfortunate. Perhaps she did not realize what she was saying, but a high school teacher should not be a loose talker."

Well, well, who'd a thought it! Here they are on the Pacific slope tearing their hair and having a fit every minute about a negligible percentage of Japs owning a negligible percentage of land in California. And here is a Pacific state high school teacher, assumed to represent intelligence, wanting to inject a "dash of negro blood" in the white race. No wonder our Portland and Seattle contemporaries protest at the suggestion.

A literary exchange asks: "Does poetry pay?" And a grouch of a critic replies: "Sometimes—when the author wants preferred position, next good reading matter."

It is said that a congressman received this word recently from a tired constituent: "Do hurry up and bring the tariff down, and come on home where you belong."

If they don't can talk, some senator will be accused of being interested in a windmill.

The Old Man Receives Instructions. "That young graduate-feller had no sooner shook hands with the home-folks than he started in findin' fault with Everything in sight—told the old man he'd have to slap a mortgage on the house and buy an automobile, fit him up a private poker room, get him a couple of race horses and plank down the cash for a trip to Europe. I heard him talkin' them things over with the old man and then, a little later, from behind the barn, I heard somebody hollerin' for help. It was the graduate. Then, the old man come in by himself, all out of breath, an' said, after he'd got his wind ag'in: 'As a corrector of youth with the swell head old hickory's hard to beat!'"

Says the Sun in the heavens: "When I shine my level best They're giving me old Lucifer from blazing East to West! They blame me, Defame me— With one accord they shame me, To get 'em all a-ralling, You only have to name me!"

Says the Sun in the heavens: "Behold the cotton white! When the seeds in darkness I lure it to the light. But they blame me, They blame me, Few men acclaim me, To set the warm world by the ears, You only have to name me!"

Candidate's Unique Announcement. Few, if any, office-seekers are as candid as a Kentucky candidate, who makes this announcement in the LaGrange Era: "I am a candidate for the office of jailer; not for the sentiment of glory, but for the money there is in it. Was not asked to run by 'Many Voters,' 'Many Democrats,' or any one else, but am running on my own responsibility. Haven't a blood relative in the county; do not nor will not belong to any clique. Am no goody good or its saint; have my faults, as most people have, but if elected to the responsible position of jailer will guarantee to care for the county's property in the very best possible manner."

A Slight Difference. Saith the Colonel, from Kentucky— (In Georgia, too, they shine): "Water, about three fingers And little milk in mine. "But, come to think it over, It doesn't suit my plan; Milk's the meek food for babies— Three fingers for the man!"

Tragedy of the Snakes. "On Tuesday last," says the Whitsett Courier, "lightning struck a den of rattlesnakes, killing forty-seven of the reptiles, just at the time certain citizens were could mention—if we had a mind to—were crazy to get snakebit so as to have a reasonable excuse for swallerin' a quart or two of red hicker, which is said to be a remedy; but, cheer up, old fellers! There's lots more pizen-snakes in the county, and we don't doubt but what you'll find 'em."

The Limit. He walked through this world in a thousand strange ways, Saw congress in session, And stood it three days.

The graduate who demands an automobile should first be made to go to work for good roads.

Suggestion to office-hunters: Wouldn't 'keeper of the white house mint bed' fill the bill?

Marce Henry is getting reckless. Single-handed, he is fighting the Kentucky suffragettes.

They will have to face the music, and acclaim Washington the best summer tariff resort in the country.

The unloved, lingering lobbyist has trimmed his finish.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C. June 5.—(Special).—As a means of building up the American merchant navy, the house put in the Underwood tariff bill a provision that goods imported in American bottoms should be given the benefit of a reduction in customs duties amounting to 5 per cent.

This paragraph has aroused protests from many foreign countries who have treaties with the United States guaranteeing to them the rights of the most favored nation. They hold that under these treaties the 5 per cent differential would work a discrimination. President Wilson, after conferring with the state department and the members of the senate finance committee, has consented to the clause being stricken out. However, the house is overwhelmingly in favor of the provision, and adopted it in caucus on the tariff by a three-fourths vote. If the senate strikes it out, the house will put it back and the dispute must be fought out in conference.

Advised by Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Underwood drafted the above provision from a tariff bill signed by Thomas Jefferson, the father of the democratic party. He believes in it and does not agree that it violates any treaties. The existing treaties containing the "favored nation" clause were made many years ago and were based on reciprocity, says the leader. Now this country has no merchant ships and reciprocity under tariff laws has vanished. Moreover, the right to terminate the conventions, after the expiration of the term fixed, was reserved by stipulation to each party, he says. The exercise of this right can not be questioned by either party, nor can other parties offer valid objections.

Other duties hereabout. "Other duties hereabout in favor of their ships," said Mr. Underwood, "and I believe in the democratic principle of discrimination in favor of American ships in our tariff duties. It was the policy of the fathers; it built up our merchant marine from a point where it was carrying 17 per cent of our commerce to a point where it was carrying 99 per cent of American commerce in a period of seven years. It does not place additional burdens upon the people; it is not a policy that has been tried and proven effective. It is a policy by which we can restore the American flag to the seas and the American ships to our commercial trade. It is a policy that will enable us to build up the export trade of the American people, and to find foreign markets for our surplus products in agriculture and manufacture. It is a policy that will restore the balance of commerce as well as trade to our nation, and will ultimately overcome the necessity of our paying a foreign balance in gold to European nations and will bring prosperity to all lines of industry."

Mr. Underwood in the house in February 26, 1910, in discussing "American Ships and Foreign Commerce." Of course the reason assigned for removing this clause from the Underwood bill is that it violates treaty obligations. Mr. Underwood in his speech quoted from a pamphlet issued by William W. Bates, president of the Shipping Association of America, of whom he said: "There is no man in America better advised and informed on these questions." In this pamphlet Mr. Bates takes the position that the agreement amount to nothing, and have long since terminated, and that "we relinquished no rights whatever by granting a privilege for a term of years." Further, he charges: "Besides, in point of fact, our rivals have paid no attention to the spirit and true object of these conventions, the doing without ship protection. On the contrary, all of them have resorted to protective devices of some sort."

This is quite true. It would be hard to find a foreign nation which does not in some manner discriminate in favor of its ships. Germany subsidizes her mail carriers, and on all government mails in the empire freight to ports designed for German vessels is carried 33 1-3 per cent cheaper than freight for foreign ships. England puts up large bonuses for the building of ships that fly the British flag, and in every way possible encourages her merchant marine. All other countries follow some policy of this character except the United States, and the result is seen in the statement that since this government has abandoned the policy of discrimination in duties on foreign ships in favor of American ships the American flag, which once dominated the seas in commerce, has practically disappeared.

A reduction of the tariff of 5 per cent on all goods imported into the United States in American ships would give the American ship owner an advantage over the foreign ship owner in payment of duties of from ten to fifteen millions of dollars annually. This would not fall as a burden on anyone; it, of course, would enable the American ship owner to charge nearly the amount of the discriminating duty as additional freight rates, but it would not increase the cost of the goods imported in this country a dollar over what they otherwise would be.

The president consented to this clause being cut out, because of the treaties and because he thought that we were bound by them. There are, however, as has been pointed out, good authorities on international law who do not agree in this view. In addition to this there can be no question of the right of congress to repeal such treaties if they think it wise to do so. This question was decided by the supreme court in the Chinese exclusion act.

In the meantime it is quite certain that when the bill goes to conference the house conference will insist upon the clause or one similar to it remaining in the bill or on a definite understanding that something will be done for the benefit of the merchant marine.

Quick Lunch for Policemen.

(From The Indianapolis News.) In Glasgow, Scotland, the police on night duty have facilities for warming food and tea at certain street telephone and signal boxes. To this end the boxes are fitted with electrical hot plates, which can be switched on for warming food or drink. Twenty minutes are allowed for supper, and the current is so arranged that the heater element can not be left under current when not in use, even if the user omits to switch off.

The Value of Research.

(From Popular Mechanics.) According to Dr. W. R. Whitney, in charge of the General Electric company research laboratories, the advances in incandescent lighting alone in this country in the last ten years represent a saving of $240,000,000 a year or nearly a million dollars a day. He also calls attention to the fact that as a result of investigations with the mercury arc, his company has already had a sale of over a million dollars extra. There are a great many concerns in this country spending on research a hundred thousand dollars annually.

Confederate Dead in Indiana Are Lauded on Memorial Day

Editor Constitution: During the winter of 1863-4 about sixteen hundred confederate soldiers died while prisoners at Camp Morton in this city, and were buried here in Greenlawn cemetery. On the 30th of May, 1898, the writer purchased some flowers and accompanied by perhaps a dozen comrades, repaired to this cemetery and decorated the graves of these southern soldiers. My personal esteem for the valor of the soldiery of the south had many times suggested the idea of paying tribute to their memory, and the southern states to the call issued by President McKinley in 1898 impelled me to thus honor these brave men sleeping within our borders, regardless of any censure my act might bring upon me. The following year we again decorated the confederate soldiers' graves, and the local press commended our action. In 1900 the grand army took the matter off my hands, and have ever since conducted these Memorial Day services for both the confederate and union soldiers who are buried in this cemetery. This year two young men delivered addresses, one for the Gray, and the other for the Blue. And this brings me to the purpose of my letter to you. Mr. Edward W. Holdt, a young attorney of this city, delivered the address on behalf of the Gray on May 30 last, and I am enclosing a copy of his address which I believe will commend itself to you and your people.

In this connection I might mention another matter which would no doubt be an item of interest to your readers. The federal government has erected a monument in Greenlawn cemetery at a cost of $8,000, bearing on a bronze tablet the names of the confederate soldiers who are buried here. It has occurred to me that these names should be published in some paper of general circulation in the south, so that their friends might have an opportunity of learning their place of burial. If your paper would care to publish such a list I would be glad to forward the same to you for that purpose. I was a soldier in the union army, but have the highest regard for the valor and sincerity of purpose of the soldiers of the confederacy. Yours very truly, WM. W. ROBBINS.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2, 1913, care Circuit Court.

Mr. Holdt's Address.

Mr. Holdt's address, the manuscript of which was enclosed with the above letter, is too long to be published in full, but it contains many gems of thought and is filled with a splendid fraternal spirit.

UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATION

By Philip Welton, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

In a forgotten corner of potter's field lies a grave. The dirt is piled into a tiny mound. A simple stone, unmarked, stands at its head. Beneath it rests what was once a baby. It had come into the world a mass of sores. Slight, it never had. The child's last breath was almost its first. Charity folded the little hands across its chill, white breast. It sleeps in peace.

A policeman stood on the corner. Past him recited an old man. "Drunk again." What would it serve to make an arrest. The policeman allowed him to stagger by.

In the city prison was a young woman. Her face was unshiny, so marred by sin. Her body was black where she had shot the needle. It quivered in blind craving for the drug. It was pitiful. Once a toy for dastards; now a sponge for dirty dogs.

Did she remember the baby? Did her conscience burn for the murder she had done the innocent? Did the old man feel the dull throbb of remorse for the shame of it? Did there filter through his sickened senses the horror of it all? Did he know of the grandchild, cursed in its cradle?

On he careened to his empty house, as he had done a thousand times before, as he had done when the woman in the city prison was still a girl, unacquainted with vice.

Out west a great river rages down its mammoth bed. It tops the dikes they built to hold it back. Here and there levees are weakening. A hundred men, a thousand, yes, ten thousand, if need be, work night and day to keep it in.

Vice is a surging flood. It breaks upon the human soul and floods it with its ruin. Men stand by and watch the doom. They moralize. There is a call; stand to and help. Build back the crumbling walls.

These are unvarnished facts. Will our legislature hear the call? The legislatures of thirty-four states have answered. The need is great. Georgia must provide an industrial training school for wayward girls.

F. H. COLLEY, Washington, Wilkes County, Ga., June 5, 1913.

Home Industry.

Editor Constitution: I have written in favor of home industries, demanding from manufacturers the use of Atlanta labels and from merchants and consumers more protection to home industries as the only way to make our city a prosperous city. It is well known that the industrial city attracts the industrial man and where there is a city of high industrial reputation there the industrial man will go to establish his business, for the reason that the goods sell easy. In making and selling goods there are two necessary experiences and capitals, the experience and the capital to make the goods and the experience and the capital to sell them and give to the retail merchants the necessary credit. This union of jobbers and manufacturers is as old as the industrial and commercial life of the world, and I would never break this old concert. All I want is to dignify the Atlanta Industrial label and let Atlanta be known as the mother of her industries; to let the whole country know that Atlanta is a city that produces as refined industrial goods as any city in the United States; then her industrial reputation will be known and new industries will come and wealth and happiness will be spread throughout our community. S. VALDEZ, Atlanta, Ga., June 4, 1913.

The outstanding statement of the speech is to the effect that the south was morally right in her demand for secession, and fought with bleeding hearts and hands for the sake of principle.

"This is not a day of celebration," said Mr. Holdt. "Sectional pride and the glorification of arms should have no part in this program. This is a day of dedication. It is indeed an hour of consecration." "We have gathered here to do homage to American soldiers, living and dead, who fought in our civil war, a half century or more ago. That war, which passed over this land and left its scars to the soil, and its shadows in each household, is long past, and we are here once more a united, prosperous people. The heroes of that struggle have almost all crossed the great Divide and are resting on the farther shore. "Those who survived the struggle and endured the battle of life until this hour have long since forgotten their differences. With common hope and a common destiny they have bound themselves together by the ties of a common brotherhood."

South Was Morally Right.

Outlining the events leading up to the war, Mr. Holdt stated that the southern states were merely defending what they believed was their inherent right—to decide the question of slavery for themselves. "The contention of the south, promoted by a desire for a government sustained by the consent of the governed, was the hope of men for centuries. The invention of the north, prompted only by patriotism and a desire for a greater republic, was but the dream of a generation. Had the right to secession been decided by the national moral code of these two contented master ideas, we doubt not but that the verdict would have been in favor of the south. But instead, that question was decided by a pre-arranged game of seceders. The story of the city was stupendous in its career, its events and its consequences, has been told over and over again—sometimes with a feeling of hatred toward one section of the country or the other—sometimes in eulogy of the boys in blue or the boys in gray."

Time for Truth to Be Known.

"But the time has now fully come when there is no longer a cause for the suspicion of the truth with respect to that war. There is nothing in its history of which any part of the American people need be ashamed. The measureless courage and the self-sacrificing devotion to duty of the soldiers of both sides cannot be hemmed in by geographical lines. "The superb strategy of Grant, the unconquerable endurance of Lee, the splendid prowess of Stonewall Jackson, the pitiless achievements of Fitz Sherman, the extraordinary charge of Pickett at Gettysburg, are all subjects of pride and satisfaction to the American people, in every part of the union. The great manufacturing cities of the north, the large and famous cotton fields of the south, are the common heritage of all our people. It is indeed a wonderful truth that America, after a death struggle between the two sections of its people, should so soon be thus completely reunited."

The Book Bill.

Editor Constitution: Will you please ask your readers to answer the following on the basis that Georgia is now spending one million dollars each year for school books? In Ontario primers cost 4 cents; in Georgia, 25 cents. What would one million dollars worth of primers cost the buyers in Ontario at the rate of 4 cents to 25 cents? And what per cent more are we paying than the people of Ontario?

I ask this, because the answer will give a faint idea of the money the poor people in Georgia are just giving away. I ask you to publish the answers so everybody will know the truth.

Ontario is having her school books edited by her minister of education, and then printed by competitive bids.

Is there any reason on earth or in heaven why Georgia cannot do the same? If we cannot, what reason can anyone give why we cannot?

If our superintendent of education is competent to select good school books, it seems as if he might be able to edit a few.

How It Strikes Colonel Colley.

Editor Constitution: All of our people have followed with a great deal of interest the developments of the Phegan case, and while we have differed as to the guilt or innocence of Mr. Frank, there has been no difference among us in regard to the allegations of attempted bribery upon the part of Colonel Thomas B. Felder and Mayor Woodward. If this man February stated to them that he had proof that certain officials upon whom the people were compelled to depend for the protection of their lives, liberty and property, were guilty of graft and betraying the trust reposed in them—if this be true, why should not Colonel Felder and Mayor Woodward endeavor to develop it, and what would be wrong in their paying from their own pockets the funds necessary to obtain this positive and legal proof? What crime was committed by them, and what violation of professional ethics? Who would complain of it? Could the public complain of it?

Musical Family.

(From Tit-Bits.) The following is an exact copy of a letter received by a young lady who wished to spend a holiday in a small country town, and advertised for a room: "Dear Miss—We think we kin suite you with room and board, if you prefer to be where there is music. I play the fiddell, my wife the organ, my dotter Jule the akordion, my dotter Maray the Bango, my son Hen the gittar, my son Jim the fload and kornet, and my son Clem the base drum, while all of us sing hims, in which we would be glad to have you take part, both vocal or instrumental, if you play on anything. We play by ear, an' when we all git started there is real musick in the air. Let us know if you want to come here to bord."

Wise Candy Kid.

(From The Athens Globe.) When a Kuhlidge, young lady went driving with a young man not long ago she saw a big box of candy on the seat of the buggy as she stepped in and she was tickled to death. The young man did not present her with the candy, however, but "passed" the box, about every two miles of the drive. When they returned to her home the young man handed the box toward the young lady, and she gripped it with a "mine-at-last" sort of sigh. "Take a piece into the house with you," said the young man, holding on to his end of the box. "T-t-take two pieces," he added, generously. It is said the lower layer of candy in the box is still intact, although the young man has taken six other girls driving since then, and it is thought the candy will hold out until fall.

The agreement reached was that beginning on the first Wednesday after July 4 the men's outfitters will close their doors at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and stay closed for recreation the weekly half holiday season will last until September 1 which is a month longer than the time agreed upon by the butchers and grocers.

MEN'S OUTFITTERS TO GIVE CLERKS HALF-HOLIDAY

The citizens and property owners agitating the Whitehall street regrading who had asked for $47,48 with which to do the work were pleased with the effort of the finance committee and the council under the stringent circumstances to make good its promise of aid by the $3,000 appropriation and will raise by public subscription the remainder of the $12,500 which it is estimated will be necessary to complete the regrading of the two blocks.

The county has agreed to furnish the labor incident to the regrading. The plan is to regrade the blocks between Mitchell and Garnett streets in accordance with the plan submitted by Captain R. W. Stone, chief of the construction department, which calls for an eight foot cut at Trinity avenue.

Actual work is scheduled to start about October 15.

It is expected that the completion of the entire contemplated regrading will be taken up next year.

Rate Was Raised

To make the appropriation of $3,500 for the Whitehall street work the finance committee Thursday afternoon submitted to council a revision of the June appropriation sheet.

To find the money for the Whitehall street regrading the finance committee has cut $1,000 from the $4,000 appropriation for the regrading of Mitchell street $2,000 more from the $5,000 appropriation for the widening of Bellwood avenue while the remaining $600 was taken from the city's $4,000 in various appropriations. It is believed that none of the items from which the subtract was made will be materially affected.

Captain Stone stated Thursday afternoon that it had been estimated that the Mitchell street work could be carried out as planned with $5,000. As the cost of the work has increased he said that in view of the fact that this is a widening proposition and not a regrading proposition the remaining $3,000 of the original appropriation for this work would be made to go as far as possible and that if $3,000 was not sufficient to complete all the proposed widening the remainder could be taken up next year.

Change in Regrading Plan

The unexpected contingency of the reformatory purchase which blocked the possibility of the original appropriation for the Whitehall street work has caused a change in the plan for carrying out this work. Instead of following the first plan of regrading the entire street from Mitchell to Windsor street a system of regrading the street by sections has been adopted which it is believed will in the end accomplish the ultimate object of establishing a uniform grade for the whole street.

The proposition of regrading the first section from Mitchell to Garnett street will be taken up as a proposition independent from any part of the remainder of the contemplated work. The appropriation of $3,500 for this work involves no subsequent council in any manner. It is believed however that next year the property owners will be able to get another appropriation which will be sufficient to complete all or at least another section of the work from Garnett to Windsor streets.

The work of correctly compiling this information has taken much time and correspondence. It was suggested by a list of the mothers and wives of the presidents published by Dr. Conway in "The Constitution many years ago in "Bill Arps" magazine. Major Smith and Dr. Conway had many passages in print over these facts and in the sitting the names and dates and facts were determined authentically.

CORDELE NEGROES GO TO NORTHERN MINES

Cordele Ga. June 5.—(Special)—About twenty Negro laborers left Cordele this morning on the special coach chartered for the purpose of their way to points in West Virginia and Pennsylvania to take the places of coal miners who are on strike in certain parts of these states. It is said that recruits have been at work in sections of this and other states recruiting laborers to replenish the diminished force in mining camps caused by the strike and that the scarcity of labor in farming sections has provoked considerable objections to such a thing. However all of the Negroes who joined the train going up from Cordele were of their own accord and city officials used precaution to see that they were under contract in any way.

PERFORMS HIS FIRST "ANTI-GRAFT" MARRIAGE

Chicago June 5.—The Rev. Almer Pennewell solemnized the first anti-graft marriage yesterday since his recent announcement that he believed fees accepted by ministers for officiating at weddings were nothing less than a graft and that in the future he would make no charge for this service. He also asserted that couples must present clean bills of health from reputable physicians.

Clifton Walker Hunt of Cleveland and Miss Dorothy Maize of Oakpark a suburb, were the principals at the wedding. The father of the bride attempted to force a fee upon the clergyman but was unsuccessful.

"I get a salary for my services and couples should not feel that they are receiving charity," said the preacher.

MRS. GEORGE KING STILL LINGERS NEAR DEATH

Thomasville Woman Who Took Bichloride Is Dying by Degrees Like Sanders Walker

Thomasville Ga. June 5.—(Special)—With little change in her condition except that she grows weaker Mrs. George King the woman who attempted suicide here by taking bichloride of mercury still lingers on. There seems no hope of her recovery though she states now that she would like to get well and is sorry that she took the poison. Her sufferings are not so great as at first and it was said today that she had been able to retain a little food. The husband of the unfortunate woman was notified of her condition and has been here with her. He is employed at a sawmill near Brinson. It is said that the woman had left him once before and he had considerable trouble and expense in finding her the police here being on the outlook for her for some time. It is thought that her mind is unbalanced. She is about 30 years old and rather good looking.

It is thought by the attending physician that the poison will probably run its course in twenty-four hours longer before being fatal. The woman's idea seems to have been that by taking a large dose of the mercury it would kill her quicker but it failed to have that effect. She has suffered greatly from vomiting spells and the inability to retain anything upon her stomach.

Men have, at last, found the antidote for heat and are rapidly applying the remedy

The antidote has been discovered in Suits of Silks, Linens, Irish Poptins, Linen Pongees, Shantung Linens, Spanish Linens, Togo Cloths, Palm Beach Cloths and the ever durable English Silk Alpacos.

For years and years these washable fabrics have been worn extensively in our southern coast cities, but only recently have they found favor with the inland population.

Men over the entire country, and especially in the larger cities, have almost simultaneously begun wearing suits of washable fabrics and it is the universal opinion that a lasting craze for these fabrics has taken this country by storm.

They are durable, comfortable, sightly, sanitary and thoroughly practical from every standpoint and, in our opinion, their popularity will never wane.

We have, undoubtedly, the most complete line in Atlanta and with our New Orleans connection, Godchau's, enables us to offer our customers garments of superior fabrics and construction.

HER PUNISHMENT VERY SEVERE

Mrs. Chappell Says That Her Punishment for Five Years Was More than Anyone Could Ever Tell.

Mr. Alry, N. C.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell says: "I suffered for about 5 years with womanly trouble, also stomach trouble, and my punishment was more than any one could ever tell.

Several doctors had treated me, and I had tried most every kind of medicine I could think of, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the women's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Are you a woman? Do you suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as sleeplessness, nervousness, weakness, and that everlasting tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. You have everything to gain, if it helps you, and we feel confident it will help you, just as it has more than a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui today. N. B.—Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 84-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper.

Seventh Straight.

THE LOOKOUTS dropped their seventh straight game of the season to the Crackers Thursday afternoon. The Lookouts and the Barons are the teams that the Crackers have been beating with regularity. Six out of eight have been registered from the Barons.

Wallops the Goods.

WALLOP Smith may star in a new role for the Crackers. If Joe Dunn should get hurt Wallop would take up his stand behind the pitcher, which is said to be his natural position. We don't know, not having seen him work, but we'd place a little wager that he would look as good behind the old bat as he does on the hot corner. And, here is a considerable third baseman—yes, considerable.

Looking 'Em Over.

FOUR SCOUTS are in Atlanta, having a look at the promising material on the Crackers and Lookouts. Wallop Smith, Tommy Long and Harry Chapman are the ones who probably attracting the most attention just now.

Another Alibi.

HIRSHIG has another alibi. His contention regarding the schedule squabble between the Crackers and the Barons is that Manager Smith, exceeded his authority when he endeavored to switch Wednesday's game to Monday, claiming that there was no such day in the first place, and in the second, it did not have the approval of the Atlanta club president, a fact which is sticking to his tail. He required the rules of the Southern League. President Callaway has placed Hirshig in the Annals club with this statement: "I have Hirshig's letter approving same, and I ordered Manager Smith to bring the team back home on Tuesday night. Mr. Alibi, please write."

In Bad Way.

WITH CHAPMAN hors du combat for several days, and Joe Dunn catching with a bandaged hand, the Crackers are in a bad way for catchers for the next few days. Chapman is out with a badly spiked leg, and Joe Dunn has three fingers on his right hand badly smashed, making catching and throwing painful; but the game Joseph is not winning and is sticking to his guns until the maimed Chapman is ready for the fray again.

Looked Impossible.

THE REPORT that the Crackers were going to get Fery Robertson from the St. Louis club looked impossible on the face of it. It did not seem likely that Fery Lipe would let the best pitcher on his ball club slip away from him, when the season in the Sally is divided into two sections. Although he apparently has the first ball sewed up, the Indians leader does not want to get his team back by disposing of his best pitcher before the second series starts.

Looks Promising.

IF CONZELMAN shows as well in a game as he is shown in practice, the former Pirate is going to be a big help to the pennant-chasing Crackers. The fellow has an overhand curve and drop that is a peach, and it is this kind of a delivery that wins in this league. His control also seems to be good, and he has the size. Everything seems promising for this lad to make good.

Trophies on Exhibition.

THE HANDSOME trophies awarded by Randolph Rose for the leading pitcher, leading base stealer and the leading writer of the Southern League this season can be seen on exhibition in the show windows of Clifton-Stanton Co. every day during the stay of the Chattanooga team in Atlanta. W. H. Hunter, secretary of the Chattanooga team, has the trophies in his possession. The Constitution printed a photo of the three medals some time ago, and they are solid gold and are worth over $300 each.

Taking Long Trip.

STEWART MAIDEN, golf professional of the Atlanta athletic club, will leave for Scotland after his vacation. His old home and to play some of the famous golf courses of the old country. Mr. Maiden is accompanied by a couple of months and during his absence Willie Mann will be the professional of the East Lake club. Mr. Maiden will be accompanied by G. W. Adair, Perry Adair and some of the other local amateurs.

Bantam Title.

JOHNNY COTTON, the bantam champion here at last, has cornered to defend his title. Kid Williams, the Battlemore marvel, has been matched to meet the champion on the come in a twenty-round bout on July 1. This should be a bear-out of a battle.

As Predicted.

JUDGE KAVANAUGH, president of the Southern League, will order the Crackers and the Vols to play over the game that they are squabbling about. This prediction was made in White's Wednesday morning. (We told you so.)

Welchance and Musser Beat Lookouts Thursday's Game; Former's Homer Clears Bases

By Dick Jemison.

Harry Welchance's hitting and fielding and the great pitching of Paul Musser were entirely too much for the Lookouts Thursday afternoon in the first game of the series, the Crackers winning 4 to 1.

It was the seventh straight victory of the season for the Crackers over the Lookouts. The Lookouts have lost four games to the Crackers in Atlanta and three in Chattanooga. Welchance pitched wonderful ball. He was practically unhittable and he did not show any signs of tiring.

He did, however, in the stand-up session, and the "lucky seventh," which has been unlucky for the Crackers of late, turned like the worm and the locals mopped up the game.

To Harry Welchance goes the largest share of the credit for the victory. The speedy centerfielder of the locals had a great day in every department. He was hit, and threw to the plate in the sixth inning that cut down King attempting to score from third on a sacrifice fly. His throw was absolutely perfect, coming to Joe Dunn on the first bounce.

Not content with this, Harry picked out one of More's fast ones in the seventh with two men on the cushions and whaled it to the score board for a clean home run. The ball climbed up on the bank along side of the board. It was one of the clearest wallops that has ever been hit on the local lot.

But Harry was not through. With two men on the paths in the ninth with two men gone, Williams hit what appeared to be a Texas leaguer right over short.

With the crack of the bat Harry fell. "I've got it," he shouted, and crowding on full steam he plunged headlong into the ball off his knees, tops on the dead run, an sensational catch as has ever been made on the local grounds this season.

Musser Hurls Fine.

Although he was a little wild, Musser mused the Lookouts up considerably. He had something on them all the time and but for a little wildness in the initial chapter would have gotten away with a whitewash affair.

Three men only little bingles were all they were able to garner off his delivery. Musser had everything but control, and he lacked this requisite only because his out curve was breaking so sharp that he could not keep it in check.

The lone Lookout run came in the opener. Ring worked Musser for free transportation and went to second when Paul Chase wild in trying to catch him off of first. He advanced to third on Flick's infield out, and scored when Coyle hit a sacrifice fly to right.

The Lookouts did not get a hit for the rest of the game. Flick's sacrifice fly in the sixth and Paul Chase's infield out in the seventh were the only hits recorded.

Crackers' Big Round.

The Crackers counted all their outpour in the stand-up session. Four hits, three tallies being registered.

Island opened the round by cracking one down the third base line for two cushions. Akler sacrificed him to third, and Musser was plinked in the slats, hitting the cushions.

Tommy Long tied up the pastime when he poked a lone fly to the outfield, sacrificing himself home.

Welchance then put the game on ice by picking one to the score board for the circuit.

Ladies' Day Today.

Today will be ladies' day at the ball park. Manager Smith will use either Gilbert Price or Bill Chappelle, with the chances favoring the latter, as Bill believes he can win from his former rival.

Rudy Summers, the former Nashville southpaw, will probably draw the starting assignment for the outfielders, though it is possible that Manager Gilbert will decide to send Jimmy Dygett to the mound.

Montgomery, Ala., June 5.—In a well-played and hard-fought battle, the last game of the series between New Orleans and Montgomery resulted in an eleven-inning tie game.

Weaver started at short, but was relieved by McIntyre in the sixth. The bases were full and two out. McIntyre retired the side without a run, when the next batter was out on a long fly to left. Bagby did not allow a hit after the fifth inning. Breen's catch of a line drive from Bagby's bat, doubling Knapp at first, was the feature. Score:

CHRIS VON DE AHE HAS PASSED AWAY

St. Louis, June 5.—Chris Von Der Ahe, owner of the old St. Louis champion ball team of 1885-88, and years ago one of the best known baseball managers in the country, died at his home here late this afternoon.

Von der Ahe has been seriously ill for two months. Death was caused by cirrhosis of the liver and dropsy. He was 61 years old, was born in Germany, and came to this country in 1870.

The eccentric German sprang into fame in 1884, when he bought a majority of the stock in the St. Louis baseball association for $1,800. In the following years he made $500,000 off the investment. When the St. Louis club joined the old American association, Von der Ahe's Browns became the famous four-time pennant winners of 1885, '86, '87 and '88. His luck lasted for eight years, his last winning club being that of 1891, which finished second in the American association. In 1892 he entered the twelve-club National league, but his teams invariably finished last or next to last.

When sportsman's park was sold to satisfy the demands of his creditors, the last few years have been poor for the one-time wealthy man. The saloon he maintained here brought him enough to keep him. His time here his friends contributed regularly to his living.

NELSON WHITNEY IN GREAT FORM

Former Champion Meets Reuben Bush in Semi-Finals Today—All Atlantans Have Been Eliminated.

Montgomery, Ala., June 5.—Play in the tournament of the Southern Golf Association was fierce all day long, the features being the elimination of Billis Knowles, of Pensacola, and Louis Jacoby, of Dallas, Texas, from the championship division, by Nelson Whitney, of New Orleans. Both of these matches were followed by immense galleries, in which the sentiment, for a time, was about evenly divided. Tomorrow morning the greatest interest, according to enthusiastic gossip around the clubhouse tonight, will be centered in the match between Nelson and Reuben Bush, both of New Orleans. These two men have battled against each other before in the championship division of the southern association, and each time Whitney has been returned the winner. Bush has been playing remarkably good golf this year, however, and his adherents are notably increased.

The playing of Jacoby was a distinct disappointment to all watchers today, but his gameness in a losing fight won him many friends. In an easy shot he lost, and as Whitney followed it with a clean shot, Jacoby snatched his hand, conceding the match with congratulations. The other Dallas player, E. H. Musser, who threatened to be a serious contender, was easily disposed of by Reuben Bush, of New Orleans. Bush easily disposed of Jack Edrington, former title holder, in the afternoon play.

The pairs in the championship semifinals for tomorrow are as follows: Reuben Bush, New Orleans, and Whitney, New Orleans; Aldredge, Dallas, and Tutwiler, Birmingham. The pairs for the consolation championship are: C. H. Manger, Dallas, and Selden, Macon; Unger, Dallas, and I. V. Read, Augusta.

Harry Chapman Is Badly Spiked; Out for Two Weeks

Harry Chapman, the Crackers' peppy catcher, is out of the pastime for at least two weeks.

In blocking outfielder Jantzen off of the plate in the seventh inning in his attempt to steal home, the local receiver received a long gash on his left leg just above the knee.

Chapman had to go to the surgeon to have damages repaired, and it was necessary that three stitches be taken before the damage was repaired. The physician has ordered complete rest as the best cure, and Manager Smith is insisting that the physician's orders be carried out.

Chapman will hardly be able to catch until the Crackers go on their road trip next week, and it may not be possible for him to get into harness then.

With Joe Dunn in a crippled condition, if he was to get hurt in any of the present games, the Crackers would be right up against it for a receiver, be right up against it for a receiver, be right up against it.

Wallop Smith, the Crackers' third base man (is a catcher. This is his regular position and Bill says he's a bear cat back of that plate.

FULTZ MAKES GOOD POINT ON SALARY

New York, June 5.—Some of the reasons why baseball players in the big league want to change the system under which they are farmed out to minor league clubs at salaries less than those called for in their original contracts, are contained in a letter written by David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' association, to August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, and made public today.

"There can be no intelligent denial," reads Mr. Fultz's letter, "of the soundness of the principle that so long as the player is held under a signed contract he must receive the salary the contract calls for. The common practice of forcing men to go to other teams and allowing the teams arbitrarily to cut their salaries can have neither legal nor moral justification.

"You say after the player is transferred it is a matter of negotiation between him and his new owner. How can it be a question of negotiation when the player is compelled to sign with one particular team or quit his profession? There can be no negotiation when one party is absolutely at the mercy of the other; it then becomes a question of duress.

"When the situation is reversed and the major league recruit plays far better ball than he is expected to, he can't 'watch' on his agreement and refuse to play unless he gets more money. Why, then, should the owner have the right to withdraw from his contract when he finds his bargain is not quite as good as he expected?"

MOTORDROME TO OPEN TONIGHT

Splendid Program to Be Presented to Speed Fans of Atlanta—Popular Prices on Hand.

Facts for Fans.
Place—Atlanta Motordrome, old show grounds.
Cars leave from Five Points.
Time—Tonight, first race, 8:30 o'clock. Track open 7.
Events—Atlanta Sweepstakes, Motordrome purse, special match race, nine races in all.
Track—Four lap, banked 15, 30, 50 and 80 degrees.
Record for a quarter of a mile track 38 3/5 seconds.
Seats on sale at Tumlin's and Shepherd's. Prices, 50 cents for grand stand; 25 cents for bleachers.

This is the day they get off in a cloud of smoke, a blaze of electric lights and an acre of thrills out of the new Atlanta Motordrome, the newest, fastest and best quarter mile motordrome in the world.

Starting at 8:30 tonight at the old show grounds, the first board track motorcycle race ever held in Atlanta or the southeast will be put on. To ride in these events Manager Noon Hudson has skimmed off the cream of the board track riders of the continent.

When the meet was proposed he and Jack Prince went over a list of the professional riders and picked out the best. Then they signed them to good contracts and they are all in Atlanta with machines tuned up and ready to risk their necks for coin and fame.

Sure to Please.
That board track racing is going to be a tremendous success in Atlanta is so obvious to the man who knows the possibilities of the sport for thrilling the spectators. Just to see a long rider wheeling around the steep banks of the track at a speed that makes a racing locomotive look like a snail is a sight in itself.

Add to this two or three others, equally fast, exciting, viciously for the leadership, and the picture of the exciting electric lights, the flames shooting from the flying machines; imagine the crowds on their feet, cheering madly, and you have some faint conception of what will be offered at the Motordrome. It is for immense popularity, unless all signs fall, which they seldom do in hot weather.

There is no competition to speak of here, outside of the hot nights of the summer or the annual tennis championships of the seekers. The Motordrome will fill a void. Within a five-minute ride of Five Points, it is easily accessible. Having no roof, it will be cool and comfortable on all pleasant nights.

Rain Checks.
In case of rain those who buy tickets will be protected by a system of rain checks similar to those issued by the ball club. The place will be brilliantly lighted, well policed and run on as high a plane as the best theater in the country. It is an amusement designed for the best people. But the prices, 25 and 50 cents, put the sport within reach of all.

For the opening night, Manager Noon Hudson has prepared a program that compares favorably with anything ever offered at Brighton Beach, split case or Los Angeles. The events, split into three events, will be put on. These events are the Atlanta Sweepstakes, the Motordrome purse and a special match race.

The first heat of the Sweepstakes is set for 8 o'clock tonight. The start will be with the machines circling the track three or four times in each race to get lined up, will take but a few minutes. The races themselves will be run off at a rate of perhaps forty to forty-two seconds to the mile, so the longest of them will not be long. The intermissions will be short, and the whole affair will be run off with such snap that it will not keep the spectators to a late hour.

Program.
The condensed program for tonight's races follows:
Atlanta Sweepstakes—First heat, one mile; second heat, one mile; third heat, one mile; final heat, sweepstakes, five miles.
Motordrome Purse—First heat, two miles; second heat, two miles; third heat, two miles; final heat, purse, three miles.
Special match race (conditions to be announced later).

Kavanaugh Will Throw Out Nashville - Atlanta Game; Only Solution to the Row

Little Rock, Ark., June 5.—"With what information I have before me, I should say that neither of the games of the Nashville-Atlanta series claimed as forfeited will be allowed to stand," said W. M. Kavanaugh, president of the Southern League, today.

Mr. Kavanaugh, who returned to Little Rock today from a fishing trip, stated tonight that he has not had opportunity to go into the controversy, but from what he had learned from newspaper dispatches, was of the opinion that the games would be ordered played over.

Atlanta and Nashville were scheduled to play at Nashville June 2, 3 and 4. One of these games was advanced to Sunday. Monday announcement was made by the Nashville club that the remaining games of the series would be played Tuesday and Wednesday, but the Atlanta team appeared at the Nashville grounds Monday afternoon in uniform and claimed a forfeit. After Tuesday's game, Manager Smith and his team left Nashville to play an especially arranged game with Montgomery in Atlanta. In Nashville the home team went through the usual formalities yesterday and claimed a victory by forfeit.

"This whole trouble has been caused by the managers failing to notify me when they agreed to a change in schedule," said Mr. Kavanaugh. "Neither Manager Schwartz, of Nashville, nor Manager Smith, of Atlanta,

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Waycross 2, Valdosta 1.
Waycross, Ga., June 5.—(Special.)—In a brilliant twelve-inning game Waycross defeated Valdosta today, 2 to 1. Alpermann started the rally in the twelfth by a single to right, and on Benton's two-bagger he scored. Gentry pitched a fine game for Valdosta but Waycross was lucky in getting bunched hits. Valdosta's run was made on two two-bangers in the second, and although they were dangerous several times, snappy doubles killed their chance of scoring. Wild Bill Clark by today's victory, made his fourth straight since he joined Waycross. Waycross made three doubles and Valdosta one.

Travers Made Record.

Short Hills, N. J., June 5.—Following close upon his winning of the Metropolitan golf championship, Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., the national champion, established a record of 73 for the remodeled links of the Baltusrol club today in the 18-hole qualifying round of the New Jersey state championship tournament. Indian Thorpe's Record Is Broken by Thompson

Princeton, N. J., June 5.—F. C. Thompson, a student in the Princeton Theological seminary, made a new world's record in the all-around championships held here today, when he scored a total of 7,498 in the ten events. The previous records were 7,386, made by Martin Sheridan, of New York, and 7,476, made by James Thorpe, subsequently disqualified for professionalism. Thorpe made his record last September at Celtic Park, N. Y.

Today's meet was sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic union, and open to all registered amateurs, but the only entries were Princeton students—J. H. Simons, M. Hayes and M. L. Davy competed against Thompson; Simons finished second, with 5,266 points.

Thompson failed to equal Thorpe's records in any of the first three events, the 100-yard dash, the shot-put and the high jump, and when the fourth event, the half-mile walk, was started, he was 361 points behind the record. He did the walk in 3 minutes 33 seconds, making 847 points, as compared to 527 points made in this event by Thorpe, and also bettered Thorpe's record in all the following events except the broad jump. Thompson made his best showing in the high hurdles, which he ran in 15 seconds flat.

The performances of Thorpe and Thompson are indicated in the following table:

Advertising Drives the Wheels of Trade

It is recorded of a certain member of the animal kingdom that with the advent of cold weather he crawls into a hole and goes to sleep. There he stays until warm weather arrives when he awakens and comes forth.

This is suggestive of the general attitude of advertisers who, with the approach of warm weather, pull down their signs of publicity and to a certain degree go out of business until fall.

The anticipation of poor business and the withdrawal of means of communication with the buying public really cause poor business.

The experience of certain wise ones proves that by advertising through the warm months they can keep business up to normal and often up to the volume of the winter season.

Most persons are on the job during the warm months with the exception of several weeks. Set your advertising clutch for higher speed. Spend more time in developing and holding business instead of twiddling thumbs and cussin' the humidity.

Phone Main 5000 and a representative of The Constitution will call. With your knowledge of your business and his knowledge of advertising, the two of you can prepare a "ginger-up" campaign that should keep you busy selling goods.

DECREE IN OIL CASE DECLARED INADEQUATE

Attorney General Indicates Attitude Towards Probe to Determine if Trust Still Exists.

Washington, June 5.—Attorney General McKeynolds said today that he regarded the Standard Oil dissolution decree as inadequate to meet the intent of the Sherman law. This was the first definite indication of the attorney's attitude toward an investigation now being conducted to determine whether the "oil trust" still exists.

His objections to the decree, like those he had expressed against the tobacco decree, are based on the ground that a real dissolution of trust cannot be accomplished by a distribution of the stock pro rata among the same shareholders.

CAMPAIN OF RELIGION TO BE WAGED IN ATHENS

Beautiful Graduating Exercises Held by the Girls' High School

One hundred and forty pretty girls, clad in white draped with pink ribbons, graduated from the Girls' High School and the English Commercial School last night, the exercises being held in the Grand theater. Every available seat was taken, and toward the closing, even standing room was at a premium.

Carrying bouquets of pink roses, the girl graduates captivated their audience, especially at the last in the Delairé drill, when the combination of green wreaths, yellow corymbes and bright faces made a pretty picture.

The crowning feature of an interesting program was the award of the Vivian Marsh cup to Miss Jeannette Victor, who a few days ago was awarded the Agnes Scott scholarship.

Advocate School Tax

Before the presentation of the diploma, Colonel Daier made a fiery speech, advocating a school tax for the maintenance of the public schools. "The English Commercial High school is a homeless school, an orphan in our system," he said. "It has the land, and no house to house our school, and the lives of our girls are in danger. The Girls' High school is a dismal, disgusting structure. It is so in the corridors that when the president members were in the school the other day we were unable to distinguish the way to the principal's office, and had to ask for a building many times. It is heated by fourteen furnaces and four stoves, and they don't keep it warm. It is a disgrace."
