TRUITT INDICTED ON THREE COUNTS

Larceny After Trust, and Cheating and Swindling Are Charges Made Against Prominent Coal Man.

Charles L. Truitt, of S. M. Truitt & Son, wholesale and retail coal dealers, was indicted on three counts yesterday afternoon by the Fulton county grand jury in connection with the recent charges of giving short weights...

According to the testimony of two former drivers for the firm and customers who claim to have been defrauded the giving of short weights has been going on for four years.

It is claimed that in sending out one-horse loads of coal that the loads would be from 400 to 500 pounds short, while on two-horse loads the shortage is asserted to have amounted to from 800 to 900 pounds.

In the indictment for larceny after trust it is charged that Truitt sold approximately two wagon loads of coal from a car of the fuel which he was supposed to deliver to a customer.

COMMITTEE WILL CLEAR ALDERMEN OF GRAFT CHARGE

Four Members Say They Are Satisfied That the Evidence Does Not Sustain Statements of McClelland.

CANDLER TO CONSIDER EVIDENCE AGAIN FIRST

Near Beer Dealers Declare They Lent Spratling Money Out of Friendship and Not for Protection.

The probe of charges of alleged graft made by Alderman John E. McClelland against Aldermen F. J. Spratling, James W. Maddox and I. N. Rasdale was concluded at 11:30 o'clock last night.

After hearing all the witnesses summoned by the committee through Assistant District Attorney W. D. Ellis, Jr., and those summoned from a list furnished the committee by Alderman McClelland, four members of the committee of five declared that they were satisfied that the charges were not sustained.

Candler in Noncommittal. "I won't say anything until I have carefully gone over all the testimony again," declared Judge John S. Candler, when he was asked for an opinion.

The charges against Aldermen Spratling and Rasdale were taken up at 7:30 o'clock. In his communication to council, Alderman McClelland charged that Alderman Spratling borrowed large sums of money from near beer dealers; that Alderman Rasdale, as member of the firm of Lawton & Co., dealers in mules, speculated with the city, and that Alderman Maddox used his influence to secure contracts from contractors engaged by the city for public improvements.

Truitt Indicted. Briefly there was little evidence of a startling nature adduced at the hearing, except a statement made by Alderman Spratling from the stand to the effect that Alderman McClelland called at his office during the crematory fight and tried to influence him (Spratling) to vote against the tearing down of the old $3,000 crematory plant to make room for the erection of the new $376,800 building.

Loan Made Through Friendship. James Lynch, a wholesale and retail beer dealer, told the committee that he loaned Spratling $500 on a note on June 27, 1910, long before Spratling was even nominated.

They are Harry Denham and Arthur White, two young men who have been connected with the plant for several years. Detective Scott found them at work in the factory and escorted them to the inquest. They left the police station immediately after being examined.

Mary Phagan Was Growing Afraid of Advances Made to Her by Superintendent of the Factory, George W. Epps, 15 Years Old, Tells the Coroner's Jury.

BOY HAD ENGAGEMENT TO MEET HER SATURDAY BUT SHE DID NOT COME

Newt Lee, Night Watchman, on Stand Declared Frank Was Much Excited on Saturday Afternoon—Pearl Robinson Testifies for Arthur Mullinax—Two Mechanics Brought by Detectives to the Inquest.

LEO FRANK REFUSES TO DISCUSS EVIDENCE

When a Constitution reporter saw Leo M. Frank early this morning and told him of the testimony to the effect that he had annoyed Mary Phagan by an attempted flirtation, the prisoner said that he had not heard of this accusation before, but that he did not want to talk.

Evidence that Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the pencil factory in which the lifeless body of Mary Phagan was found, had tried to flirt with her, and that she was growing afraid of his advances, was submitted to the coroner's jury at the inquest yesterday afternoon, a short time before adjournment was taken until 4:30 o'clock today.

George rode with Mary to the city Saturday morning an hour before she disappeared. He testified last Wednesday afternoon that he had told him of attempts Leo Frank had made to flirt with her and of apparent advances in which he was daily growing bolder.

Waited Two Hours For Girl

Coroner had an engagement to meet the girl Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. They were scheduled to appear in the Memorial parade and tour the picture shows. He waited two hours for her. She had disappeared. The next day he saw the mysterious girl with youths and girls Saturday night at Whitehall and Trinity. He remained but a moment.

Sensational developments were predicted shortly after the inquest was resumed at 4:15 o'clock, when Coroner Donohue ordered a detachment of police headquarters the two mechanics who were in the factory building with Frank during the early part of Saturday afternoon.

Compare these prices with what you must pay to most dealers.

Figure the saving on one day's buying—then consider what you can save in a year. Worth while, isn't it? Rather tumbles the talk about high cost of living!

ear L. Sentell, a clerk in Kamper's Grocery, declared positively that he had seen Mary Phagan with Arthur Mullinax at midnight Saturday as they crossed the corner of Hunter and Forsyth streets a few yards distant from the pencil factory.

Sentell had known the dead girl since early childhood. They were intimate friends, he said. Asserting that he had spoken to her, he stoutly maintained that she had answered his greeting.

L. Watkins, a neighbor to the home in which Mary lived, also testified that he had seen her Saturday afternoon when she crossed Ashby street at Bellwood. She presumably was on her way home, he stated.

George Epps is a bright, quick-witted chap and proved an eager witness. He was brought before the inquest following the examination of Pearl Robinson, the sweetheart of Arthur Mullinax, who testified in that youth's behalf.

How old are you son? was the first question asked him.

Fifteen—going on sixteen, he answered with alacrity.

Do you work or go to school?

I work at a furniture store in the afternoon I sell papers.

His answers were clear and brief. He made a pleasing impression.

Lives Near Phagan Girl.

How far do you live from 136 Lindsay street—the home of Mary Phagan?

Just around the block.

Did you know Mary?

Yes sir I certainly did. We were good friends.

When did you last see her alive?

Saturday morning, just before dinner when she came to town together on a street car.

Did you arrange to meet her that afternoon?

Yes sir. We were to have met at 2 o'clock in Elkin & Watson's drug store at Five Points. We were going to see the parade and go to the moving picture shows.

How long did you wait for her when she failed to show up?

Until about nine in the afternoon I stuck around two hours waiting for her. Then I had to go and sell my papers.

Did you inquire for her?

Yes I went to her house when I got through with my papers. She hadn't got back. The folks were looking for her.

When you and Mary were riding to town did you talk any?

She Wanted Money

Mighty Bad.

We talked a whole lot. She said she was going to the pencil factory to draw the wages due her. She said she didn't have but $1.60 coming to her, but wanted that mighty bad.

How was she dressed?

She had on a blue dress and a dark blue hat. I remember that hat mightily well because I asked her why she didn't have but a stylish hat. 'Umph!' she said, I'm no stylish girl I don't need one.

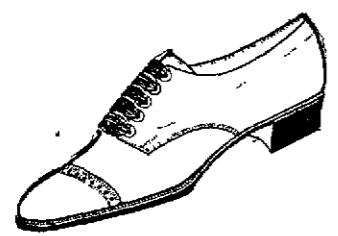

Did you both get on the car at the same time?

No. She was on first. When I got on she mentioned for me to come and sit beside her. While we were coming to town she began talking about Mr. Frank. When she would leave the factory on some afternoon in front of her and try to flirt with her as she passed.

She told me that he had often winked at her and tried to pay her attention. He would look hard and straight at her, she said, and that I would smile. She called him Mr. Frank. It happened often she said.

How was the subject of Mr. Frank brought up?

She told me she wanted me to come down to the factory when the nulling machine of Mary's hands became tangled with long hair. I picked up a dozen strands or more. They were dark and identified them as having come from Mary's head."

"Was Mary a quiet girl?"

"Exceptionally quiet, and a very well behaved one."

Did anyone pay, or attempt to pay, attention to her?"

"Not of my knowledge. No one did around the factory."

How large was the spot of blood you found near the machine at which she worked?"

"About six inches in diameter. There were several smaller spots."

What floor?"

"How near the elevator?"

"At the extreme end—200 or more feet, I would judge, from the lift."

Girls Afraid Of Frank

"Did you ever know of familiarity which Frank tried with Mary?"

"No."

Declaring that, in his opinion, both of the notes found beside the dead girl's body were written by the same person, P. M. Barry, assistant cashier of the Fourth National bank, and a handwriting expert, said that the script in the mysterious missives resembled only slightly that of the writing of the suspected watchman.

He took the stand at 3:30 p. m.

"What experience have you in distinguishing handwriting?"

"Only the experience that could be gained by my twenty-three years of service with the bank."

The notes were given him. He inspected them closely in the light of a window fronting Decatur street.

"Were they written by the same person?" he was asked.

"In my opinion, they were."

Was Factory Used For Assassination?

Barry, the factory mechanic, was recalled to the stand at 4:10 o'clock. Sensational evidence was put before him relative to the usage of the factory building as an alleged place of assignment for men and women.

"Did anybody work in the plant during the afternoon?"

"No one of my direct knowledge. I heard, however, of two young employees who were at work on the top floor."

Do you know them?"

"Yes, their names are Coleman and Mrs. Coleman."

Could you point them out to the detectives?

I could.

"Then, from Coroner Donehoo, I will send a man after them. You go with me."

"What is the usual pay hour of the factory?"

"At 12 noon on Saturdays."

Have you ever heard of the building being used for immoral purposes?"

Yes, frequently. At Mr. Ashbury Calloway, connected with the Seaboard offices near the factory building, has told me that he has often seen men and women and girls going in and out of the building at night."

Had you heard such rumors from the inside of the concern—by that is meant from attaches to the plant?"

"No."

Don't you suspect that some of the girls of the factory have filled clandestine appointments in the building?"

I don't think so. I believe every girl in the place is straight—absolutely.

Gant Smiles During Quiz.

J. M. Gant, the Marietta youth who is held as a suspect in the Phagan case was put through a grueling examination. He never flinched through the ordeal, answered the questions promptly and concisely, and smiled during the entire procedure.

He was put on the rack the moment his sweetheart, Pearl Robinson had been examined. He remained under examination probably longer than any other witness except the negro, Newt Lee.

The time was an hour.

Did you know Mary Phagan?

I did. I had known her since she was a little tot.

Were you ever employed with the pencil factory?

I was—up until three weeks ago.

Why did you leave them?

I was discharged.

Why were you discharged?

Because of personal differences with Mr. Frank, the superintendent.

What were the differences?

Two dollars short in the pay roll.

Were you in charge of the pay roll?

I was paymaster.

Did you ever see Frank with Mary Phagan?

No.

You always paid off the employees, did you not?

I did.

How were they paid?

With the envelope method.

Did you ever pay Mary Phagan?

Yes.

What did she make?

Presumably $4.05 a week, judging by the wage scale of the plant.

When did you see her last?

The day I quit the pencil company. Had you seen her since?"

No.

Where did you go on Saturday?

Went to the factory.

I went to the pencil factory about 6:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Did you see Mr. Frank there?"

Yes.

Did he appear excited agitated?"

Yes. He seemed nervous.

Did you ever hear Mary Phagan say she couldn't trust Frank—that she feared him in any manner?"

No.

How long were you in the building Saturday afternoon?"

No longer than ten minutes.

What did you do?"

I put a pair of shoes I had left in the place when I quit. Also, I telephoned my sister, Mrs. F. C. Terrell what time I intended coming home that night. I used the phone in Mr. Frank's office.

What time did you do?"

Went to a poolroom, watched several games of pool and went home.

What time did you arrive home?"

10:30 p. m.

Were you there when the police came?"

No.

Did your sister tell of their visit?"

No.

Shank Takes Stand.

Other testimony relative to the rumored immoral reputation of the factory building was gained from V. F. Shank, of Shank Bros., whose establishment is on Forsyth street, near the pencil plant.

Shank was called immediately after Barrett had taken the stand.

Do you work at night?"

I do.

Have you ever seen couples going into the pencil factory?"

"I have seen a number of couples. I have witnessed girls and men going singly into the place after dark."

How long has it been since you've seen this?"

"Since summer some time."

Did you make a statement recently of having seen girls enter the building with a crowd of such sights I had seen We were discussing the question of whether or not frolics were secretly held in the place.

Thought girl was Mary.

Step-father tells of Grief.

J. W. Coleman, step father of the murdered girl told graphically of the grief in the little home on Lindsay street over the death when he took the stand at dusk.

How old was Mary Phagan?"

"She would have been 14 next June."

"When did you last see her alive?"

"Friday night. She was at home early and was helping her mother with the housework. I left for work too early to see her Saturday morning."

"When you got home Saturday afternoon was Mary there?"

"No. My wife came and said 'Mary has not come home. What do you suppose is the trouble?' I am scared to death. I couldn't eat supper. Her absence affected me. Mary was never known to be away from home at night."

I came to town and visited all the picture shows, staying until they all had closed. When I returned my wife and I speculated on what could have become of the child. We never slept any that night. At daybreak Helen Ferguson, a girl chum of Mary's came over.

The moment she rang the door bell my wife jumped from her seat. 'Oh Lord that's bad news from Mary,' she said. The Ferguson girl came in. 'Mary has been murdered and she has been almost unable to walk since.'

The coroner then adjourned the inquest until 4:30 o'clock today.

Following Mechanic Barrett's declaration that there were two men at the floor of the factory building, Coroner Donehoo ordered detectives to accompany the machinist to the plant and bring the two employees to police headquarters.

They were brought immediately into the inquest. Their names were given as Harry Danham and J. Arthur White. Danham was first placed on the stand. His examination began immediately upon arrival.

"Did you see the blood on the lathing machine?"

"I saw it Monday."

"Were you on that floor Saturday?"

"No. I was on the top floor."

"Did you see Frank at any time of the day?"

"Yes."

Asked When They Would Finish.

"Did he offer you holiday as the others had been given?"

"No. He came up to where we were working and asked us if we would be through by 1 o'clock."

"Did you ever know Mary Phagan?"

"I knew her only by sight."

"Did you see her Saturday?"

"No. I never left the top floor."

"Were you aware of everything which was going on in the building during the time you were within it?"

"No. A person could have come into the plant and we never would have known anything about it."

"How long have you worked with the pencil company?"

"Three years."

"Have you ever heard of couples going into the building at night?"

"No."

"Have you ever heard of complaints of that nature?"

"No."

"Have you ever been in the partitioned room in Frank's office?"

"No."

Apparently Not Nervous.

"When Frank came to where you were working at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon to tell you that you could quit, did he seem nervous or agitated?"

"Not that I noticed. He didn't come all the way. He came to the head of the steps and called us."

"Did you go down with him?"

"No. He went down ahead of us. Was he in his office?"

"Yes. When I went down I borrowed $2 from him."

When did you leave him?"

"Writing at his desk."

Was anyone else in the factory?"

"No one of whom I knew, except Frank."

How many rooms are there in Frank's office?"

"Only two—his and the stenographer's."

Can you see any one in the private office from the stenographer's room?"

"Yes if you try to."

As you left the building Saturday afternoon did you notice in Frank's office any change from the customary state in the condition of furniture?"

"No."

"Who uses the office beside Frank?"

"Mr. Darley, the assistant superintendent."

Left Building for a While.

Arthur White's story coincided with that told by Danham. He was examined mostly, though, along different lines.

"Who was in the building besides you, Danham and Frank?"

"My wife came up shortly after noon. Mr. Frank came to her and told her

Amazed to See Her Uptown.

No. They were not. It amazed me when I saw her uptown at such an hour with a man. She looked like she was tired and fagged out."

What did she wear?"

"A light purple dress, black shoes with a light blue ribbon tied in her hair. She didn't have a hat. An umbrella was in her hand."

Can you swear that it was Mary Phagan you saw?"

I can and will. I am swearing now that it was Mary Phagan I saw.

Can you swear it was Mullinax?"

I am not so positive about him. If it is Mullinax it was his split-and-image."

Did you know Mullinax's name?"

No. Not at that time. I had seen him so much around the car barns, though I learned his name later."

When did you first hear of Mary's murder?"

Sunday morning on an English avenue trolley car.

Who did you first tell?"

Mrs. Coleman, her mother."

Did the paper tell who was killed?"

Went to Mother Of Girl

No. I heard men at the car barn say the girls name was Phagan. I immediately remembered seeing Mary at midnight. I went straight to Mrs. Coleman and learned that it was her daughter."

Where did you work before becoming connected with your present employer?"

I was in the navy."

When did you leave?"

April 18 1913.

How long had you been there?"

Three months."

Why did you leave?"

Because of eye affliction. I couldn't read the targets on the rifle range. Is your eye sight ordinarily affected?"

Not particularly so."

Are you sure your eyes didn't fall you when you saw this girl Saturday at midnight?"

I am positive they did not."

Do you drink?"

Occasionally. But I never get drunk.

Were you drinking Saturday night?"

Not a drop."

At this juncture the clothing worn by the murdered girl was held to the questioned man's gaze.

Is this the dress she wore when you saw her Saturday night?"

It is.

Bloody Hairs Are Found.

The discovery of a dozen strands of bloody hair identified by the slayer as those of the murdered girl was related by R. P. Barrett, a mechanic in the pencil plant who made the find.

He was placed upon the stand directly after Gant had been examined by Policeman Lanesetter.

What is your employment?"

I am a machinist with the National Pencil company.

How long have you been with the Seven weeks.

Did you know Mary Phagan?"

Yes. She ran a nulling machine at the factory.

When did you see her last?"

Tuesday one week ago. She didn't work after that because of shortage in metal.

How far is her machine from the dressing room she used?"

About six feet.

Was anything unusual found around the machine at which she worked?"

Spotches Of Blood.

The girls at the factory told me Monday that Mary had been murdered. They were dim, and looked as though whitewash had been spread over them. It looked as though the floor had been swept carefully.

Was anything else found on the floor?"

Yes. Monday morning, I started to

Frank Not Apparently Nervous Say Last Men to Leave Factory

"No. He came up to where we were working and asked us if we would be through by 1 o'clock."

"Did you ever know Mary Phagan?"

"I knew her only by sight."

"Did you see her Saturday?"

"No. I never left the top floor."

"Were you aware of everything which was going on in the building during the time you were within it?"

"No. A person could have come into the plant and we never would have known anything about it."

"How long have you worked with the pencil company?"

"Three years."

"Have you ever heard of couples going into the building at night?"

"No."

"Have you ever heard of complaints of that nature?"

"No."

"Have you ever been in the partitioned room in Frank's office?"

"No."

Apparently Not Nervous.

"When Frank came to where you were working at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon to tell you that you could quit, did he seem nervous or agitated?"

"Not that I noticed. He didn't come all the way. He came to the head of the steps and called us."

"Did you go down with him?"

"No. He went down ahead of us. Was he in his office?"

"Yes. When I went down I borrowed $2 from him."

When did you leave him?"

"Writing at his desk."

Was anyone else in the factory?"

"No one of whom I knew, except Frank."

How many rooms are there in Frank's office?"

"Only two—his and the stenographer's."

Can you see any one in the private office from the stenographer's room?"

"Yes if you try to."

As you left the building Saturday afternoon did you notice in Frank's office any change from the customary state in the condition of furniture?"

"No."

"Who uses the office beside Frank?"

"Mr. Darley, the assistant superintendent."

Left Building for a While.

Arthur White's story coincided with that told by Danham. He was examined mostly, though, along different lines.

"Who was in the building besides you, Danham and Frank?"

"My wife came up shortly after noon. Mr. Frank came to her and told her

NEWT LEE TELLS HIS STORY DURING MORNING SESSION

Was the man who first assaulted and then brutally killed Mary Phagan last Saturday night hiding in the basement of the National Pencil company when the watchman, Newt Lee, came down and discovered the girl's mutilated body early Sunday morning?

This is the question that rose to everyone's mind following the testimony of the negro nightwatchman, at the coroner's inquest Wednesday. In direct contradiction to the evidence of every policeman who had been on the scene, the negro declared that he found the body, lying face up, with the head toward the wall. When the police arrived, the body was lying face down, with the head pointing toward the front of the building.

The most severe cross examination could not shake the negro. He stuck to his story, never seeming to waver for an instant. So convincing was his air that it became the general idea that the murderer must have been in the cellar at the time, waiting to burn the body of his victim. Lee's coming down into the cellar may have frightened him away.

He declared that when he reported for work at 4 o'clock on the afternoon before the tragedy, his employer told him to go home until 8 o'clock. Frank looked nervous and excited at the time, he said. He also said that Frank had called him up later in the night, to find if everything was all right, something that he had never done before.

What was the reason for his being so nervous and excited in the night, he said, was that he was positive that it was the body of a white girl as soon as he saw it—was brushed aside when he explained that he saw the difference because of the hair, which was straight and brown, totally unlike that of a negro.

The same jury that was used by coroner Donohue Monday morning was reassembled at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the inquest reconvened.

Inquest at Police Headquarters.

The inquest was held at police headquarters, W. F. Anderson, a call officer on the police force, who took the negro's message, when he reported the finding of the body, was the first to testify.

He described the body as he found it after the negro had led him and other officers to it. He stated specifically that the head pointed toward the front of the building and that the body was lying face down.

Minutely, he gave all of the gruesome details of the dead girl's appearance. He told how evident it had been that she had been in a struggle to the death, how her stockings were torn, her shoe missing and her whole face discolored by bruises and grime. So shocking was her state, he declared, that he did not know at first whether she was white or colored.

He said that her neck was knotted around with twine and a piece of cloth, evidently torn from her undershirt.

He declared that the staple that had been used to hold the door from the basement closed had been drawn.

Physician Does Questioning.

Dr. W. W. Hurt took up the questioning at this point.

"Could the negro have seen a body lying 20 or 30 feet away from where he was standing, by the light of the lantern that he carried?" he asked.

"He could not," replied the policeman. "At the most he could have seen for 12 or 15 feet. His lantern was very old and dim."

Sergeant E. J. Brown, who also went to the scene of the crime, was next called before the jury. He corroborated the other policeman's testimony. In regard to the impossibility for anyone to distinguish the race of the girl without the most minute examination, he also declared that the negro could have seen nothing, standing 25 feet away from the body.

"It was very hard to see, with our regulation police flash lights," he said, "and the negro only had a very weak lamp. I am sure that he could not have seen anything at a distance of 25 feet."

"This is nothing but a child," he testified that he exclaimed when he first saw the body. He said that he could not tell her color until he rolled down one stocking and looked at the knee.

He went over the revolting details of the girl's condition. His testimony did not conflict with his brother's officers in any way, but he told of some matters which the other had failed to bring out.

He said that there was dirt in her mouth even. The negro nightwatchman had told him, he said, that he rarely came down in the cellar, but that he had a special reason for doing so on that night.

When he was questioned about the telephoning of the news to Superintendent Frank that the sergeant's information became most damaging.

"We called up at once almost," he testified, "but on account of the central that a girl had been murdered and that it was of the utmost importance that we get the number, we could not get in communication with Mr. Frank until much later in the day."

Blood-Stained Garments Shown.

It was then that the most dramatic occurrence of the whole day took place. A one-piece purple silk dress, dirty and torn and blood-stained, and a gunmetal slipper, worn by Mary Phagan on the night of the murder, were shown to the jury.

Ben Phagan, the dead girl's sailor brother, rose from his seat and looked down on the little heap of clothes with eyes that tragically stared. For a moment he stood so, and then walked out his head bowed, his hands over his eyes.

Upon being recalled, Officer Anderson testified that the body of the girl had still been warm when he came there and that blood was flowing from some of the wounds.

Police Sergeant L. S. Dobbe, who was next called, identified the notes that had been found by the girl's body. He declared that, after a minute examination, he had been able to say with authority that the body was that of a white girl. External appearances, he said, tended to show that the body had been dragged and thrown into the cellar.

He said that after examining the body he turned to the negro watchman and accused him of having either committed the crime or of knowing something of it. The negro, he said, denied all knowledge of the affair.

Read Note to Negro.

He said that he then read him the note in which he had been purported to have written: "Tall, black, thin negro did this. He will try to lay it on tonight." The negro then replied, he declared, "That means me—the night watchman."

Other evidence simply corroborated the testimony of his brother officers. Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, was called on the stand at 11:45 o'clock. He testified that he had especially instructed him to come to work two hours earlier than usual that Saturday, because of its being a holiday.

"Go out and have some more fun," Frank told him when he came to work at 4 o'clock, he declared. He explained that he made a round of the building every half-hour, only going to the basement when he had an unusual amount of time on his hands.

He said that Frank was still in the building when Gantt, a former book-keeper, came to the door and asked to be allowed in to get an old pair of shoes that he had left inside. The negro declared that he had told Gantt that it was against the rules, but that he would ask his employer.

Frank Looked Frightened.

Lee declared that Frank looked frightened when he told him that Gantt was downstairs. He thought that this might have been caused by Frank's fear that the other, whom he had recently quarreled with and discharged, might "do him dirt."

He said that Gantt got the shoes, wrapped them up and made an engagement with someone over the telephone for 9 o'clock that night. The negro was unable to say who Gantt had talked to, but he said that it was a lady.

"How did you know?" he was asked "By the name," he replied. He could not remember the name when further questioned, however.

He said that he saw Gantt leave, passing on down the street. He said that he did not know when Frank left, however. He explained the superintendent might have come back at any time, anyway, as he had a key.

He said that he went down into the basement at about 7 o'clock, after making a round of the building. He declared that the gas jet, which he had left burning when he left before, that morning, was not burning as brightly as before.

Frank Calls Up.

He said that shortly after this Frank called up to find if everything was all right. "It is as far as I know," he declared he answered.

He said Frank called before at night.

When he declared that he had found the body lying with the face up, the way by which the girl would have left the factory and show how easily a man could have hidden behind the railing, which is closely boarded up.

"The four criminal," they state, "knew it was pay day, and as it was Memorial day, the place would close early in the afternoon. He could have hidden at the foot of the stairway and when the girl came down the steps with her money in her purse, seized her and thrown her into the hole which leads to the basement to the left of the elevator shaft. It could all have been done so swiftly by a strong-armed man that the girl would have had no time to make an outcry before she was insensible in the basement.

"Then the criminal could have quickly followed on the ladder that stood in the hole and led from the first floor to the basement. Down in the basement he had ample opportunity to carry out his hellish purposes. His exit was easy, as has been shown in the newspaper. No one could have heard or seen the crime committed who was passing in the street or who was on the second or third floors."

"We are not advancing theories in the defense of Mr. Frank," states S. S. Sellig, who was among those who madan inspection of the factory Wednesday, "for he needs no defense. But the theory we advance is as plausible and fits so well into the 'clues' that have been found that it is remarkable the officers have not worked along that line. The girl's parasol was found at the foot of the ladder, where it could have fallen when she was thrown into the hole. That the purse and money were missing shows that there was robbery as well as assault and murder."

Waycross Tax Returns.

Waycross, Ga., April 30.—(Special.) Property in Waycross gained $681,000 during the past twelve months. This is no larger gain than Waycross has been accustomed to in recent years, but shows that the city is growing steadily. Most of the increase for the year was in improved real estate.

coroner directly asked him, "Why did you turn it over?"

"I didn't," stoutly averred the negro.

He declared that he had punched the time clock every half-hour; that he himself had put in a fresh slip with Frank.

He said that when he first saw the body in the basement it had looked very queer to him, and that he thought that boys had put it there to frighten him. It was only when he saw the bloody face and straight hair, he said, that he recognized it as the body of a white woman. He then became frightened and called up the police.

He said that he had been told by employers on Sunday following his arrest that he had punched the clock regularly Saturday night.

He emphatically declared that his lantern had been cleaned Friday and that it was in good condition. He said that a negro fireman (Knollys) probably had a key to the back door of the building, kept open during the day.

Thinks He Saw Girl.

J. G. Spier, of Cartersville, testified that Saturday afternoon at about 4 o'clock he passed the factory and saw in front of it a 15-year-old girl and a man about 25 years old, both very much excited. He said that he came back nearly an hour later and noticed the same couple standing at the same place.

He said that he visited the body at Bloomfield's undertaking establishment and was sure that the dead girl was the same one that he saw Saturday afternoon. He said that Frank had the same "outline" as the man he saw, but would not identify him positively. Mr. Spier's testimony brought the morning session to a close.

Friends of L. M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil company, gave out yesterday for the first time their theory of how Mary Phagan came to her tragic death. They visited the scene of the crime, and claiming that Frank has been unjustly held and questioned by the police, they are pointing out how the girl could have been robbed, assaulted and murdered without anyone connected with the factory knowing anything about it.

They point to the foot of the stairway by which the girl would have left the factory and show how easily a man could have hidden behind the railing, which is closely boarded up.

"The four criminal," they state, "knew it was pay day, and as it was Memorial day, the place would close early in the afternoon. New Two-Piece English Models

Let us talk to you of the fabric of these newly-arrived two-piece English models in unusual novelty patterns. It is a most perfect reproduction of imported woolen. The texture of the worsted-cheviot is marvelously soft and fine and light of weight; colors combined in the patterns are beautiful blends of gray and green, with threads of gold, silk threads, deep in the soft wool, in groups of twos and threes.

Such written description would cover the three suits selected as being specially attractive, and yet each one is different, owing to the variety of arrangements. One has a predominance of gray, another green, another brown, each having the rich yellow-brown silk decoration.

Beautifully made, beautifully lined with rich silky mohair; sleeve lining of pongee.

To say that the style and the quality are there is superfluous.

STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS CHARGED BY POLICE

Attack on the Street Car Barns at Asheville Is Frustrated.

Asheville, N. C., April 30.—Following a comparatively quiet day in the strike situation a mob of three or four hundred men and boys tonight attacked the barns of the Asheville Power and Light company, whose motormen and conductors went on strike for an advance in wages of 3 cents an hour last Saturday afternoon. Several windows were broken by volleys of the police and stones.

The police charged the crowd on several occasions, making twelve arrests of men alleged to have been the ring-leaders. Extra policemen and deputies were hurried to the scene and at midnight the crowd had practically dispersed.

The street car company operated six cars today with strike-breakers, the first car going over the Blittmore lines under heavy guard at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The cars moved all day without interruption, the city police rigidly enforcing the "move on" ordinance with a view to preventing the formation of mobs. Additional cars will be operated tomorrow and it is reported tonight that in the event of further trouble from strike sympathizers Governor Craig will be asked to send state troops to this city.

Representatives of the street car workers and the company stated tonight that the strike situation was unchanged and that there was no prospect of settlement.

SPIRIT OF FELLOWSHIP REVEALED BY CONTEST

Rival S. S. Teachers, 150 Strong, Gather at Supper and Love Feast.

"This is truly a great occasion, for it reveals the fact that when men and women are working for the Lord through a great Sunday school contest like ours they can work against each other and with each other at the same time."

Dr. L. O. Bricker, who crystallized the noble spirit of fellowship that overspread the gathering in the First Christian church Wednesday evening when the teachers of the two contesting Sunday schools sat down to supper together and discussed Sunday school methods.

There were many other methods recounted, and the meeting proved a revelation along the line of Sunday school development and organization. Talks were made by the two superintendents, John S. Spalding, of the Second Baptist, and C. V. Lefraw, of the First Christian. Dr. John E. White and Dr. Bricker, the pastors of the two churches, sat together at the supper table and were given the opportunity of a few minutes' talk.

The pastor of the First Christian, who prepared the supper in the splendidly equipped kitchen of the church, served it in the large dining-room. It was in the nature of a return courtesy, as the First Christian was entertained in like manner by the Second Baptist four weeks ago—the first of these unique suppers ever held in Atlanta.

Plans were discussed for the joint auditorium meeting of the two Sunday schools next Sunday morning, beginning at 10:45 o'clock and an entertaining program decided upon.

FARMERS' UNION LANDS ON COTTON SCHEDULE

Alleged New Rates Will Injure Cotton Planters—Plea to Southern Congressmen.

New Orleans, April 30.—The cotton schedule for the democratic tariff revision bill now pending in congress will result in heavy financial losses to the cotton planters and cotton manufacturers, according to statements made by representatives of the cotton interest today at a special hearing being conducted here by a committee representing the National Farmers' union.

J. D. Brown, member of a spot cotton firm of New Orleans, stated that the present cotton schedule resulted in a decline of nearly $5 a bale in the price of raw cotton, representing a loss of millions of dollars to the planters.

Sigmund Odenheimer, president of the Lane Cotton mills, who yesterday told the committee that the American mills could not possibly compete with the English mills in the manufacture of the finer grades of cotton goods, was recalled today. He gave the present information regarding the bad effect which he claimed the passage of the Underwood bill will have upon the cotton industry. He declared that if this schedule is adopted in its present form it will result in a serious loss to the mills of the United States, many of which, he said, were not now paying profitable dividends.

The committee telegraphed senators from the southern states to refrain from pledging their support to the Underwood bill until the testimony which it is securing can be presented to the senate. The committee is composed of officers of the Farmers' union of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The hearings will continue for several days.

OPPOSITION TO HARRIS HAS FALLEN THROUGH

Georgian Will Be Confirmed Director of Census—Washington Post's Tribute.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, April 30.—(Special)—Opposition to William J. Harris' nomination to be director of the census has practically fallen through. He was today given the almost unanimous endorsement of the census committee, only one vote being recorded against favorable action, and that was cast by Senator Townsend, of Michigan, which is the home state of E. Dana Durand, the incumbent.

There were never any charges filed against Mr. Harris or any argument that he was unfitted for the position to which the president appointed him. It was simply a case of the incumbent desiring to hold on, even though not a trained statistician. Mr. Harris' friends insisted he was a splendid administrative officer and pointed to his success in organizing an insurance company which now employs 700 agents and is doing a large business. Such a man was needed, they said, to direct the work of the statistical experts of the bureau.

The Washington Post, in an editorial endorsement of Mr. Harris, today had this to say:

"Those who know Mr. Harris are aware of his special fitness for the office to which President Wilson has appointed him. He has demonstrated unusual ability in his own business, and it is not to his discredit that he has displayed ability, also as chairman of the democratic state committee of Georgia. He is in sympathy with the aims and ideals of President Wilson, and the president is entitled to have about him men in whom he has confidence, who are in sympathy with him, and who are anxious to make his administration a success.

"Mr. Harris is entitled to prompt confirmation by the senate. This is the president's desire and in the absence of any reason for holding up the nomination, it is his right to expect that the senate will act favorably at once."

The Peace Congress HAS FALLEN THROUGH

St. Louis, April 30.—With the meeting tonight of the American School Peace league, the last of the preliminary events of the fourth American Peace congress was held. The first session of the congress will be held tomorrow. Andrew Carnegie arrived last afternoon and will preside at the opening session on "The Basis of Peace of War." This afternoon he occupied a place on the stand at the ceremonies of dedication for the Jefferson memorial of the congress will be held tonight.

COMMITTEE WILL CLEAN UP RALDERMEN

In the Atlanta Brewing and Ice company, denied that he loaned Sprattling money, denied that he loaned Sprattling money.

J. R. Westley told the committee that he made an investigation of the rumors that Sprattling borrowed from beer men, and found them to be true. The committee would not admit what Westley said others told him. Westley admitted that he is not friendly with Sprattling.

Alderman Sprattling told the committee of the conversation he had with Alderman McClelland on the creation of the project. He said that he went to Alderman McClelland recently and asked him if it was true that Charles T. Hopkins was going to make public his transaction with the beer men and his affairs.

"All my affairs have been honest and above board," he said. "I went to those gentlemen before I was connected with the city. I felt that I had a right to appeal to my friends for help. I was in hard lines. I had trouble and they assisted me."

He has never been able to take up the notes for the reason that he lost money in his business during the past two years. He said that he owes $12,000 and has paid up nearly one-third of it in two years.

Will Pay His Debts.

"I lost clients because of my financial condition," he explained. "I am sorry that I am unable to pay up all my debts, and I will do so in a few years."

The charges against Alderman Ragsdale were probed at great length. Nearly every stockman from the national yards were called and examined. The substance of the testimony was that while Alderman Ragsdale was a member of the firm of Lawhon & Co., still he refused to sell the city stock. Chief Cummings, of the fire department, and Chief John Jentzen, of the sanitary department, testified that Alderman Ragsdale made the city money by purchasing fresh stock for the city and disposing of the old down and out mules at high prices.

J. F. Lawhon said that he sold mules to the city despite Alderman Ragsdale's injunction because he believed he had the right to enter into a legitimate transaction with anyone.

Most of the witnesses summoned from the stock yards testified that they preferred not to deal with Alderman Ragsdale in the matter of stock purchased for the city because he got the better of them. Among the witnesses were Frank Harper, of Harper Brothers; S. W. Herring, C. G. Turner, Councilman Claude L. Ashley, W. C. Harper, J. A. Latta, M. Hall, J. P. Oglesby, W. B. Jernigan, City Veterinarian Jolly and the representatives of mercantile agencies.

The committee will meet Saturday to formulate the report to council.

SOUTH STANDING WITH CALIFORNIA AGAINST JAPANESE

So President Wilson Is Informed by the Senators and Representatives From This Section.

ANTI-ALIEN AGITATION COVERS WIDE SECTION

President Wilson Will Take No Further Steps at Present—Bryan to Remain in California Until Settlement

Washington, April 30.—Inquiry at the white house today as to what might be President Wilson's attitude toward the Webb bill with its affirmative clause permitting "all aliens eligible to citizenship" to acquire land in California, on which California legislative leaders are now said to be agreed, brought to the attention of the president deemed it prudent not to discuss at this time the negotiations toward an adjustment of the controversy.

Is a Delicate Status.
The president is known that the entire subject was in a delicate status and that it was necessary further to study the proposals of the California legislative leaders before the position of the national government could be announced. It is believed the Japanese ambassador will be grounded out as to the probable reception of the Webb bill in Japan and the legal officers of the state department may render an opinion as to whether the language now employed could be construed as a discrimination or in conflict of treaty obligations.

There is no disposition at the white house to regard Secretary Bryan's mission as having been completed. Mr. Bryan probably will stay on the ground until the whole matter is definitely cleared up.

Officials here commented today on the apparent fact that anti-alien agitation suddenly brought into prominence through the proceedings of the California legislature, is not confined to California, but extends over the whole Pacific coast and Rocky mountain section even as far north at Alaska.

Southern Senators Back California.
It also was pointed out that recent utterances of southern senators and representatives in congress indicated that the sympathies of that section were strongly with the Californians in this issue.

It is regarded as probable that the president, immediately upon the return of Secretary Bryan, will begin consideration of a general policy for the treatment of the important question of the extent to which the national government may or should go toward enforcing the treaty rights of aliens within the states. The negotiations with the Japanese government, which are expected to follow the action in California, probably will be the means of developing this policy.

The president may deem it advisable to undertake the negotiation of a new treaty of trade and commerce with Japan and, though it is realized that agreement on such a convention, satisfying to Japanese pride yet permanently guarding against a Japanese "invasion," would be fraught with great difficulty, some of the officials are inclined to the belief that the thing can be done.

Meanwhile beyond speculating upon the possibilities of developments in Sacramento and perhaps quietly admonishing the territorial authorities of Alaska to abstain from any such action in the direction of discriminating against Japanese fishermen, as would add to its difficulty, there is little that can be done in Washington until Secretary Bryan returns to the capital.

CALIFORNIA PASSES DRASTIC LAW TODAY

Sacramento, Cal., April 30.—An open fight of many for the final action on the anti-alien land act was prepared today by floor leaders in the upper house, and before tomorrow night a concrete expression of the legislature's attitude toward Secretary of State Bryan's diplomatic visit will be at hand in the shape of a vote on the most drastic land-holding act yet proposed.

Secretary Bryan spent the day in San Francisco, not returning until late tonight. It was not known whether he had received further instructions from President Wilson regarding his proposals to the legislature.

A few amendments may be offered, but the bill is expected to pass in the form of the administration leaders, who stated tonight that they expected the act to be passed in its present form.

There was wide discussion of the new bill today, although but little criticism was forthcoming from the standpoint of California. In comparison with various drafts that preceded it, the Webb act is said to be more drastic and effective in reaching the Japanese farmers of the state than any other proposed measure, and at the same time least objectionable of all from an international point of view. Senator Thompson declared tonight that the bill provided for "the immediate and direct solution of the Japanese problem," and to this extent it is the most rigid and uncompromising measure that has been suggested. Senator Thompson denied that the wording of the act or any part of it can be taken as a concession to the objections of Secretary Bryan, and Governor Johnson stated today that from what he understood of the situation, the measure did not have the approval of President Wilson.

Will Bar the Japanese.
A close study of the Webb bill shows the full extent of the restrictions placed upon aliens who are not permitted to become citizens, although the limitations are precisely the same as in the existing treaty between the United States and Japan, China and other nations whose subjects are ineligible. In the case of the Japanese, they are holding land for farming or agricultural purposes, and it is declared the passage of the act will put an end to this. In the case of the Japanese, farming colonies but eventually to the colonies themselves.

This purpose of the act is effected in two ways:

owner of the bill provides that his ownership ceases and that the property must be taken over by the probate court and sold to the highest bidder. Under its terms an alien cannot bequeath real property except to a citizen. The proceeds from the sale of such land are distributed to the heirs by the court.

"2. No leases whatsoever are permitted. Originally it was planned to permit leases covering a maximum period of three to five years, but the Webb act denies this opportunity for colonization by aliens and provides that any lease of agricultural lands is subject to escheat to the state on the day it is begun. To make this more effective the bill provides that when suit is begun to escheat such leases the court shall appraise the lease, sell the property at a forced sale and pay the value of the lease to the state. The remainder of the proceeds shall go to the citizen owner of the land."

Will Prohibit Leases.
It is held that this section of the act will be absolutely prohibitory upon all leases of agricultural lands whether for gardening purposes or otherwise.

According to Senator Thompson, who has made a study of the bill, the theory is as follows:
Only citizens and those eligible to become citizens may be proprietors of land. They may employ Japanese and Chinese, but they cannot lease or otherwise give such aliens an interest or share in their proprietorship. Such land as is now held by Japanese and Chinese cannot be bequeathed to their alien heirs. It must be sold. "The practical result of the bill," said Senator Thompson, "will be that all further acquisition will be prevented, leasing or sales will be exterminated and at the end of the present generation most of the land now held by Japanese and Chinese will be owned by citizens."

DIRECTORS OF LOWRY REGRET ORME'S DEATH

The board of directors of the Lowry National bank has adopted resolutions expressing sorrow over the death of former Vice President Joseph T. Orme. The resolutions state that his character inspired confidence, his influence was of value to the business community and that the banking interests of the country, as well as his city, have suffered a severe loss by his death.

Copies of the resolutions were sent to his family and a page of the minutes of the board set apart as a permanent record of the same.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN COTTON ACREAGE

But It Is Only 2.8 Per Cent for Belt—Georgia Shows a Small Decrease.

New York, April 30.—(Special.)—Preliminary estimates of acreage, the amount of fertilizers used and the earliness or lateness of the season as ascertained by The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin through 1,000 replies of special correspondents of an average date of April 23 indicate an increase in acreage over last year of 2.8 per cent. As many correspondents regarded it as too early to take definite estimates this result must be regarded as tentative and subject to revision in our next month's report. A year ago no estimate was attempted owing to the lateness of the season.

Acreage increases or decreases and days late or early are shown by states in the accompanying table:

State	Inc. or Dec.	Early.
North Carolina	Plus 1.8	3L
South Carolina	Plus 1.0	7L
Georgia	Minus 1.7	6L
Florida	Minus 6.2	8L
Alabama	Minus 0.8	3L
Mississippi	Plus 3.5	3L
Louisiana	Plus 3.0	1L
Texas	Plus 4.3	2L
Arkansas	Plus 4.3	1L
Tennessee	Plus 0.3	1L
Missouri	Plus 9.0	1L
Oklahoma	Plus 9.0	1L

Average plus 2.8. Important increases are shown in Mississippi with 3.5 per cent, Louisiana with 2.0 per cent, Texas with 3.5 per cent, Arkansas with 4.3 per cent and Oklahoma with 9 per cent. Decreases are noted in Georgia with 1.7 per cent, Alabama with 0.8 per cent and Tennessee with 0.3 per cent. The lessened fear of the boll weevil has induced many farmers to heavily increase their cotton acreage, which is particularly noticeable in Louisiana, but part of this is due to sugar land going into cotton. Fertilizers are more liberally used in nearly all sections.

Too much rain with low temperatures early in the season left the ground cloudy and hard; this was followed by dry weather, preventing germination and necessitating considerable replanting. Stands where obtained were generally poor except in Texas, and most states are badly needing a good warm rain.

Compared with a year ago prospects are much more favorable, when rains were so excessive as to make the season two to three weeks backward.

Pretty Young Sweetheart Comes To the Aid of Arthur Mullinax

Pearl Robinson, the pretty 16-year-old sweetheart of Arthur Mullinax, came nobly to his defense with testimony that corroborated that suspect's alibi. She was placed on the stand late in the afternoon.

"Do you know Arthur Mullinax?" "I am well acquainted with him."

"Do you go with him?" "Yes!"

"Were you with him Saturday?" "Yes! At supper and to the theater."

"What time did you get home?" "About 10:30 o'clock."

"Was he with you at that time?" "He was."

"Did he go in when you returned home?" "No. He left for his home."

"Did you know Mary Phagan?" "I never saw her."

"Had you ever heard of her?" "Yes. A lot."

"How?" "She was a topic of neighborhood praise for her appearance in the Christmas performance in the Jefferson street church last year. She played the part of 'Sleeping Beauty.'"

Best in the long run— Goodrich Tires

The tread of a Goodrich Tire, instead of being a separate piece or part, is actually the outside of the tire.

It is of the tire—not merely put on it. This is one reason why the thick, tough Goodrich tread does not peel or strip.

Unit molding is the great principle of construction in Goodrich Tires. It was the way we made the first American clincher tire, sixteen years ago. We have never changed the method, because it is a principle proven over and over in our forty-three years of successful rubber manufacturing.

The whole Goodrich Tire—layers of rubber-impregnated fabric, strips of pure rubber, extra strips thickening and reinforcing the sides and eliminating chances for rim injury, beads and thick, tough tread—is converted into a single, strong, lively, integral structure—a unit.

No weak places—no dead spots because of over vulcanizing.

The result is long, satisfactory, uniform service and wear.

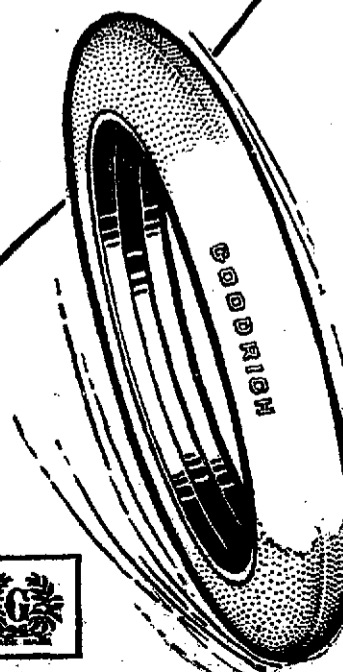

We'll send you free our folders telling you how to get the most service from your tires.

Your tire dealer will supply you with whatever style of Goodrich Tire is best for your needs. They are all the same kind and quality.

ATLANTA AND THE PRESBYTERIANS.

The traditional hospitality of Atlanta faces a unique opportunity in the convening here on May 15 of the executive bodies of every branch of the Presbyterian church in America.

The Presbyterians of Atlanta do not ask a penny for the entertainment of the guests of the city. They have subscribed the funds necessary; but they do ask, with confidence, that the homes of the city be opened to these guests, without regard to denomination.

The unprecedented character of the gathering itself, bringing together representatives of every branch of the Presbyterian faith the world over, in itself should guarantee full response to the call.

They celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare in New York, but seldom do they stage his plays.

Even the spring garden man has failed to bring down the high cost of living to a reasonable basis.

The aviators are evidently bent on making big business for the monument factories.

As soon as China needs to negotiate a loan she asks the rest of the world to pray for her.

Hunger strikes are not new. We've all had to go on them since the high cost of living struck us.

RAILWAY MAIL PAY.

Of a part with the general indictment of Hitchcockism and its ruinous policy of "parsimony" is the blunt denial by the railroads—backed by proof—of the claim of the former postmaster general that they are being overpaid for carrying the mails of the country.

It is impossible to give the technical detail of the railroads' contentions, but their chief points, summarized, are that Hitchcock's claims were based upon figures of railroad cost and revenue in November, 1909, which the railroads say is one of the smallest months of the year, or at least thoroughly untypical.

The allegations of the railroads are sufficiently serious to justify their thorough investigation by congress. It is due not only to the people of this country, but equally to the railroads, that they be paid a fair price for carrying the mails.

The sum asked of council will simply provide the equipment needed to extend the movement to other schools. It will not, of course, purchase food, pay cooks or provide for other indispensable incidentals.

PENNY SCHOOL LUNCHEES.

Council's favorable consideration of the recommendation of the board of education looking to the introduction of penny lunches in the school system of Atlanta would be well received by the city.

The citizen unacquainted with the routine of school life scarcely realizes the part the penny lunch can be made to play in the betterment of the system.

How Colonel Fellows Happened to Settle in New York. By E. J. EDWARDS.

At the democratic national convention of 1884 the two conspicuously brilliant orators were Bourke Cockran, of New York, and John R. Fellows, of that time assistant district attorney of New York city.

Mr. Cockran was also elected to congress, where he served for several terms. Shortly after the democratic national convention of 1884 Colonel Fellows was asked how he, who had served in the confederate army and afterwards practiced law in Arkansas, happened to go to New York and begin a new career in the metropolis.

"Well," said Colonel Fellows, "it was all owing, I suppose, to Horatio Seymour, who was a democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1868. Some what unexpectedly, certainly without any solicitation on my part, I was elected as a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1868, representing in part my state of Arkansas. I was not particularly anxious to speak at the time, but when I was required if I attended the convention, for at that time it would have taken the greater part of a week to get from my home in Arkansas to New York city, where the convention was held, and, of course, a similar period of time for returning. Then we would have to be upon the ground a few days before the convention met, and nobody could tell how long it would be in session.

"I think it was the second day of the session that a friend said to me: 'John Horatio Seymour has been asking all about you. He was attracted to you by your personal appearance and by the reputation that has reached him of your abilities as an orator. He says that you strongly resemble in personality Stephen A. Douglas, for whom Horatio Seymour had unbounded admiration.'"

"I said that I had been told before that my short stature, robust build and the shape of my head had caused other people to speak of a fancied resemblance between Douglas and myself.

"My friend replied that, anyway, Seymour thought he discovered a resemblance, and that he was very anxious to meet me.

"Well, at the first convenient opportunity—I think it was just after Seymour had been nominated for the presidency—I introduced myself. He took me aside and we had a chat which changed my entire career. He told me that Arkansas offered no sufficient opportunity at that time for a man of my abilities. He urged me to give up my residence in Arkansas and to open a law office in New York. He said he would speak to a few of his influential friends in New York city about me.

"I was delighted with the idea of opening a law office in New York, and now that Seymour had given me assurance that he would help me until I got started I felt that it was safe to make the venture.

"The governor was as good as his word, and he interested friends in me so that I was able to secure a comfortable income until I was fairly launched in law practice. From a money point of view, I should have done better if I had stuck to my practice instead of accepting political office. I have been almost constantly in political office since I removed from Arkansas to New York. I might have had a political career if I had stayed in Arkansas."

The World's Mysteries

WHAT BECAME OF HENDRIK HUDSON?

Of no one who has figured prominently in connection with the early history of this country is there so little known as there is regarding Hendrik Hudson. He was born—no one knows where and when. He died—no one knows when or how. His grave is not present him standing on the quarter-deck of a small ship bound for the North Pole. He drew the veil over him at the moment that he took to the small boat in Hudson's bay with eight other sailors, all of whom were completely lost to the world.

Hudson was the discoverer of the mighty river and the bay that are named for him. He suddenly flashed before the republic, remained a prominent figure for four brief years, and then disappeared as if the sea had swallowed him up. No one knew his age at the time he made his discoveries. He was born somewhere in England and some time in the sixteenth century. His father and grandfather are vaguely supposed to have been London merchants and interested in the Muscovy company.

Hudson first appeared in history on April 19, 1607. In that year, with his 16-year-old son, John, and ten mariners, he sailed from England as captain of the Muscovy Company's little sixty-ton ship Hopewell. His object was to discover the North Pole and to sail across it to China or India. He believed that he could reach the Orient through a sea passage somewhere in the frozen north. He was frustrated by the ice and returned home with this first voyage a disappointed man. He made a second attempt with the same result.

It was on April 4, 1609, that Hudson sailed from Amsterdam in the "Discovery" and entered Delaware Bay. Finding this bay

Cerebrospinal Meningitis.

(The first of a series of bulletins by the state board of health, Dr. S. C. Benedict, president, Dr. F. H. Harris, secretary. Other bulletins of timely interest will appear in The Constitution from time to time.)

Cerebrospinal meningitis, spotted fever, or as it is more commonly called, simply meningitis, is one of the most terrible and fatal of all the diseases, the mortality running up to as high as 100 per cent in some local epidemics.

Although the cause of the disease has been known for a number of years, the exact method by which the germ that produces it spreads from man to man was until quite recently unrecognized, and even now it cannot be said that the whole matter is not demonstrated with scientific exactness; notwithstanding this—in view of the fact that the disease has recently existed to a considerable extent in Atlanta, and has appeared in a number of the smaller towns of Georgia—the state board of health deems it its duty to furnish to the people such information concerning the malady as may be thought to be of value in connection with it.

Character of the Disease. Cerebrospinal meningitis is a disease which is produced by a minute vegetable organism known as the Micrococcus intracerebralis. It is very fortunately a germ of low vitality, as it develops only at about blood heat, and when expelled from its normal dwelling place in the human body it dies very quickly. The germs get into the skull and spinal canal and produce violent inflammation of the coverings of the brain and cord. These membranes are called "meninges" hence the name "cerebrospinal meningitis." Within a short time after their entrance the pus is produced and the condition becomes practically one of abscess around the brain and spinal cord.

It is not within the province of this article to go into detail concerning the symptoms of this disease, space only permitting a brief statement of the principal manifestations that occur in those afflicted with the malady. In almost all cases the disease is preceded by a slight catarrhal condition of the nose and throat, the symptoms being those of an ordinary cold. The symptoms that attend the covering of the brain being attacked come on with great suddenness; there is usually a chill followed by intense headache, vomiting, restlessness, with great dread of noises and bright light; in many cases reddish spots appear beneath the skin, these being usually quite tender on pressure. In some cases the muscles of the neck become very stiff, and contract so that the head is drawn backward. The temperature is somewhat irregular, but is always above normal in the beginning, and sometimes goes very high; the pulse is, as a rule, normal, or but little accelerated. After the patient remains in the condition just described for from a few hours to several days he generally becomes unconscious, and in a comparatively short time dies. In some cases the symptoms, after starting off very violently, subside, and the patient makes a comparatively rapid recovery. In other instances the disease begins more mildly, the patient having more or less of the usual symptoms, but not so severely as is ordinarily the case; in such cases the patient may die, after lingering weeks or months; or may make a protracted recovery, with frequently partial paralytic conditions that permanently remain.

Prevention. There is reason to believe that this germ first attacks the mucus membranes of the nose, and in many merely causes the symptoms of an ordinary cold, and goes no further. However, in those with weak resisting powers to the disease the germs spread from the nose into the skull by the blood or by other means, and there set up an inflammation with the resulting symptoms described above. So it is seen that it is important during epidemics that persons with colds should be very careful not to allow other people to become infected from them. As cold and wet are undoubtedly predisposing causes to colds it is well for every one to shun such exposure during periods when meningitis is prevalent. Debilitating Thunder is Nature's favorite and greatest bluff. It is the most tremendous and impressive of noises. A robust clan of thunder can be heard for twenty miles, and can scour the milk in ten thousand refrigerators. Few things inspire man with more awe than a peal of thunder, rolling majestically from cloud to cloud, and rattling down out of hearing, like a titanic lion who has had a mass meeting for breakfast and isn't satisfied. Many times a year thunder fills the closets of city dwellers, and frightens women, but it has never hurt anyone. No one can be blamed for paying attention to a dog's bark, because in that case the noise precedes the danger, but it is foolish to flee from thunder. By the time an adult thunder claps has crashed into the conversation and has jarred the chandeliers, the lightning, of which it pretends to be a warning, has already messed up the vicinity and retired to parts unknown. Thunder is the great "thunder" of the elements, and is as useful as a whistle on the rear end of a train.

Thunder is very impressive, like campaign oratory, and is the only thing which exceeds it in grandeur. Thunder is produced by vast quantities of air rushing into a vacuum, which campaign oratory is usually produced in exactly the same manner. There are many points of similarity between Nature's greatest noise, and man's loudest reminder, however. The man who can all an auditorium with ponderous reverberating phrases, which do not mean anything, even when they can be heard four blocks, is usually more feared than the speaker who uses the great "thunder" of the elements, and is as useful as a whistle on the rear end of a train.

ADDRESSES ARE HEARD BY SCHOOL OFFICIALS

Committees Named at Morning Session—Educational Association Meets Tonight.

Three sessions were held yesterday by the convention of county school officials of Georgia at Taft hall and the attendance was much larger than on Tuesday evening when the opening exercises took place.

At Wednesday morning's session the first thing done was the appointment of special committees to consider the various matters which were to come up for discussion.

After the committees had been appointed several interesting and instructive talks were made.

"The School as a Community Center," was the subject of an address by T. E. Waldron, industrial agent of the Southern railroad, and the matter was discussed by Superintendent E. T. Sneed, of Carroll county, and Superintendent C. H. Cox, of Pickens county.

Superintendent J. O. Martin, of Newton county, spoke on "The Standard School," and the discussion was led by C. F. Barnett, of Morgan county, and Superintendent Henry Milam, of Bartow county.

"The County Board of Education" was the subject of a talk made by J. J. Nunnally, of Walton county, and the discussion was led by Dr. W. W. Pinner, of Warren county, and Superintendent J. O. Quinn, of Lowndes county.

An address was made by Hon. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Claxton spoke of the great need of more public schools throughout the country and of the Atlanta government lending its aid to the state.

The evening session was devoted to a discussion of the work that is being done in the state by the women's clubs and the following addresses were made:

"The Woman's Club and the School Improvement Work," by Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The Woman's Work in Pitt County," by Mrs. N. Peterson, chairman of the educational work committee of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Co-operation Between the Women's Clubs and the County Educational Authorities," by Miss C. S. Parrish, state school supervisor.

There will be two sessions of the convention today, one at 9:30 o'clock this morning and the other at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Several interesting talks will be made on topics relating to school and school work.

The sessions of the Georgia county school officials will be immediately followed by the meeting of the Georgia Educational association, which holds its first session this evening at half past 8 o'clock. The opening program of the association will be as follows:

Another Plea Made for Dr. McNaughton

A plea was made to the governor yesterday morning for the pardon of Dr. J. J. McNaughton, who is serving a sentence of death for the killing of Fred Flanders, of Swainsboro.

Judge Frank Safford, of Swainsboro, attorney for the condemned man, appeared before the governor on Wednesday and stated that Mrs. Flanders, who is being held for the same crime, would not be tried until next fall and Dr. McNaughton is sentenced to die this morning at 2 o'clock.

The evidence had not been sufficient to convict Dr. McNaughton. Dr. McNaughton has been residing already three (three) years of the postponement of the trial of his alleged accomplice, Mrs. Flanders.

Governor Brown took the matter under advisement.

$196,002 IN DAMAGES ASKED BY T. E. PURCELL

A suit for $196,002.16 against the Texas company, a corporation under the laws of the Lone Star state, filed a few weeks ago in the Elton superior court by T. E. Purcell, of Atlanta, manager of a garage, was yesterday transferred to the fourth district court for trial.

The plaintiff's papers show that the Texas company is engaged in selling gasoline, oil and similar products and the plaintiff, proprietor of Purcell's garage, entered into a contract with the defendant on March 23, 1912, in which the Texas company agreed to deliver to the plaintiff 50,000 barrels of motor gasoline in quantities of fifty (50) gallons each at the price of 23 cents a gallon.

Supplementary to the contract it is claimed that only 49,973 gallons of such gasoline has been delivered by the defendant, leaving the balance due under the contract of 2,530,027 gallons.

Though the Texas company had been notified, says the petition, to deliver more gasoline under the contract, it has failed to do so. The petition shows that the price of the contracted gasoline has increased eight cents a gallon since the contract was made.

Rube Arnold and Hill & Wright appear as counsel for the Atlanta plaintiff, while Slaton & Phillips are looking after the interests of the Texas company.

RECEPTION IS GIVEN AT CRITENTON HOME

At the Florence Crittenton home the lady board of managers yesterday tendered a reception to delegates to Sociological congress remaining in the city, to the city council and county commissioners and other friends.

The delightful refreshments were prepared at the home. Hot rolls and butter, such as were described by Mrs. Barrett in her recent address on the same subject, were the special feature of the entertainment.

The prize was offered by Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce, and Dr. Claude A. Smith, city bacteriologist. It is believed that the contest will create much interest in a very vital subject, and may result in the war on flies being carried on more vigorously this summer.

$100 PRIZE FOR STORY ON FIGHT AGAINST FLY

A prize of $100 has been offered by the Atlanta chamber of commerce for the best article on the "Prevention of the Breeding of Flies." All school children may enter the contest and the articles may be as long or as short as desired. The time for the close of the contest will be announced later.

EGZEMA COVERED WHOLE SIDE OF FACE

Blisters Broke. Would Inflamm, Itch and Burn. Terrible Sores. Had to Keep Hands Pinned in Towel. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Entirely Well.

West Point, Miss.—"When my little boy was three months old a little blister came on his face on the right side. When the blisters broke they would inflame and itch and burn until he scratched it so bad that he made terrible sores and had to keep his hands pinned down in a towel so he could not raise them at all. Each day it became worse. He had a terrible case of eczema and had not been able to sleep as well as he had suffered so much."

"We tried two treatments and both failed to cure it. By this time it had covered the whole side of his face, causing discomfort and had eaten into the skin so deep I could lay a pencil in it. I saw Cuticura Soap and ointment advertised so highly we began the treatment and it began to get well right straight and stopped spreading. I used the Cuticura Soap to bathe him once a day and the Cuticura Ointment about three times a day. In about one month his little face was entirely well and he has not been bothered any more with it." (Signed) Mrs. Spence Murphy, Mar. 10, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: Post-office "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston, Mass." Tender-faced men use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

FOR FALSE ARREST THOS. LYERLA HOPES TO PUNISH RELATIVE

Cartersville, Ga., April 30.—(Special).—Thomas Lyerla, arrested in Calhoun by Sheriff Smith, of Bartow county, as the suspected perpetrator of a murder three years ago in Fundac, Ill., was released immediately upon his arrival in Cartersville. He proved himself not the man wanted.

Lyerla is well known in Bartow county, and he and his friends are loud in expressions of indignation at what they term a false and unjust arrest. Lyerla was arrested at the instance of Bob Jones, a citizen of Cartersville, and a relative by marriage of the alleged suspect. There seems to have been bad feeling between Jones and the erstwhile prisoner, which is said to be responsible, with the large reward offered, for Lyerla's arrest. Lyerla is said to have declared his intentions of making it hot for those who caused his arrest as well as officers who brought him to Cartersville. Lyerla has lived in this part of the state for eight years, which fact proves him clear of the Illinois murder charge. The Pontiac officer who was here today promptly declared that the wrong man had been taken. Lyerla declares he will bring action against those who caused his arrest and humiliation, and a sensational development is to be expected.

Dalton School Census.

Dalton, Ga., April 30.—(Special).—Under supervision of the board of education, T. C. McBrayer has just completed taking the school census of Dalton, with the following results: Whites, male, 648; female, 538. Colored, male, 144; female, 154, aggregating a grand total of 1,544 school children in the limits of the city of Dalton, between the ages of 5 and 18 years of age.

EGZEMA COVERED WHOLE SIDE OF FACE

Blisters Broke. Would Inflamm, Itch and Burn. Terrible Sores. Had to Keep Hands Pinned in Towel. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Entirely Well.

West Point, Miss.—"When my little boy was three months old a little blister came on his face on the right side. When the blisters broke they would inflame and itch and burn until he scratched it so bad that he made terrible sores and had to keep his hands pinned down in a towel so he could not raise them at all. Each day it became worse. He had a terrible case of eczema and had not been able to sleep as well as he had suffered so much."

"We tried two treatments and both failed to cure it. By this time it had covered the whole side of his face, causing discomfort and had eaten into the skin so deep I could lay a pencil in it. I saw Cuticura Soap and ointment advertised so highly we began the treatment and it began to get well right straight and stopped spreading. I used the Cuticura Soap to bathe him once a day and the Cuticura Ointment about three times a day. In about one month his little face was entirely well and he has not been bothered any more with it." (Signed) Mrs. Spence Murphy, Mar. 10, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: Post-office "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston, Mass." Tender-faced men use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

FOR FALSE ARREST THOS. LYERLA HOPES TO PUNISH RELATIVE

Cartersville, Ga., April 30.—(Special).—Thomas Lyerla, arrested in Calhoun by Sheriff Smith, of Bartow county, as the suspected perpetrator of a murder three years ago in Fundac, Ill., was released immediately upon his arrival in Cartersville. He proved himself not the man wanted.

Lyerla is well known in Bartow county, and he and his friends are loud in expressions of indignation at what they term a false and unjust arrest. Lyerla was arrested at the instance of Bob Jones, a citizen of Cartersville, and a relative by marriage of the alleged suspect. There seems to have been bad feeling between Jones and the erstwhile prisoner, which is said to be responsible, with the large reward offered, for Lyerla's arrest. Lyerla is said to have declared his intentions of making it hot for those who caused his arrest as well as officers who brought him to Cartersville. Lyerla has lived in this part of the state for eight years, which fact proves him clear of the Illinois murder charge. The Pontiac officer who was here today promptly declared that the wrong man had been taken. Lyerla declares he will bring action against those who caused his arrest and humiliation, and a sensational development is to be expected.

High School Alumnae Rally

To Social and Civic Needs

To discuss a plan of study or other activity which would secure the common interest and co-operation of the Alumnae association. Girls' High school, for a large part of each year, was the purpose of an informal gathering of class chairmen yesterday with Mrs. Hartwell Spain, president of the association.

Thirty of the Alumnae, including chairmen and a few other members, were present, and a scheme proposed by Miss Jessie Muss received a hearty endorsement, every member of the little company expressing themselves in favor of it. A practical course of study in sociology, to be forwarded through monthly meetings, beginning in the fall and culminating in the spring, with a course of lectures probably by Dr. Edward Howard Gregg, was the program suggested.

The many hundred women composing the Alumnae, it is understood, whether they are married or single, whether they are women of business or leisure, are most actively interested in some one or more of the city's numerous humanitarian movements.

A course of study then, which would consider social conditions and needs from a scientific and practical standpoint, it was shown, would be a universal basis of appeal to the interest of the members. It would be of both cultural and practical value in itself, and would hold out a good line of suggestions to many women who seek some leisure direction for their mental activity that would be of abstract cultural interest and point at the same time their desire to take some part in the welfare of the world.

This kind of study, exceedingly beneficial in itself, was taken by the meeting to promise an ideal means also of bringing the Alumnae more closely and more frequently together, and to give them through personal contact a keener appreciation of the association's other lines of work, hitherto handled actively by only a limited number of the membership.

This plan, it was proposed, should be given over to the executive board for consideration at its next meeting, the details to be worked out by a committee and formally submitted, and as the gathering yesterday was one well representative of the Alumnae body, it is quite probable that their plan will be favorably acted upon.

Representatives of the German unions will parade with them for the first time and both English and German speakers intend to denounce the Carnegie mission.

Representatives of the German unions will parade with them for the first time and both English and German speakers intend to denounce the Carnegie mission. The ground is that the mission is designed to foster an Anglo-American alliance and alienate American sympathies from Germany, whereas, they argue workers of all nationalities should stand together for their own interests.

Benjamin Tillitt, secretary of the dock, wharf, riverside and general workers' union of Great Britain and Ireland, will send a telegram to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking him to oppose the British delegation.

General Mrs. Flora Drummond, one of the leaders of the militant suffragettes, who was arrested today, succeeded tonight in smuggling out of the jail to K. Ireland a message to the American suffragists. This message, which later was cabled to the Women's Suffrage union of New York, was as follows:

"Carnegie's so-called peace delegates are negotiating your shoes. None of them has raised a voice against the torture of women in English prisons. The Tory members of parliament, among them won their seats on a sink-the-German-mayor postcard. We hope they raised a voice against the suffragettes, Irishmen and Germans organize a national boycott against these war provokers."

Miss Scott-Troy, the San Francisco suffragette, telegraphed to Senator O'Gorman at Washington saying:

"If the senate will investigate Carnegie's peace fund they may find an olive branch, which the senate will not attend these functions given in honor of the peace delegates who dictate to Americans that they must renounce their history to save the British rule and sully the fair name of George Washington."

When about half a mile out from Buford, on a lonely part of the road, the children testified that Duran made improper advances and indecent actions toward them, and they jumped from the wagon and ran. They reported the matter to their father, who went in search of Duran, armed with a heavy stick, and at once began flogging him, but the mules ran away and Duran escaped. He was later arrested and bound over to the city court.

Duran is a middle-aged man with a family.

HARVESTER STRIKERS VOTE TO ACCEPT TERMS

Auburn, N. Y., April 30.—The 650 employees of the International Harvester companies' twin mills, who went on a strike on March 21 in sympathy with the strikers at the Columbian Rope company mills, late today voted almost unanimously to accept the terms offered by the company for a settlement. Work in the twin mills will be resumed Monday.

Edwin P. Chapman, personal representative of Governor Sulzer, today addressed a mass meeting of the strikers. He told them he had been authorized by the International Harvester company to assure them that the twin mills would be reopened, the machinery that had been packed for shipment to Germany would be brought back, and that all those who left the employ of the company would be given their old places without discrimination.

The terms of the agreement among other things provide for a 54-hour week, minimum wage of $8 per week for females and $9.72 for males, and all night work to be discontinued for this season; the company to provide work for night workers who cannot be placed on the day shift, by making places for them in other branches of the plant.

COLLEGE TITLE TO GEORGIA

By winning two games from Vanderbilt the University of Georgia team has clear title to the Southern College championship.

WHIFFS

A Severe Blow.
HARRY BAILEY'S absence from the line-up of the Crackers is a severe blow. When any team is deprived of the services of its best run-getter, its clean-up hitter and the second highest batsman in the Southern league, it is hurt mortally. It is to be hoped that Bailey will get into harness shortly. Manager Smith feels Bailey's loss keenly.

Stealing Vols' Fire.
THE VOLS are stealing Combsky's fire. For years the White Sox were known as the hitless wonders. But the Vols have got that sobriquet these days. Any team that can win three games from another team by making three hits in two of the games and five in the third is certainly getting the break. Outhit in every game but one of the seven the Vols and the Crackers have played, the Schwartzmen have five victories to their credit.
World Bat .500.

CLAYTON PERRY, the Nashville third baseman, would bat .500 if he played at Ponce de Leon all season. Every time Clayton comes to the local lot he hits like a demon. He'll go along for weeks getting his average number of bingles and when his team comes to Ponce de Leon he hits like a Wagner or a Cobb. Perry's big stick had as much to do with the routing of the Crackers as any one thing.

A Great Pitcher.
GEORGE BECK, the little scouter of the Nashville Vols, is one of the best pitchers that has been turned loose against the Crackers in many a day. His work Tuesday was superb. In him Schwartz has the best looking right-hander that has appeared here this year. He works coolly, has a nice change of pace and a baffling delivery. When you are figuring on the leading pitcher of the Southern league this season, Beck is a formidable candidate.

TOUGH LUCK.
MOLESWORTH is having his troubles. Since he was one of his winning hurlers last season, and a formidable boxer for any club to beat, may have to be given his outright release. Boyd has a knot in his pitching arm that will not answer to treatment, and it may be several weeks before he can hurl a ball. On top of this, Bob Messenger has been called home for several days by a death in his family. Other teams besides the Crackers are having a run of bad luck.

Pretty Lucky.
JOHNNY DUNDEE can thank his stars that Referee Elyton had one of his off nights, such as referees and all other human beings have every now and then. How Elyton would give Dundee a draw with Kilbane after one round, the fight, round by round, is beyond us. A rally in the final round does not give a man a draw in our opinion, when the edge was so marked in the other man's favor in the rest of the battle. It was just "a drowning man and a straw" affair. You cannot sanely figure it any other way.

After the Race.
NASHVILLE will not be satisfied with a first division berth this season. Word comes from Nashville that President Hirsch is going to loosen up his purse strings. "It's about time for Nashville to win another pennant, and Mike Schwartz and I are determined to turn the trick, if possible," is the way he puts it. The Vols have a formidable team as it now stands. With a few changes that at a glance you needed, they will require a lot of beating before they are licked.

Turn on the Searchlight.
MIKE DONLIN, the ball player-theftian, or the Theftian-ball player, whichever you like best, may cause the searchlight of the congressional probe on the baseball trust to be turned on fully. Mike claims that he is being harshly treated by the Philadelphia Nationals. The Phillies sold him to Minneapolis for $15,000, but Philadelphia paid him. This deal was made after the Phillies had blocked his efforts to buy a half interest in a Pacific Coast league club and manage it. Looks like Mike really got the worst of this deal.

Eleven Crackers Hit Air; Bill Foxen in Fine Form; Barons Get Six in Fourth

By Hugh W. Roberts.
Birmingham, Ala., April 30.—(Special.) While the Barons of this bunch outplayed the Crackers as a bunch in the opening game of the series this afternoon, Billy Smith quite properly attributes his defeat to the excellence of the visiting team. The manager of the former Cracker incidentally was not the sole feature of the game, for the scrimmage developed some exceptionally clever fielding and base running. The score was 2 to 3.

The Atlanta twirler, Musser, pitched a fine game if the reader will eliminate from consideration one inning, the fourth. In that round the Barons latched on to his benders so fearfully that even local fans with difficulty restrained their tears.

The inning not only brought forth some hitting, but the bases ran. The general result that the entire Cracker team was swept off its feet.

The Big Round.
McBride opened the round with a screaming single to left. McGilvray, with the hit-and-run sign out, smashed the first pitched ball to right, McBride going to third. McGilvray's second hit was a sacrifice, and he slipped down to second. He did slip and arrived by a splendid slide.

Carroll, in psychological moment, otherwise known as the pinch, drove the ball to right, and McGilvray, which McBride and McGilvray counted. Ellam flashed the hit-and-run and rolled the ball to short, from which position Williams had just run to second for the purpose of catching Carroll stealing. On the hit Carroll loped to third.

The fans in the meanwhile were crying with delight, and the Crackers seemed to be high in the contest. But Musser apparently settled down, for he fanned Mayer, regarded as a hard and timely swatter. He then made the mistake of passing Foxen, which filled Carroll with rage. Williams and Carroll were forced at the plate. With the bases still filled and two down, Mahaker Smith breather a sigh of relief. But he figured without the versatility of his host, and he was out, on which Ellam scored. Musser, who had covered first, endeavored to head the runner at the plate, and the ball got away. Foxen, on the run, and runners moved up to third and second.

Bobus then cracked one to deep center and Marjan and Herndon counted. McBride was at bat for the second time in the inning when the folksome Bobus went out to set the keystone.

Other teams besides the Crackers are having a run of bad luck.

Foxen's Lone Pass.
The only walk given by Foxen resulted in the first Cracker run. Loug drew the pass and went to second when Herndon's right ruled that one of the Baron pitcher's quick throws to first was a balk. Williams and Graham made easy outs, but Dunn, who alone of all his teammates could hit the fleshy Foxen, smashed safely to center, lunging strong.

Bobus then cracked one to deep center and Marjan and Herndon counted. McBride was at bat for the second time in the inning when the folksome Bobus went out to set the keystone.

New Orleans, April 30.—Swindell was batted for three runs in the first inning of today's game and Memphis added three more off "Duncun" Taylor in the succeeding rounds to win from New Orleans 6 to 5. Newton's support was largely responsible for his success. Butler played brilliantly at shortstop. Alvin had three-base, two-base and one-base hit in four times at bat, and stole a base. Shanley beat out a hit to short in the first inning. He stole second and after Bechwald had been pitched three-base, walker and Ward's single scored Shanley. Ward was thrown out at second. Abstein's double and Love's single netted two more runs. Taylor was hit hard in the second and Knapp's error was costly. Abstein scored what proved to be the winning run in the third on his triple and an infield out. Hendry's great catch of Shanley's fly in the fourth was a feature.

LEAGUE'S BEST RECEIVER

The Crackers' first string catcher, whose work this year has brought joy to the hearts of Atlanta fans, was always considered a good catcher when in form. He rounded into shape early this year, and seems destined to lead the league's catchers. He has yet to make his first error behind the plate. He is nipping would-be base-stealers galore, and is hitting well over the 300 mark. Pat is going to give someone a tussle for the title, "The League's Best Catcher."

John Morris Hurls No-Hit Game Against Vanderbilt; Georgia Claims the Title

Athens, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—As a result of an 8 to 0 victory from Vanderbilt Commodores this afternoon and so much as an even break with Tennessee and Tech, the University of Georgia stands as the undisputed champions of the S. I. A. A.

The credit of the victory goes to big John Morris, who twirled the abject ball of his college career, letting the heavy hitting visitors down without a hit. Morris pitched masterful ball all through the contest.

There was only one rap which could possibly come under the category of hits. This was from the bat of Morrison in the fourth period and was a short pop over short, which Clements scooped successfully in touching. Although the hit was from the Texas leaguer variety, this was scored as an error.

Georgia Hit Hard.
It was the clouting of the local segregation, however, which sent the Vandy team back to Dudley field to tell of the wonderful bunch of ball players Alex Cunningham had rounded up in Athens to defeat his alma mater, Covington, Georgia's crack third-sucker, was out of the game on account of pending action concerning his eligibility, but Holden, captain of the scrubs, filled his shoes in nice style, preventing a score in the second round by cleverly handling a hard hit ball to his station.

The firecracker started in the initial round and before the second inning had started every man on the team had appeared at the bat, four had hit safely, five had tallied and the game was over. Morris' two-base hit, Ginn, Luck twirled steady ball for the visitors after his first ascension and succeeded in striking out eight of the locals.

The first division of the Commodores put-out is unusual, the catcher and first baseman getting all but three. Left Fielder Turner pulled a pretty catch in the fourth, robbing Clements of an extra base hit.

Georgia Stars.
Ginn got two doubles, Bowden three hits out of four trials and Clements three stolen bases for the Red and Black.

Davidson was compelled to retire from the game on account of an injured side in the fifth inning. Only one payout was recorded to the Georgia outer gardeners. The amicable relation between the two teams was maintained at all times and the games of today and yesterday were free from all unpleasantness.

The Tennesseans played good, clean ball, but were clearly outclassed by the local talent, the Georgians exhibiting the best article of ball they have shown this season in every department of play.

MORE DECORATIONS FOR BAN'S UMPIRES

Chicago, April 30.—In addition to white uniforms which it has been announced umpires in the American league are to wear on special occasions, such as the presence of a president of the United States at a game, President B. H. Johnson said today that he had planned further decorations for his arbiters.

The latest decorative effect will serve a double purpose of ornament and showing spectators how long the umpires have been in the service of the league.

One braid on the sleeve will mean that he has been in service for one year; two braids two years and so on until five years are reached, when a gold star will replace the five braids. Braids will be added to the star until ten years are reached, when two stars will be the insignia.

Tom Connolly will be entitled to wear two stars and two braids, indicating that he has been an umpire since 1901, a year after the league was organized.

Bernhard Cans Four.

Memphis, Tenn., April 30.—Manager Bernhard of the Memphis Southern League club, announced tonight that as part of his "weeding out" process, Pitcher Snelberg had been released unconditionally. Otto Jordan, infielder, had been returned to the Chattanooga club from which he was borrowed; Catcher Haigh has been suspended pending the consummation of a deal for his release to a league of lesser standing and, for the time being, Montfort, who was injured recently, will remain on the retired list.

Boxing in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., April 30.—The assembly today endorsed the Healy boxing bill, which allows ten rounds non-decision bouts. A canvass of the senate indicates that the measure will pass that body.

REMATCH DUNDEE WITH JOHN KILBANE

Los Angeles, April 30.—Negotiations were begun today for a return match between Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, and Johnny Dundee, who fought a twenty-round draw with him at Vernon last night. The contest last night was unsatisfactory in every way, according to the newspaper comment today. Although Kilbane led easily on points, the draw decision was commended on the ground that Dundee was the aggressor and coming in at all times, albeit usually covered up.

Tom McCarey and "Scotty" Month, manager of Dundee, expressed the hope of putting on the return match in two or three months, preferably July 4.

It was the consensus of opinion among fight frequenters today, that neither boy would make good against a lightweight—the often expressed ambition of each. Kilbane did not seem to have a knockout punch last night and Dundee, with his peculiar habit of leaping as he launched a blow, also lacked steam.

WOLGAST MANAGES BOY WHO FLOODED HIM

San Francisco, April 30.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion of the world, has announced himself as manager for Willie Hoppe, a local boxer who knocked Wolgast down during the latter's last training session as a champion.

OTTO JORDAN GIVEN OUTRIGHT RELEASE

Is in Atlanta—May Manage Clarksdale, Miss. Team. Is Looking for Berth

Otto Jordan ex-Cracker second baseman, captain and manager, is in Atlanta today. He arrived from Chattanooga last night. Jordan was sent to Memphis by Chattanooga, then turned back to the Lookouts by the Turtles. Eberfeld gave Jordan his unconditional release, out of courtesy to the veteran who asked for it.

Jordan is undecided what he will do. Clarksdale, Miss. in the Cotton States League is after him to manage their ball club, and he has submitted his proposition. He expects to hear from them this morning.

Otto also has a line out for a berth with a Southern league club. He would not announce just which club it is.

Otto will close the deal with Clarksdale or this Southern league club today. He can draw his own conclusions as to what Southern league club it is, and if he lands Otto will prove to the skeptical that he is far from all in

COBB'S CASE GOES OVER UNTIL THURSDAY

Chicago, April 30—Members of the National Baseball commission who were in session heretofore were unable to reach Tyrus Cobb's application for reinstatement and several other important matters that were to have been considered. Routine business was taken up and the commission adjourned until tomorrow.

It was intimated that Cobb would be reinstated and that his fine if any penalty at all were inflicted, would be light.

AUTO IS HERE TO STAY, SAYS SECRETARY LANE

Washington, April 30—Secretary Lane today rescinded an order barring automobiles from the Yosemite National park.

"This form of transportation has come to stay," said the secretary in a statement explaining his action "and to close the park against automobiles would be as absurd as the fight for many years made by old naval men against the adoption of steam in the navy. Before we know it they will be dropping into the Yosemite by airship.

"Some say the automobile is less picturesque than the stage coach," he added "I think that depends entirely upon the imagination and the association of the stage coach with romance. After a time we will come to associate the automobile with it. For further justification of this view, see Kipling's poem Romance is Dead, the Cave Man said I want to make our parks as accessible as possible to the great mass of the people."

An entrance fee to be charged automobilists will be added to the fund for maintenance of the park roads.

In the prison Freeman has presided over meetings of the directors of a mining company of which he is the head who called at the prison as visitors, and in his application for release on bail his attorney urged that

GENERATING PLANT, PART OF CONTRACT

Agreement With Destructor Company Calls for Electric Feature by Nutting, Declares Alderman Nutting.

Alderman James R. Nutting says that the company has contracted with the Destructor company for the erection of a generating plant in connection with the new $75,000 crematory. He says that the company has until July, 1914, to complete the electric feature of the plant.

One of the agreements in the contract is that in addition to burning 2 tons of garbage daily, the plant shall generate 35,000 kilowatts of electric current per day.

Alderman Nutting calls attention to the fact that the city has ample space for the erection of the plant on the same site of the crematory, and should it become necessary to have more ground than the city owns on the crematory site proper, a part of the estates on Hulsey street can be used.

So much misinformation has been disseminated in reference to the crematory contract and such general misunderstanding seems to exist as to the provisions of the contract covering the electric generating plant, that a short statement touching the matter may not be out of order. A contract was entered into by the city with the Destructor company covering not only the crematory proper, but also covering the Women of Atlanta to Assist In Entertaining Presbyterians; Many Homes Offered Delegates

The spirit of the Atlanta women, tried and proven as it has been since the days when Atlanta was Marthasville—tried during the days of the confederacy—proven in the days of reconstruction and illuminating every phase of civic life in Atlanta today, asserted itself eloquently yesterday, when a representative group of Atlanta women responded to the call to help the men of Atlanta look after the tremendous gathering of people who will assemble here at the Presbyterian convention in May.

The occasion was a gathering of women at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club in response to an invitation from Mr. Samuel Inman and Mr. J. K. Orr for the purpose of enlisting the co-operation of the women of the city in securing hospitality in homes for the visiting delegates to a convention which will be unique in the history of the Presbyterian church of today.

The appeal at the luncheon to the good women of the city who have at all times not merely complemented the makers of the city in every effort they have made for public uplift, but who have been an actual part of the great psychological something which has been called the Atlanta spirit, was an appeal to them to make the hospitality for which the south is famed.

Response Is Characteristic. The response was characteristic of the spirit of Atlanta women, for on the list of hostesses which was read, even before the results of the meeting in religious life, but letters in every phase of life-making for higher civilization.

The thousands of people who have dignified their intention of coming have tried the hotels and boarding houses of the city in that respect, and have been made the most of to the utmost capacity. The homes of the Presbyterians of the city have taken all that they can hold and homes up to the hour of 1 o'clock yesterday were required for 500 more.

Will Provide for Delegates. But the assembly of women called by Mr. Inman and Mr. Orr pledged themselves to provide for the remaining delegates, and before Saturday at 1 o'clock, when the same committee will meet again, it is safe to press to predict that everyone of the 500 visitors will have the hospitality of a home provided.

When response was called for from the ladies present, the first speaker was Mrs. Clarence Johnson, who earnestly pledged her support to the entertainment committee and assured them that the ladies of the Methodist church would do their part. Mrs. George Inman was the next speaker, she a member of the Episcopal church, and she who had signed to entertain two delegates. Mrs. E. L. Connally responded in behalf of the hospitality of her home first, and then the hospitality of her church. For the co-operation of the ladies of the Baptist church, Mrs. George McCarty, Mrs. William Peck and Mrs. W. R. Wiggs also spoke.

Mrs. C. R. Wilmer made a most impressive address, stressing the significance of the convention, and the fact that opportunity was afforded for everybody to demonstrate their belief in and desire for the union of all religious forces.

Mrs. Joseph M. Brown and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton were among those who expressed their interest in the great event of the conference and their desire to assist in entertaining.

Miss Martha Boynton suggested that each church appoint a central committee to act in the interest of the convention, and that the ladies of the Presbyterian church send a speaker to the meetings of the ladies which takes place every Monday afternoon in every Methodist church in the city.

This suggestion was favorably acted upon, and Mrs. Archibald Davis, who presided at the informal session which followed the luncheon, will appoint these speakers.

Chairmen were also appointed to appoint committees to interest the various denominations. Mrs. Clarence Johnson was appointed chairman of the Methodist ladies; Mrs. George McCarty, of the Baptist ladies; Mrs. C. B. Williams, of the Episcopal church, while a large committee is acting to interest the ladies of the city-at-large in the forthcoming event.

Presbyterian Women Aid. A number of Presbyterian present volunteered to assist these ladies in any way that they could in securing these homes. The Presbyterian women volunteering were: Mrs. E. M. Inman, Mrs. W. T. Healey, Mrs. Edward Lyle, Mrs. Doughty Manley, Mrs. E. C. Kutz, Mrs. Clyde King, Mrs. E. C. Matheson, Mrs. N. M. G. Anderson, Mrs. John H. Mullin, Mrs. George Breitenbacher, Mrs. T. Ansel, Mrs. Hugh Banker, Mrs. W. D. Elkin, Mrs. S. T. Barnett, Mrs. Emma Elyea, Mrs. A. A. Little, Mrs. M. M. Stokes, Mrs. Peacock, Mrs. Willis Everett.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS REPUDIATE GOV. SULZER

Albany, N. Y., April 30.—Despite the overwhelming defeat in the senate today of his state-wide direct primary bill, Governor Sulzer will not oppose the plan of the legislative leaders to end the regular session this week, provided a program he outlined tonight is carried out. This calls for the passage of several bills still pending.

Chief among these measures are nine bills providing for the reform of stock exchange methods. The governor is particularly interested in the measure providing for the incorporation of the New York stock exchange and prohibiting discrimination in the printing or engraving of bonds or stock certificates.

The vote on the primary bill was 41 against to 3 favoring it. A lengthy debate preceded the vote, during which several members of the democratic majority, plucking up the gauntlet which the governor had thrown down last Saturday when he threatened to drive from the party any who opposed the bill, bitterly arraigned the executive for the language he used in vetoing the Blauvelt primary law. Almost immediately after the decisive vote was announced, the Blauvelt bill, slightly changed from the form in which it was vetoed, on the ground that it was "fraud" and a "miserable makeshift," was reintroduced and advanced to the order of final passage.

Although he expressed his willingness to allow the legislature to adjourn, Governor Sulzer makes no effort to conceal his purpose to call an extraordinary session to reconsider the bill. He has not indicated the date, however. The fact that he intends to tour the state in an effort to arouse sentiment for the measure is taken to indicate that the legislators may not be recalled until late in the summer.

One of the most severe critics of the governor in the debate was Senator Warner, the democratic floor leader. He asserted that although the governor was "fully cognizant" of the preparation of democratic plans for election reforms, he had volunteered no suggestions.

"No, no, that would have been uninteresting," he declared. "In that way he might not have received the illumination of the first page nor the publicity that is accorded when you get up upon any proposition, it matters not what it is, and come out and say: 'This boss is against me; I'm against the boss; and I am for this and the boss are against me, and I am going to make the fight of my life and I'm ready to die out of the party anyone who dares to disagree with me.' That makes good loading."

GRAND JURY PROBING CONDITIONS AT JAIL

Inquiry into conditions at the county jail, which has been the subject of a grand jury probe recently, was resumed yesterday afternoon and a number of witnesses were heard in regard to existing conditions. The grand jury men also paid a visit to the jail and partook of the food that is given the prisoners.

"There appears to be nothing radically wrong with affairs at the jail," said Foreman John S. Owens at the conclusion of the Wednesday session, "that has been brought to our notice, but it seems that there is need for an adjustment of affairs down there, so that there may be better management of the jail. We are going to recommend as much in our formal report to the superior court when we are discharged at the latter part of this week."

When the probe was undertaken there were some charges that the negroes had not been given proper bed clothing in their cells, and that prisoners, who is employed there solely as a warden to have charge of the feeding.
