Unanimous Decision Reverses the Ruling by Judge Pendleton, of Superior Court, and Will Result in Return to the Old Fee System.

LAW WAS CONTESTED BY THREE OFFICIALS AS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Board of County Commissioners Will Hold a Meeting This Morning to Consider the Ruling of the Supreme Court and to Decide on Action.

The law requiring the county officials of Fulton county to be paid salaries instead of fees was held to be unconstitutional by the supreme court of the state in a unanimous decision handed down yesterday afternoon.

The case came before the supreme court on an appeal made by certain Fulton county officials, wherein a writ of mandamus required them to make reports in regard to salaries so that they could be paid with salaries instead of fees.

The Fulton county officials who made the appeal were the tax collector, A. P. Stewart; the ordinary, John R. Wilkinson, and the tax receiver, T. M. Armistead.

TWO KILLED TWO INJURED ON SEABOARD

Flagman J. T. Allen Was Crushed to Death at Rice's Station and Engineer R. B. Brooks, of Freight Engine, So Badly Scalded That He Died Before Reaching Atlanta Wednesday Night.

TRAMP PROVES A HERO; SCALDED WHILE TRYING TO HELP THE ENGINEER

Passenger Train Has Narrow Escape, Being Waved Down by Farmer Just Before Reaching Scene of Wreck. Passengers Make Up Handsome Purse For Man Who Had Prevented Another Wreck.

"I'm nothing but a hobo, fellows; get this poor devil out here and let me be," were the words that greeted rescuers who raced to the scene of a wreck on the Seaboard last night at Rice's Station, in which flagman J. T. Allen was crushed to death and Engineer R. B. Brooks was scalded so that he died before reaching Atlanta.

The rescuers were the crew and passengers of the night train from Birmingham, which was flagged before reaching the wreck by a farmer living nearby.

The man who declared that he was a tramp gave his name as R. G. Burns, and his residence as nowhere. He was scalded on the arms and hands and first to reach the wreck which occurred in a deep cut as the engine and tender raced to the relief of a freight at Powder Springs, where an engine had given out.

The cause of the wreck is still unexplained and will probably never be known, as both the white men who were on it are dead and the negro fire-

Wearing Uniform of Diaz J. Wylie Smith Returns: Will Not Discuss Charge

J. Wylie Smith, president of the Commercial Loan and Discount company, who left Atlanta two years ago, following certain transactions which resulted in the filing of forgery charges against him, and who has since been in Mexico fighting with the Diaz army, was brought back to Atlanta last night from El Paso, Texas, by T. M. Hamilton, who, after months of correspondence, had prevailed upon him that it would be best to come back and face the charges.

He arrived on the Atlanta and West Point train from New Orleans at 11:42. City Detectives Sturdivant and Davis met him at the station, and quietly took him to the Tower in a cab, where he will be held for trial.

Smith was worn literally to a shadow. His face was creased with the lines that starvation alone can bring; his walk was that of an invalid. Clad in the khaki uniform of the Mexican rurales, his thinness was accentuated.

ANTI-JAP MEASURE WILL BECOME LAW, SAYS GOV. JOHNSON

California Executive Finally Refuses to Veto Alien Bill as Requested by President Wilson.

NO TREATIES VIOLATED, ASSERTS THE GOVERNOR

Johnson Says California Is Only Following Action of Other States and Even of the United States.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON'S MESSAGE

The governor's message follows: "Hon. William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.: Your very courteous telegram relating to the alien land bill reached me late Sunday night. I take it from our conversations and your request made to me to withhold executive action until opportunity was afforded for the presentation from the federal government, that your message embodies that it was your wish and the wish of the president to say to us before final action.

"In this response it is my design most respectfully to present the situation from our standpoint and the views that actuated our legislature in passing the bill and that impel me to sanction it.

"For many years a very grave problem little understood in the east, has confronted California; a problem the seriousness of which has been recognized by statesmen in our nation and has been viewed with apprehension by the people of this state. When the present constitution of California was adopted, more than thirty years ago, it contained the following declaration: 'The presence of foreigners ineligible to become citizens of the United States is declared to be dangerous to the well-being of the state, and the legislature shall discourage their immigration by all means within its power.'

"Of late years our problem from another angle has become acute, and the agitation has become continuous in the last decade in reference to our agricultural lands, until finally affirmative action in an attempted solution became imperative. This attempted solution is found in the action of our legislature in the passage of an alien land bill, the purpose of which is to restrict the acquisition of agricultural lands in those whom it affects in its scope and in its purpose, we believe we are within our legal and our moral rights and that we are doing only what is imperatively demanded.

SOUTH NOW SHOWING NATION HOW LOVE OF BROTHERS CAN HEAL THE BREACHES OF TIME

By DR. THORNWELL JACOBS. (Dr. Thornwell Jacobs is editor of the Westminster Magazine, the organ of southern Presbyterianism, and secretary of the board of trustees of Oglethorpe university. He can accurately be called the father of the movement that gives Atlanta the historic importance of furnishing a common meeting ground for four great Presbyterian assemblies. The idea was first advanced editorially in the Westminster Magazine, and his effective reiteration of it caused it quickly to become nation-wide in popularity. He is one of the dominant influences in the church today. He gives below the keynote of this remarkable gathering.)

A momentous thing is happening in Atlanta. An immense denomination of Christians is entering a new era. For the first time in history the highest and largest courts of the four great bodies constituting the Presbyterian church of the nation are to meet in the same city at the same time. To any one at all acquainted with church history this is tremendously significant.

South is Leading the Nation.

The assembling of assemblies means another big thing. It is a significant fact that the south is leading the nation in the spirit of fraternity. Who would ever have thought that when the Presbyterians of America should for the first time in all history meet together it would be in Atlanta, a city that half a century ago was grim with the gray ashes of fratricidal strife? Who would ever have dreamed that Dixie Presbyterians would invite New England to enjoy her hospitality first? There you touch deeply. A generation has passed since the "Northern" Presbyterian church has been entertained in homes. A generation has come that asks for them in their homes. In the north they sit in hotels. In the south they sit by fireplaces, or shall say on verandas? That is one of the reasons why this assembly when it received the Atlanta invitation last year, and accepted it unanimously, broke into singing, "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow!" It was a brother's way of saying, "On-to-Atlanta."

It is not a little thing to say that this assembling of assemblies yokes the name of Atlanta to the biggest event of Presbyterian history in America, but it is finer to add that not one human being on the continent was found to oppose the plan. Could anything be more significant than that? Beginning with Atlanta, and on through the presbytery, on through the southern assembly, the northern, the U. P. and the A. R. P. assemblies, not one single voice against it. It looked as if everybody wanted it. Therefore it is inevitable that differences shall grow smaller and similarities greater by this coming together of those who already like one another quite well. They tell me it is rather hard to point out differences between yourself and any person whose soft white arms are around your neck. Atlanta was always a swift maiden.

Discussing Common Problems.

Take this last fact: The individual assemblies will meet separately to transact their separate businesses in their separate churches, but each evening, at the Auditorium, they will meet together to confer on their common problems. Is it not significant that the great things, the great causes, the great movements, the great calls, the great hopes, will be discussed at the Auditorium? The higher one gets the nearer the mountains creep together. That is the biggest thing that is going to happen this next ten days in Atlanta.

Not organic, but cardinal union. Not "We once were" nor "We will be," but "We now are one."

And it may as well be added that right here and now is being developed a love-story that sooner or later will inevitably sweep away all barriers between the American Presbyterian bodies. It may take a decade, it may take a generation. But some things are going to happen. That is one of them. Any father can tell you that when children lose one another they have a way of getting together. Then, why should not the Common Father know it?

G. F. von HERMANN, Section Director will be from 4,000 to 5,000 persons... the three separate assemblies during the day and to compare their presence and enthusiasm for an immense gathering tonight at the Auditorium-Armory—the first time in the history of the world that four great Presbyterian organizations, representing nine-tenths of the Presbyterians of North America, have met in one great body.

In special trains from New York, Chicago and St. Louis and by every train that enters Atlanta during the day the Presbyterians poured into the city. Scotsmen from Edinburgh, Englishmen from London, missionaries from China, India, Porto Rico and the rest of the world were among the throngs of people who reached the city and were assigned to their respective quarters in the homes of Atlanta citizens, if they were commissioners, or in the capacious hotels of Atlanta if they just came as visitors.

Depots Thronged by Visitors. At each of the Atlanta stations registration headquarters had been established. Upon the arrival of each train men wearing yellow badges with the printed words, "Welcome Committee," lined the platforms up in front of the registration bureau. The facilities matters were handled at each station were used, one for those whose names began with any letter from A to M and the other from N to Z. In this manner the hundreds of people were handled with system and order.

Two special trains arrived during the day at the Terminal station, one from Philadelphia at 1 p. m., bearing nearly 600 people, and the other from New York later in the afternoon, also bringing about 500 people. Many expressions of satisfaction were heard about the treatment and accommodation received in the Atlanta hotels. The headquarters of the assemblies committee, on the fifth floor of the Emporium building, was alive with people all day long. Everybody was in a happy frame of mind and the people of Atlanta co-operated by directing the visitors on their way through the city or in rendering them other little courtesies. The festivities of the day was the losing of a suitcase by Rev. W. E. Voss, of El Reno, Okla.

Scattered Over the City. Immediately after arrival hundreds of the visitors made their way at once to the various churches in the center of the city, where the pre-assembly conferences were being held. With earnest and spirited discussion on missions, evangelism, education and other problems of the church today.

Not only by the Presbyterians, but hundreds of Atlanta homes were occupied by the Methodists, Baptists, Episcopalians and people of all shades of belief—uniting, with the far-famed "Atlanta Spirit," in entertaining the 1,500 commissioners who were sent to the assembly by the various churches of every section of the country.

The chamber of commerce rooms overflowed. The Y. M. C. A. was the mecca for hundreds, while other Atlanta institutions helped entertain the visitors during the day.

Recesses Scott. The first really big event on the social program, however, is to be the general reception which will be tendered to the commissioners and their wives next Tuesday afternoon at the Agnes Scott college, the Presbyterian institution located at Decatur, 6 miles out of Atlanta. In special cars the delegates will journey to Decatur Saturday afternoon to be the guests of the Atlanta Presbyterians on this occasion.

During their ten days' stay in Atlanta a number of other interesting events are planned, among them the brotherhood conference and supper next Tuesday evening at the Kimball house. Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, representing The Westminster Magazine, will tender a luncheon to the visiting press representatives Friday at the Capital City club.

The feature of the entire convocation of the Presbyterian hosts, however, will be the great Auditorium gatherings, which will take place every evening at 8 o'clock for the next ten days.

Auditorium to Be Packed. Indications are that when the first of these joint gatherings takes place Thursday night the great Auditorium-Armory will be packed to its very doors and galleries. With nearly 7,000 out-of-town people here for the assemblies and fully that many Atlantans anxious to be present on this historic-making occasion, the Auditorium, which holds 6,000 or 8,000 people, will probably see one of the greatest crowds of its varied career.

Moderators of each of the four Presbyterian bodies—the Northern, the Southern, the United Presbyterian and the Associate Reformed—will make speeches of greeting. Among them J. K. Orr will extend the welcome in behalf of Atlanta.

The main address of the evening will then be made by Mr. James Macdonald, of Toronto, Canada, on the subject "The Church's Responsibility for International Peace." Mr. Mac-

"Fellowship" will be the general theme of this first gathering at the Auditorium on Friday night. The subject will be "Evangelism" and on Saturday night "Christian Social Service." Sunday will be one of the most unique days in the history of Atlanta. For the day the city will be practically every pulpit in Atlanta, while a number of big rallies will be held in the downtown churches.

COMFORT TYING DEVICE EFFECTS GREAT SAVING

Judge Newt Morris Says Government Will Adopt Georgia Man's Invention.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, May 14.—(Special.)—Announcing that they stood ready to guarantee the government a saving of $100,000 a year in the cost of twine used by the postoffice department, Judge Newt Morris, following an interview today with the postmaster general, predicted that the tying device of David Comfort of Tifton, would be adopted by the department this fall.

After a trial at the Philadelphia postoffice his device received a hearty endorsement from R. A. Harsh, postmaster. It was praised as affecting a saving in time labor, and as being much more sanitary than the present method.

The government now spends nearly $200,000 a year on twine. The Comfort device is pledged to save one-third of this alone.

Rural Route Out of Douglas. Representative Walker got the postoffice department today to order the establishment of a rural route out of Douglas, Coffee county, effective August 1. And to rescind its order discontinuing the postoffice at Mereshon, June 1, and has received assurances that the offices at Marsee, which was ordered discontinued May 1, will be reopened.

Senator Hoke Smith today introduced bills in the senate, providing for the payment of $1,000 to the Peavine academy, in Walker county, Georgia, and $500 to the Peavine church, to reimburse them for property destroyed at the hands of the union troops during the civil war.

Sam D. Jones Very Ill. Sam D. Jones, president of the Atlanta Stove works, is seriously ill at Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, where he recently underwent an operation. Mr. Jones went over to the hospital to be treated for a stomach ailment and the physicians operated on him for an intestinal malady. Dr. Campbell, of Atlanta, who is Mr. Jones' physician, said the condition of the patient was not entirely satisfactory.

Report on Turpentine Industry. A report on the turpentine and rosin industry of south Georgia and Florida was asked for today by Senator Fletcher, of Florida. He offered a bill appropriating $10,000 to enable the census bureau to gather statistics.

Hawell Ewles in Capital. Howell C. Erwin, of Atlanta, was in Washington today. He is representing some Georgia and Alabama claimants before the court of claims.

Cordele Light Franchise. Cordele, Ga., May 14.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Cordele city council last night a resolution was adopted granting the Citizens Electric Light and Power company the franchise to franchise. In granting the franchise the council entered into an agreement to contract with the company to furnish street lighting for ten years.

Flight Not Attempted. Key West, May 14.—Unfavorable weather conditions today prevented the proposed attempt of Augustine Paria, fly in a hydro-aeroplane from Key West to Havana. The Cuban aviator has been here for several days making preparations for the flight which probably will be tried as soon as weather conditions permit.

For Minimum Wage Scale. Denver, Colo., May 14.—Governor Ammons today signed a bill providing a commission of three to fix minimum wages for women and minors. Upon the appeal of women or children workers in any industry or in any community, the commission is required to give hearings and fix a minimum wage.

BY TABERNAACLE

Big Baptist Church Asks Rev. Lincoln McConnell, Well-Known Evangelist, to Take Charge of Work.

Rev. Lincoln McConnell, Tennessean by birth and noted as an evangelist and lecturer, will be the next pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle church, provided he accepts the invitation which the members of the congregation unanimously voted to extend him at a meeting last night.

At the same meeting the members raised the remainder of the $12,000 necessary to secure the donation of $5,000 from Andrew Carnegie, and to finish payment on the magnificent new organ installed in the church auditorium.

That Mr. McConnell will accept the call to the Atlanta church is the belief of the members. A. C. Boatman, chairman of the committee appointed to extend a formal invitation to him, stated Wednesday night that as far as possible he and the other members of the committee had endeavored to determine the pastor's position. He said that while they had never gained a definite statement from him as to his action, provided he should get the call, that they believed that Mr. McConnell would accept and come to Atlanta.

Mr. McConnell is well known here, where he has many friends. He was here in 1908 and 1909 as the first pastor of the Wesley Memorial church, and since that time has lectured and preached here on numerous occasions and the Tabernacle members feel that he will prove one of the strongest men that they could secure.

His connection has been with the Baptist denomination since 1908, when, with his entire family, he joined the First Baptist church at Kansas City.

Mr. McConnell is now at Higginsville, Mo., where he is conducting a union meeting, and telegrams were sent to him from Atlanta Wednesday night, telling him of the decision and notifying him of the hope of the members of the local church that he could see fit to accept the offer, which is regarded among churchmen as one of the largest and most important in the country.

The formal call to the pulpit will go out today, asking him to fill the place formerly held by Dr. Len B. Eroughton, and which has been vacant since the death of that pastor last August. Mr. Stewart MacArthur, president of the World's Baptist alliance, who succeeded Dr. Eroughton.

Lecturer and Evangelist. Except for his connection with the Wesley Memorial church, Mr. McConnell has been pastor of many large churches in the country, but has devoted his time and work to evangelism and to lecture courses, and he is said to be one of the most successful men known in these lines.

He now has contracts with a Yecoum lecture course, and before he can accept the local call he will have to arrange to break off this contract. It is believed that in case he should accept that he will find no trouble in doing that.

Mr. McConnell has had no stated place of residence since going into evangelistic and lecture work, but owns a plantation of 1,100 acres near Thomaston, Ga., where he and his family spend a great part of their time when he is not in active duty.

He is a man 47 years of age, and decidedly vigorous in manner and full of enthusiasm, and is regarded as an ideal man to handle the enormous work and care for the large body of people that necessarily fall upon the pastor of a church as large as the Tabernacle, with something over 1,200 souls on its membership list.

Greatly Liked by All. Personally he is a man who is greatly liked and admired by the members of Atlanta, and he and his family, which consists of his wife and daughter and three sons, is well known here. His daughter, Mrs. Lester Larkham, makes her home at Hastings, Neb., and he has some in an evangelist singer of wide repute.

In selecting the name of a new pastor the board of deacons at the meeting Wednesday night placed Mr. McConnell's name before the congregation and then opened the matter for discussion. The members were asked to vote for any man whom they might desire. When the vote was counted, Mr. McConnell had received more than a majority of the votes cast. He was then chosen pastor, and his selection was thus made unanimous.

After this the matter of completing the organ fund was taken up and the remainder of the amount necessary to secure the donation of the Carnegie was secured. Mr. Carnegie will be communicated with and advised of this fact, so that by the time the new pastor arrives the organ will be entirely paid for.

The committee chosen to invite Mr. McConnell to Atlanta consists of the following men: Chairman Boatman, C. W. Hatcher, H. A. Eckeridge, Dr. William T. Jones and J. W. Awtry.

NEW FULTON SALARY ACT UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Continued From Page One. state, but only to such as meet a certain description. The court then goes into further discussion of the matter and holds that the act does not have uniform operation throughout the state and is therefore unconstitutional.

A number of taxpayers who have not paid their taxes for last year have awaited the decision with much interest because they may not have to pay the costs under the decision. No decision of the supreme court for a number of years has been looked forward to with more interest. It will probably effect the payment of taxes by a large number of taxpayers in Fulton county. The county commission will meet today to consider the decision and to decide upon future action.

REV. LINCOLN MCCONNELL.

ANTI-JAP MEASURE WILL BECOME LAW

Continued From Page One. be taken by any nation to this law, and more particularly does this seem to us clear in the instance of a nation like Japan, that by its own law prevents acquisition of land by aliens. It is most respectfully submitted that, after all, the question is not whether any offense has been taken, but whether justly it should be taken.

It is justified in taking offense at the majority of the legislature of this state, when I say that if it had been believed that offense could justly be taken by any nation to the proposed law that law would not have been enacted.

No Treaty Rights Violated. "We, of California, believe firmly that in our legislative dealings with this alien land question we have violated absolutely no treaty rights. We have shown no discrimination, we have given to no nation the right to discriminate against its citizens, believing with a stout reliance on the justice and the righteousness of our cause and with due deference and courtesy and with proper consideration for the feelings and the views of others, we had hoped the authorities at Washington would have seen the question as we in this state have been forced to see it as we must see it or be blind."

And so, with all respect and courtesy, the state of California feels that its bounden duty to its citizens is to do that which the interests of its people demand; that which the conscience of its people approves, that which violates no treaty rights; that which prevents no discrimination and that which can give no just cause of offense.

Your suggestion to me, dearly, but this question was very earnestly and fully presented by you to our legislature and the legislature determined to disapprove the law as presented. Our people, as represented in the legislature, have overwhelmingly expressed their desire for the present alien land bill. The vote in the senate was 35 to 2, and in the assembly 72 to 3. With such unanimity of opinion, even did I hold other views, I would feel it my duty to sign the bill, unless some absolutely controlling necessity demanded contrary action. Appropriately, no such controlling necessity exists.

"It is with the highest respect for yourself and the president that I feel my duty to my state compels me to approve the action of the legislature."

"HIRAM JOHNSON," Governor of California. Becomes Law August 10. With the sending of the telegram today the controversy over the alien land bill is at an end so far as the California administration is concerned. Governor Johnson has until July 16 in which to sign the act and in the normal course of events it will become a law August 10 next.

The only contingency that might arise to check its operation is the threatened referendum petition which Theodore A. Bell, a democratic leader, has said he would circulate against the measure as soon as it was signed.

WASHINGTONS COURSE NOT YET DETERMINED

Washington, May 14.—With Governor Johnson's announcement today that he would sign the California alien land bill in spite of the federal administration's appeal for a veto on account of the Japanese protest, it now becomes necessary for the state department to determine whether it will proceed with the negotiations with the Japanese government on the basis of defiance and sustaining the right of the Californians to deprive the Japanese of the right to hold real property, or whether it shall concede that the act violates the spirit, if not the letter, of the treaty with Japan and attempt to find means of nullifying it.

In his message to Governor Johnson, President Wilson already expressed the opinion that the legislation is discriminatory so that the Japanese contention that the act constitutes discrimination in violation of international law and of the spirit of the treaty, is powerfully supported and the position of the state department made difficult should it be found necessary to champion the cause of the Californians.

The first thing to be done will be to formally inform the Japanese embassy of Governor Johnson's action. In the ordinary course of negotiations, the Japanese government would reply that as it is prevented by the constitution of the United States from negotiating directly with one of the American commonwealths, it must hold the national government responsible for anything that may occur in California, to the detriment of Japanese residents. Probably, with these exchanges as a preliminary, the two governments will begin negotiations in earnest to find some way permanently to adjust the status of the citizens of each country resident in the other on a satisfactory basis.

It is hoped here that this can be accomplished diplomatically by negotiation of a new treaty. If this hope should not be realized, then recourse to the California law is at present a grave problem. Secretary Bryan, who was an honor guest at a dinner at the Spanish legation tonight, left for New York on a midnight train to attend the banquet there tomorrow night of the Pan-American society. Consequently, it is not expected anything will be done in pursuance of the negotiations until he returns to Washington Friday.

Government Johnson's telegram to Secretary Bryan, giving notice of his intention to sign the land bill and warning the Californians that the time has arrived at the state department tonight after the secretary had left his office. It was made public later at the white house without comment.

WHITE CLIQUE SCORED BY JAPANESE EDITOR. Tokyo, May 14.—So as not to embarrass diplomatic negotiations the government continues to discourage the holding of meetings and demonstrations, and last night called off a reunion arranged by the American-Japanese association.

Publicists, however, discuss developments in the controversy over the Californian alien land ownership bill. They declare the California difficulty is merely one proof that the time has arrived to fix the relations between the white and other races of the world.

In a striking article M. Tokutomi, editor of Kokumin, says that "the white men's clique must be overthrown in the interest of Japan and in the interest of humanity."

Other writers express themselves in a similar strain, asserting that the Japanese are in danger of exclusion from almost everywhere in the world, chiefly through racial prejudice. The solution of the great question involved, it is argued, can only be found in destroying the white man's misconception of the inferiority of the colored races by Japan attaining the same level of civilization as the west, developing both physical and moral strength along all lines.

This fairly reflects the more conservative opinion in Japan. Typewriter Ribbons 50c. Am. Writing Machine Co.

ATLANTA BOOKLET WON CONVENTION OF THE SHRINERS

Forrest Adair Says That the Bureau Pamphlet Made it Easy to Defeat Memphis and Buffalo.

YAARAB TEMPLE BOYS REJOICE OVER VICTORY

The Nobles Will Gather Next Year in Atlanta on May 13. The Shriners Homeward Bound.

By Fred Houser. Dallas, Texas, May 14.—(Special.)—To each and every member of Yaarab delegation is due the victory won by Atlanta in securing the 1914 convention on the first ballot. Since the arrival in this city the Atlantians have been carrying on a vigorous campaign. Forrest Adair, the potentate, is the recipient of hundreds of congratulations, and it is declared his word in the cause of his home city and temple changed defeat into victory. The time and place committee recommended Buffalo and June 10-11 as dates of the 1914 meeting, and Forrest Adair met this with a substitute for Atlanta, and this was put to the vote of the house. Atlanta won with a vote of 237, with only 156 necessary for choice. May 13 and 14 are the dates for the next meeting. Rising to their feet, the entire Atlanta delegation yelled, "Is everybody happy?" and they were answered, "Sure."

THESE MEN ARE NAMED FOR MODERATOR U. S. A.

DR. WILLIAM M'KIBBEN. DR. DAVID SCHLEY SCHAFF. DR. MAITLAND ALEXANDER. DR. AQUILLA WEBB. DR. S. A. CORNELIUS.

The names of these five men are included among those prominently mentioned for the position of next moderator of the U. S. A. assembly, to succeed Dr. Mark A. Matthews. The council has ever gone contrary to the recommendations of the committee. Potentate Adair said: "The Yaarab boys have stuck together from the very beginning. The fact that we raised $75,000 in one day and our splendid hotel facilities were the trump cards in the game. Atlanta was backed up by Robert L. Colding, grand master of Georgia, a resident of Savannah. Potentate Bob Travis, of Alice Temple, also did good work. The splendid manner in which Dallas has handled the convention is due to the fact that one year has been devoted to the preparations by the members of Heila Temple. Atlanta must begin at once in order to keep up to the entertainment precedents set by the Metropolis of Texas. Problems of Church Work Discussed in Conferences. In the mission field we've got to present a solid front against the enemy, regardless of denominations or differences of organization. If we are to succeed in our task of evangelizing the world! This was the leading thought brought out at the Presbytery-wide missionary conference at the Harris Street Presbyterian church yesterday by Joseph Ernest McAfee, secretary of the home mission board of the U. S. A. church. He was backed up by similar declarations of Rev. C. E. Bryant, of Chicago; J. M. Patterson, of Louisville, and David McCoskey, of New York, all of whom are field secretaries in the U. S. A. church. "We must recognize the great opportunity to us in the Laymen's Missionary movement, which is interdenominational in its scope," said Dr. Bryant, "and we must do nothing to hinder its growth, for it is by combining our forces in un denominational effort that we can accomplish our greatest work in the missionary field." This was only one of the great questions brought out, however, in the pre-assembly conference, which were held in the various central churches of Atlanta Wednesday. Hundreds Attend Conferences. Hundreds of delegates and visitors attended the conferences, and they all a big success in the standpoint of the real thoughts and ideas brought forth for mutual discussion. "Evangelism" was the subject of the conference at the North Avenue Presbyterian church, which all the Presbyterian bodies joined in. Conferences on "Education" were held in the First Baptist church by U. S. A. commissioners, and in the Baptist Tabernacle by the U. S. A. commissioners. The college presidents held a conference in the Harris Street church, and they had a late return from a tour of all the mission fields. At the night session in the Harris street church, when the college presidents' conference united with the Southern Educational conference, President J. King Montgomery, of New Concord, Ohio, spoke on "The Bible in the College," and Dr. Thomas S. Cloye, of Sherman, Texas, spoke on "Comity and Co-operation."

Commerce, Ga., May 14.—(Special.)—This city is to be the mecca for north Georgia farmers who are interested in drainage at a congress to be held here Friday, May 23. Farmers from all the adjoining counties have gone to Gwinnett, to see the great ditch now being cut on Haynes creek, and have been most favorably impressed with the method used. As a result, meetings have already been held in several communities, and plans formulated to drain a number of the farms on the creeks and rivers in adjoining counties. With a view of lending encouragement to the movement, a drainage congress is to be held here. Among those who have promised to be present and take part in the program are Hon. J. V. # WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEEING FROM FLAMES

Forest Fires Are Ravaging Wide Territory in Pennsylvania.

Warren, Pa., May 14.—A disastrous fire is sweeping the forests near the city. Flames can be seen high above the hills miles from this city. The fire early this evening reached the edge of Halliton, a lumber town. A special train brought the women and children of Halliton to Warren. Several houses at Halliton have been destroyed and desperate efforts are being made to prevent destruction of the town. A wide territory of timber land is in flame, while adding to the danger are many bigging oil and gas wells and heavily filled oil tanks. The damage cannot be estimated.

PROPERTY LOSS HEAVY. Pittsburg, May 14.—A serious forest fire is sweeping Valley township, Armstrong county, and in less than twenty-four hours has burned over an area four miles long and nearly a mile wide. Millions of feet of timber have been destroyed. Two gas wells in the path of the flames are burning. A forest fire which swept Cambria county yesterday burned itself out early today.

Killed by Live Wire. Danville, Va., May 14.—James Moore, aged 48 and a serious epileptic, was killed here this afternoon when while working upon an electric cable at the top of a pole on Main street he lost his balance and fell against a live wire. Twenty-three hundred volts passed through the body. In order to remove the body it was found necessary to cut the maza of wires upon which the man rested, affecting all motors in the business portion of the city.

DARGAN PRESIDES OVER THE BAPTISTS

Macon Man Re-elected President at St. Louis Convention—Texas Leads States in Money Contributed.

St. Louis, May 14.—The sixty-seventh annual convention of the Southern Baptists formally opened this afternoon. The Rev. Edwin Charles Dargan presided.

Officers for the ensuing year were selected with the execution of the vice presidents. The officers are:

The Rev. Dr. Edwin Charles Dargan, of Macon, Ga., president; M. H. Swift, of Dallas, Texas; the Rev. A. G. Washburn, of McAlester, Okla.; Isaac E. Tiggrett, of Jackson, Miss.; and William Ellison, of Richmond, Va., vice president; the Rev. Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Americus, Ga., and the Rev. Oliver Fuller Gregory, of Staunton, Va., secretaries; George W. Horton, of Louisville, Ky., treasurer; and William F. Harvey, of Harrodsburg, Ky., auditor.

The program provides for three sessions each day, the closing session being next Monday night. The morning session tomorrow will be given up to missionary matters and the afternoon session to the laymen's movement and the young people's work.

It is shown in the statistical reports that Texas led all the states in the convention in the amount of money contributed to both home and foreign missions, giving $71,000 to home missions and $86,000 to foreign missions.

Money Collected by Women.

For the first time in the twenty-five years of the history of the Women's Missionary union a separate report of that auxiliary was read. In the report it was shown that during the quarter of a century of its existence it has raised $1,000,000 for missions and one-tenth of this amount was raised last year.

The general board of governors of the Margaret home, at Louisville, Ky., had an expert valuation of $30,000 placed on property of their institution where homes are furnished for children of foreign missionaries who cannot take them abroad. The women's general board of the Women's Missionary Union training school, of Louisville, reported that the young women trained in that school were now filling missionary posts in eight foreign fields.

The board of governors of the Baptist Theological seminary, of Louisville, re-elected Dr. E. Y. Mullins president. Joshua Levering, chairman of the board, was re-elected. Of new vice presidents chosen, one was E. L. Connolly, of Atlanta.

Among delegates to the convention are four full-blooded Pawnee Indians from Oklahoma.

Foreign Mission Report.

Optimism characterizes the annual report of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist church, submitted to the convention today by Rev. T. B. Ray, of Richmond, Va.

"Baptists were awakened to worldwide missionary activity at the same time to the great opportunities before them in the home land," says the report.

"The Southern Baptists now have 157 men and 157 women missionaries in foreign fields, 139 ordained native ministers and 447 native helpers. The membership in foreign fields totals more than 27,000, and nearly 7,500 are enrolled in schools and colleges. Missions are located in China, Japan, Africa, Italy, Mexico, Brazil and Argentina. The total receipts of the foreign mission board for the year exceed $500,000. The present mission debt is $750,000."

Considerable space is given to conditions in Mexico. "The year 1912," reports A. N. Porter, in charge of the South Mexican mission, "was one of the most trying in the history of the Mexican people. Thousands of bandits have overrun the rural districts leaving ruin and distress. Such conditions have made it nearly impossible to do missionary work except in the cities."

R. P. Mahon, of the Morella field, says the revolution had its compensation in the work of native pastors, "who have shown by their fidelity in the midst of great dangers that they have a profound interest in the salvation of their people."

"It also seems certain," he continued, "that we are facing greater opportunities than ever; the conditions are changing and the people are reading and thinking for themselves as never before."

Tellus of the year's work in the south China field, P. H. Anderson reported. "The recent revolution, resulting in

ELECTION IN U. S. A. AWAITED IN SUSPENSE

Dr. S. S. Palmer and Dr. Maitland Alexander Loom Up as Candidates for Moderator.

By Dr. S. S. Gibson. The campaign for moderator of the U. S. A. assembly ran lively all day yesterday and far into the night. The friends of the five candidates put in their best efforts, equally confident of success. But it is quite generally conceded that the neck to neck race will be between the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander of Pennsylvania and the Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Palmer of Ohio. It is estimated that there will be no election on the first ballot but at its close the other three candidates will drop out of the race.

There is as much difference of opinion about the different candidates as there is in Apollitic days for "Some men for Paul, some for Apollas and some for Cephas."

Some of the theological authorities hold that in the present contest Dr. Alexander represents Paul, Dr. Palmer represents Apollas and Dr. McKibbin represents Cephas, and the Rev. Dr. Johnson the "Evangelists" generally. Dr. Palmer represents Texas.

The treat of today will be the nomination speeches, which will be made by the picked orators of the church. There have been instances when some unpunctuated candidates have been jumped up prematurely and broken the state of the selected speakers, but this announcement will prevent such an occurrence today, as every commissioner is reading "The Constitution."

The lives are quite closely drawn. The friends of Dr. Alexander figure on the support of the Synods of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky, Missouri, Iowa, and Kansas with considerable strength on the Pacific coast. The friends of Dr. Palmer "put one over" on the other candidates by sending a circular letter to the commissioners, modestly presenting the claims of their candidate, representing him as a typical Ohio man. Some of the Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia men have no pleasant memory of the Ohio man as they knew them fifty years ago. Dr. Alexander is a graduate of Princeton theological seminary, and Dr. Palmer of McCormick. Both men are popular and eloquent, and it's a case of "Greek meet Greek" with all the bravado of the Greeks in the Balkan war.

Both men are brilliant and handsome and have been eminently successful in the pastorate.

The establishment of the Chinese republic, was the greatest single event in the political history of the world. It was Christianity that made it possible."

Home Mission Work.

A plea of denominational loyalty is made in the report of the board of home missions, submitted to the Southern Baptist convention today.

"Loyalty to one's denominational group," says the report, "is decried in many quarters and reverence for scripture teaching, and obedience to it is ignored in these quarters. If Baptists are to hold their prestige and influence in lifting up our southern civilization they must be strong enough to withstand such tendencies."

"If the clamor for the weakening of denominational loyalty should succeed, it would result in a union church, but in skepticism. If our people are brought to think that things are worthless for which their fathers sacrificed, they will come to think that all the rest is worthless."

"As we contemplate the great problems that the south confronts, the negro, materialism, twenty-two million people not in any religious body, the fearful cheapening of human life, the more than 3,000 churches that have no houses of worship—as we think of these things, we long to be empowered to project a program that shall be positive, courageous, adequate and triumphant."

The home mission board reports that it closed the year's work free from debt.

Sunday School Board.

Emphasis of the doctrinal character of Christianity is urged in Sunday school work in the report of the Sunday school board, submitted to the Southern Baptist convention today.

The Sunday school lesson committee's work in this connection and its work in graded lessons for the intermediate department is commended.

The report concludes: "We need to give emphasis to credal character and doctrinal conviction as having practical virtue and value in everyday Christian living. A lack of this will result in deficiency and weakness and leaves the present day Christian subject to every kind of doctrine or whatever bad or fancy, if only it is labeled 'religious' or 'Christian' or 'church'."

FAVORABLE REPORT ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Washington, May 14.—Senator Chamberlain's resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution to give the ballot to women was ordered favorably reported today by the senate woman suffrage committee. Chairman Thomas and Senator Owen, democrats, and Senators Jones, Sutherland and Clark, republicans, voted for the resolution, while Senator Catron, republican, voted against it.

When the resolution is reported by Chairman Thomas within a few days, an effort will be made to have it taken up during the present session if tariff legislation does not interfere.

"Ham" Lewis' First Bill.

Washington, May 14.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, introduced today as his first bill a measure to establish a national wage commission to provide a system for insuring a minimum wage in all work pertaining to the federal government, public service corporations and all concerns doing an interstate business. The president would be authorized to appoint a wage commissioner in each congressional district, who would handle appeals charging violation of minimum wage regulations. The bill would appropriate $500,000 for expenses and salaries of such a commis-

Man Who Received Surrender of Atlanta Here As Delegate

Half a century has gone by since Captain John W. Laughlin, as adjutant of the union forces, received into his hands the papers containing the formal surrender of Atlanta—in April, '65.

Today, as a delegate to the Presbyterian assemblies, he returns to Atlanta for the first time since the war. He looks her magnificent streets and marvels at the transformation of fifty years. The battle-scarred, cross-roads village has burst forth as one of the greatest cities of America. The sorrow and the desolation of war have disappeared forever, and there reigns over the city splendor and happiness as she surrenders in 1913—once more to the army with which Captain Laughlin comes—the army of the Presbyterians!

"It seems" but yesterday that we marched from Macon to Atlanta, under the command of Colonel B. B. Eggleston, and upon reaching here with a large union force took possession of this dilapidated and almost deserted village," says Captain Laughlin, "and there, just at the close of the war, however, and we stayed here for about two months before turning our faces finally toward our own homes in the north. As adjutant of the force under Colonel Eggleston, it fell to my duty to receive the box containing the papers which carried the formal surrender of the city. Time, indeed, has wrought a marvelous change!

Now, as Laughlin, according to a retired business man of Barnesville, Ohio, comes as a lay delegate to the assembly, he and his two sons plan to make a tour of the south immediately following the close of the assemblies, going over the old battlegrounds in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi where the aged veteran, Captain Laughlin fought in the '60's.

Dozens of other delegates and visitors to the assemblies are making their first visit to Atlanta since the war, making it one of the most unique gatherings, by far, that the world has ever known.

CAPT. JOHN W. LAUGHLIN.

U. P. Assembly in Atlanta With View to Organic Union

By Dr. S. S. Gibson.

The United Presbyterian assembly, the first to formally organize in Atlanta, has not a single church in all Georgia. The body comes here to become acquainted with the Southern Presbyterian church with a view to organic union.

Some difficulties are anticipated in the outskirts.

The United Presbyterian church is opposed to "hymns of human composition," believes in restricted communion and is opposed to creeds, although it has practiced secrecy with regard to the plan for union which it has refused to divulge to the church in the face of strong request for its publication before the meeting of the assemblies.

It is understood that the crucial trouble will be over women speaking in the church, practiced by the United Presbyterians, but frowned upon by the Southern Presbyterians.

Neither church questions the orthodoxy of the other, and each is anxious to become a national organization.

Another question which will cause warm discussion is the ordinarily very harmonious United Presbyterian church that of the publication of a church paper by the board of publication. The board has bought what was left of the Christian Instructor and brought it to Pittsburg, and is issuing it in the face of the United Presbyterian, an old established organ of the church.

The question is whether the general assembly will endorse such an enterprise, and there is vigorous difference of opinion on the subject.

Under these two subjects the proceedings of the United Presbyterian assembly will be very peaceful. The main strength of the body is in Pittsburg and vicinity, and that city is known as the United Presbyterian Jerusalem.

Mrs. Dodd's Estate Will Give Education to Many Poor Boys

Declaring that the entire interest upon her estate, estimated at $100,000, after specific bequests, aggregating something like $15,000, have been cared for, shall be used for the education of deserving young men without means in Mercer university, at Macon, Mrs. Barbara C. Dodd, widow of the late Phil Dodd, for years one of Atlanta's leading business men, directs Charles E. Currier, president of the Atlanta National bank, her executor, to see that the terms of her will are carried out.

Mrs. Dodd's will is now in the keeping of the ordinary of Fulton county, and will come up for probate in solemn form next month.

The will provides that the estate of Mrs. Barbara C. Dodd leaves, after the specific legacies have been cared for, shall pass into the hands of the trustees of Mercer university for administration under the terms she names—that estate shall be held intact and the interest thereon, to be paid to the trustees, shall be used, the use of that interest is to be for the education of deserving young men without means who want an education and who may seek it through Mercer university, and when they are given the education which they owe nothing to the Dodd fund or to the Mercer university.

BRYAN'S GRAPE JUICE DEFENDED IN REPORT

Detailed Reports of U. P. Committees Will Be Presented at Session Thursday Afternoon

In the report of the committee on temperance of the United Presbyterian assembly, which will be made at the session in the Central Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Secretary of State Bryan's decision to serve grape juice instead of liquors at his state dinners will be lauded.

"This seems almost as if the millennium had arrived in Washington," says the committee's report.

At the Thursday afternoon session detailed reports of all the committees of the United Presbyterian assembly will be made, including the report on industrial conditions, the committee on rural churches, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and the committee on temperance.

The temperance report, which also includes observations on other reforms, is one of the most interesting reports of the entire assembly. It discusses the tendency of the times, and while it takes an optimistic view of the progress of the cause, it warns that the public conscience to grow lax in the observation of the fundamentals of religious law—such as temperance and the observance of the Sabbath.

The national-wide movement on behalf of the Sabbath is still making progress," says the report. "The postoffice department of the government and large manufacturers and other national corporations are increasingly responsive to the efforts to secure for their employees one day or rest in seven and the Sabbath is coming into favor with working men and working women's organizations of the Sabbath problem is the disposition on the part of the church people to let down in their ideals of Sabbath keeping. The automobile and moving picture and other forms of recreation tend to rob it of its sanctity and make of it a holiday rather than a holy day. Our highest church courts should take this matter under most serious consideration and unite in a concerted effort to rebuke the unchristian people. The forces of greed and pleasure opposing the Sabbath are still active in all our commonwealths in their efforts to repeal Sabbath laws and in some states, as Ohio and Indiana, have carried things largely their own way. The Christian people must be on guard, or otherwise while the general movement for the rest day is making progress, the laws for the protection of the day will be so emulated as to defeat the whole movement. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

It is an encouragement to onto the progress of the work carried forward by the National Reform association, as the past year has been the greatest of its fifty years of existence. Almost the entire evangelical Christian force of this country is now lined up with its movements, whereas a few years ago there was not only much indifference, but in some denominations positive opposition. It will hold in Portland, Ore., June 29 to July 6 of this year, its second great world's Christian citizenship conference, which will bring together representatives from all parts of the world and promises to be an epoch-making gathering in the matter of reform. Its work is especially important at the present time to safeguard our institutions, especially our public schools, against the assaults of Romanists, Jews and infidels to drive out the Bible and completely secularize them. It should have our moral and financial support and prayers."

FUNERAL OF W. W. DRAKE WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services over the body of William W. Drake, aged 48, who died Tuesday at a local sanitarium, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the residence of his father-in-law, Dr. W. F. Funnell, of 248 Spring street. The interment will be private at Oakland.

The following friends of the family have been requested to act as pallbearers: Charles Winship, Thomas J. Peck, Sanford Gay, J. Frank Meador, Hugh L. McKee and John S. Clarke. Mr. Drake is survived by his wife, one son, W. C. Drake, a sister, Miss Mabel Drake, and a brother, Lord Tate, of Wetumpka, Ala.

Dr. Drake's boyhood days were spent in Atlanta, although he was born at Midway, Ala. His father, Dr. William Green Drake, was for a number of years one of Atlanta's leading physicians. Mr. Drake entered business here at an early age and for sixteen years was prominently connected with the Clarke Hardware company. About ten years ago he moved to Denver, Colo., and from there to Spokane, Wash. In both places he met with success in the hardware business.

As a man he was liked and admired for his personal qualities of which his unflinching courtesy and fair dealing in business, and private life were distinctive

RATE ADVANCE SOUGHT BY EASTERN RAILWAYS

Formal Application Is Made to Commerce Commission by Fifty-Two Lines.

Washington, May 14.—Eastern railroads today took a step toward an attempt to increase their freight rates, when representatives of fifty-two lines east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac conferred with the interstate commerce commission on formal application to open the "eastern advance case," which was decided against the railroads two years ago.

The application in effect is to rehear the request for increases which the commission denied about two years ago. The old application asked for a uniform 5 per cent advance on all freight on the basis of the New York-Chicago rate. The case was noted one, commonly known as "No. 2406."

Today representatives of the fifty-two eastern railroads concerned in the old case appeared before the entire membership of the interstate commerce commission, and substantially the same application for a 5 per cent increase.

At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that the commission had received the petition and would take it under advisement.

The petition recited, in brief, the efforts of the eastern lines three years ago to obtain permission from the commission to increase their freight rates. The commission held then that the carriers had not sufficiently established their need of increased revenues and refused permission to advance rates. The commission, however, "indicated a willingness to reconsider its conclusions in the light of future developments in the operations of the carriers."

The petition submitted today declares that the carriers "are prepared to show that the cost of conducting the business of the carriers has been and is being steadily increased by increases in capital charges; increases in wages; increases in taxes; increased burdens imposed by legislative enactment; elimination of grade crossings; and in various other respects, and that existing rates are insufficient to afford just and reasonable compensation and return to the carriers, and are unreasonably low in view of the value of the service actually rendered."

The commission promises to take up the subject at an early date, but gave no assurance that, even if the case were reopened, it would be able to conduct the necessary public hearings before the summer recess.

"IRISH JIMMY" SENT TO NORTH CAROLINA

New York, May 14.—"Irish Jimmy," otherwise William L. "Irish Jimmy," they say, belonged to a gang which looted postoffice safes from Maine to California. The conviction of Dunn, the police believe, will effectively break up the gang, two other members of which now are in prison.

SUGAR SENATORS BEGIN TO BATTLE

They Use "Original Wilson Man" to Attack the President and the Supporters of the Underwood Bill.

Washington, May 14—Using an "original Wilson man from Michigan with a fitent pen for an oracle the anti-sugar democrats, led by Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, assailed the Underwood sugar schedule in the senate today despite strenuous efforts of Senator Simmons and other democrats to stop the flow of the attack.

Republicans enjoyed the efforts of the democratic leaders to prevent the reading of a long letter submitted by Senator Ransdell, written by Lewis C. Rowley, of Lansing in which free sugar advocates were characterized as "unpardonable apostles of democratic faith and the free sugar schedule as a boomerang to knock out the democratic party."

Democrats aided by Republicans with republican votes Senator Ransdell was aided in getting the long letter before the senate as a part of the argument against the Underwood sugar tariff. It precipitated lively discussion between the Louisiana and Senators James Myers, Simmons and other democratic leaders. In his plea from Michigan President Wilson's attitude on sugar in the platform pledges and the president's campaign pledges not to hurt any legitimate industry were recalled the writer declaring "there is almost imminent danger that in his almost hilarious enthusiasm for the tariff he will lead the president to do too much."

The democrats also were forced to hear from this same trenchant Michigan protestant that the statesman or party leader who in formulating important legislation does not take into consideration the psychological effect as well as the ultimate practical results of these measures is a raw hand at the business. He said he did not believe President Wilson was that kind of an immature leader. He refused to believe he continued that the president will commit the party to radical courses which—however sound theoretically—are calculated to alarm and alienate large numbers of voters in many of the most important agricultural sections of the country.

Republicans applauded when the senate clerk read in free trade too inscribed on the party gonfalon which erstwhile bore the immortals which word of free trade was again written. The admonition was sounded that the democratic party better effect changes moderately and safely rather than hastily and at the dictates of a caucus too many of whose members lose their private judgments and consciences where the Mussulman leaves his shoes outside the door.

"Accursed Apostles," the leading democratic opponents of free sugar accused unpardonable apostles of democratic faith hocking the footsteps of the predatory rich hell bent on lowering the cost of the living even if the American standard of living and the standard of democratic principles are lowered with it.

Before the reading was half completed Senator Reed objected and forced a vote which was lost. Reed means voting with some democrats against it.

The clerk continued to read the letter predicting death for the American sugar industry when the Underwood schedule becomes effective.

Senator Ransdell contended that the people of Louisiana, clamoring to be heard were being treated fairly. Senators James and Simmons and others referred to hearing by the ways and means and Harwick's committee. Admitting that Louisiana interests had had limited hearings Senator Ransdell continued.

When a man is going to be put to death he is usually allowed the last word. We grant that to men condemned to death on the gallows. Now when the great party of which I am a member is about to put to death the greatest industry in my state our people want to be heard again. We want the last word.

The Louisiana senator read a letter from a fire insurance company. A Louisiana agent ordering him to cancel policies on sugar houses because the tariff was to be reduced and eventually eliminated.

For the consideration of the matter explored and again it went over tomorrow, when the democrats will endeavor to bring the reference of the bill and the republican public hearing amendment to a vote.

Discussing the attitude of the democratic party toward the sugar tariff Senator James asked Senator Ransdell if he did not think that the platform of the party gave fair warning to Louisiana. Mr. Ransdell emphatically replied, "No," and the Kentucky senator then proceeded to read from the platform endorsing what the party did last year and demanding reductions to reduce the cost of living. In this connection the Louisiana senator referred to a statement in the Rowley letter, which said "Neither in his campaign for the democratic nomination nor for his election did Mr. Wilson pledge himself to give the country free sugar. On the contrary, whenever he was asked about his position on the sugar tariff he distinctly declared that he was against any tariff changes that would injure or destroy any legitimate industry."

VICTIM OF MURDER PREPARED TO DIE

ix days before she was killed. The dating was April 20, 1912. Grand Jury Meets Next Week.

The mystery of Mary Phagan's murder will go before the grand jury next week on either Thursday or Friday. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey made this announcement yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock just after he had finished examining fifty or more witnesses.

The names of Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory and Newt Lee, negro night watchman of that plant will be presented as ordered by the coroner's jury at the inquest held last week. Both are in the Tower to which they were removed Wednesday May 7.

The solicitor refused to state whether or not he considered the evidence at hand sufficient to merit a bill of indictment. However, he did declare that from present prospects no other name or names would be presented to the jury.

New Evidence Expected. Asked why he had not submitted the case earlier Mr. Dorsey said that it required time to arrange the evidence in his possession and to get the important facts prepared for the important trial. More days will be occupied in this work in the meantime according to the solicitor, new evidence is expected.

William J. Burns is coming to Atlanta. Thomas B. Fielder last night received a cablegram of acceptance of the nomination for governor of Georgia through his New York office. He will come to this country on the first steamer after hearing from Atlanta.

Placed in Pocketbook. The identification slip was found in the pocketbook which Mary Phagan had carried daily. It was left at home on the day of her disappearance because it would not hold the amount of money she expected to obtain at the pencil plant in which she was slain. She carried the mesh hand bag of her sister Ollie which has never been found.

The solicitor prizes the identification slip. It is likely to cast a new aspect on the mystery, he says and is expected to unearth new evidence. The writing is plain and in the characteristic legible hand of the murdered child. It reads:

April 20, 1912. My name is Mary Phagan. I live at 146 Lindsay street near Bellwood and Ashby streets. I was taken away from home only six days prior to her disappearance. It is the solicitor's belief that she probably had been threatened with violence previous to the murder which has startled the entire southland. Either that or she experienced a vivid premonition of the tragedy which closed her life.

Unlike a Young Girl. It is utterly unlike a girl of her age to prepare means of identification, said the solicitor. That she would meet with accident or be killed in any manner undoubtedly never entered her healthy young mind. It is decidedly apparent that something happened beforehand which predicted her death.

It is possible that her murderer once before threatened to kill her. Perhaps she was warned. She could have received a strong premonition. That she expected death is evident from the placing in her pocketbook of the identification card. It was dated six days prior to the date of her murder. Her parents say she was never known to possess such things as means of identification.

Added mystery was woven around the case Wednesday by the statement before the solicitor of William Gheesling, an embalmer of Bloomfield's undertaking establishment to which the girl's body was carried from the basement of the pencil plant.

Dead for Many Hours. Gheesling stated positively his opinion that she had been dead for ten hours or probably more prior to the discovery of her body. Rigor mortis had resulted.

Dr. H. F. Harris of the state board of health is said to have corroborated Gheesling in his statement that the girl was dead for a period of between 10 and 16 hours. This will be important testimony.

Suffragettes Terrorize England

SCENES FROM THE SUFFRAGETTE WAR IN ENGLAND.

Threats of a real reign of terror to be conducted by the militant suffragettes combined with daily outrages are causing widespread alarm in Great Britain. The situation is getting to be almost unbearable for officials and nonmilitant residents. After the fall of the suffrage bill in parliament the suffragettes renewed their campaign with bomb and torch. It is estimated that fully $3,000,000 damage has been done. Scotland Yard is taking extreme measures to stop the disorders but no one can tell what will happen next. London is really in a panic over threatened damage from bombs following the finding of the infernal machine at St. Paul's. The anxiety of the British authorities over the threat of the suffragettes to eclipse their many recent destructive acts was specifically displayed when Premier Asquith and the first lord of the admiralty Winston Spencer Churchill accompanied by their wives, left Waterloo station on the Southwestern railway to proceed to the coast in order to join the admiralty yacht. Enchant on which they are to make an express cruise in the Mediterranean. A large number of naval aides de camp government departmental secretaries and railway officials surrounded the party formed by the cabinet ministers and those who had come to bid them farewell. Beyond these there was an outer circle of detectives to protect the ministers from any undue attention on the part of suffragettes or their male supporters.

WEBB LAW INVALID IN SOUTH CAROLINA

So Palmetto Supreme Court Holds—Liquor Is Ordered Delivered.

Columbia, S. C., May 14—The supreme court of South Carolina today rendered a decision declaring that in the absence of specific legislative prohibition against the importation of liquor from another state the provisions of the Webb bill were not applicable to this state. The court held that the purpose of the Webb bill was to prevent any infraction of state statutes under the guise of interstate traffic.

The case in which the opinion was rendered was a petition for injunction against the refusal of the Southern Express company to deliver two cases of liquor consigned to a South Carolina point. The court granted the injunction.

Victory for Brewers. Kansas City, May 14—A test case under the Webb law instituted by Kansas City brewers officials last week when the police were ordered to arrest every driver who brought beer found on the streets of that city ended in victory for the brewers today when the case of Lewis Segeblum, a beer wagon driver was dismissed in the municipal court.

Seventy drivers had been arrested and hundreds of cases of beer confiscated by Kansas City police officials who held that breweries in Kansas City could not deliver beer across the line unless the beer was ordered and paid for at the point of shipment. In the case today the consignee testified that the beer being delivered by Segeblum had been paid for on the Mississippi side of the line.

Teaching Third Generation Now. In the infant class of a Lutheran Sunday school at Milton, Pa., Mrs. Kate Harris was teaching the grandchildren of her first pupils. She has been at it for fifty-five years.

Mr. Dorsey says and Gheesling will probably be summoned before the grand jury. Also it is said that Dr. Harris who performed the autopsy when the body was exhumed at Marietta several days ago declared that she had been assaulted at the time of her murder. Dr. Harris would not verify the report when seen by a Constitution reporter last night. Neither would he deny it, he said, but he would not say anything whatever of my connection with his investigation, he said. His report has been submitted to his office and will be officially known what is the result of my examination.

Report Not Yet Submitted. Mr. Dorsey said that the report had not been submitted and would not be in his hands until he called for it. He also would not tell at which time he will take possession of it.

The Constitution reporter who had charge of the specimens of hair and gins, handwriting appeared before the solicitor Wednesday morning and after turning them over to him made a stenographic statement of the source of the specimens.

They were obtained from J. W. Cole man's stepfather, he said. Mr. Cole man stated the reporter had declared that they were genuine samples of his daughter's script. Although it is said the solicitor bases a new theory concerning the handwriting, he will not talk. The rumor is that he has discovered new clues with which he expects to gain evidence by comparison with the handwriting specimens.

BOMB SENT JUDGE BY SUFFRAGETTES

Militant Women Continue Terrorism in England. Bombs Also Found in a Passenger Train.

London, May 14—A business-like bomb, addressed to Henry Crute Bennett, the police magistrate, was delivered by a motor carrier today. The package was marked "immediate, but disliking the looks of it, the cautious court officer took it outside and plunged it into a pail of water.

When the package was opened it was found to contain a tin tobacco box, bound with wire and filled with gunpowder, shot and a cartridge. Attached to the cap end of the cartridge was a nail which it has been stated would have fired the bomb and exploded its contents.

Suffragette bombs were found today in one of the passenger cars of a train running between Kingston-on-Thames and London on the Southwestern railway. This makes the third outrage of the kind on the same line within two months. On the train's arrival at Waterloo terminus, the conductor noticed in one of the compartments three boxes which aroused suspicion.

Investigation of two of them were found to contain tin canisters filled with combustibles and wrapped in suffragette placards. No explosion occurred and the bombs were handed over to the police.

A militant suffragette "raider squad" destroyed a large untenanted residence the Highlands at Sand Dale on-Sa, near Folkestone, on the coast. The raid was carried out by Post cards addressed to the "Disgraceful Prime Minister and to the 'Disgraceful' Reginald McKenna home secretary" were left about the premises. The raid was carried out by the order. We hope this is not a poor widow's house.

School boys are helping militant suffragettes in their reign of terror. Several bombs which on examination turned out to be dummies, have been traced to the scholars.

Operations Extended. Striking evidence of the extensive operations of the militant suffragettes at the head office of the women's cause of the outrages committed by them was given today on the resumption of the hearing at Bow street police court of the charges against the suffragette leaders. They are charged with the infringement of malicious damage to property acts.

Those who occupied the prisoner's cellars were Miss Harriet Rebecca Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Miss Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenny, Miss Laura Lenn and the analytical chemist Clayton. The case against "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond was postponed until July owing to her illness.

Letter carriers and postoffice officials testified as to the great damage done to the mails by chemicals and other fluids poured into the public letter boxes.

The former business manager of The Suffragette testified his services were dispensed with by the militant society because Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst thought it better that only women should be in the office.

As to the loss of circulation by The Suffragette he told Mrs. Pankhurst the decrease was due to the letter box raids but she said that could not be held against the women who were most militant they were most successful.

Archibald Bodkin treasury counsel attempted to elicit from the accountants who audited the books of the women's social and political union what became of the so-called secret service fund of $1,200,000 of which the newspaper The Suffragette announced $200,000 had been raised. The accountant was unable to tell.

The accountant produced the salary book from which it appeared the pay of the militant movement leaders was not privately Miss Annie Kenney received $1 weekly. Saunders, Miss Rebecca Kerr $17.50, Miss Rachel Barrett, $16, and Miss Laura Lenn $10. Miss Chris Pankhurst who is living in Paris drew $875 in the last four months according to the books.

Suffragist Is Bankrupt. A receiving order was issued by the bankruptcy court today against Eric Pankhurst, militant suffragist and wealthy suffragist, who recently severed his connection with the militant suffragettes society. The order was made on the application of the direct public prosecution because Mr. Lawrence refused to pay the costs of the prosecution of himself, his wife have been natural. M. L. Moore a Liverpool man testified that Lanier ordered a team from him late Saturday April 5 using an assumed name. The negro delivering the team swore Lanier carried a small package with him to the buggy.

On the stand Lanier stated that the reason he acted as he did about the burial of the baby was that he was not financially able to get an undertaker.

23 YEARS IN THE PEN FOR STEALING $3 WATCH

Topoka, Kan., May 14—Arthur Patten, who, at 30, has spent twenty-three years in Kansas prisons, left the penitentiary here today, paroled to a farm "to become a citizen." At the age of 7 Patten stole a $3 watch and was sent to the state reformatory as an incorrigible. Paroled after four years he entered a farmer's house in Osage county, where he had vainly sought work and ate food he found in the pantry. Caught, he was compelled to finish his reformatory sentence and then suffer sentence to the penitentiary for second degree burglary.

Governor Hodges acted promptly when he learned the circumstances. Society has committed a crime against Patten," he said.

GUATEMALA YIELDS TO BRITISH DEMANDS

Washington, May 14—Private advice received here today says President Estrada Cabrera of Guatemala has acceded to demands of the British government for a settlement of the long standing British claims. The London foreign office recently issued an ultimatum to Guatemala giving him until tomorrow to settle and a British warship was put on the way to Puerto Barrios to emphasize the demand.

Secretary Bryan in an effort to help Guatemala out of her embarrassment had expressed the power to the British government the hope that she would extend the time named in her ultimatum.

No reply yet had been received to date, but the settlement announced in the earlier advice probably ended the incident, which threatened to force development of the Wilson administration's attitude toward foreign debts of the Central American republics.

The Guatemalan minister today confirmed the earlier advice and announced that under the arrangement with the British bondholders, one dollar out of every one dollar and a half export tax paid on such quintal of coffee would be allotted to the payment of interest on the external debt. The minister declared the adjustment would aid in carrying out the proposed loan of $20,000,000 with New York bankers with which Guatemala expects to pay off the English debt, reform its currency system and establish a national bank.

HE USED BANK'S FUNDS BUT WAS NOT GUILTY

Columbus, O., May 14—Holding that facts as stated in the indictment did not constitute the crime of converting money to his own use Judge Kinkead today ordered a verdict of not guilty in the case of Frank E. Baxter, former superintendent of state banks. Baxter was placed on trial yesterday upon an indictment charging him with having used $37,000 of funds of the Columbus Savings and Trust company to pay off a note to the estate of the late John W. Gates. The funds it was shown were returned with 4 per cent interest.

SHOWERS ARE DUE IN ATLANTA TODAY

Atlanta Gardeners Are Hoping That the Rain Will Be a Heavy One.

Rain is due to fall today in local thunder showers which will be practically the first rain of the season.

While predicting showers for this section, the weather man explains that the showers will be local ones and that if Atlanta should get but the edge of a shower that very little rain would be received, while that section which gets the main body of a shower will receive a good rain.

Up to the present only .04 inches of rain has been recorded since the first of the month and in April only .84 inch fell, although in the normal for that month is considerably over 5 inches.

Gardens and flower beds have been suffering in Atlanta all the same conditions have held throughout practically the entire state. Reports from many sections in the cotton belt show that no rain has fallen during this month.

In Valdosta conditions are possibly worse than in any other section. The only rainfall from there since March is what the local observer calls a "trace," and in weather bureau parlance that means so little that even the delicate instruments do not measure it.

THREE YOUTHS PRISONED FOR ATTACKING VETERAN

Athens, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—J. H. Barrett, J. S. Black and Jesse Black, three young white men of Tallapoosa county, were this morning committed to jail in Jefferson, in default of $500 bond each, on charges of assault with intent to murder J. H. McIntyre, an old confederate soldier, 70 years of age.

It is charged that the three young men went to the home of the veteran who entertained them and gave them a drink or two all around. When they began acting boisterously and the old man remonstrated with them, it is claimed, they attacked him with a rock, pocket knives and a cudgel. He was gashed fearfully in the head and had an arm slit open from the elbow to the wrist. He fled from the house and went after a nearby justice and bailiff and in a short time took out warrants for the three. He went home and it is said that the trio returned to his house and had begun again to assault him with various weapons.

The mansion where the reception was held is the same in which the governor lived when his father was governor of the state, from 1857 to 1862.

SHEPPERD IS AGAIN ELECTED PRESIDENT BY SONS OF AMERICA

Americus, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—The annual convention of the state camp, Patriotic Sons of America, assembled here today, with 21 camps represented. President J. E. Shepperd presided over the business session this morning and afternoon, which were entirely of routine nature.

In the annual election of officers President Shepperd was for the fourth time elected to that position. G. Lester Williams, of Americus, was elected vice president, and E. F. Brimberry, of Albany, secretary.

The state camp marched in a body at 8 o'clock to the high school, where appropriate exercises were held, the camp presenting the school a monster United States flag, which was accepted by Miss Susie Stallings.

The annual meeting closed with a banquet tonight at the armory.

YOUNG MACON MATRON HAS "MASHER" ARRESTED

Macon, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—George Ellis, a traveling man whose home is in Raleigh, N. C., where he has a wife and two children, was arrested late last night on complaint of Mrs. Leola Johns, a pretty young married woman, who complained to a policeman that Ellis had followed her to the Dempsey hotel to the corner of Fourth and Adams streets.

Ellis was going to meet her husband, and after speaking to her, asked her to go to a Fourth street hotel with him. The hearing was started before Recorder Daly this morning, but was not finished, the record being in complete charge of Mrs. Johns' husband for further time to prosecute Ellis. Johns, who is an insurance collector, states that tomorrow, when the case is re-arrested with intent to murder J. H. McIntyre, an old confederate soldier, 70 years of age.

A number of Macon merchants were in court this morning to testify to Ellis' good character, among them being David Waxbaum, Frank Benson and Charles Wachtel.

Mrs. Johns tearfully denied that she had encouraged the attentions of Ellis in any way. She said that when she walked past the Dempsey, Ellis spoke to her, and lifting his hat, bowed to her. Then, she says, he followed her.

MRS. JAMES B. FLOYD DIES AT EATONTON

Eatonton, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—Mrs. James B. Floyd died, Tuesday noon at the home of her brother, Osborne Brevard Nisbet, on Madison street. She had been ill for two weeks but grew suddenly worse Tuesday morning.

She is survived by one brother, Osborne Brevard Nisbet, of Eatonton, one sister, Mrs. Sarah Lou Couper, of Macon, a nephew, Reuben Nisbet, of Atlanta, and a niece, Miss Anna Lou Nisbet, of Eatonton.

The remains were carried to Savannah for interment. The funeral took place Wednesday.

BONDSMEN TO COMPLETE CORDELE POSTOFFICE

Cordale, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—It has been concluded that the National Surety company, bondsmen for Ambassador B. Stannard, contractor of Cordale's new postoffice building, will take over the building and complete it. For the reason that he did not complete the structure by the time given in the contract, the work has recently turned out of the hands of Mr. Stannard. R. C. Carson, of New York, representing the bondsmen, and N. V. Perry, who is in the employ of the United States treasury department, were in Cordale yesterday.

TIFTON CITY COURT MAY BE ABOLISHED

Tifton, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—The board of commissioners of Tift county have passed resolutions calling upon R. C. Ellis, representative from this county, to introduce a bill at the next session of the general assembly calling for the discontinuance of the city court of Tifton. The board also requested that a petition be circulated in each district in the county calling for the abolishment of the city court and that this be done immediately in order that the measure may be introduced at the coming session of the general assembly.

The city court has been a bone of contention for some time, talk of its abolishment having been frequent. On recommendation of the grand jury the books of the city officers were audited and according to the reports of the commissioners, this audit showed that the city court was costing the tax payers of the county $3,082.36 a year, or $423.58 per month.

The expenses of the county are constantly increasing and as the purpose of the county commissioners to cut expenses, they recommended that the city court be abolished, it appearing to them that it would be cheaper to have an extra term of superior court.

BIG PARADE FEATURES KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MEET

Annual Address Is Delivered by Grand Past Commander James L. Mayson.

Columbus, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—With between three and four hundred Sir Knights in attendance, the annual convocation of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Georgia, began in Columbus today.

The opening feature early this afternoon was a long and imposing street parade, many commanderies marching behind a band to the mill-stone at "Oswald Christian Soldiers." The uniforms, banners and perfect rhythm of the marching body made a beautiful spectacle.

At the close of the march an exhibition drill was given by the Cheokanuga team, which is composed largely of army officers, and this was pronounced as the most perfect drill ever seen at a meeting of the Georgia Grand Commandery.

Opening exercises were held at the asylum of St. Aldemer Commandery, where addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor L. H. Chappell and Walter W. Curtis, in behalf of the local commandery. A. J. Miller, of Waycross, responded to these addresses.

Late this afternoon the Sir Knights were guests at a barbecue at Wildwood park, at which the ladies of members of St. Aldemer Commandery were hostesses.

Tonight the annual templar service was held at Trinity Episcopal church, Grand Prelate Troop Baddy, of Athens, presiding. The annual address was delivered by Grand Past Commander James L. Mayson, of Atlanta. A very fine musical program was given.

The meeting will last through tomorrow, when officers will be elected.

STUDENTS OF MERCER BEAT IT IN NIGHTIES AS DORMITORY BURNS

Macon, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—Fire that is supposed to have originated from a defective wire damaged the main dormitory of Mercer university to the extent of about $3,000 this morning at 2:30 o'clock before the fire department could reach the building.

Shouts of fire from the students sleeping directly over the kitchen threw over 200 students in a tumult as they hastened to pack their belongings in suit cases and hurl them from the windows to the streets.

Attired in nothing but their night robes, many of the boys remained on the campus until day this morning. Practically all the property of the young men was saved, but the building was badly damaged by smoke and water.

Professor J. F. Selless announced this morning that over 200 students would have to get their meals elsewhere until repairs were made.

A PRESBYTERIAN EPOCH.

To the representatives of the four great national Presbyterian bodies that begin their deliberations here today The Constitution extends cordial welcome.

Atlanta, as host, greets Atlanta's distinguished guests, with the assurance that every resident of the city feels keenly the privilege of entertaining the men who are foremost in one of the greatest religious denominations of the world.

The social side is impressive and pleasurable, but to him who looks below the surface it is subordinate to the historic significance of the occasion. Here today in the city of Atlanta is born what is really a new epoch in the Presbyterianism of America.

The gathering in one city at the same time of the four great assemblies of the church is of itself unprecedented, to that extent, it writes history, and Atlanta is honored in furnishing the theater for that particular chapter. But the meaning of the event is even more portentous than this.

For, however dimly foreshadowed in the future, regardless of time or manner or process, the meetings that begin today inevitably lay the foundation for an ultimate union of all the branches of this great denomination. That is really the new epoch in Presbyterianism, opening outward beyond the horizon of today and spreading further than the vision of this time may see.

And it is a great honor that to Atlanta should fall the privilege of furnishing the birthplace for an event that will loom tremendous in the religious history of our country.

The keynote of the meetings is treated elsewhere by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, of Atlanta. He shows the denominational significance. He indicates tellingly the historic significance of these four bodies bridging the gap of fifty years and meeting in Atlanta. And he also frankly expresses the belief that the assemblies now in process must eventually lead the way to a complete unification.

The Constitution echoes that belief. It is thoroughly logical. These four bodies are together now on cardinal principles. It is not natural to expect that eventually they will bridge the gap of minor details, as they have bridged the gap of the years and its traditions, and stand four square to the world in one great organization.

The final chapter may not be written in a year, or even a decade. Evolution, and this is evolution, is slow and not spectacular in its processes. But the organic amalgamation of these churches is a foreordained development of the future. One in faith, in desire, in consecration—it is inevitable that they should conquer subordinate differences and become one in the mighty work of regeneration to which they are all commonly committed.

It is therefore a new epoch in Presbyterianism that is this week being staged in Atlanta. And may we not with justice hope that it is also a new epoch in religion throughout America? For the drift throughout the nation is steadily toward the amalgamation of different branches of denomination, into one cohesive, fighting whole. Is not the shadow of Presbyterian unification, cast in Atlanta this week, also the shadow of union between the different branches of all the nation's great denom-

KEEPING UP-TO-DATE.

The board of police commissioners has recommended to council that $500 be appropriated for the installation of the Bertillon system at police barracks. The appropriation should by all means be granted and the system inaugurated without delay.

The larger cities in the country maintain the Bertillon system as a routine part of their equipment. It is an invaluable aid in the detection and identification of criminals. There can be little question that failure in the past to employ it in Atlanta has led to the escape of important outlaws. On the side of comity alone, not to mention self-preservation, Atlanta owes it to the other cities with which she exchanges information about criminals to be as well equipped for their identification as they are.

Finger print identification should also go hand in hand with the Bertillon system. The faintest finger-pressure upon paper, even though the prints are invisible to the naked eye, leave impressions due to the small quantity of oil in all healthy flesh.

Dusting over the surface of such paper with lamp-black or other substances will, it is alleged, "bring up" the finger-prints of the person who handled it. Had such methods been employed in the Phagan case it is conceivable the authorities would have been in possession of the finger print of the person who wrote the famous notes, the most positive form of identification, since no two finger prints in the world are alike.

As it is, many persons were allowed to handle these notes, and the original finger prints are hopelessly blurred, just as the footprints of one person would be wiped out by the footprints of many others subsequently tramping over the spot.

This merely illustrates the first importance of giving those responsible for the detection of crime every possible aid from science. That such has not been the rule with Atlanta's police department is an omission that should be at once remedied.

DELIVERING THE GOODS.

The Fulton county reformatory, so much in the limelight recently by reason of the Ollie Taylor case, is a reformatory that reforms that fact speaks in a testimonial published elsewhere from no less a person than Judge John T. Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court. Judge Pendleton also confirms as will be seen, the use by the Constitution of the phrase "indeterminate sentence, in referring to the Taylor case.

Judge Pendleton refers only incidentally to the excellence of results achieved by the reformatory, but his praise is convincing. Atlanta and Fulton county should experience gratification over the possession of an institution engaged successfully in the business of transforming boys with crooked tendencies into law-abiding and productive citizens. Taking Judge Pendleton's reference as a basis of estimate, there is no doubt whatever that the reformatory returns to the state many times the sum spent upon it in citizens who contribute to the wealth of the community.

The success won by the Fulton county reformatory for boys simply emphasizes what can be accomplished by a similar institution for wayward girls. The college women of the state are agitating along these lines. They hold that Georgia owes it as much to herself to prevent prostitution among the girls of the state as crime among its boys.

ATLANTA'S SHRINE VICTORY.

By an overwhelming margin over her rivals Atlanta has won the convention of the Shriners for 1914.

The result was foreshadowed from the start not only for the reason that Atlanta was behind the movement, but because also of the reputation of this city which has gone to the four quarters of the country. The last doubt as to success was removed when at the close of a day's whirlwind campaign Atlanta had largely oversubscribed the amount needed to put her in the convention race.

For the victory, great credit is due Forrest Adair, potentate of Yaarab Temple, who led the fight from the start until its successful conclusion on the floor of the convention. His enthusiasm and that of his able lieutenants enlisted the response of all Atlanta. The battle became one in which the civic pride of the city was at stake. And the city answered in a manner entirely satisfactory.

There is little doubt that the convention of 1914 will be one of the most important and largely attended in the history of the order. Atlanta's spirit of hospitality, her splendid hotel equipment and her facilities for entertaining insure the Shriners an experience unique in their careers.

OLD JOHN By Philip Wetmore, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

It was a trifling offense. Old John himself did not know exactly what it had been about. He was driving his wagon and accidentally ran into a woman and scared her pretty badly. Besides so the officers charged Old John was on the wrong side of the thoroughfare. On this was based the information on which he had been tried, convicted and sentenced. The sentence was in the alternative—$50 or eight months. But Old John never had been able to save anything out of his meager wages. His family was a big one. You or I might have paid the $50 and gone on about our business. Old John was too poor. So that high and noble thing called "the law" took him away from his work and set him in the midst of a gang of thieves and knaves to pick and dig and shovel.

If the offense was so trifling that $50 was a full compensation for the fault, why should this grizzled headed old dawdler serve eight months on the gang? Counting his labor at a dollar a day profit to the county the state would be exacting $240 in work instead of $50 which the state had declared would be sufficient to wipe out his guilt. The great state of Georgia is robbing Old John of $190. I know one white boy who is serving ten years for a robbery of not half that much. The governor, the Judge, the soldier, the sheriff, you and I are robbing Old John of $190. We are robbing him not because he is able to stand it, but because of his poverty. In the meantime we are taking food out of the mouths of his children and clothes from their backs. The state told Old John: "Pay us $50 right now, or give us $240 worth of work."

That is the system of which we are all

How Roscoe Conkling Missed a Fat Retainer.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

When the late General Stewart M. Woodford was United States district attorney for the southern district of New York his attention was called by his superiors at Washington to an action which had been brought against the postmaster of New York seeking recovery of some seventy thousand dollars for alleged infringement of patents in connections with the use of stamping apparatus.

General Woodford, in after years, used to tell the story partly to illustrate how Roscoe Conkling missed a fat retainer.

The postmaster at New York city was summoned, about the middle of Grant's second administration, to answer to a charge made by the professed owner of a patent for a machine used in cancelling postage stamps.

The postmaster was charged with having infringed the patent. The case was referred by the court to a referee to fix the damages. He found that, provided there was absolute infringement, the postmaster at New York was personally liable for about $75,000. He could not have paid that sum, and his bondsman might have been called upon to pay that amount.

"The case was tried before the late Judge Wheeler then sitting at Burlington, Vt., which was in the New York district. He found for the plaintiff."

"The matter was becoming very serious. The case against the New York postmaster was admitted a test case. If the courts found him liable, then action could be brought against practically every postmaster in the United States. It was estimated that the total amount which might be recoverable would reach something like half a million dollars perhaps even more.

"The decision in the district court was handed down shortly after General Hayes became president. He was appealed to and he realized the very great importance the matter was to the government and to the postmasters of the United States. He at once directed that an appeal be taken to the supreme court.

"President Hayes said 'I wish you would go to the office of the postmaster general and lay this matter before him. I myself will at once ask the attorney general, Charles Devins to look into the matter.'

"Then, after reflecting a moment, the president said 'I suppose the postmaster at New York would like to retain able counsel.' The postmaster was present when President Hayes said this. His reply to the suggestion was that he would like to retain Senator Roscoe Conkling to argue the appeal before the supreme court.

"I thought you would name Senator Conkling," President Hayes said. He smiled rather significantly because he knew that Senator Conkling was at personal odds with him, yet he intimated that in his opinion Conkling was just the man to retain for this purpose. The retainer would probably be not less than ten thousand dollars.

With the authority of the president to retain Senator Conkling Postmaster James went immediately to the postmaster general's office. He was just beginning to lay the matter before the postmaster general when a message was received from President Hayes urging him to return immediately to the white house.

"He drove rapidly to the white house and he found the president and General Devins the attorney general in consultation. The president said General Devins is so greatly concerned over this matter and believes it to be of such great importance that he will himself argue the appeal before the supreme court. He believes that the case has not a leg to stand upon. As General Devins will argue the case, it will not be necessary for you to retain Senator Conkling.

Probably had there been a delay of half an hour in the conference between the president and the attorney general Senator Conkling would have been retained. Attorney General Devins did argue the case before the supreme court and the other side was represented by ex Attorney General George F. Williams. The supreme court, by unanimous opinion decided against the plaintiff and the postmasters of the United States and their bondsman, who had been in great anxiety lest they be compelled to pay heavy damages were of course, greatly relieved when they learned what the decision of the supreme court was."

a part to which we all subscribe or tacitly assent. We put Old John in prison for less than a petty theft and rob him, because he is helpless. The law should know neither rich nor poor. If we mean to let the rich off with a fine let the poor have a chance to pay it, too. The law will say that Old John did have a chance. That is a lie. A man with a withered limb cannot climb a ladder, nor a pauper pay a fine. To offer a ladder to the one is hypocrisy to offer the alternative of a fine to a pauper is worse.

We need in Georgia a probation law by which the judges can allow petty offenders their freedom conditioned upon paying off in equal installments the money fines the courts impose.

We ask is crime decreasing. It never will until righteousness uphold the arms of justice, and the law cease to exact its pound of flesh.

A Fragment of Sappho. Blees'd as the immortal gods is he, The youth who fondly sits by thee, And hears and sees thee all the while Softly speak and sweetly smile.

"Twas this deprived my soil of rest, And raised such turmits in my breast, For while I gazed, in transport torn, My breath was gone, my voice was lost.

My bosom glow'd, the subtle flame Ran quickly through my vital frame, O'er my dim eyes a darkness hung, My ears with hollow murmurs rung.

Lo dewy damps my limbs were chill'd, My blood with gentle horrors thrill'd, My feeble pulse forgot to play, I faint'd, sunk, and died away.

MYSTERIES of EUROPEAN POLITICS

WHAT BECAME OF FATHER GAPON?

Readers of this article may remember the excitement created only a few years ago when a Russian army of working and oppressed people marched to the palace square in St. Petersburg, headed by Father George Gapon, with the intention of demanding a new constitution. And how they were allowed to enter the Narva gate, past long lines of troops where they were closed in upon and many of them massacred while the rest fled in great disorder.

Father Gapon was among those who escaped, and for a time he was compelled to live in Switzerland, and in various other parts of Europe, seeking in every way to help his luckless fellow-countrymen. Finally, in disguise, he ventured back to St. Petersburg, but he was eventually discovered, and in April, 1906, only a little more than a year after the attempted revolution, he entirely disappeared.

What became of him has never been known. Many Russians believe that he is still alive. One report was to the effect that he was being secretly on April 10, 1906, by four revolutionists who heard him admit that he was spying on his former revolutionary colleagues in behalf of the Russian police. Another report had it that he had gone to Valdai, on the lake of that name, and had entered a monastery there. The government gave out that he had betrayed the people's cause and was acting in conjunction with the police.

In May of the same year it was believed that the fate of Gapon was apparently cleared through the discovery of a corpse which was identified as the former priest.

Diphtheria.

Bulletin Issued by State Board of Health. Diphtheria is a highly contagious disease and is easily transmitted from one person to another. The cause of the disease is a germ too small to be seen by the naked eye. This little germ is shaped somewhat like a dumbbell, and is known as the Klebs-Loeffler bacillus. Every case of diphtheria comes from some other case. A person may contract this disease by coming in contact with the patient, by breathing the air in the room of one sick with the disease, by coming in contact with carpets, bedclothes, books, toys and other articles removed from the sick room, or by coming in contact with some one who has been exposed to the disease, but who may not themselves develop diphtheria. These people act as carriers. If such a person should lower his or her resistance to disease by exposure during bad weather, loss of sleep, too free use of alcohol, etc., the germ may attack them and cause the disease, whereas, they would never have developed diphtheria had they not weakened their constitutions. Diphtheria may be carried also by dogs and cats that have been exposed to the disease.

Infected milk may convey diphtheria. Diseased tonsils, and adenoids, and a catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat makes one more liable to the disease. Filth and general insanitary conditions predispose to diphtheria, as they lower a person's resistance to disease. Diphtheria is a preventable disease, and if it spreads from house to house some one is to blame. By isolating the cases properly and disinfecting the premises thoroughly following the disease and observing a few other simple rules advised by the board of health the spread of this malady can be prevented. Diphtheria usually attacks children, but no age is immune. One attack does not protect a person from another attack.

It is both a local and a constitutional disease. The local effects are caused by the direct action of the poison from the germs, the constitutional symptoms by the absorption of a certain amount in the blood of the poison generated by the germs. The most frequent sites of the local manifestations are the tonsils and soft palate and the nose and throat.

Local Symptoms. After a variable length of time following exposure to the disease, usually from two to seven days, there is a general feeling of discomfort, chilliness fever and sore throat. The fever may reach 103 degrees within the first twenty-four hours. The severity of all the symptoms is variable. From a small patch no larger than the finger nail to an amount sufficient to cover the tonsils and soft palate, and to extend up into the nose and down the throat into the lungs in the form which involves the tonsils which is perhaps the most frequent form, there is more or less redness and swelling of the tonsils and the neighboring structures. One or more grayish-white patches of false membrane make their appearance and may remain small in extent or may spread over the palate and extend upward into the nose and downward into the throat. When the nose is involved there is often a discharge from this organ of mucus and serum, which is sometimes tinged with blood. Nasal diphtheria is an extremely dangerous form, but of all forms of diphtheria the laryngeal form is the most deadly. In this type the membrane forms in the larynx, or so-called "Adam's apple," and unless the patient is promptly and properly treated death by suffocation soon comes on. This kind of diphtheria is often spoken of as "membranous croup."

Constitutional Symptoms. The constitutional symptoms consist of headache, vomiting, fever, rapid feeble pulse and sleepiness deepening into stupor and sometimes followed by death. As the local manifestations subside, the constitutional symptoms improve, but convalescence is often slow and tedious. Great care should be taken during convalescence, as well as during the active stages of the disease, as sudden death may result from the feeble heart action if the patient make too great or too sudden muscular effort, such as sitting up in bed suddenly, walking across the room, etc. Inflammation of the heart and kidneys broncho-pneumonia, inflammation of the internal ear and paralysis affecting various parts of the body are the most frequent complications and after results of diphtheria.

The prevention and treatment of diphtheria will be taken up in our next article on Sunday. Suffice it to say here that antitoxin should always be given and given early.

which was found hanging—in the upper chamber of a lonely villa in the summer suburb of Ozarki, Finland. Decomposition of the face made positive identification, however, difficult, but it was noted that the clothing resembled those worn by the missing labor leader.

There was another story to the effect that the government had spirited the priest away and confined him in a fortress in Moscow. It still another that he had escaped to Constantinople, and that a cablegram had been received from him by friends in this country after the date of the supposed lynching.

Is Father Gapon alive and safe? Did he turn traitor and die at the hands of those whose cause he had championed? Or is he languishing in a Russian fortress or in a monastery cell? No one is able to answer these questions satisfactorily.

The name of Father George Gapon became world-wide following that bloody Sunday in St. Petersburg, on January 22, 1905. He was born in a remote village in the Russian province of Poltava, his father being a liberated serf. His birthplace was a miserable little hovel, and yet he was a born leader and finally brought about him such a great following as to shake the throne of the czar.

For many years he labored among the working people in his efforts to better their conditions, and, finally, in 1904, when there was a great strike among Russian workmen, Gapon's influence shone forth in a wonderful degree. The people loved him, they trusted him, and they followed wherever he would command.

It was arranged that on this fatal January 22 the workmen, with their wives and children, should march to the palace, not in a threatening fashion, but as righteous suppliants for justice, and that the petition they had framed should be handed to the czar. The procession started an orderly body, and students revolutionists and idle onlookers swelled the ranks. The soldiers drew them into a trap. When they had them entirely surrounded they fired volley after volley into the ranks of the marchers, and great numbers of them fell dead in the snow.

The survivors of the ill-fated expedition scattered like panic-stricken sheep. Father Gapon escaped, as noted before, and the immediate dread of a Russian revolution had passed. The heart and soul of the whole movement fled with him. He was so closely watched thereafter that he was never able to give the Russian soldiers and police much trouble. It would be interesting to know what eventually became of this exceptional man. He must either be dead or secretly confined out of harm's way or he would surely have been heard from since 1906, the last any one has ever been able to account for his whereabouts.

Sentence of Ollie Taylor Was An "Indeterminate" One

In an editorial on the Ollie Taylor case Tuesday morning The Constitution stated that the boy was given an "indeterminate sentence."

The point having been raised that the sentence was not "indeterminate," but that he had been incarcerated for the "remains of his minority," The Constitution referred the matter to Judge of the Superior Court John T. Pendleton, who heard the application for habeas corpus by which it was sought to release the boy from the reformatory. Judge Pendleton specifically affirms the position of The Constitution to the effect that the boy may be paroled at any time subject to good behavior.

The Law. Judge Pendleton's communication is as follows: "Atlanta, Ga., May 13, 1913.—Editor Constitution. I am in receipt of your favor in which you ask whether Ollie Taylor was sentenced for the remainder of his minority, and second, whether it stated on the trial of the habeas corpus that he could not be paroled by Superintendent Means."

"The statute reads as follows: 'In all counties having over one hundred thousand people, whenever a judge sentences a person convicted of a misdemeanor to an industrial farm, or other reformatory institution, and such person is discharged with full power in the authorities having charge of such institution, farm, or other institution to sooner parole or discharge such person if in their judgment, he has sufficiently reformed to justify such discharge, and such parole or discharge may be conditioned upon continued good behavior of such person during his minority under such rules and regulations as such authorities may prescribe.'

"The simple reading of this section answers the questions asked by you. When a minor under 16 is convicted of a misdemeanor he is sentenced to the reformatory, and that is the sentence and the extent of the sentence. Of course, he is sentenced 'under the terms of the foregoing statute, and it is true in essence of the word, that he is sentenced for the remainder of his minority, and yet that is not true because that is not the entire sentence but the entire sentence is that he is sentenced during his minority unless sooner paroled or discharged. He can be discharged or paroled on good behavior and it is often done in this country.

Boys Make Good Showing. "I do not recall any case in which Professor Means has held a minor until his majority except orphans who were weak-minded or laboring under other disabilities, where they themselves have desired to stay at the reformatory and their friends have also desired."

"The average term of confinement at the reformatory has been about eighteen months and I state with some satisfaction and pleasure that a great many of those who have been released after being confined in the reformatory for that length of time and many of them for less than that length of time have done well after being discharged and paroled, and some of them to my personal knowledge are conducting very profitable businesses of their own and others are receiving salaries quite sufficient to support them. Very truly yours,

J. T. PENDLETON Judge Superior Court of Fulton County"

the commencement season of the school.

Starr piano numbers will be given by Miss Mary McAden Myers and Miss Etta Lula Walton. Certificate graduates under Adolph Dahm Peterson, of the faculty, assisted by Miss Edith McAden Myers, will give violin obligato, played by Miss Elliott Beattie Johnson, graduate in violin of Mrs. Theodora Morgap Stephens, of the faculty.

A cordial invitation to all friends of the young ladies at the school to attend. The program begins at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mary Myers will open with two Mendelssohn numbers and Scharwenka's Tarantelle, and Erotique by Grieg.

She will give for her second part of the program a Chopin nocturne, and a melody and bird song by Neupert. Miss Edith McAden Myers, with violin obligato, will sing "French Crepe and Shadow Lace," by Pigott, and "Hush-a-Bye, O Baby," by Pigott.

Miss Etta Walton's numbers will be the allegro movement of Mozart's sonata in D major and two numbers from Mendelssohn. Her second group of numbers will be two studies by Heller and the Blumenstück and Arabesque by Schumann.

The class day exercises at Miss Woodberry's school will be an interesting feature of the commencement or Friday of this week, at noon, on the school grounds. On this occasion the college annual, "Leaves From Peachtree and Pine," will be presented by the annual board. It is a handsome volume in green limp leather, with many handsome engravings and original stories and sketches. It is the initial volume, and great credit is due the board for its splendid work in the business management, the literary and art matter and its publication.

Splendid Meeting Place Provided in Carolina Mountains.

Waynesville, N. C., May 14.—Lake Junaluska is the name by which the Southern railway station, 3 miles east of Waynesville, formerly called Easton. The station for the Southern Assembly grounds will be hereafter be known and at this point a commodious passenger station is being erected by the Southern railway. It will be completed by June 1.

The Southern Assembly, a church-wide movement of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, and affiliated organizations has purchased a tract of 1,200 acres and has constructed a lake which will have an area of 22 acres, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 4,500, a hotel with 125 rooms and 9 miles of graded driveways. It is expected that many private residences will also be built on the property. The purpose of the development is to provide a meeting place for Methodist conventions and kindred bodies and a large number of people will doubtless visit this point each season.

The new passenger station which the Southern railway is erecting will provide ample facilities and will have all modern conveniences, an arrangement having been made to secure water from the assembly's plant. A paved driveway, a track for storing equipment used in excursions and a small freight depot are also included in the improvement. Contract for the construction of the passenger station has been let to Melton Construction company, of Greensboro, N. C. The other work will be done by Southern railway forces.

Aerolux Porch Shades Convert a Veranda Into a Delightful, Private Room

AEROLUX

NO WHIP PORCH SHADES

Equip your veranda with Aerolux Shades and it insures solid comfort for the entire summer. Gives you an ideal "out-door-den," or sleeping porch. Perfectly private, delightfully cool and decidedly attractive.

Some Reasons Why Aerolux Shades Are Superior to Others

It is the only shade having an adjustable reinforcing attachment to prevent whipping in the wind. Each shade is equipped with guys which hold the shade taut when lowered.

Shades can be pushed up two to four feet and held without loosening the guys. Not necessary to roll up when leaving the porch, or at night. This attachment is not found on any other porch Shade.

Heavy moulding top and bottom in place of thin strip. Looks much better, at the same time are much stronger.

Compared to canvas curtains the Aerolux Shades keep out the sun effectively, a very essential feature in a Porch Shade. The Bamboo or German do not.

Aerolux Shades admit the air. Canvas curtains do not. Half the good of a porch shade is lost if the air is excluded. The colors, too, are a special attraction: Pretty, light brown, dark olive and Persian gray. The stains used in coloring these shades are made from a special formula and are the nearest weatherproof of any procurable.

May we suggest this comfort for you?

PROTESTANT SECTS ARE URGED TO UNITE

Atchison, Kans., May 14.—An "universal Christian church," in which all protestant sects shall be united, is the church of the future, and rapid strides toward the accomplishment of such an ideal are being made, according to statements made by the Rev. Jenius B. Remmeyer, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, New York city, who preached the synodical sermon at the opening here today of the forty-fifth biennial convention synod of the Lutheran church. The Lutheran church, he said, with its 70,000,000 members throughout the world and its broad standards, seemed best fitted to lead the protestant churches to unity.

Among other statements in the synodical sermon were: "Evangelism has failed as a means of conversion." "The Lutheran is no puritanic church. Temperance, not abstinence, as to the good things and the innocent pleasures of life, is its rule. This accords with the modern larger view of the religious life."

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY TO OPEN IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 14.—The American university, planned years ago by Methodist Episcopal educators, and provided with beautiful buildings and grounds in the outskirts of this city, will be opened formally with a college for graduate study June 4 next. This was decided upon at a meeting of the trustees here today. Forty members of the board, representing nearly every section of the country, were present.

Large sums of money were spent in constructing the university buildings and equipping them, but the opening has been delayed from time to time because until recently the trustees were without a sufficient income to warrant them in undertaking to operate the institution. A considerable bequest by the late president of the board, Dr. David H. Carroll, of Baltimore, Md., made the college for graduate study possible. The college for the present, the trustees announced, will maintain an institution for research, to be operated in connection with the various federal departments and institutions here; will carry on a series of lectures and will support a comprehensive system of fellowships in connection with leading educational institutions of this country and Europe. Several fellowships for foreign study and travel already have been arranged for.

Reports to the trustees showed that the financial resources of the university have been steadily advancing.

Called His Bluff. "Fifty is in financial difficulties." "How?" "I offered his creditors 10 cents on the dollar, and they accepted it."

MARVIN HOLLY REID ON A LUNACY CHARGE

Attorney Generals of Georgia and Alabama Interested in This Case.

Recorder Brodies will be placed in the unique position of settling a question which has been for the last week unsolved by the attorney generals of two states, when Marvin Holly, 23 years old, of 103 Powers street, is called before him.

Young Holly, who recently came to Atlanta from Birmingham, about five months ago after having been dismissed from the charge of the Alabama insane asylum, as believed to have lost his sanity again, but strange to say, there is no public institution to take care of him.

He has not lived in Georgia long enough to be eligible to the state's insane asylum at Milledgeville. He is, however, eligible to admittance to the Alabama insane asylum, and that institution has notified the Associated Charities that they will receive him, but neither this state nor Alabama has provisions to bear the expenses of transportation in such cases.

When young Holly left the Alabama institution he had apparently regained his faculties, and he came to Atlanta, where he went to work for the Woodward-Eubanks Mantel company, on Marietta street. Some weeks ago his conversation showed indications of a return of his former malady, and he soon became violent and fired shots in the vicinity of his home. By reason of his affliction, however, he cannot be convicted of a misdemeanor.

The Associated Charities, after considerable correspondence with the state authorities of Alabama and consultations with Attorney General Feider, of Georgia, have failed to reach any solution to the problem.

The fact that the youth is without funds to pay for his own transportation and the transportation of a guard to Birmingham, Ala., where the state asylum is waiting to take care of him, has left the Associated Charities with hands tied.

Young Holly was arrested on a charge of lunacy last night, and the Associated Charities hope to find a solution to their problem when the youth appears before the recorder this afternoon.

Water Johnson smashed the record for consecutive shutout ball when he hurled three and one-third innings in the game Wednesday against St. Louis and incidentally scored his sixth straight victory.

"BIG SWEDE" SMASHES THE RECORD

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Silence Only.
UNCLE SAM would fine the Constitution for sending such matter through the mails if Whiffs was to express its feelings fully after Wednesday's game. Besides, the writer of Whiffs does not use that kind of language. Wednesday's frolic capped the climax. Can you imagine giving a pitcher seven runs in seven innings and then having him blow up in the last two? (—???)

Look at This.
THE BATTERS have done more than their share on the present road trip. In the fifteen games that have been played, 128 hits have been registered off the opposing pitchers and 72 runs have been driven across the plate, an average of practically 5 runs to the game and an average of 1-2 hits to the game, enough to win every game on the trip, yet only five have been captured. Oh, for some pitchers!

Walloping Wallop.
WALLY SMITH, the Crackers' big third-sacker is certainly clouting the old globule on the nose. In the last ten times to the plate he has made eight hits and seven have gone for him, eight straight hits which, as far as we can remember, is the league record for consecutive hits.

The Big Swept.
THE BIG SWEPT did it. We knew he would. But to have the St. Louis Brown score the tally that broke the string of consecutive shutouts, sometimes Walter is likely to start over again and break his own record.

The Bad Breaks.
THE CRACKERS are getting all the bad breaks on the present road trip, according to some of the Atlanta traveling men who have seen them play on the road. It looks like every trick play that the Crackers try goes just the opposite way. "I could recall an incident after incident in which the Crackers made two opposite ways only to have it fall in each instance, when had they reversed the order everything would have been pulled off, but at the same time it looked like the way they made the play it would be successful."

A Slim Chance.
"WATER looked very good" was a headline in one of the Philadelphia papers recently. All of which leads us to remark that what changes the Crackers have in sending him to strengthen their wabbling hurling staff has gone glimmering.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON is one of our truest sports. When the New York Yacht club asked for information on the conditions under which the yacht races were to be run, Lipton replied: "Any rules that will give the race a race. Guess that ought to fix the race beyond any doubt."

THE DODGERS are making such a strong case in the National league this season for two reasons. First is the brilliant field and second is their determination to win. These two factors have been the most important, although a better brand of pitching than a Brooklyn team has had in years has made the difference.

CHANCE, Evers and Tinker the graduates of the Southwestern school for ball players have changed more pitchers in the games they have played in the regular season to date than all the other managers combined. Tinker and Chance are changing pitchers to get their clubs out of the cellar. Evers, to keep the Cubs up in the fight. Their systems do not appear to be very successful as yet.

Change Pitchers.
CHANCE, Evers and Tinker the graduates of the Southwestern school for ball players have changed more pitchers in the games they have played in the regular season to date than all the other managers combined. Tinker and Chance are changing pitchers to get their clubs out of the cellar. Evers, to keep the Cubs up in the fight. Their systems do not appear to be very successful as yet.

THE NEWS-COMMITTEE, the afternoon paper of Memphis, is out with the following about Wallop Smith and the compilation of his trips to the plate in a special story the headline reads: "They call Smith Wallop, and he lives up to his name." In part, the story reads: "In referring to Smith's ability it is doing him an injustice to state that he is a good hitter or a good fielder, the correct word on this big boy being contained in the last two words—ball player."

CAP'N JOHN HAS NEVER SEEN BASEBALL GAME
Thomasville, Ga., May 14—(Special)—The man who never goes to a game of baseball is a rare avie in this day and generation. John Triplett, Thomasville's veteran ex-editor, holds the record of never having seen a game played. It is not that Captain Triplett feels no interest in the game, as he is always anxious to hear the score and know that the home boys have come out ahead, but he has just never acquired the ball habit, and thinks it rather late now to take it up as far as knowing the score is concerned. He has seen only one game in his life, and that was some time ago at least once to watch the great national game.

English Poloists Here.
New York, May 14—The English polo team that is to meet the American players for the international trophy at Bayshore Park, Long Island, in June, arrived this evening on the steamer Oceanic. Its members are Captain R. C. Bilton, Leslie St. George Cheape, A. Noel Edwards and Vivian Leckett. They were met at quarantine by friends.

By Hul Reynolds.
Boys' High was the winner over Tech High yesterday afternoon at Ponce de Leon, by the score of 4 to 0. The game was a pitcher's battle throughout, with Fox having a little better of the argument, and also receiving better support than did Weston.

Record Crowd Certain.
That the capacity of the new athletic field at Tech will be thoroughly tested by these two games is evident. Interest in the contests are at fever heat. The approaching games are the one subject in the mind of the baseball fans of the city and surrounding towns.

Palnastaking has been the work of the two coaches in preparing their men for these games. Careful has been the preparation and the final touches will be put on the athletes this afternoon on their respective campuses.

Coach Cunningham, of Georgia, has struck out by Fox, by Weston 10, bases on balls, of Weston 0, first and second bases. Weston, Reynolds (3), Floyd Spruick, Sams (3), wild pitches Weston 4.

FIRST SACKER WHOSE WORK WAS FEATURED IN ATHENS GAMES

In Athens Double duty has been put on them each afternoon in an effort to erase the butter-fingered tactics that marred their work in the Athens outlays.

Corley and Morris have been working carefully, trying to regain their lost cunning. Hutchens, the great receiver of the Red and Black, has nursed them along each afternoon in slow, careful study of their assortment of benders, making control the one essential in all their work, holding his big mitt as a target for them to shoot at time after time.

Field Worked.
But the fielding has been receiving the greatest attention. The infield has been put through its paces every afternoon since the Saturday game.

Improvement and they are coming to Atlanta with blood in their eyes. Whether the entire student body at Athens will come for both games or not has not been definitely decided. They will be on hand sure on Saturday and with half of the city of Athens accompanying them. It may be decided at the last moment to let the student body accompany the team here Thursday night for the game Friday.

Tech is Confident.
At Tech everything is running smoothly. A realization that they have at the present writing, a slight edge on their most ancient rivals, is the ball, fitting the fight of the men of Troy the work of the Georgians in their practices are said to have shown a hundred per cent improvement.

SEVEN RUNS LEAD IS NOT ENOUGH FOR POOR PITCHERS ON BILLY SMITH'S CRACKERS

By Herbert Caldwell.
Memphis, Tenn., May 14 (Special)—Continuing the pace that thrills the Memphis Turtles, aided and abetted by some horrible pitching, overcame a seven-run lead in the third game of a Atlanta series, defeating the Smithites by an 8-7 conclusion.

It was one of the most exciting and thrill bespattered madnes of the season. Atlanta used three pitchers, Smith pitching twice in the eighth and ninth. Price started and after a faltering session settled down and went well for seven innings. Then the Turtle wrecking crew got busy.

A huge down the third base line which caught Smith thinking of the old folks at home, started it all. Following the bunt came four consecutive hits, including a triple by Beerswald. These hits, together with an infield out netted five runs.

Smith allowed Price to go back to the eighth. He passed the first man up, and Merritt, who had been hitting like a fiend, laid the next batter for Price. He threw two buns, scoring Abstein like a fiend.

Here Musser replaced Price, but was wild, and passed Butler, after having hit two and nothing. Chappelle went out to warm up. Musser continued pitching, however, and retired Seibough on a fly to center, after which he gave way to Chappelle, who was believed to have better control.

It was a poor relief, though for Price. In the next two batters, forcing Merritt with the tying run. On Beerswald's hit fly, Butler scored the winning run.

Atlanta hit Kissinger hard and profited by his errors. A walk, a triple by Long and a double by Bailey netted two in the third. Two infield mistakes sandwiched in between hits by Bailey, Welch and Smith, increased the count to five in the fifth.

In the seventh two more counters were added on sharp singles by Long, Alperman and B. sign.

In the eighth the visitors were retired in succession, while Harrell, who replaced Kissinger in the ninth, retired the side without a hit, besides causing two to fan the breeze.

Umpire Brady was continually panned by Dunn and Bryan during the last two innings, and the arbitrator threatened to banish both of them.

Twirled 56 Consecutive Innings Without Being Scored On—St. Louis Scored in Fourth Wednesday.

Walter Johnson established a world's record for pitching consecutively scoreless innings when he twirled three and a third innings against the St. Louis Browns Wednesday.

The Browns scored on him after one man was out in the fourth inning of Wednesday's game. Johnson had pitched fifty-two and one-third innings without being scored on previous to Wednesday's game.

The former record was held by Jack Coombs of the Philadelphia Athletics, who pitched fifty-three and one-third innings consecutively in the season of 1910 without being scored on.

The reported record of fifty-six innings of Doc White, of the Chicago White Sox, was found incorrect by the Commission's sporting editor, the story being carried exclusively in Wednesday morning's paper.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE TO NAME NEW HEAD

Brunswick, Ga., May 14.—(Special).—Oscar Groover, of Thomasville, vice president of the Empire State League, has called a directors meeting to be held in Brunswick on next Monday, May 19, at which the election of important matters will be taken up.

Among other things it is expected that a new president will be elected to succeed C. C. Vaughn, who has finally decided to resign. Mr. Vaughn sent in his resignation some time ago, but later withdrew it. Then he decided to remove to New Orleans, consequently his resignation was again necessary, and this time it has been accepted. While a number of names are being mentioned in connection with the place, it is not yet known who will be elected.

It is expected that the league directors will also decide the dispute between Brunswick and Waycross over the Atlantic trophy, and efforts will be made to ascertain which of the two cities had the largest actual attendance at the opening game. A large number of other matters are to come up and it is expected that the meeting will be a busy one, as it will be the first held since the baseball season opened on May 1.

Tigers 4, Red Sox 1. Detroit, May 14.—Edgar Willett, twirling the finest game pitched here this season, today held Boston to two hits—and Detroit won 4 to 0. Cobb's hitting and base running helped produce Detroit's tallies in the fourth and sixth. A wild pitch in the second inning gave the champions their only tally.

St. Louis, May 14.—Washington won the last game of the series from St. Louis today, 10 to 5. Walter Johnson started the game for the visitors and held St. Louis scoreless for three and one-third innings, making fifty-six consecutive scoreless innings. He has pitched against opposing teams. Today's victory was Johnson's ninth straight win. Counting today's score made by St. Louis in the fourth inning, only two runs have been made off him this season. Boehling relieved Johnson in the sixth, and was hit hard.

Cleveland, May 14.—After a fifteen-inning struggle, the last game of the New York-Cleveland series was called on account of darkness, with the score a tie—2 and 2. Fisher pitched a splendid game, allowing five hits. Sixteen chances came to Shortstop Chapman, each of which he accepted without an error. New York scored their first run on Chase's double and Sweeney's single. In the second Cleveland tied the score when Jackson reached first on Hartzell's error and scored on Grane's two-bagger.

New York scored again in the sixth when Lovell tripled, scoring Stump. In the seventh Cleveland again tied the score on a base on balls and Jackson's double.

Goodrich Tires All Styles—Only One Kind. There is nothing in Goodrich Advertising that isn't in Goodrich Goods.

Different cars, different wheels and different purposes require different styles of tires. You have always been able to secure whatever style of tire you need in the Goodrich line. But no matter what the difference in size or style, they are all the same kind of tire.

Experience does away with experiment. Each Goodrich Tire, because of forty-three years of experience, is made from the beginning as a unit.

The layers of rubber-impregnated fabric, strips of pure rubber, and thick, tough rubber tread, are so placed and arranged as to meet and resist road wear, strains, shocks, and jars.

The single curing, or vulcanization, converts the whole tire into one integral structure—a unit.

By looking at a cross section of any Goodrich Tire at your dealer's you will see exactly what this means. You simply cannot detect any layers in the tire.

All this is very important, but there is even greater value to you as a tire user in the right compounding of the rubber.

Only the most capable rubber experts in the country can properly compound rubber so that it will possess durability and life. The thick, tough tread of a Goodrich Tire has all this wear put into it in the compounding, and then because of Unit Molding, it becomes actually a part of the tire and does not peel or strip.

We made the first American clincher—and still make it. In our line you also find the Goodrich quick Detachable Bead, Goodrich Safety Tread, Goodrich Bailey Tread, Goodrich Metal Stud, Goodrich Cord Tire for electricians, and so forth.

Local Promoters and Heavyweights Finally Agree on Terms—April 9.

All the hitches in the proposed Jim Savage-Jim Flynn bout for the Auditorium-Armory June 9 were removed Wednesday afternoon and the bout is now definitely on. It was feared at one time that the bout would fall through after the first announcement, but Jack Curley, manager of Jim Flynn, and Danny Morgan, manager of Jim Savage, agreed on the way the purse should be split and wired acceptance of the deal club's offer.

In addition to this bout the promoters are going to try to arrange for two other ten-round goes with Kid Young in one of them.

Savage and Flynn will arrive here the last of this month to complete their training for the bout.

SALARY REDUCTIONS HIT BY DAVE FULTZ

New York, May 14.—David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, addressed a letter today to the National Commission requesting it to abolish the practice of transferring players from one club to another at reductions in salary. Many such transfers, Mr. Fultz states, are made notwithstanding contracts calling for a larger salary than the player receives upon being transferred to the second club.

The Baseball Players' fraternity requests that the National Commission take such action as shall be necessary to assure to the player his salary set forth in the original contract or his unconditional release, says the letter. "You will appreciate the fact that if a contract is to have any force, it must be binding on both parties and also that the present form of contract prescribed by you calls for a stated salary or the player's unconditional release. It is, therefore, difficult to see why the player is compelled to go to a team which arbitrarily cuts his salary in absolute disregard of the contract signed by him."

It is needless to call to your attention the fact that this practice has caused much dissatisfaction among the players, and that many of them have quit the game on its account.

Opelika vs Newnan. Opelika took the third and last game of the present series by the score of 5 to 2, due to superior all around playing. They hit in the pinches and played Jimmy Hall in the field, which tells the story in a nutshell. The locals leave tomorrow for Talladega. Batteries: C. Bagwell and Chase; Ery and Allen. CATCHER DEVOIGHT TO JOIN LOCALS

Young Catcher of Boston Nationals Purchased—Not Known Whose Place He Will Take.

Boston, May 14.—(Special.)—Catcher Rex DeVoight, the young receiver of the Boston Braves, who was secured last fall from the Spokane, Northwestern league team, left tonight for Atlanta to join the Braves in the South-eastern league, to whom he was sold today. He is sent to the south under optional agreement.

DeVoight played with the Braves during their practice season games in Atlanta, and impressed local fans with his clean cut work, especially his throwing to the bases.

With Spokane last season, he played 129 games, getting 101 hits in 388 times at bat, for an average of .264, and fielding .979, having 18 errors, only handling 699 put outs and making 135 assists. He stole 17 bases.

With Rawden, catching such fine ball, and Whaling, who also played in the Northwestern league last season, going good, too. Stallings decided to farm the youngster for another season and gave the Crackers a chance at him. DeVoight stood second to Whaling in the Northwestern league catchers last season.

Manager Smith was wired last night for a confirmation of this report, but at midnight no reply had been received, so it is not known just whose place DeVoight will take on the local club.
