

GODBEE DEFENSE ASKS WOMAN EITHER BE FREED OR GIVEN PENALTY LIMIT

dition to the statement of the defendant, who said that Judge Godbee threatened her, called her a vile name, and she shot him first."

"Gentlemen of the jury," she said, "none of you can doubt the truth of Mrs. Spader's testimony, and the defendant told this little woman she had hired a negro to kill Judge Godbee and his wife and that if she (the negro) did not do it, she would. She also told Mrs. Spader that she did not want her grandchild to ride with Judge and Mrs. Godbee, as it, too, must suffer when the Judge and his wife were killed."

"The defendant expressed no regret after the shooting for killing Mrs. Godbee. If she shot Judge Godbee in self-defense and had no intention of harming his wife, why didn't she say so? She never until yesterday expressed any regret for the deed."

Anderson concluded for the State with a strong plea for conviction.

Dixon was the first speaker for the defense. He recited the sufferings which Mrs. Godbee had endured, spoke of the threat against her life made by Judge Godbee and told the jury that the defendant had told a plain, straightforward story to the jury and deserved an acquittal.

Defense Ridicules Plot Story.

Dixon ridiculed the idea of Mrs. Godbee, the defendant, telling Mrs. Spader that she had hired a negro to kill Judge Godbee and his wife, that she would have to have been a fool or a crazy woman to have done such a thing.

He said that the defendant had no intention of killing either Judge Godbee or his wife when she went to the postoffice that morning; that Judge Godbee called her a vile name there and had sent her word beforehand that he would kill her unless she left Millen.

The attorney said that Judge Godbee was anxious to alienate his children from their mother, but they stuck loyally to her. The defendant was warned by her daughter "to watch out for papa as he may kill you," and that was the reason why she was always prepared to protect herself. On the morning of the shooting, Judge Godbee, addicted to the use of morphine, had a desperate look, Dixon said, and made a motion with his hand as if to draw a pistol after he had insulted the slayer. The shooting of Mrs. Florence Godbee was purely accidental, contended Dixon, and anyone in the vicinity was just as likely to have been shot at that time as the bride.

In conclusion, Dixon said that he confidently expected a verdict of not guilty.

Defense Shows Hand.

W. H. Davis, the second speaker for the State, stated at the outset that he wanted to know the position of the defense as to the law in the case. Judge Saffold said the defense was that the killing of Godbee was justifiable and the shooting of Mrs. Godbee was an accident.

"There are no grades," said Judge Saffold. Davis said Dixon had jumped on only one witness, Mrs. Spader, one of the most reluctant witnesses he had ever seen.

He asked: "Why did he not attack Mrs. Daniel, Mrs. Brinson or Mr. Anderson's testimony? Mrs. Spader did not want to testify against Mrs. Godbee. She told what the law compelled her to tell and no more."

Davis said, referring to the defendant's statement, that the court was the statement that an acquittal was expected. Court then adjourned until the afternoon.

Solicitor Moore will be the first speaker after dinner, and Judge Saffold will conclude for the defense. The court then will charge the jury. The jurors should retire to deliberate by 6 p. m.

There will be six speeches during the day, and the defense, by not putting up any witnesses, will have the concluding argument. Judge Saffold will make the concluding argument for the defense.

Two spectacular features marked the hearing Thursday. One was the impassioned statement of Mrs. Godbee in her own defense and the other the testimony brought forward by the State.

Mrs. Godbee, her voice trembling with emotion, told the jurors that she had slain Judge Godbee in the Millen postoffice solely in self-defense, and that she had feared he was about to carry out his threats to shoot her. She said that she did not fire until he stepped toward her, reaching toward his hip pocket and calling her an obscene name.

Woman Tells of Alleged Plot.

Strongly discrediting this statement of the accused woman was the testimony of Mrs. Arthur Spader, a telephone operator, who swore to having overheard Mrs. Godbee confess to the hiring of a thug to assassinate Judge Godbee and his wife three months before she did the killing herself.

Mrs. Godbee took the stand again to deny the sensational story of the telephone operator. She said that Mrs. Spader's testimony evidently was inspired by a spirit of revenge. The defendant declared that Mrs. Spader had been one of her roomers, and that because of unsavory stories circulating in regard to her she had been compelled to evict her from the house. This angered Mrs. Spader, she said, and probably was the animus for her incriminating tale related to the jury.

The story of Mrs. Spader came near the close of the night session, Judge Hammond deciding on holding court late in order to get the trial through by Friday night. The witness was nervous and trembling when she took the stand. She had been asked only a few questions before she was weeping unrestrainedly. When it came to the cross-examination, the attorney for the defense found it a difficult task to get a word from her between her hysterical sobs. She collapsed entirely as she was led from the witness stand and out of the courtroom.

Says Thug Was Hired.

She managed to say during the time she was on the stand that she had boarded at the Godbee home for some time and that she was the chief operator at the Millen telephone exchange. She testified that Mrs. Godbee, goaded into a desperation by the taunts of her former husband, had confided in her that she had hired a negro thug to kill both him and his new wife.

"She told me that she had endured his persecutions to the point of madness," said the witness, "and that she was desperate. I did not give much thought to the story at the time, as I did not think it peculiar that she should talk in this wild way under the circumstances."

Mrs. Godbee was on the witness stand two hours. Her statement was earnestly delivered and created an impression on the crowds attending the trial. Many of the marital difficulties of Mrs. Godbee and her former husband were well known here, but she pitilessly bared the intimate details of her life, telling of her unhappiness as her trump card in her battle for freedom.

Mrs. Godbee told the jury that after her marriage to Judge Godbee in 1887 she has known but few days of happiness. She charged that her former husband had robbed her and her brothers and sisters of their father's estate; had killed her younger brother, Jake Perkins, and escaped without punishment; had choked and slapped her, and struck her with his fist, and threatened her with a revolver; that she had discovered him in thefts of letters from the postoffice at Perkins, Ga., where he was postmaster for a time, and finally, she said, he brought to Atlanta and installed her in a house that had once been an immoral resort. Later, she claims, he circulated reports that she was an immoral woman and keeper of a resort.

Tells of Marriage.

"When my father died in 1888," Mrs. Godbee said, "he left as executor of his estate my uncle and cousin. Mr. Godbee came to look over my father's mercantile business and bought it. He met me and called on me constantly. In July of 1887 we were married.

"A few months later he began trying to get hold of my father's estate, and succeeded in gaining control of the plantations. My younger brother, Jake, had trouble with Judge Godbee over the property, and there was constant friction between the two.

"My mother died in 1889. Following her death our married life grew more unhappy. He insisted upon being made the administrator of my mother's property, and finally gained control of it. My brother Jake was ordered not to put his foot on the place. Judge Godbee's treatment became almost unbearable. He threatened the life of Jake. One day Jake, who was coming to the postoffice, was shot and killed by Judge Godbee. In telling of the killing, Judge Godbee said he had done it for my sake. He would not let me go to the funeral or see the body. I managed to obtain $1,500 and gave it to him for his defense in his trial for Jake's murder."

But the Mason supporters are sure to develop strong opposition to him later.

The significance of the whole episode is that there is more interest in the fight for places on the Police Commission than for seats in Council. If the new charter is adopted the whole Commission is abolished and a new one elected. That would assure a merry scramble for all places.

Mason Sure of Place.

But, as stated in the beginning, the close of the primary entrance list insures a continued away of the old crowd. If Carlos H. Mason and his supporters want to be re-elected to the Police Commission they will be, without a doubt.

The liveliest race of all is in the Eighth Ward between John S. Owens and W. A. Hancock. This is a campaign of the personal strength of both men. They are wary of platforms. Mayor Woodward is supporting Mr. Hancock, but Mr. Hancock declines to make the campaign on the issue of Woodward.

Zeal is added to the race by a hot fight for Police Commissioner from that ward, Alderman A. H. VanDyke, for whose place they are running, is out after the place of Police Commissioner Robert Clark. Both are for Mr. Hancock for Alderman.

If Mr. Owens is elected neither one of them would be likely to get the place.

Less Interest in Councilmen.

As the Councilmanic races are confined to individual wards, the interest in them is much less. In the First Ward, J. N. Renfro, with the support of Mayor Woodward, is running against C. D. Aliverson. In the Second Ward, C. D. Knight has no opposition. In the Third Ward, R. R. Jackson, with the indorsement of Mayor Woodward, is running against S. L. Dalton. In the Fourth Ward, R. E. George and A. W. Earlinger, who have entered what promises to be a very conservative campaign. Neither of them is strongly aligned with either side, but both lean toward the old crowd in Council. There is no avowed Woodward candidate in the Fifth Ward, the entrants being Jesse B. Lee and Dr. W. M. Ehridge. And that ward is one of Mayor Woodward's strongholds.

Jesse M. Wood, of the Sixth Ward; S. L. Dalton, of the Seventh Ward; Frank H. Reynolds, of the Eighth Ward; C. W. Smith, of the Ninth Ward, and Claude C. Mason, of the Tenth Ward, all are without opposition. And they all lean to the present majority in Council.

The election is to be September 30. The registration books have closed, and, according to Registrar Andy P. Stewart, there is only about a 50 per cent registration.

ing to gain for him the support of Councilman A. R. Colcord. The rab came when it was found that Mr. Colcord was pledged to Fred Lester. A further complication set in with the intimation from Alderman Sprattling that he was seeking the place.

Woodward Out for Lester.

Mayor Woodward was bitterly opposed to Mr. Anderson being Alderman without opposition. He tipped off Mr. Armistead and Mr. Armistead paid his fee and announced he was in the race to stay. In addition, Mayor Woodward let it be known that he was supporting Fred Lester for Police Commissioner. The natural assumption is that Mr. Armistead also is back of him, which gives Mr. Lester two of his three ward representatives.

According to Councilmanic precedent this should insure his election.

TRUE BILL FOUND BY GRAND JURY IN QUICK TIME

John Mitchell Is Indicted Two Weeks After Attacking Girl. Boy Stabber Held.

Record time in a criminal case was made Friday, when an indictment for assault was returned against John T. Mitchell as the man who attacked a 15-year-old girl on the Cascade road, near the old Utoy prison camp, last week. His arrest and indictment presents one of the quickest handled cases on record in Fulton County.

Two indictments for murder were returned, one against a 14-year-old boy, Frank W. Barton. He is charged with killing another youth, John Edgar, on Kennedy street the Fourth of July. The boy is now in the custody of the Juvenile Court. The killing occurred while he was demonstrating to another boy the manner in which he handled a person attacking him.

Plunged Knife into Breast.

Throwing up one arm, knocking the other boy's hand up, he plunged a knife into his breast, killing him almost instantly. Evidence in the case showed that after stabbing his playmate, young Barton drew the knife from his body, and after wiping the blade on his trousers, shut the knife and placed it in his pocket, then cautioned another boy not to tell who stabbed Edgar.

A pathetic figure was the mother of the indicted boy, who waited in the Solicitor's office, while the Grand Jury was passing on the case. Court deputies found themselves shrinking from the task of breaking the sad news of her boy's indictment to her.

Young Woman Breaks News.

At their solicitation, an attractive young woman connected with the courts informed Mrs. Barton of the Grand Jury's action. The news almost completely prostrated her, while with true mother love she declared her belief in her boy's innocence.

The other indictment for murder was against Vada Wright, a negro woman, for the killing of Bessie Green, also a negro. The killing occurred several months ago, Vada using a knife.

ROBBER ESCAPES BY THREAT TO KILL WOMAN

Negro Burglar, Surprised in Home by Mrs. Samuel Hopkins, Sought by Police.

Detectives are searching the city for a negro who robbed the home of Samuel Hopkins, No. 11 Orme street, late Thursday afternoon and escaped after threatening to kill Mrs. Hawkins with a blackjack.

The burglar stole a gold watch and some small change, but overlooked a diamond ring which Mr. Hopkins told the police was in a dresser drawer in one of the bedrooms. He entered the house by opening a rear window with a jimmy.

Mrs. Hawkins had been to the matinee and returned to her home shortly before 5 o'clock. As she closed the front door behind her, a negro came into the hall from a bedroom. Before Mrs. Hawkins could scream, the negro drew a blackjack from his pocket and leaped in front of her.

"If you move I'll knock your brains out," the burglar said, brandishing his club.

Mrs. Hawkins shrank back and the negro escaped.

Pair Wed by Indian And Church Rites

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Sept. 12.—Indian rites and the regular Protestant service were used in the wedding ceremony of Charles H. Roberts, business man of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Eleanor B. Grey, of Chicago.

Physician Says His Heart Is Free From Bitterness and Expresses Trust in Providence.

"I thank God and your honorable board for recommendation for full pardon. I knew God would not permit the innocent to suffer."

This was the text of a telegram received by the Prison Commission Friday morning from Dr. W. J. McNaughton, the Emanuel County physician who is under sentence of death for the killing of Fred Flanders.

Chairman Davison read the telegram without comment and declared that the commission would not reply to Dr. McNaughton. The recommendation for a full pardon was forwarded late Thursday afternoon to Governor Slaton, who probably will consider the case for several weeks before reaching a decision.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 12.—In a statement on the recommendation by the prison board for his full pardon, Dr. W. J. McNaughton, central figure in one of Georgia's greatest murder mysteries, said to-day:

"I have no plan for the future except to go back and try and retrieve what has been lost—my practice, many of my friends and virtually all the money I ever had."

"It's quite a price to pay for circumstantial evidence, but I have no bitterness in my heart toward anyone or anything in the world, but the most kindly feeling. I am going right back where I lived before and I sincerely trust the people will repose in me the same confidence they did when I lived and worked among them."

Had Faith in Providence. "I am surprised and not surprised," he said. "Always I felt that the just God who watches over the destiny of us all would not let me come to grief, and something told me that all would be well. And then I reflected that I had been imprisoned, tried and sentenced to hang for a crime it would have been impossible for me to commit, even admitting that Flanders did not kill himself by the habitual use of some drug, and what I have been through, made me so bitter as to think that mistakes sometimes happen and the innocent are sacrificed on the altar of justice."

"I feel to-day like everything is going to be right." He looked from his narrow cell window across the pretentious and sweet-flowering vines. "The sun shines, the birds sing and the world is green. From my window here I have looked out across this park and seen the hundreds of little children playing on the soft, velvety grass, and it has seemed that my heart would burst when I thought of my own little boys and the life that would be before them."

Hopes to be Free by Winter. "Before the winter comes I hope to be free and back with my people in a vain effort to make up for the weary months and years that have been lost. I feel my situation keenly, and I do not think I can appreciate the feeling of my prosecutor and of those who have

JAPAN DEMANDS CHINA APOLOGIZE

Nippon Warships at Nanking Are Ready to Enforce Terms of Peremptory Note.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PEKIN, Sept. 12.—The existing tension between the Chinese and Japanese Governments over demands of the Japanese in connection with the killing of three Japanese citizens at the recent battle at Nanking between federal and revolutionists was heightened to-day by a peremptory note from Tokyo asking for an immediate acceptance or refusal. The demands include:

Payment of $1,000 indemnity to the families of the three slain men; summary punishment of the Chinese officers responsible for the shooting; a public apology by General Chang Hsun, the federal commander at Nanking, to the Japanese Consul, and the parade of General Chang Hsun's troops before the Japanese Consulate as a sign of abjection.

There is a force of 2,000 Japanese marines at Nanking, and the Japanese Consulate there is protected by a battery of quick-firing guns, while there are five Japanese warships in the harbor.

REQUISITION FOR THAW HURRIED TO GOVERNOR

Should New Hampshire Executive Sign Extradition Warrant Case Will Be Appealed.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 12.—Another hitch occurred in the Thaw case to-day, when, by agreement of opposing counsel, Justice of the Peace James Carr, postponed until tomorrow the preliminary hearing of Harry K. Thaw on the charge that he is a fugitive from justice.

Upon receipt of word that District Attorney E. A. Conser, of Dutchess County, New York, in which the Matteawan Insane Asylum is located, is on his way to Concord, N. H., to get Governor Felker's signature to extradition papers already signed by Acting Governor Glynn, of New York, counsel for the fugitive telegraphed to Governor Felker, demanding the right to argue against the extradition of Thaw.

If Governor Felker signs the extradition warrant, said Attorney T. F. Johnson, Thaw's case will be appealed.

Both sides also realized the possibility of Justice Carr taking affairs into his own hands and discharging Thaw, thus precipitating a wild scramble for forcible seizure of the fugitive on the part of representatives of New York and Canada and friends of Thaw.

Canadian Lawyer Arrives.

The attorneys in conference were Mr. Jerome, Bernard Jacobs, acting prosecuting attorney of Coos County, who is also representing New York State; Thomas P. Johnson, George F. Morris and Moses Grossman, all representing Thaw.

Former Governor William Stone, of Pennsylvania, arrived here from Pittsburgh at 10:30 o'clock and was met by Charles D. White, one of Thaw's Canadian attorneys, who got in a few minutes earlier from Sherbrooke.

Fear that Thaw would be set at liberty was based on the fact that he is charged with being a fugitive from justice, whereas it is not clear in the minds of the legal authorities whether Thaw is guilty of committing a crime.

Shortly after rising this morning and before going to the barber shop to be shaved Thaw issued a formal statement summing up his case and lamenting the fact that New York State was spending so much money on him.

Thaw's Statement in Full.

I think the people of my own State would like to know by what warrant of law or common sense the money of the people of the State of New York is being squandered like water by many more thousands of dollars than are available to me in these persistent and unscrupulous efforts to return me to Matteawan.

If I am sane, then certainly I don't belong to Matteawan; if I were insane, then the laws of New York State itself make it compulsory that I be deported from New York State to my home State, Pennsylvania.

The statutes of New York require that insane persons from another State who are sent to Matteawan or to any other New York public asylum, not charged with crime, and I, as an acquitted man, stand exactly in this class, shall be reported to the State Board of Deportation and promptly sent out of the State back to the State of their residence.

The New York law is so anxious to get rid of alleged insane persons from another State that it provides that doctors and nurses, if needed, be supplied to get rid of them.

The United States courts have adjudicated me a resident of Pittsburgh and reaffirmed this fact within three months.

Why does a v. New York official squander New York money to return me?

Glynn Approves Requisition Papers.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Requisition papers calling for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw from New Hampshire to New York State were approved to-day by Acting Governor Glynn at the request of the authorities of Dutchess County.

The papers were directed to Governor Felker of New Hampshire, who has said that he recognizes Mr. Glynn's right to issue them.

NEED 7-LEAGUE BOOTS IN WANT AD CONTEST

Many Will Start, but Only Good Runners Will Persist to End of Hard Race.

The Want Ad Contest Manager wants to advise the contestants who have started in the race for one of the 24 big prizes to be given away November 15 to imitate the example of the giant in the fairy tale, who wore the seven-league boots. Put on your seven-league boots now for the next few days, or until the close of the big bonus offer, September 20. It is easy now if you hustle, for every $5 coupon book brings you 20,000 votes besides the 100,000 extra votes for your first $50 turned in to the contest office. Just a little work during this period will place you up in the very front rank of contestants.

The forces are just swinging into line. Get in step right away and you will share in the victory.

Nominations continue to come in to the Contest Department, and it is very evident that the interest in this unprecedented prize list is very keen.

While the appreciation of the public is attested by this reception the candidate should consider one aspect of it which is encouraging to the earnest worker. There are many people whose ambition is greater than their perseverance.

If all who sent in their names as candidates were to buckle right down to work until September 20, the close of the big bonus offer, there would be a big job cut out for those who meant to win one of the handsome prizes November 15.

If you mean to do your best in this contest, you should at once set aside the fear that there are so many workers ahead of you and that there is little chance of your gaining the prize that you most desire. You will discover as the contest progresses that there are comparatively few who will endure to the end. They are eager enough to enter the race, but they have not the persistence to run it.

Asks Divorce From 'Bad Business Man'

Charging her husband, C. R. Gibbs, with lack of business judgment, threatening her life and failing to support herself and child, Mrs. Hattie Gibbs has filed suit before Judge Bell for absolute divorce.

They were married in 1908, and shortly thereafter, the petition charges, Gibbs "showed habits which should only characterize a gentleman of leisure." They separated last April.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

The Store Will Be Open All Day Saturday

We Are Pleased to Announce That We Have Secured the Atlanta Agency for the Justly Celebrated Madame Irene Corset

Ever on the alert to better our service, to give to our customers the best and most satisfactory merchandise the markets of the world afford, we have taken another and notable step in the right direction by securing the agency for Madame Irene Corsets.

Madame Irene, the maker of Madame Irene Corsets, is rather generally conceded to be America's most potent corset style factor.

She spends half of her time in Paris, and there she sees and studies with the eyes and mind of a genius the styles as they are evolved—nothing that is worthy escapes—and Paris is the home of the artistic corset. And then she brings these ideas to America and gives us the style and beauty of the Paris corset in models built for the American woman.

The result is that Madame Irene to-day is the ranking maker of what we might term the finer corsets—and so Madame Irene Corsets come to Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

That they show style points that have not yet been put into other corsets; that they are exquisitely and sturdily made; that they are designed along lines that mean at once comfort and poise, are points that a visit to our Corset Section right now will very happily and quickly prove.

Some of the marks of Madame Irene distinction this season are—

- Elastic corsets, with no bones, and an inch and a half height of bust.
 - Tricot corsets, with two bones, and very long skirt.
 - Silk brocade corsets with free hips.
 - Silk brocade corsets with elastic lacing over the abdomen and tricot gussets over the hips.
- Madame Irene Corsets may be had in models for every figure, and now, before the suits and dresses for fall are bought, is the time to get the model best for you.
- They are priced from $5.00 to $37.50

The Junior Department ^{THIRD FLOOR} Answers READY With Suits and Dresses of Distinction for the Young Folk

The first days of school and the first days of the new styles—these are absorbing days for young Miss Atlanta.

But to-morrow is Saturday, the first Saturday of the school year and the best for a thoroughly fine time in Miss Atlanta's own store, the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Junior Department (third floor).

There are new suits to be seen.
There are new dresses to be seen.
There are new coats to be seen.
And the new implies much.

In the Suits it stands for the charmingest little styles that we have ever shown—coats that are cutaway in just as decided a fashion as ever a grown-up's was; coats with drooping shoulders and mandarin sleeves, with sashes in the back; fur trimmed coats; skirts drape with all grace and much novelty and skirts even showing the peg top effect. These are worked out in cloths, in basket weaves, in poplins, in mixture weaves and in serges. Terra cotta is a favored color and "pig skin," brown and certain shades of blue. Priced from $15.00 to $40.00.

In the Dresses Here are the practical and fine Peter Thompson, the campfire dresses and the novel Bohemian Dresses with their sashes of bold plaids. Then the more "dressed up" dresses of wool crepe and silk crepe de chine, with waists showing net vests and trimmings of buttons and braids and with skirts usually draped in one way or another—these in rose, turquoise, brown, terra cotta and navy. Priced from $10 to $25.

In the Coats There is one style after another that must be dubbed jaunty—it is sometimes a matter of the length, but generally of the richness and beauty of the plaids, the mixture weaves and the brocades. Blues, tans, browns and, of course, black.

They are three-quarter and full length and priced from $17.50 to $40.00.

But to read the facts is not so interesting as seeing what the Junior Department has to show—so make of to-morrow a "seeing day"—and profit thereby.

ALDERMEN UNITE TO GIVE CUPID SQUARE DEAL

Mayor Lends Support to Friends of Romance—City Spooning Reservation Urged.

New hope for the spooners was found Friday in the attitude of a group of Councilmen who have determined that kissing shall not be tabooed in Atlanta.

Ordinarily Council would not have the authority to interfere with the affairs of the Police Commission, but just now canvasses are being made for next year's elections to the Police Commission.

Open Kissing Season Expected. Some of the regular attendants at these daily conferences are Alderman J. W. Maddox, Councilman Albert Thomson, Councilman Claude C. Mason and Councilman Claude L. Ashley.

Apparently they are waiting for the action of the Police Commission at the special meeting Wednesday night, when the kissing and spooning situation will be considered thoroughly.

Mayor Aids Cupids' Friends. He did not have much luck in his efforts to get Chief Beavers to let up, according to reports of that secret conference that have leaked out.

"We must not kill romance in Atlanta," declared Alderman VanDyke. "That's what we are about to do. That property belongs to the city and does not seem to be serving any purpose.

Dramatic Notes

By TARLETON COLLIER.

Dreamy Strauss music, produced by an orchestra whose sole business is to play Strauss music, should make notable the performance of "The Merry Countess," which opens at the Atlanta Theater to-night.

A cast of pretentious promise has been assembled by Manager Rork. A truthful tone has been sought by the importation of native actors in some parts—the scene of the opera being laid in a fashionable Austrian resort.

The week's offering at the Forsyth continues to attract audiences that each night fill the house. A popular note seems to have been struck by the bill. The tango and turkey trot, as danced by Inez Patterson and Frank Hale, naturally have an appeal, being an expression of the mode.

A really convincing performance, it is said, is that of Estha Williams, who at the Lyric next week in "A Man's Game," will play the part of a disolute, unscrupulous wife.

"The Call of the Heart" is this week's offering at the Lyric Theater. The play is built about the interesting subject of heredity, and, although without a technical scientific basis, it has something of application here in the day of eugenics and reform of moral standards.

The Jewell Kelley Company will prolong its engagement at the Bijou Theater through the next week, offering a sensational melodrama, "The Man of Mystery," by Mark Swan, who has written some of the most vivid thrillers.

This week the Jewell Kelley players are producing "My Dixie Girl," a drama of the Kentucky mountains.

HOWSE RENAMED NASHVILLE MAYOR

On "Wide Open" Platform He Runs Away From Cooper and Judge Meeks.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 12.—Hilary E. Howse, present Mayor of this city, will be returned to office in the first election held under the new commission form of government by an estimated majority of 550 votes over his two opponents, Cooper and Meeks, after one of the bitterest and most sensational mayorality campaigns ever witnessed in Nashville.

Howse worked with a wonderful organization and completely snowed under the law enforcement candidate, Cooper, who ran second, and who was just as far ahead of Circuit Judge Meeks, who was practically forced into the race by friends of ex-Governor Malcolm R. Patterson.

A remarkable boldness was manifested by both Meeks and Howse in bidding for the saloon vote, Criminal Judge Neil threatening to close every saloon in the city unless his candidate, Meeks, was elected.

Both Meeks and Cooper are claiming wholesale frauds and declare they will contest the election. Women workers were prominent at the polls and numerous prayer meetings were held throughout the city during the day in the interest of Cooper.

Despite such intense bitterness as has been manifested during the campaign, the election was remarkable for its quietness, only a few minor difficulties being reported.

PREDICTS ERA OF GREAT PROSPERITY

Illinois Democratic Leader, in Atlanta on Visit, Gratified by Tariff Reform.

Declaring Democracy is gaining strength throughout the country and that all that is needed now is re-adjustment following tariff reform, Charles Boeschenstein, Democratic National committeeman from Illinois, who is a visitor in Atlanta, Friday predicted a time of great prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Boeschenstein arrived in Atlanta Thursday, following a trip to Gainesville, where they placed their daughter in Brenau College. Mr. Boeschenstein speaks with authority on the national political situation, as he is recognized as a keen political student.

Mr. Boeschenstein scouted the idea of a panic as a result of the enactment of Democratic tariff. The Democratic party in Illinois, he declared, is stronger than it was last year, which is indicative of continued Democratic success throughout the country.

Mr. Boeschenstein was delighted with Atlanta, and expressed great surprise at what he termed the remarkable development of highways in Georgia, as well as elsewhere in the South. The only weak point in the convict system, he says, is lack of coordination.

U. S. Outclassed in Motor Boat Races

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. COWES, ENG. Sept. 12.—The English motor boat Maple Leaf IV was the betting favorite for the deciding race to-day in the competitions for the international motor boat trophy in Osborne Bay. It was conceded that the United States did not have a chance to win back the cup.

"In other words," she replied as quietly, "it is none of my particular concern."

"Why not?" she demanded.

"Well, how do you suppose you are going to get money? Who is going to get it if you don't?"

"I have tried everything I can think of, Miss Lloyd," he said, in a tone that indicated that the conversation was becoming a bore.

"I wonder," she smiled, "I wonder if now you could come to dinner, say the day after to-morrow."

"I'll day after to-morrow," he said, holding her hand for an instant.

Fashions That Are Coming Soon

By Olivette

This simple tailor-made or dark green duvetyne on the left is absolutely the "dozier" cut of the Paris modes.

The afternoon frock in the center is of copper-colored crepe meteor with a dash of sapphire blue in the soft silk giraffe.

The short round skirt is gathered at the waist and falls straight to the ankle, where a narrow fold finishes the hem.

The waist, which is invisible in our picture, has a deep yoke of net trimmed in simple flounces of the same material.

The other girls did not seem to have any objection.

CHAPTER XXXIV

WHEN Mary Fletcher's mother died the daughter spoke of the dead as "blessedly out of it all."

He was in one of his worst moods when on his return from town one evening he told her that, changing to pick up a New York newspaper bearing a date of several months ago, he had seen the notice of Mrs. Danforth's death.

"You and I have both drunk deeply of the cup of sorrow since last we met," he wrote.

"I'm sure of it," she exclaimed reproachfully.

SPINNERS' TALKING

STEARDS' COUSIN

Texas Rains and Low Cables Are Cause of Early Dip—Spot Houses Buy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Weak cables and a let-up in the demand from the spinners caused the cotton market to open weak to-day and first prices were at a net decline of 17 to 15 points from Thursday's final.

On the bulge the market found good support from brokers who usually report present spinners and the largest spot interests.

Meanwhile the market is subject to news from Washington relating to the cotton tax bill and practically no unfavorable word is in all probability cause of changes.

Report of storms in Texas was circulated during the afternoon session and effect the market was given absolutely baseless by a New Orleans weather expert.

NEW ORLEANS DAILY COTTON LETTER. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—Texas and Oklahoma papers are jubilant over the general rainfall, and there are already many reports that cotton will be planted.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET. LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12.—Dues 3 1/2 to 1/2 points lower, this market opened steady 8 to 9 points lower.

NEW YORK COFFEE MARKET. Opening Closing. September 1.82 1.87. October 1.83 1.88.

COTTON SEED OIL. Opening Closing. September 7.65 7.75. October 7.45 7.55.

MONEY EXCHANGE. NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Money on call, 1 1/2 to 2 per cent. Time money unchanged.

COTTON GOSSIP

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—J. M. Anderson: "Liverpool was disappointing to the bullish element. The decline, it is said, was based on hedge selling and American long hedging their contracts in the English market."

The market sold off yesterday in the afternoon and on constant selling by Schill, Wilson & Co. The price crowd was against the market and the selling was rather general with little or no support until just before the close.

Thursday's market was less active than at any time since the bull movement got started and some are predicting a quieter market pending development at Washington.

The stock in only in the New York warehouse in only 6,000 bales. This has much to do with the steadiness of prices.

The New York Herald says: "Information regarding conferences among the Democrats of the House and Senate indicate that strong pressure will be brought to bear to modify the Clarke amendment."

Dallas wires: "Texas and Oklahoma had general rains over both states; it is still cloudy and threatening."

The Inter-State Trust and Banking Company, of Chicago, estimates the total crop for this season at 18,483,000 bales, without linters or repeals.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat says: "The cotton market is foundering in a sea of doubt and apprehension pending the arrival of final news from Washington as to the attitude of the commerce committee on the Clarke tax rider."

Trading is in very small volume. Demand for action in Texas, estimates the livery is not large enough to keep spot owners from worrying.

MARKET ADVANCE

IS HEADED BY U. P.

Rumor That Standard Oil People Are Back of Market Results in Bull Raid at Close.

By CHARLES W. STORM. NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Union Pacific led a substantial upturn at the opening of the stock market to-day, advancing 1 1/2 on the first few sales.

Some traders professed to see evidence of accumulation which is gradually decreasing the floating supply. They argue that astute buyers are looking to the future for a better market.

A good deal of importance was attached to the advance in London of Southern Pacific, which was followed here by a gain of 3/4.

There were narrow and subject to professional trading. Union Pacific continued to maintain its position as leader and the price of that stock rose 1/4 to 1 1/2.

The market closed strong. There was considerable covering of shorts. The market closed unchanged. Other bonds firm.

Enthusiasm is Running High In Pedalmobile Contest

"Gee, ain't it a peach! Couldn't I speed some if I had one of them! How many are you going to give away, Mister?"

There are many earnest workers and the subscriptions are coming fast. It would only be a wild guess now to say who will win the first fifteen cars and receive the Charter Membership Certificates to the Atlanta Pedalmobile Racing Club.

Pedalmobile Clubs are to be found in many of the large cities, having been promoted by some of the largest and best newspapers in the country.

These little machines are not to be confined to pleasure alone, but can be put to good use in many different ways.

These cars are now on exhibition in the window of O. C. Polk Dry Goods Store, 29 South Gordon Street; South Pryor Ice Cream Parlor, 353 South Pryor Street, and Imperial Tire and Tube Company, 349 Peachtree Street.

OUTSIDE WORKERS. A number of boys and girls outside of the city of Atlanta have sent in their application blanks and are now working earnestly to obtain one of the handsome little cars.

APPLICATION BLANK. Pedalmobile Department of the Hearst's Sunday American and Atlanta Georgian. 20 East Alabama St., Atlanta, Ga.

I am interested in your free Pedalmobile offer and am determined to win one if my application is accepted. Please send blanks and full particulars.
