Tax Features Alone Remain to Be Disposed Of

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The adminisrative and income tax features of the tariff bill remained to be disposed of today when the house convened. Both are important portions of the bill with many pages of details that puzzle new members, but the adoption virtually intact was confidently counted upon by Democratic leaders.

Two Friends, Young Men in Atlanta, Report Recent Letters From Him-Brother Has Had One-So Has Father-Detectives Say Quinn Changed His Story-Newt Lee Declares Murder Must Have Occurred During the Afternoon

A negative alibi established for Paul P. Bowen by several authorities, among whom are his brother and his father in Newnan, seems to clear the young man arrested Monday night in Houston, Tex., from any suspicious connection with the murder of Mary Phagan in Atlanta on the night of April 26.

Strong evidence against the man whom they have arrested and are holding (at request of the Atlanta police) as a suspect, is reported by the police of Houston in telegrams to the Atlanta police. One dispatch says they found a photograph of Mary Phagan in the young man's trunk. Another says they found there, too, a girl's vest, with blood on it. Letters from Atlanta, signed "Mary," and others initialed "M. P.," or "M. J. P.," are described among other finds in the trunk. A woman's shirt, "blood-stained and full of holes," was found in the alley back of the hotel where Bowen had been stopping, just before he moved to the boarding house where the police arrested him. The suspicions of a woman whose room adjoined that of Bowen in the hotel, led the police to him. She saw him manifest emotion over the details of the Mary Phagan murder, the dispatches state, and heard him moan that he wished he hadn't "done it," and that if he had his life to live over he would not make the same mistake, or words to that effect. LEFT HERE LAST FALL.

Yet there remains the fact that in no wse does The Journal's searching and thorough investigation connect young Bowen with Atlanta or even with Georgia since he left here for Arkansas last October. Nor have the police and detectives found that vital connection. Friends and relatives of Bowen say that he has not been in Georgia. so far as they know, since last October. Charley Kimball, of the Southern master mechanic's office at Inman Yards, reports receiving a letter from Bowen, dated at Houston, April 23. The young man's father reports a postal card from him there recently. Paul's brother says he received a lefter from Paul about two weeks ago. No one who knows Bowen has seen him in Atlanta or Georgia reecntly, as far as appears; and he is reported to have been employed for the past six weeks as a secretary, traveling with the general manager of some railroad in Texas, living in Houston.

In short, the Houston end of the story tends to involve young Bowen, uon more or less authority, in the murder.

The Atlanta end of it absolves him of any connection with it.

SEEMS TO HAVE ALIBI. Either Paul P. Bowen is suspected wrongfully in Houston, Tex.; or the man under arrest there has assumed the name of Paul P. Bowen. It is, of course, entirely possible that Paul P. Bowen may have been in Georgia on April 26-but it does not seem probable, and the indications are that his alibi in Houston is as good as established.

The following investigation by The Journal and its correspondents in Houston seems to have revealed very pertinent fact about the life and movements of Paul P. Bowen, who was unknown publicly until

Shopping Wade Easy

There isn't much excuse nowadays for the woman or man who is "bored to death" by shopping.

Atlanta merchants no longer just "keep shop." They are live, progressive, alert, and energetic. There's high-powered efficiency on tap at most of the shops, large and small. Everything conceivable is being done for the information, convenience, and comfort of patrons. And it is the patron's own fault if he or she doesn't know where the choicest things may be purchased, where the best service is to be had, and where prices are the most reasonable.

Just read over carefully the crisp, instructive, up-to-the-minute announcements of every description contained in today's Journal and you will readily understand how simple it is to find out where to shop and what to buy.

Diamond Prices Advancing; Buy Now and Save From $10 to $30 Per Carat

Importers advise that prices in the primary market have advanced $10 to $30 since January. This increase will be felt in this country within the next four months.

In addition to this the Democratic Caucus of the House of Representatives have recommended a duty of 10 per cent on rough diamonds and a duty of 20 per cent on polished diamonds.

This duty will no doubt be levied on diamonds as soon as the Tariff bill is passed. This, of course, will cause a still further advance.

This is a favorable time to buy in anticipation of your wants.

Call or write for our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds." This book quotes net prices on all grades and weights. It explains our method of sending diamonds on approval and selling on attractive monthly payments.

WILSON URGED TO ASK FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Others Urge President to Call Conference to Discuss It

WASHINGTON, May 6 .- President Wilson was urged today by a committee of the American Federal association to call a general conference to discuss plans for a federal department of public health and everything pertaining to the conservation of human life and efficiency. Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale; Dr. John D. Murphy, of Chicago: Dr. L. K. Frankle and Dr. Aram Jacobi, of New York; Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Senator Owen urged the

Prof. Fisher declared that the president had listened attentively and had expressed his keen appreciation of the becessity for public health legislation, but that until he was able to accumulate more information and make deeper study into the questions involved he would be unable to commit himself. Senator Owen had a private talk with Mr. Wilson on currency reform, arranging for an early conference to get at length the president's views. William Martin, of Los Angeles, special representative of the Chinese-American League of Justice, brought the president's attention to what he termed humiliation suffered by the Chinese when admitted to this country. Only Once a Year Are the Papers Given Such News as This The Spring Sale of Suits

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s sale of Suits for the spring season of this good year of 1913!

Now all who have waited, stop waiting.

It is time to act, quickly, surely.

To you who know the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s methods, the way things are done in such sales, the simple announcement that tomorrow is the day would doubtless prove sufficient---but nevertheless, you who know us best can hardly appreciate the true significance of to-morrow's event.

This out-rivals other spring sales!

There is a finality about it, from the price view-point, from the style view-point. The finality of the price view-point you see below, that of the style view-point you shall see tomorrow, we can but hint of it here.

The suits are fresh, bright, splendid styles a great part of them just sent us by our buyer now returning from New York. To say they are the latest styles is to tell an interesting point, one that is full of meaning to women at this time, when stocks are supposed to be rather low and picked-over.

So, up to-morrow and to this sale---nothing that could be desired has been left undone, your suit, in the material, shade and fashion you want is here---at one of these prices.

$25.00 $29.75 $35.00 & $37.50 Suits At $14.75

Picture the charmingest suits that this gay season has brought out at prices going from $25.00 to $37.50; these are what you are going to choose from tomorrow at $14.75. Serges, corded and striped materials, eponges in all colors---which of course means that the staple navy and black suits are included --- and shepherd checks. We will not attempt the styles, their name is legion, qualified by beautiful cutaways, blouses, plain tailored.

$39.50 $45.00 $48.50 to $60.00 Suits At $22.50.

Here we get into the suits distinguished by Paris style points---the "de luxe" suits, in fact a splendid little lot of silk suits in bright spring colors has been included, too. Gracefully draped skirts are prominent, and little cutaway coats and odd blouses and rich trimmings, and again just simple elegance. Many are of imported fabrics, serge, eponge, diagonals, light, soft, corded materials---any color.

Will California Blight The Great Exposition?

If the California legislators had set out designedly to blight the prospects of the Panama exposition which is to be staged at San Francisco, they could scarcely have found surer means to that remarkable end than the anti-alien bill which they have rushed to passage despite the President's earnest appeal and contrary to the best judgment of the country at large. That the thoughtful majority of Californians themselves are of similar opinion is evidenced in the movement already begun to demand a referendum on this foolish and dangerous measure; and there is reason to hope that the people of that State will yet repudiate a law that threatens their own as well as the nation's interests.

The Panama exposition promised to be the greatest world's fair in history; and, if relieved of this barrier, which political agitators seek to raise, it will become so in fact. Its purpose is to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal as a vast achievement, not only for the glory of the United States, but also for the good of the whole world. Every State in the Union is invited to participate in this generous enterprise as are also our neighboring republics in Central and South America, the nations of Europe and those of the Orient. The exposition was awarded to California, or rather was entrusted to her, in the confidence that she would make it a truly national and truly international affair.

But if such a law as the California legislature has enacted should go into effect and be followed, as it undoubtedly would be, with ill feeling and serious nalgation, the exposition could not possibly win that cordial and wides ead support which otherwise it would enlist. Should California adopt a course that sets her apart from the sisterhood of States and needleasly embarrasses the entire nation, should she assume the attitude that government's treaties with foreign powers may be broken whenever it suits special or local interests to do so, then she must take the consequences, which will inevitably arise both at home and abroad.

The question of Japanese land ownership is one which should be dealt with, if it is to be dealt with at all, by the national government through orderly processes of diplomacy, for it is a question that involves a national agreement and national responsibility. That was President Wilson's plea, as ably presented by Secretary Bryan to the California legisla ture. But Governor Johnson and his followers saw fit to disregard the proprieties and the far-reaching policy at stake and proceeded to act as though they alone represented the nation.

The result is that they have provoked an issue which, unless it is removed by the timely action of the people of California themselves, will bring on delicate litigation, if not international entanglements. The courts will be called on to settle not only the rights of the Japanese to land cwnership, but also their right to citizenship, a question hitherto not agitated; and the effect of all this will be anything but favorable to the commercial interests of the country

California will be placed before the nation and before the world in the role of a trouble-maker rather than that of the host which she can, if she will, so easily and so graciously play. The exposition be dwarfed, instead of enriched and magnified, by the fact that it is to be held within her borders.

There have been repeated indications that the thoughtful and really representative people of California opposed the anti-alien bill from the outset. They have recognized that such a measure, if not uncalled for, was beyond the province of a State legislature and that the problem at issue, if there really were a problem, should be left for diplomatic treatment. They have foreseen the injurious effects which , such a law would have on the State's business welfare and particularly on the forthcoming exposition. The truth of this in witnessed in the appeals of San Francisco business and of the board of directors of the exposition that the Legislature at least suspend action on the anti-alien land bill.

It is to be hoped that this wise and far-sighted view will yet prevail and that California will throw aside all obstacles to the national and international success of the Panama exposition. If she does so, she may count upon the hearty support of the entire country and of the world; if not, she must fare as best she can on a rerrow and isolated path.

The Failure of Huerta.

That was a somber but seemingly faithful picture of Mexican conditions which Mr. Charles Hines painted when he appeared last Saturday before the foreign relations committee of the Senate. Mr. Hines, formerly a Virginian and now president of the West Shore railroad, of Mexico, spoke from direct observation and gave a number of intimate touches which foreign dispatches have lacked but which, in the main, are confirmed by the State department's advices. His testimony, as summarized by The Journal's Washington correspondent, indicates that at no time since the exile of Porfirio Diaz were conditions so unsettled in Mexico as they are today.

In all the republic, we are told, there are but three States which are even partly free from the fire of rebellion or from the harryings of desperate adventurers. Provisional President Huerta is popularly regarded as a red-handed conspirator rather than as an official commanuing the people's confidence and respect; and, to quote directly, "it has become apparent even to his supporters that he can never pacify the country." Most noteworthy of all is the fact that the; temporary alliance between Huerta and Felix Diaz has broken and the latter is now plotting for the overthrow of the dictator whom he induced to betray President Madero.

The most aggressive figure now in the Mexican field seems to be Venustiana Carranza, a leader of the so-called "Constitutionalists," who declare that orderly processes of government are their aim. Huerta, they insist, is a usurper and must yield the office he has seized. They demand a speedy election through which a new president can be legally chosen.

Carranza's distinctive quality is his genius for organization. Unlike many of revolutionary leaders who are continually preying upon Mexico for the moment's advantage or the handful of booty they may win, he covers each step of his advance with carefully systematized plans. "As fast as he seizes a section of territory," cays The Journal's Washington story, "he forms a military government, restores order and makes the inhabitants pay for it by a heavy tax levy; his progress is slow but it is methodical."

Whether Carranza or the "Constitutionalist" movement will succeed in re-establishing efficient government in Mexico remains to be seen. Certain it is, however, that the Huerta regime is toppling. The provisional president is compelled to keep large detachments of the federal army in Mexico City to guard the approaches to his personal safety. The army, at no time strong or particularly loyal, is today more demoralized than ever. A spirit of mutiny is astir. A general is ordered hurriedly to the north to quell the rebels there, but no tidings of his movements are received at the capital; presumably he goes over to the revolutionists. An expedition sent forth in behalf of the provisional government is as likely as not to become, on the way, a new arm of the rebellion.

On every hand and almost every day the armed opposition to the Huerta government grows more serious and more 1 sourceful. All developments confirm the wisdom or the United States in not recognizing the Huerta regime; and they also give rise to the question, what will happen when the present would-be dictator falls?

Will the "Constitutionalists," profiting by the tragically witnessed failure of murderous politics, seek to restore government through civilized means or will they repeat the barbarous story of the past few months? Will there emerge a man strong enough to unite and hold behind him the thoughtful element of the Mexican people, and is that element itself numerous and vigorous enough to carry out its will? Only time can answer.

Three Presbyterian Assemblies By Frederic J. Haskin

It is hard for those outside of Presbyterian circles to differentiate between the three bodies represented by the assemblies which convene in Atlanta on May 15.

The largest is that of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. It is familiarly known as "The U. S. A." and represents the churches in the northern states. Presbyterian church in the United States is the official name of the body representing the southern states, while the United Presbyterian church is a body resultant principally from a union of several synods of the Associated Reformed church which was made in Pittsburg in 1858.

The "U. S. A." or the northern branch of the Presbyterian church is the largest. Its membership includes over two-thirds of the entire number of Presbyterians of the country and nearly three-fourths of the ministers. It has nearly 10,000 churches and at least twelve theological seminaries. Its power was greatly increased in 1906 when it was united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church, a body which at the time of the union numbered about 200,000 members, and included a number of educational institutions, as well as many large and influential churches. The Cmberland Presbyterian church was started in 1803 as a result of a controversy between the synod of Kentucky and the Cumberland presbytery over the ordination of certain men as ministers who were judged deficient in education by the higher authorities. The principles involved were similar to those which during the preceding century caused the disruption of the Presbyternian church into the New and Old Sides represented by the New York and Philadelphia synods. The Cumberland church also desired a little broader creed. It was Calvinistic in doctrine excepting that it would not accept the doctrine of predestination precisely as held by the Presbyterians. The revision of the Westminster Confession of Faith and the suplemental statement, adopted by the Presbyterian church of the United Church of America in 1905, paved the way for the union by the slight modification demanded. The union was officially adopted in 1906, although a small proportion of the Cumberland church refused to unite and there has been considerable friction and litigation to secure the proper titles to church property.

The Presbyterian church in the United States, commonly known as the Southern church, originted with the Civil war. In August, 1861, delegates from ten synods, including forty-seven presbyteries, met in Augusta, Ga., an constituted the first general assembly of "The Presbyterian church in the Confederate States of America, This new organization at once adopted a vigorous home and foreign missionary policy. It took charge of the missionary work among the Indians in Indian Territory who had been persuaded by General Pike to cast their lot with the Confederacy through their sympathy with the slave owners. In 1863 it received the Independent Presbyterian church, a body of thirteen churches and four ministers located in South Carolina. The next year a union was also formed with the United synod which represented in the south the New Side of the old schism which had separated the church in the eighteenth century. It was composed of the Scotch-Irish element which had settled in the southern states.

The southern Presbyterian church is generally regarded as more strict in its requirements than the northern church. It maintains theological schools at Richmond, Va.; Cumberland, S. C., and at Louisville, Ky., in each of which the Calvinistic creed is emphasized. The school at Louisville lately has been partially united with the seminary at Danville which is under the direction of the northern assembly so that in the managament of these two schools the north and the south ar: uniting in a way that bids fair to promote the feeling of church unity so much desired by many of the leaders of both bodies.

The United Presbyterian church, which will be represented in the assembly by ove 300 commissioners, is in some respects the most rigid of the three bodies. It bases its doctrine upon the Westminister Confession of Faith, with a modification of the chapter upon the authority of givil magistrates, accepts both the larger and shorter catechisms and the judicial testimony. It has five special articles for the regulation of its members. The first of these articles prohibits the owning of slaves. The second declares against all secret and oath-bound societies and recommends that church members do not belong to them. The third recommends close communion upon the ground that the sacrament should be auministered only to those who have assented to the doctrines of the church. The fourt! advocates public testimonies or experiences at special

. . . ' The fifth article is the one which tends now to make the chief distinction between the United Presbyterian church and the other branches of the same denomination. It states that it is the will of God that Psalms should be used in service since hymns are the composition of uninspired men and, therefore, are not suitable to be used in church service. In some of the more rigid of the United Presbyterian churches, organs are not permitted and the Psalms are chanted without any instrumental accompaniment. In most of them, however, the best obtainable poetic versions of the Psalms are used in praise services, and these are set to suitable music and are sung in the same manner as the hymns in other churches.

The completion of the arrangements for the union between the United Presbyterian church and the southern body will in all probability be the most important event in connection with this joint meeting of the three general assemblies. Committees from each body were appointed last year to ascertain if a practical basis of union can be found and if so to report it to the assemblies this year. The committees have agreed upon such a basis. While it has not yet been published it is believed that it will prove acceptable to both bodies. An interesting circumstance in connection with the simultaneous meeting of these three assemblies in Atlanta is the presentation of three gavels by the committee of arrangements. The gavel made for the northern assembly is to be known as the Whitefield gavel as it is made from wood taken from the first Presbyterian church at Newburyport, Mass. where the great evangelist once preached and was buried, and from wood taken from a tree on historic ground at Savannah, Ga., where his Bethesda stood until it was burned.

END OF A FIASCO

(From The Atlanta Constitution of May 6.) News dispatches report today that the supreme court of the United States yesterday dismissed the case of the government against The Atlanta Journal, involving alleged violation of the postal regulations. The verdict of the court was unanimous.

This is an end to the miserable effort of Hitchcock and his bureaucratic spies to inolve The Journal in a manner which was overwhelmingly resented by the public, not only because the people knew that the management of The Journal was not involved in any petty swindle to save a few dollars in mail payments, but more particularly for the reason that the Hitchcock procedure against legitimate business was a departure entirely new in federal administrative methods in this country.

It will be recalled that when The Journal was first apprised of the fact that it was to be the victim of Hitchcock's animus the information came in the nature of an indictment for trial without having been given opportunity to make even a showing as to the accuracy of its figures, or of the fact that it was, at least in its own opinion, making an honest effort to comply with the law. That was considered an unimportant detail to Hitchcock and his spies.

of course, the government lost in the lower United States court, and now the supreme court has put the stamp of its disapproval upon the whole proceeding by dismissing the case.

It is the end of the cheapest fiasco in which this government has ever been involved, and it is to be hoped that never, as long as this is a goernment, will there be a repetition of such a disgraceful and tyrannical proceeding from any of its departments.

HONOR

By DR. FRANK CRANE. (Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

In order to understand, you must learn that many words, and especially words that stand for very high and important ideas, usually have two meanings, which are often directly opposite one to the other. Love, for instance, may signify the very loftiest sentiment conceivable, even, as the theologians tell us, for the natu: 3 of the godhead; and, again, it may be used to indicate the most unintelligent desire. One of these words with a dual meaning is "honor." There is hardly a feeling in the human breast as praiseworthy as honor. It is the best form of self-respect. It is manliness or womanliness raised to the nth power. It is character consummate. It is the true foundation of business success, the basis of any happy marriage, and, altogether, the cleanest, brightest, and solidest moral metal in the spirit of man.

Naturally, so good a thing must be stolen by scoundrels for their counterfeit schemes. So we find some of the meanest, most selfish and caddish sentiments tabelled "honor." The duelling place was called "the field of honor," where two cowardly men afraid to trust their cause to justice and oerawed by evil conventions, met for murder. It has taken the world a good many hundred years to see that duelling, far from being honorable, is unjust, contemptible, and settles nothing except to determine who has the most skillful arm.

There is a large portion of the world's population who still believe that it is honorable to be endowed, to be idle and to be useless. So far it has never been the custom to dub a farm hand or a machinist "the honorable Mr. So-and-so." Yet work is more honorable than sport, and earning money than getting it from your rich uncle. But perhaps the worst inversion of the meaning of honor appers when the term is applied to nations. Reading the speech of a certain "honorable" gentleman delivered in our national congress one receives the impression that self-restraint, courtesy and the due processes of justice in established tribunals are dishonorable, while it is honorable to froth at the mouth, hurl defiance, and yelp for war upon the appearance of the least divergence of opinion between America and any other nation.

It seems to be honorable to spend billions preparing for war, but dishonorable to make plans for the settling of international disputes by arbitration.

It seems to be honorable to lie, quibble and luster when the terms of a treaty turn out to our advanage, and dishonorable to adjust the matter by amicable consultation and rearrangement. It is honorable to be .. prorane, narrow, grafting. immoral "Christian' white men, in Africa, the Orient, and the Seven Seas; but it is dishonorable, it is sickly, mawkish cowardice to act as a decent gentleman. When you hear a man blow about honor it is time to inquire just what brand of honor he means. "For Brutus is an honorable man;

So are they all, all honorable men."

Queer Names in California

The Gazetteer of the Surface Waters of California just issued, shows many curious similarities in nomenclature, common and favorite names having been given to different streams and lakes by the early settlers, who christen most of the natural features in new countries.

Such characteristic pioneer names as Deadman creek and Deadman Canyon creek are applied to five different streams; in the area covered by the report there are ten Dry creeks, two Humbug creeks, two Jackass creeks, five Lion and Lion Canyon creeks, five "Lost" streams, and two Mad rivers. Bear, Bear. canyon, and Bear Trap are applied to thirty-six different water bodies, and there are five Grizzly creeks. There are fifteen Coyote water bodies, two Wildcat, one Cat and two Gatos (cat, Spanish) creeks, one Skunk creek, nine Deer creeks, one Rabbit, two Quall, two Dog and one Scorpion creek.

C. G. MARSHALL IS GIVEN BIG PROMOTION BY "A. P."

News Editor of Southern Division Tendered Farewell Dinner at Capital City Club

C. G. Marshall, for more than two years news editor of the southern division of the Associated Press, with headquarters in Atlanta, has been promoted to a responsible position in the central division of the Associated Press. After a farewell dinner tendered him at the Capital City club Mr. Marshall left Atlanta Monday night to assume his new duties in Chicago.

In the central division he will be associated with Superintendent Paul Cowles, for several years located in Atlanta as superintendent of the southern division of the Associated Press.

Before his advent to Atlanta Mr Marshall held several important positions in the Washington office of the Associated Press and won distinction and promotion rapidly by the manner in which he covered many stories of the southern division he was dispatched to Honduras as war correspondent for the Associated Press and remained in the Central American country for more than two months. Shortly after his return he was rushed to Galveston, Tex., when United States troops were mobilized on the Mexican border as a result of threatening conditions in

Mr. Marshall also covered many important southern stories during his service here, including the disastrous Tennessee mine disaster near Knoxville, and the Beach trial at Aiken, S. C. Although still a very young man, Mr. Marshall's advancement has been so rapid that he now is to assume a position demanding exceptional ability. His to the Associated Press service and to

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER NEW YORK, May 6 .- Trading has been very light; fair demand after opening on predictions for colder weather over the western belt. This caused short covering by Wall street brokers and a rally of about 10 points followed. There is more talk of market being oversold than for some time. If it be true we may look for a further upturn. Still there does not seem to by any concentrated buil forces who are willing to buy much cotton. On the other hand, any substantial rallies seem to find ready sellers. Sentiment is against the market and will remain so as long as weather conditions continue favorable. The weekly weather report is construed as favorable over the western belt, but the eastern belt is in need or rain .- Anderson,

RENEWED BEAR PRESSURE CAUSED BREAK IN STOCKS

Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Steel, Smelters Led

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, May 6 .- First prices of stocks oday disclosed irregular changes. The Harriman shares and Pennsylvania were heavy. Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific rose a point each. The Copper group moved up on rather large buying. Lack of support to Harrimans deterred buyers and induced short selling which cost Reading a point and Steel half as much. Beet Sugar was strong and Rumely preferred rose substantially on the progress making in readjust-

Improvement of the foreign markets had no nfluence on trading here Developments at home favored short selling. The closing down of several textile mills and persistent weakness of the Harriman shares tended to spread pessimistic feeling. Recent campaigns against the short interest put the market in a less favorable position to oppose professional selling and the bears met little op-

Weakness of standard stocks left many of the minor properties in a rather vulnerable position. When bears put out tentative selling orders, prices gave way sharply. Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues reached a new low Traders sold the Harriman stocks at will,

Note.—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports re-ceived, and the average precipitation from the number of stations reporting 0.10 inch or more. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

REMARKS. In Mississippi and western districts rain has been quite general. In the central and eastern portions fair, warm weather continues. C. F. von HERRMANN. Section Director, Weather Bureus.

HE TELLS OF VISIT OF LEMMIE QUINN TO HIS OFFICE TEN MINUTES AFTER MARY PHAGAN RECEIVED WAGES

Introduction of Quinn Gives the Factory Superintendent an Important Witness, in Confirmation of His Statements. Only Three Witnesses Examined by Coroner at Session Monday Afternoon

For three hours and a half Leo M. Frank, general superintendent of the National Pencil factory in which Mary Phagan was murdered, faced the coroner's jury Monday afternoon and told minutely, detail by detail, in precise sequence, where he was and what he did during practically every minute of Saturday, April 26, Saturday night, and Sunday, April 27. When he had finished, his father-in-law, Emil Selig, was put upon the stand and questioned closely regarding what he knew of Frank's whereabouts and acts on those days. And after Mr. Selig had been excused, Mrs. Josephine Selig, his wife, was called to testify along the same line. These three witnesses occupied the entire sssion, Monday, which was at work for almost

That Lemmie Quinn, foreman of tipping department, visited the National Pencil factory shortly after Mary Phagan is supposed to have received her pay envelope and departed, was an absolutely new feature in the murder mystery brought out by Mr. Fra k's testimony. While Quinn has never been on the stand he has corroborated Mr.

Frank's statement in interviews with the detectives, and goes further by saying that he recalled his visit to the factory to the incarcerated super-

MAYOR TO VETO COUNCIL

Says Councilmen Are Not Working for City, but Are Simply Fighting Him

Mayor Woodward will veto the fire probe committee's exoneration of Fire Chief Cummings and the graft probe committee's exoneration of Aldermen which were adopted by the general counc'l Monday afternoon.

Discussing the reports of the committ es, Mayor Woodward Tuesday morning sistains my charges as to rebates on fire hose and as to the board of fire masters buying an automobile fire apparatus without any authority. But they didn't sustain me because they wanted t. It was because they had to.

What I don't like about the report, lowever, is the part exonerating Chief ummings of R. E. Davidson's charge. Lavidson went on the stand and swore to the committee that he gave Bill Cumrings a $400 rake-off on the purchase of the automobile fire apparatus for the Ninth ward. He showed the committue the stubs of his check book, where he had drawn out $400 out of the bank to his personal order in April, 1911, and that was the month when the city paid for the engine. Furthermore, he showed the committee the cancelled check corresponding with the stub. Cummings samply denied Davidson's charge.

MAYOR BELIEVES DAVIDSON. "Therefore it was up to the committhe to say which one they believed-Commings or Davidson. They say they don't believe Davidson. I do. I be-Maye Cummings got the money, and I'm Met going to indorse any such a report.

"As to the exoneration of the three aldermen, it's just what I expected. The members of council, and especially the members of the committee that probed the McClelland charges, have known all the facts ever since they happened. They knew that Maddox took subcontracts on clay work. They knew Ragsdale was a partner of J. R. Lawhon, who was sell ing mules to the city. They knew Spratwould exonerate anybody charges against. They're not working for the benefit of the city They're simply fighting me. And any set of council members that will allow their personal feelings to interfere with the city's business are not fit to serve the public. My prediction is that some of them will find themselves in private life when the next election rolls

The reports of the two probe committees were adopted unanimously and without discussion.

mittee's report is as follows

That the board of firemasters, in 1912 did, as the mayor charged, receive bid: on an automobile fire apparatus when pay for the same, and did accept the bid of the American LaFrance company, on the strength of which the company shipper the engine to Atlanta. That the fire department has, as the mayor charged, for several years supplies without requisition on the comptroler, which the charter requirements on this subject. That Chief not obtained rebates on fire hose, but In this confection the committee say they believe he has gotten better hose without rebates than former Chief Joyner got with rebates, and has bought considerably less. M'CLELLAND PROBE REPORT. The report of the committee which probed the McClelland charges is as

That Alderman Maddox did, as Alderman McClelland charged, perform an exvacating subcontract for Chester A. Dady on two sewage disposal plants, and a small excavating subcontract for Nichols Brothers on a sewer. But Maddox was urged by these contractors to submit a bid on the work, before submitting bids he asked the city attorney if he could legally do the work, the city attorney advised him in writing that he could, and he got the subcontracts by submitting the cheapest bid.

That Alderman Ragsdale is a partner of J. W. Lawhon, as Alderman McClelland charged, but the partnership was formed before Ragsdale came to council and is a limited partnership-Ragsdale, in other words, being the silent partner and having no hand in the buying and selling, which is controlled entirely by Lawhon. That Lawhon has sold mules to the city, but got the contracts on competitive bids under United States government specifications. That Ragsdale several times requested Lawhon not to sell to the city, on account of him (Ragsdale) being in council, to which Lawhon replied that under the terms of the partnership he could sell to whom he pleased. That Ragsdale did not know of the contracts to Lawhon at the time they were awarded and never used his official position to procure them for Lawhon. Incidentally, the committee's report pays Alderman Ragsdale a very high compliment for his integrity and his hard work for the

That Alderman Spratling, as Alderman McClelland charged, did borrow money from gentlemen engaged in the beer business, but borrowed it before he was elected or nominated to council and borrowed it purely on personal grounds, the gentlemen being friends of his for years, and loaning him the money with out the suggestion of a promise or hint that he would favor them, as an alderman, in the matter of applications for saloon permits. That Mayor Winn did not promise Alderman Spratling to make him chairman of the police committee of council (which committee controls beer saloon permits), although upon hearing of the loans Mayor Winn did change his mind and leave the alderman off the committee. That council, In the committee's opinion, cannot take cognizance of the loans because they were personal matters.

THE CALAMITY HOWLERS

President Will Not Allow Tariff to Prostrate an Industry, but He Wants Facts

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 6 .- President Wilson does not propose to sign a tariff bill that will ruin any particular legitimate industry of the United States. and to guard himself against it he is using all the resources of the government available.

One of the striking examples of this is to be found in an executive order. news of which came out today, for the department of commerce to make an exhaustive examination of the pottery industry of the United States.

The potters of Ohio and New Jersey have assailed the pending tariff bill persistently and bitterly. They even go so far as to charge bad faith on the part of Chairman Underwood in not writing the bill as they understood him bill as it was reported to the house will ruin the pottery industry of the country have been presented to members of both houses of congress and to the White House.

In response to it the president issued a direct order to Secretary of Commerce Redfield to make an investigation forthwith to see if the potters are accurate in their claims. The order directs that not only the books of the potters be examined, but that the entire business be investigated. The potters have offered to throw open their books to the government and the president accepted the offer, with the proviso that everything else connected with the bus-

He believes the great business experience of Secretary Redfield will enable that official to tell in a short time whether the pottery interests are to if it will ruin them, then the president will ask that the bill be amended. If congress should decline to amend it the president would not hesitate to veto it, but, of course, that is a contingency too remote to be considered.

Secretary Redfield will work through the bureau of foreign and domestic com-be searching. All the facts, including those which have been in dispute every time the tariff has been revised, are to The sincerity of the potters in their claim that Chairman Underwood has caused them to face ruin will be tested to the fullest possible extent, and the work is to be rushed so that the president may have the result to lay before congress before the tariff bill is passed by both houses.

The order for this investigation caused some surprise among the members of congress when they learned of it today. The point was raised that one set of manufacturers having secured an investigation by executive order, other manufacturers engaged in an entirely differjustice for a similar order. Such a precedent they said might cause embarrassment while the Underwood bill was pending in the senate. But when the matter was brought to the attention of the president he pointed to the platform apon which he was elected, and asked what was wrong with what he was doing, in the light of the document.

The intimation that he would insist upon being sure the new tariff act would not bring ruin to any industry before of the members of congress had had that the president was making an independent investigation in doubtful cases. But when the president was asked about it, he frankly said he was using all the machinery of the government at his disposal to make certain that the platform pledge not to prostrate an industry, was carried out.

PORTUGUESE PRISONERS SENT AWAY FOR TRIAL

200 Political Prisoners Sent to Terceira Island for Trial of Revolt

(By Associated Press.) government has dispatched political prisoners arrested for complicity in the last attempt to overthrow the republic on April 27 to the Azores for trial and punishment.

About 200 of the prisoners were marched at dawn yesterday on board the steamer Cabo Verde, which sailed at once bound for Terceira island, where accused are to be courtmartialed in the fortress of Angra, capital of the island. The Portuguese premier was questionject, and replied that the prisoners had been sent to Angra under the provisions of the law giving the government the right to choose any place for the trial of political prisoners. Families of the accused are terrified by the step taken by the government

THE DAY OF SPECIALISTS

There recently appeared in an Atlanta paper a splendid editorial on the "Powers of Concentration." It told of the wonderful things that can be accomplished by sticking to one thing-to a finish; and you know it to be truethat if you start out to do a thing backed by courage and determination, you'll get it done, and when you get it done you'll be a specialist—at that one thing. We've been sticking to one thing for fifty years; plugging along, studying and learning every point that would add to our efficiency as Opticians. For fifty years we have been examining Eyes and fitting glasses and we are pretty sure we are able to properly handle the most difficult cases requiring the use of glasses. You get the direct benefit of all these years of experience. Come in and talk to us about your eyes.

Today's Beauty Recipes

"To correct faulty complexion, sallowness, pimples or blotches, dissolve an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel, and cover the face, neck and arms with this solution every morning. It takes the place of powder and makes the skin soft, lovely, smooth and satiny.

"Dull, dead and falling hair-the forerunners of baldness-are caused by a parasite. To keep the hair healthy and beautiful you must kill the parasite that destroys the hair. Mother's Shampoo does this. It leaves the scalp fresh, clean and wholesome and makes the hair fluffy and fine. A supply for many months costs only 25 cents at your druggist's.

"Persons troubled with superfluous hair on face or forearms can quickly and safely remove the humiliating growth with delatone. Make a paste by mixing powdered delatone with water; cover the hairs for two or three minutes; then remove, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone. "Spring colds are prevalent. The world never saw the equal of Mother's Salve as a remedy for coughs, colds in the head or chest, catarrh and sore throat. It is easy to use and quick to act. Mother's Salve is sold in prepared form in every neighborhood."-(Advt.)

As to the Merits of Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, in View of Such Evidence

Tecumseh, Okla,-In a letter from this tewn, Mrs. Elisa Epperson, says: "I do believe, that if it hadn't been for Cardui. the woman's tonic, I wouldn't have been living today. I am so glad that I began taking

Cardui, when I did. Before I began using it, I was in bad health and suffered considerable pain in head, shoulders, back, side, limbs and lower part of my body. Cardui helped me more than anything

I ever did take, and I am in better health since taking it, than I have been in four (4) years. I shall never be without Cardul, the woman's tonic, in my home, and will always recommend it to other ladies."

Can you doubt the merit of Cardui after reading the above letter? This is only one of many that we receive each year. Such testimony, from earnest women, surely proves the great value of this tonic medicine, for the ailments peculiar to their sex.

Cardui acts on the weakened womanly organs. It helps to refresh the wornout nerves, and is the ideal medicine for young and old.

As a tonic for women, it has brought remarkable results.

As a remedy for women's ills, its friends say it has no equal.

Three Homers Copped Battle From Atlanta

Bausewein, Musser and Price All Easy, Bausewein's Biggest Weakness Being Inability to Locate Plate

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) MOBILE, Ala., May 6.-The Gulls garnered eleven hits yesterday for a total of twenty-one bases; the Crackers registered eleven bingles for a total of seventeen bases. The Gulls got ten bases on balls, the Crackers one. Atlanta had eight men left on bases, Mobile ten Three sacks were stolen by Gull runners, none by the Crackers. Atlanta used three pitchers, Mobile one. The score was 10 to 6.

So run the figures on the battle, which was a regular rout. It was a case of nobody there in the box for Atlanta. Bauswein, who started the game, was wild as a fiddler, Musser was batted for five scores in three innings and walked four men, and Gilbert Price, alleged star hurler of the Smithies, was buffeted and biffeted from pillar to post, and then

BENDER AND UNPERTURBED. If there is one cool, even tempered citizen under fire connected with the National hip-hip, the name belongs to Chief C. Albert Bender of the Bender possesses the rare temperament necessary to best effort in close quarters where a flutter either way means disaster. The Indian doesn't know what it means to give vent to any duck fits, however ebullient the situation at the time.

IN OTHER LINES.

This temperament is natural. It doesn't apply to baseball alone. A day or two ago we took the Chief over an 18-hole golf battle where he gave an exhibition in more ways than club swinging as to how the Scottish pastime should be played.

To begin with Bender is a firstclass golfer. He has a free, clean swing, framed according to all the laws of form. He uses the orthodox Vardon grip, comes through a smashing wallop and gets a world of distance both with the wood and irons. If he were able to play steadily his game would soon be knocked down to eighty or under, which is fair enough golf for any one to shot.

THE RIGHT TEMPERAMENT.

Above even his ability to swing a club propertly, Bender has the finest golfing temperament we have ever seen. No break of the game ever upsets his phlegmatic nerve. He takes the came as comes without either an alibi or a protest. A bad "lie" brings no complaint-although it may follow a perfect shot down the course. It is this feature which would soon make him a fine golfer even above hi; physical requirements.

On two occasions, not knowing the course, two apparently well played shots found him in two deeply trapped bunkers, but no squawk followed. In each case he played out perfectly, keeping his head down and his mind on the shot impression upon him that if he had thumped one dead against

This feature of Bender's nature has helped make him the wonderful pitcher he has always been. The greater the emergency, the cooler and steadier he seems to be. His arm is now in fine shape again, so Mack has the right man to stick in where trouble threatens in a close game and where a cool nerve is required to meet the situation.

We'd like to see a man of Bender's physical and mental nerve equipment given a good chance at golf, which he esteems even above his own profession. It isn't unlikely that within a year or two he would be rated as one of the crack players of the country-for like Jerry Travers the harder the match and the tighter the situation, the better he would be in

Bender now could give a wonderful lesson in golf to any beginner and to many advanced players. Not so much in the way of grip and swing as in the control of temperament-and the lack of perturbation after a bad shot or a break of bad luck. "It's all in the game," he figures, "whatever happens, why not take it as it comes?" If you can beat that philosophy we'd like to have the answer.

JOURNAL WANT AD HOROSCOPE

Children born today need the most careful guidance, with a strong, firm hand and great pa-

Parents and guardians have great responsibility in training children of this birthdate, as they are inclined to be stubborn and willful and will respond only to love and its dictates.

The tendency to over-eat and self-indulgence in food or excitement should not be allowed.

Boys of this birthdate are energetic, full of vitality and are tager for change.

Girls are highly nervous, very fond of dress and exceedingly susceptible to praise.

Both sexes of this birthday must learn the lesson of self-control, or they will never succeed.

All means of transportation are favored today through the Want Ads. Farms may be sold to good advantage the coming week.

Leghorns

N the Mediterranean varieties of fowls probably there are larger numbers bred embodying the different ramilies of this variety than any others named in the Standard. Eggs being the main source of income from the poultry industry, and naturally attracts the attention of most people in the poultry business than any other one object in view, and all through the history of the hen's life of the Mediterranean varieties they being known as wonderful layers and non-sitters has naturally attracted the attention of an unusual large number of breeders all over the country.

The Mediterranean varieties are bred in many different colors. For instance the Leghorn family is composed of the Blacks, Whites, Browns, Buff, Blue, Dominecks, Silver and Golden Duck Wing, and as these various colors are propogated and grown by certain admirers of certain kinds of colors, naturally it gives any one an opportunity to select a color to stit their desire, and yet have in one good variety the same good qualities embodying these different colors suited to the taste of any one.

Among the ones that are more largely bred than any at present are the Whites. Next to these the Browns, which were at one time more largely bred than any of the other colors. The Buffs comes next, and then the Blacks, Duck Wings and Dominecks. But in all of these varieties there at present has sprung up a strong rivalry forefathers generations ago, many had favorite colored fowls among their flock and you have often heard it said that the old blue hen or the old blue hen and chicks to such an extent that this was often a common word connected with poultry, and for this one cause alone the Blue Leghorns will find their way into popularity. Not this alone because as layers they are making a record. Just what constitutes the make-up of this bird I do not know, but from many reports received recently those who have tried them certainly pronounce them great egg machines, and as in most of the large laying competitions one or more of the varieties of Leghorns they usually stand close up to the front.

They being a small active bird seem to suit surrounding conditions that nearly all parts of the world, and as they can so easily convert most any kind of food into an abundance of eggs the Leghorn family have won their way into popularity and are holding their own with many of their strong rivals. However, there are many other varieties of fowls that are capable of producing just as many eggs and are doing so, heir admirers, but I don't suppose there will ever be a time family of fowls will be settled on as the best or any plar color, but there are so many good ones to select from and kinds of conditions that it is no trouble for a person to satisfy and even though they want eggs or meat they can find just by carefully looking over the different standard varieties. breed none of the Mediterranean varieties are considered the as can be said of the best of dairy cows, but as egg producers the Mediterranean varieties which include many others outside of the different colors of Leghorns are today popular and when eggs alone are sought they are usually tooked upon as favorites by many.

You do not state what age the chickens are that have dysentery,

Chickens that are effected in this way it is usually caused from improper feeding or impure water and chickens should have only scratch feed for the first ten days. Then Lay or Bust can be kept before them at all times dry, but still continue to feed the scratch feed.

When a hen is first removed from the nest a very small amount of too much, as too much grease will snurely kill little chickens and a person must use judgment in greasing them.

If you will give me the age of the chicks and exactly how they are fed I can probably give you more in-

Knowledge acquired after sixteen lacks the element of unselfishness. Such knowledge tends toward self-centering ends. It is a waste to give more to institutions for higher learning, for they have already proved themselves inadequate in developing a conscious citizenship.

The college graduate is not always a desirable attachment to a working community. Expert knowledge we must have; but the expert who has not learned through doing, lacks balance, the soul ballast that streams of sweat and corded muscles give to the man who equalizes life through the development of both the mental and physical self, a life rounded by experience and contact with actualities.

A Friendly Campfire (David Grayson, in the American Magazine.) Did you ever sit by a campfire and watch the flames dance and the sparks fly upward into the cool, dark air? Did you ever see the fitful light among the tree depths, at one moment opening vast shadowy vistas into the forest, at the next dying downward and leaving it all in somber mystery? And what a friendly and companionable thing a campfire is! (By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, May 6 .- Withdrawals by the railroads of commodity freight rates on ground iron ore from Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee points other than Chattanooga to ports on the north Atlantic coast was held by the interstate commerce commission today to be justified, although the action will put the higher class rates into effect.

In the same case the commission held that the proposed advance of about eight per cent in the all-rail and rail and water rates on ground iron ore from Chattanooga to New York and Boston rates will remain in effect.
