At the Request of The Journal He Left Trial of a Case in Marietta and Came to Atlanta Friday Afternoon, Where He Dictated a Statement Without Having Read the Dictographed Interview Which Is Given Elsewhere in This Paper

WELL-KNOWN ATTORNEY GIVES HIS VERSION OF WHAT HE SAID TO SECRETARY G. C. FEBUARY

Col, Felder Declares He Told Febuary and Colyar He Would Introduce Them to Some Gentlemen Who Might Be Interested in Getting Possession o Evidence on the Detective Department-Says He Never Claimed He Had Been Employed by the Colemans

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL has developed the fact that the city dectectives have dictographed a conversation alleged to have taken place between Colonel Thomas B. Felder, the widely known attorney, G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a citizen, alleged to have occurred between them Wednesday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock in Room 31 of Williams House No. 2. That the detectives believed they were setting a trap for the astute attorney is known, but there is also a probability that Colonel Felder on his part was endeavoring to trap the trappers.

After having secured a stenographic report of the dictographed conversation, which has been sworn to by George M. Genery, a nephew of Colonel W. T. Gentry, president of the Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co., the detectives, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, failed to proceed any further. A copy of the stenographer's typewritten record is in their possession, but if they had any intention of bringing charges against Colonel Felder, they seem to have, at least temporarily, abandoned their

JOURNAL PRESENTS COMPLETE RECORD

OF THE DICTOGRAPH CONVERSATION The Journal is today presenting the complete record or the dictographed conversation and leaves the public to decide whether the detectives have trapped the attorney, or the attorney has trapped the trappers. The Journal also presents a copy of the affidavit which was the principal subject under discussion in the dictographed interview. Another affidavit, sworn to by Secretary G. C. Febuary and A. S. Colyar, detailing an alleged interview which occurred in the office of Colonel Felder, in the Equitable building, on last Monday night and relating to the same subject as that under discussion when the dictograph was at work is also given.

Still another affidavit referring to a telephone conversation between Colonel Felder and A. S. Colyar is sworn to by Detective R. S. Ozburn, who overheard same.

COLONEL FELDER DENIES OFFERING $1,000 OR ANY OTHER SUM FOR AFFIDAVIT

Colonel Thomas B. Felder was in Marietta Friday morning engaged in the trial of a case. He was communicated with by The Journal and informed that a story of importance was to be printed in The Journal in which he was interested. Colonel Felder stated that he would come to Atlanta and did so at 1:30 p. m. Colonel Felder said: "On my arrival at The Journal office, Mr. J. R. Gray, editor of

The Journal, informed me that the manuscript forming the basis of the story was in the hands of the printer and it would be impossible to submit it to me at this time, but that the same would be submitted as soon as it came from the machine.

"In the absence of the manuscript, Mr. Gray outlined the sum and substance of the story, adding that The Journal would go to press at 2:30 or 2:45, and suggested that I make any reply that I might desire. My reply to this was first that I could not make answer to it without reading the story, and second that I would not have time between this hour and the hour at which The Journal goes to press to reply fully. As I understand from Mr. Gray there is nothing in the article which involves eitner my personal or professional integrity, unless it should be the particular portion which states that I offered to pay on thousand dollars for the possession of certain documents which were to be taken from the safe of the chief of detectives.

"As to this, I desire to say first, and will establish this by proof, that I declined to pay a thousand dollars or any other sum sum for this evidence but stated to the parties that I would introduce to them a gentleman, namely: Mr. E. O. Miles, who might be interested in securing possession of this evidence. I am informed that Mr. Miles after meeting the parties introduced Mayor Woodward and several other gentlemen who are interested in probing the police department to them. I positively and emphatically declined to accede to the suggestion of these parties to go to East Lake. I stated to them that if they had any business with me that they might come to my office.

WILL MAKE HIS REPLY LATER. "On tomorrow, after I have had an opportunity to read the article I will prepare a full and complete reply thereto and will submit affidavits covering the same. My detailed reply will appear in the Sunday paper. In addition to this I will undertake to show to the people of Atlanta a condition which exists in respect to the so-called 'detective department" that will be appalling to them as it was to me. "In relation to the Coleman affidavit, I only have to say that I have never claimed that this man Coleman or his wife employed me in the Phagan case. But I do say that Mr. Coleman personally approved the employment and assured me that his wife would do likewise.

"As to the story that an alleged conversation with me was dictographed, I wish to say, first, that I don ot believe that these parties employed a dictograph to report my conversation because it is a wellknown fact that the inventor of the dictograph does not permit its use to irresponsible blackmailers and character asassins. Second, if these parties employed a dictograph, they put themselves to unnecessary trouble as I said nothing to them in the several interviews that occurred that I was not willing to put in writing and have published in the press. "In conclusion, permit me to say that in my reply a full and accurate report of what occurred in connection with this transaction will be given to the public, along with some other matters that have not heretofore been presented. "I was strongly tempted a week ago to publish the history of this transaction but I felt that nothing should be done in the premises to prejudice the Phagan case, and when called upon by a reporter of The Journal several days ago to discuss this matter with him, I declined to discuss it and begged him not to publish anything in relation to it

48 I was too busily engaged in chasing elephants to engage at this time in a chase for mice." After reading over his statement Mr. Felder left The Journal office to fill another engagement. He statd that h did not have time to wait for proofs on the dictagraph records and the various affidavits, which had been promised him as soon as the type was in such shape as to permit of it being proved. Colonel Felder, as is well known, has taken an active interest in the efforts being made to solve the Phagan murder mystery. His name first become associated with the case when it was announced that he had been employed by the citizens of Bellwood, friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the step-father and mother of the murdered girl, to help in the search for evidence and to prosecute the murderer if found.

COLONEL FELDER EMPLOYED BURNS' DETECTIVES TO UNRAVEL PHAGAN MURLER MYSTERY Colonel Felder made a visit to New York recently, and upon his return let it be known that he had conferred with the New York agency of William J. Burns, the famous detective, in reference to the Phagan case. A few days later C. W. Tobie, criminal investigator for W. J. Burns, reached Atlanta, and he has been actively engaged in the search for evidence ever since. Through the press Colonel Felder started a subscription to bring Mr. Burns himself to Atlanta. This fund has been largely subscribed to by the public, and Colonel Felder is confident that the great detective will be brought here and use his personal efforts to discover and convict the murderer of Mary Phagan. Colonel Felder is one of the most widely known lawyers in the south. He was chief counsel for Charles W. Morse, the famous panker, and was largely instrumental in securing his pardon before the expiration of his sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary. He has also been retained as counsel in many other cases of nation-wide importance.

HERE IS COLEMAN AFFIDAVIT WHICH OFFICERS SAY COL. FELDER OFFERED TO PURCHASE FOR THE SUM OF $1,000

STATE OF GEORGIA: FULTON COUNTY:

The affiant, J. W. Coleman and wife, citizens of Atlanta, Ga., who reside at 146 Lindsay St.

The affiant is the step-father of Mary Phagan, deceased, the child who was foully murdered by a hellish brute on April 26, 1913. The affiant is in the employ of the City of Atlanta in the Sanitary

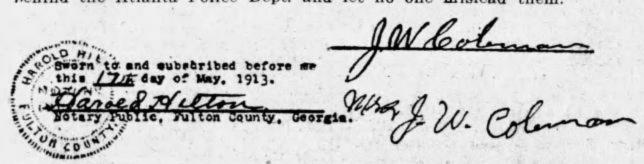

The affiant, while at the Police Station during the Coroner's inquest, the exact day he does not remember, was approached by a man somewhat under the influence of liquor, and said to the affiant, "I am working for the law firm of T. B. Felder, and I would like to have you go to his office, as he wants to see you, and I advise you to employ him." Affiant said, "No, I won't go to his office." The Piker then said, "will you talk to Col. Felder if I bring him here?" whereupon the affiant agreed to see him. He went off and came back in a few minutes with Felder. Col. Felder then said, "I want you to employ me to prosecute this case, it will not cost you a cent, as certain people have promised to pay me my fee, but I have got to have your consent to the employment before I can get into the Coroner's Jury." The affiant told him he did not want to employ him and did not want to have anything to do with him, as the afflant did not know him and had never seen him before that day, and affiant did not employ him, nor did the affiant's wife employ him, and the only information the affiant ever had that he was employed, was what he read in the news-

Affiant has many good neighbors, and he appreciates their sympathy for him and his broken-hearted wife, but he cannot see how they would come to employ Col. Felder without his knowledge and

A man met the affiant on the street and offered him one dollar to go upon the fee of this astute counsel, but he declined to accept it and told the party he had not employed Felder.

Affiant is thoroughly satisfied with the great work done by Chief of Police Beavers, and Chief of Detectives Lanford and the able men working under them, as he believes, as thousands of others do in Atlanta, that they have the real murderer in jail, and the affiant cannot reconcile himself to the conduct of Col. Felder, who is posing as a prosecuting attorney, and wanting five thousand dollars from the people of the City as set out in the afternoon's papers, to bring a noted detective here, and according to the press of the city, large amounts have been subscribed by people the affiant does not believe are anxious to prosecute the men under arrest.

The affiant means no reflection on the press of the City and the citizens of Atlanta who are in favor of justice and fair play. Affiant will ever appreciate the sympathy that has been shown him and his family by these good people, and he asks them if they have any money to spend to punish the murderer of his sweet innocent child, to stand behind the Atlanta Police Dept. and let no one mislead them.

The city detectives have in their possession an affidavit sworn to by G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a private investigator, detailing the alleged conversation which it is claimed took place between Colonel T. B. Felder, Colyar, and Feburary, on Monday night at Colonel Felder's office in the Equitable building.

So much of the affidavit as can be printed in a newspaper like The Journal is given below:

She was murdered thirty minutes after she reached that building, on the second floor, and then the body was lowered to the basement. And I know who wrote those notes that were found by her body, Frank wrote them. and Frank pulled that staple out of the door He was afraid her family would kill him or send him to prison . . . and he murdered her."

> THE ATLANTA JOURNAL has in its possession a sworn copy of an al-I leged dictograph conversation, said to have occurred Wednesday afternoon in Room No. 31, of Williams House No. 2, 34-34 North Forsyth street, between Colonel Thomas B. Felder, well-known Atlanta attorney: G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a citizen.

> In this record of the alleged dictographed conversation Colonel Felder is quoted as offering a large sum of money to Secretary Febuary if he would extract certain affidavits and papers relating to the rhagan murder mystery from the safe of Chief Lanford and turn them over to him. Colonel Felder is also quoted as having promised immunity to Feb-> uary if any attempt was made to prosecute him for extracting the papers, and according to the dictograph record Colonel Felder declared to Febuary that he controlled Mayor Woodward, Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey and the judge of the criminal court.

> It is said that Colonel Felder offered one thousand dollars to Febuary for the papers, and that he agreed to have the delivery of the papers and the payment of the money occur at East Lake, although he preferred that the transfer take place at the Transportation club.

> The alleged conversation, as reported by Stenographer George M. Gentry, nephew of Colonel W. T. Gentry, president of the Southern Bell and Cumberland Telephone companies, who it is said by detectives was stationed in room No. 32 with the earpiece of a dictograph instrument strapped over his head, is given below, as fully as the language can be quoted in this newspaper. Here is the alleged dictograph conversation, written out and sworn to by Stenographer Gentry, who was stationed in room No. 32:

CONVERSATION WITH COLONEL FELDER AS REPORTED BY THE DICTOGRAPH The following conversation occurred at Williams House No. 2 34-36 North Forsyt street, Atlanta, Georgia, Wednesday, May 21, 1913, between Thomas B. Felder, G. C. February and A. S. Colyar:

A. S. Colyar: I have been stopping here off and on for five years. Thomas B. Felder: When I moved here twenty-three years ago, this was the finest hotel in Atlanta.

A. S. Colyar: Well tell me, I thought you told me the other day that you became solicitor general six months after you were twenty-one. And I was reading the statutes and it stated the solicitor general had to be twenty-five years old. Thomas B. Felder: No. The statute has been changed since I was

A. S. Colyar: The statute stated that he must be twenty-five years of age and must be an attorney at the bar of Georgia for three years in good standing, and must take an oath that he will prosecute all without fear or favor. Thomas B. Felder: Yes.

A. S. Colyar: How old are you, Colonel? Thomas B. Felder: I will be forty-nine in October. How old are you? A. S. Colyar: I will be forty-seven next February?

G. C. February: Mr. Colyar looks a good deal older than you. Thomas B. Felder: Well! I have an appointment with another gen tleman at 3:30. A. S. Colyar: Well. There's the ma you want to talk to.

G. C. Febuary: Now, you know this is pretty ticklish business-A. S. Colyar: I told him last night that they could put him in the penitentiary for stealing these papers-Thomas B.Felder: Penitentiary, hell. They can't put you in the penitentiary as long as Hugh Dorsey is solicitor general. G. C. Febuary: Well. You see, I am the chief's stenographer and I write all these affidavits. Thomas B. Felder: Can this young man be trusted all right?

A. S. Colyar: Absolutely. I would trust him anywhere on earth. Who is this fellow Miles? Thomas B. Felder: Well, you see, Miles is in the bureau of investigation, and he has three or four experts in the way of investigators and things like that.

Now, what I say to you is strictly confidential. Day before yesterday I saw Woodward. A. S. Colyar: You saw Woodward, Monday? Thomas B. Felder: Yes. Woodward savs now it is an right for you to get the papers, and we will pay you for them. PROMISED MAYOR TO GET EVIDENCE AGAINST BEAVERS AND LANFORD Thomas B. Felder: I will tell you what I have been doing for the last month. I have been investigating certain things for this company Mr. Miles works for, and I called on the mayor Monday afetrnoon, with C. C. Jones, and I told the mayor I could get the evidence on these grafting Beavers and Lanford, and the mayor told me to see Mr. Miles. That he had been working on it for a month. To show you how conscientious Mr. Miles is, although he has been in my office nearly every day, he has never mentioned it to me. The mayor also wanted me to prosecute them in the courts, as attorney, and I told him "No. I had my hands full, but I would help get up the evidence." Miles came over yesterday afternoon and I had a conference with him about an hour or two and without calling any names, I told him that I could get the evidence. But I said this young man doesn't want to lose his position. Well. he says, tell him for me that I will give him a position today just as good as the one he has. Mayor Woodward sail to get him the evidence and he would be glad to prosecute this bunch.

A. S. Colyar: Well. I tell you he wouldn't. I tell you that this thing will just put us in the penitentiary. Thomas B. Felder: Well, I assure you that I have never mentioned the names of either one of you. A. S. Colyar: Well, say; Dorsey told Chief Lanford, so I have been informed, that you told Dorsey Sunday night that I was the ---- framer and double-crosser and blackmailer in the state, and you know if you know the law at all, that a blackmailer has to threaten a man with a crime, and you know I have not charged you with any crime. Felder: No, you have been straight with me, and I will put up a thousand dollars to ten cents that I never mentioned your name to Dorsey, but he mentioned your name to me. Colyar: If this is going to get us into trouble, I am not going to have anything to do with it. FELDER ASSERTS HE CAN CONTROL MAYOR. SOLICITOR GENERAL AND JUDGE

Felder: Trouble, hell. Why I can control the judge, the mayor and Hugh Dorsey. Colvar: What judge.

Felder: The judge of the criminal court. And I wouldn't do it in an improper way. Colyar: I wouldn't want you to do that. February: Well, it is just like this. There is only one certain time of day that I can get those papers, and I don't want to carry them around with me. Felder: Well, you understand, I don't want the papers unless they are evidence enough to put Lanford and Beavers out of business. Now, Colyar says you say that you have got the papers that will put him out.

Well, Mr. Febuary, can't you see Miles, who is working on this thing for me, and give him the papers. Colyar: We don't want to deal with Miles. We are dealing with you. Felder: Personally, I know Miles is all right, and you can deliver the evidence to Miles. (On account of street car passing dictograph was indistinct.)

Colyar: What fellows did Woodward want to prosecute? Felder: Lanford and Beavers.

'On account of noise in room distograph was indistinct.) Felder: All that you you have got to do is to go and do it and just tell Miles and he will do just whatever is necessary on that end of the line. Colvar: Yes?

Felder: Now, so far as you and Febuary being prosecuted or indicted or put in jail, that is all bull. Colyar: Yes, I understand.

Felder: Where did you see Lanford?

Colyar: I did not see him. I heard through Febuary that he heard Dorsey make this statement. He thought that you and I were good friends and he would turn you against me. Felder: He told you that Hugh Dorsey told him that I told Hugh Dorsey that you were a crook and a framer and double-crosser? He is a damned liar. When did he tell you that? Febuary: I don't know whether it was the first of this week or the last of last week.

Colyar: You told me Monday that you had taken this down in a statement and had filed it away and that Hugh Dorsey told Chief Lanford that I was the damnedest blackmailer and crook he ever saw and for him not to have anything to do with me. You told me that Lanford dictated that statement and put it away-that Tom Felder told Dorsey that I was a crook and a damned liar and a frame-up and a double-cross. Felder: Don't you understand Lanford? That was a statement of his own imagination in order to get you in that frame of mind towards me. Colyar: I do not know Lanford.

Felder: Let me tell you another thing -Colyar: Lanford knows that you and I have always been good friends. Felder: Hugh Dorsey has got no use whatever for Lanford, and wouldn't talk to him and if I had told him anything about you he wouldn't tell Lanford. I could have said all that to Dorsey and he never would have mentioned it to him.

Colyar: Mr. Febuary will tell you what he has got .o say. Felder: Now, Febuary can get those papers, can't he? February: I can only get them at a certain time of the day, and I don't want to carry them around with me; I want to turn them loose Felder: Now you understand I must see the papers first, in order to do what I told you.

SOUGHT COLEMAN AFFIDAVIT AND ALL OTHER PAPERS IN PHAGAN CASE Febuary: Let me understand you. You want this Coleman affidavit and all other Phagan affidavits that I can get hold of. Felder: Yes. Colyar told me that he was to have the evidence that would get those two chiefs out of commission, the Phagan papers and the Coleman affidavit. Now what have you got?

Febuary: I haven't got these papers. The chief hat these papers in a large envelope. I do not know whether he keeps any graft sheets or not. I never saw one.

Colyar: You will have to examine the papers ofter Mr. Febuary - Tell me this. Wasn't you employed by Coleman brings them up. to work on this case?

Felder: Coleman said this to me: (failed to catch part of conversation) Then I said "Mr. Coleman I was invited by Mr. McCall." I believe that was his name (scraping of feet on floor interfered with dictograph). I said Mr. Coleman, I would like to go in prosecution of this case. He said, I haven't got to employ a lawyer. I said, you misunderstand me, it isn't necessary for you to pay me any money, that has all been arranged. McCall said, now you meet us down there at 4:30, wasn't it Febuary, that the inquest was to be held that afternoon, and I went down and was introduced to Mr. Coleman, but I have forgotten who introduced me to Coleman. Now he said Mr. Felder we would like to have you look after the case, but I haven't money to employ anybody with. Now I said Mr. Coleman, you misapprehend the gentleman, now he is asking you for no money, he is simply asking you for your consent to represent you. Before we could close the deal the coroner's jury broke up and we all separated. Now there wasn't anything said about the regularity of my employment, but it was taken for Colyar: I want to put you in position where you can act, without bringing me into it.

COVINGTON, Ga., May 20, 1913.

Atlanta Journal, Atlanta Ga. Gentlemen: I don't quite understand the change you have made in the Booklovers' Campaign. After buying the first book I thought that was all that was re quired, and now comes this new book and I confess I don't understand the change If I do not buy the new book, but simply rely on the first, have I lost my chances or even part of them? In either contingency does it look quite farr? Yours truly,

Once more we will explain the difference between the Answer Book and the Catalogue and try to show this gentleman from Covington and all other contestants why each of these books are used in the Campaign. The Catalogue is a list of some 4,000 book titles, and has in it the 75 prize titles used in this Campaign. No contestant can make a good showing on correct titles without our official Catalogue, as they must get the titles we use from it. Under the old plan of conducting Booklovers' Campaigns it was necessary to use cost a total of $15.00 to submit ten answers to each picture. As a great many of our readers could not afford to exercise their rights in that way something had to be done in order to give them an equal show with those in the contest who might be able to buy the full set of 750 pictures. So the Answer Book was suggested and orders given to get one that would be convenient and economical to use. It is arranged with a page for each of the 75 pictures, and a page opposite each picture with space for contestants to write their Answers on. By using this Answer Book you will need only one of each picture, yet you will save the right to ten Auswers on each of the 75 titles, just the same as if you had 750 pictures and coupons. Witnesses Summoned and Bills Presented Against Leo M. Frank and the Negro Night Watchman, Newt Lee

WILL RESUME PROBE AT 10 O'CLOCK SATURDAY

Five Witnesses Are Examined at Friday's Session-State Will Concentrate Efforts Against Leo M. Frank

The Fulton county grand jury reached no decision Friday in the investigation of cases against beo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, and Newt Lee, negro night watchman, both of whom were commited to it by the coroner's jury which probed the death on April 26 of Mary

The investigation began at 11 o'clock

Friday morning. After hearing five witnesses the jury adjourned until 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The witnesses who appeared were Dr. I. W. Hurt, county physician, who examined the body of the slain child: Police Sergeant L. S. Dobbs, R. P. Barrett, Detective J. N. Starnes and W. W. Rogers, former county policeman. Should no bills be returned against either or both of the 2 men held whose names were presented to the jury by the state, they will not be released from the Tower, where they have been confined since a few days after the tragedy. It takes a "no bill" from two separate grand juries to automatically secure the release of a suspected person. The next grand jury convenes the first week in

Frank, as predicted by The Journal. It developed that Mrs. Mima Famby the rooming house keeper of 400 Piedr ont avenue, whe was expected to be summoned, would not appear before the grand jury Friday and that in all prob-

Mrs. Famby has given the detectives; a. affidavit in which she swears that Frank telephoned her insistently after 6:30 o'clock on the evening of the tragedy, seeking a room, telling her that he wanted to bring a girl with him to her house. She declares that she declined to let him have the room The importance of this affidavit is minimized by the fact that Frank is alleged to have telephoned in the evening. According to the theory of the detectives Mary Phagan was killed during the afternoon. Mr. Frank has also produced many witnesses to swear that he was at home the day of the tragedy, after 6:)0

Barry is a Democrat and has served for many years in the postal service in the fourth division, part of the time as an inspector and part of the time as superintendent of mails of the Atlanta postoffice. He is strongly indorsed for the position of chief inspector.

The position is one that is controlled by no one senator or representative ber of southern states, and the chief inspector, though his headquarters are in Atlanta, is as much the servant of one state as another. Moreover, it has not been the policy of the postoffice department in the past to consult geography in selecting its postoffice inspectors.

The Clearaway of Junior Suits

Junior Department=-Third Floor

In making these new prices no thought has been taken of the excellent style points, of the real worth of the suits, or of the fact that those who need suits and who see these would gladly pay several dollars more than they are now marked.

But this is a Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. clearaway, and prices have been made accordingly. She who will travel this summer, she who will stay at home-both will want just such suits, and now is the opportunity for both to own them, and to save.

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 23 .- Claude N Bennett, formerly of Georgia, was last night elected president of the Southern Society of Washington, to succeed Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, resigned.

It is denied by members of the society that Mr. Hobson's resignation was the result of friction, though it is undoubtedly true that the Alabama congressman was displeased with the failure of the society to adopt his scheme for "broadening scope" to the work. Mr. Hobson's desire was to make the society non-sectional, and proposed amendment of this sort at a recent meeting. It was defeated.

Claude N. Bennett was formerly correspondent. He served also as private secretary to Senator Hoke Smith when he was secretary of the interior. In recent years he has devoted himself to the lecture platform and research work in Washington.

This monument, the labor of love of Montgomery's historic association, was to have been unveiled last June on Jefferson Davis' birthday, but owing to the fact that the re-union had just been held in Macon and at the formal request of the Montgomery camps of veterans, the unveiling was postponed until the coming re-union, when General Bennett Young, commander in chief of U. When you are in trouble the world generates a lot of curiosity.

Florida's Great Drainage Project.

One of the interesting measures now before the Florida legislature is a drainage bill, calling for a bond issue of six million dollars with which it is purposed to reclaim the famous Everglades. News dispatches indicate that the bill is encountering stout opposition, not, however, because of any question as to the importance of feasibility of the enterprise it self, but because of a doubt in the minds of some of the legislators that the fund proposed is sufficient for the work required. They contend that before the amount of the bond issue is fixed, the special drainage commission now at work on estimates should be heard from. It is predicted that a special session of the General Assembly will be called later in the year to deal with this matter conclusively, and friends of the reclamation project, prominent among whom are Governor Trammell himself, are confident that in one form or another it will be carried to completion.

Georgians have particular cause to be interested in such undertakings; for their State, next to Florida, has a larger area of swantp and overflow land than any other commonwealth on the Atlantic coast. Within the past few years drainage associations have been formed in a number of counties by farmers and business men who realize the vast amount of good that can thus be accomplished. Lands which are useless and which are also a menace to public health can be converted by proper drainage methods into productive acres that are a rich asset not only to their individual owners, but to the community and the State as well.

The fact that Florida is considering a great bond issue to reclaim its swamp land should stimulate the legislature of Georgia to definite and liberal action in this regard. Our problems can be solved far more easily and cheaply than those of our neighbor State. It is essential, however, that the Legislature perfect the drainage law now existing and lend its aid to the separate districts in carrying forward this important work.

No Blue Spectacles For U. S.

The following editorial utterance is interesting within itself and is particularly so because it is that of the ever-conservative Washington Post:

"We have no desire to underrate the influence of Wall Street; it is powerful, it is strong, it is widespread, but it no longer exercises the control of business men of the country as it once did. It no longer dominates the sentiment of the country as it did in days gone by. Year by year it grows fainter in efforts to compel the business men of the North, of the South, of the East or the West to put on blue spectacles when it desires them to feel particularly sad. Wall Street, in the language of its own, is "up against it" in its local gloom and the country is doing business at the same old stand in a grand and glorious way."

There are folk who can never be happy except when they are miserable and there are interests who find it to their special advantage now and then to bestir a spirit of apprehension or alarm, if they can; and this, they always seek to do when any of their particular privileges are about to be shorn away. They have invariably answered a demand for tariff reductions with a cry of "business depression or ruin." They are like the family of peas in Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale, which dec'ded, when they began to grow yellow in their pod, that the whole world was turning yellow, too.

But, as the Post remarks, Wall Street views and wishes no longer dominate the country's business sentiment. When the railroads have more traffic than they handle, when exports are brisk and crops are promising, the country refuses to be dismayed or disturbed by the inspired prophets of gloom.

The Chief Source of Railroad Accidents.

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL.

A bulletin recently issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission on railroad accidents during the months of July, August and September, 1912, is rich in interesting and suggestive figures. It shows, for instance, that sixty-eight per cent of the derailments occurring within that period were due to defective equipment, such as broken rails or faulty wheels.

This is valuable information because it indicates more or less precisely the course that must be taken by the railroads' themselves to prevent so large a number of accidents. The operation of trains, it would seem, is for the most part skilled and careful, Signal systems and safety devices are apparently yielding substantial results. The Commission's report, as published in dispatches, does not set forth the causes, other than defective equipment, to which accidents are accountable but it is evident from the figures given that unsound rails and wheels are the great source of danger.

It is to theinterest of the roads as well as that of the public that the most vigorous measures possible be taken to strengthen these weak points; for, it is calculated that the damage to equipment and roadway during the three months mentioned amounted to three million, three hundred and sixty-six thousand, four hundred and one dollars. That is a staggering price to pay for negligence, if negligence be responsible, or for whatever may have been the cause of this great destruction of property.

The consideration of highest importance, of course, is the tragic loss of life and the immeasurable suffering which these accidents entail. Two hundred and eighty-eight persons were killed and four thousand, five hundred and ninety-eight were injured during July, August and September, 1912, an increase over the corresponding period of the preceding year of eighty-seven in the killed and three hundred and fifteen in the injured. Such losses are beyond compensation or repair; and they are a loss not only to individuals and families but also to the human and economic interests of the country as a whole.

Despite the woeful record of the Commission for the three months reviewed, there are reassuring omens that substantial progress in preventing railway accidents is being made. The loss of property and life is still appalling, but it is appreciably less than it was a decade or two ago. Travel is undoubtedly growing securer. The public is more insistent that its safety be regarded and the government is more watchful of public interests. The railroads themselves are doing more to meet their responsibilities in this regard. While some of them are still backward or unresponsive to the people's demands, the great majority of progressive lines and systems are giving this matter their earnest thought

It is well, therefore, for us to remember that though a vast deal remains to be done in assuring safe travel, much good has already been accomplished; that the efforts of the government in this direction have not been in vain and that honest endeavors on the part of the roads are not without gratifying

The important thing is that these efforts should continue unceasing until the perils that now beset travel are reduced to a minimum; and this is not a hopeless or fanciful task but one that is as practical as it is all important.

Special Bottles Needed For Poisonous Drugs

The case of the wealthy and widely beloved Macon citizen who came to his death as the result of having taken by mistake a tablet of bichloride of mercury has aroused public thought the country over to the need of surer means or devices for identifying poisonous drugs. This is a matter that vitally concerns thousands of households. It should be given the earnest attention of public officials and

The suggestion has been made that bottles of some distinctive color and touch be required for all poisonous substances, so that they could be recognized in the dark as well as the light. A bottle of sharply pointed or roughened surface would probably be valuable in this connection. Certain it is that some definite steps toward preventing such tragic mistakes should be taken at the next session of the General Assembly.

AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW

"Mr. Spiffington has married Lucretia Highway," announced the landlady, "and I can't say much for his taste. I really believe she's the homeliest girl in the neighborhood. She has a muddy complexion and a crooked nose and her hair looks like jute."

"Yet I have no doubt, my dear Mrs. Jiggers," said the star boarder, "that in the eyes of Lorenzo Spiffington she is a gem of the purest ray serene. After all, beauty is perishable freight and has little value. A man marries a beautiful woman merely because she is , beautiful, and the first thing he knows her complexion turns yellow and her nose red, and then he is so disgusted that he begs her to go home to her parents. and give him a chance to forget the melancholy past, tragedy that is being enacted in countless homes even as we go to press.

"Mr. Spiffington's bride has the advantage of knowing that she can't look any worse than she does now, and the chances are that she will improve in appearance. Homely women always have that advantage over beautiful ones. Lucretia is an eminently sensible girl. I have known her ever since she was knee high. Early in life she realized that her face was going to be a serious handicap. She knew that her sunny smiles and winning ways never would capture a bridegroom, so she sat down in her boudoir and figured on the best plan to make herself attractive and fascinating. She concluded, after consulting her parents and a few select friends, including myself, that if she made herself a firstclass cook she would be irresistible, and her reasoning was sound.

"She took up cookery as other girls take up water color painting or music, and studied it diligently. She bought cook books instead of the novels of Bertha M. Clay. She passed her spare hours in the family kitchen instead of swinging on the front gate waiting for some handsome young man to come along. As she grew up her fame began to spread. People who were invited to meals at the Highway home devoted most of their time thereafter to scheming for further invi-

"I have eaten there several times myself, and when I tasted Lucretia's doughnuts, Mrs. Jiggers, I burst into tears. The idea of going back to a boarding house and consuming doughnuts which tasted like handcuffs unmanned me for the time being. Only a few women in this country know how to make doughnuts as they should be made, and Lucretia's name leads all the rest. The doughnut, when properly compounded and cooked, is the noblest work of woman; when it is fashioned after the boarding house blue prints, i is a crime against society. When, I think of the doughnuts Spiffington will be privileged to eat I feel that he is the most fortunate of men.

"Lucretia excels in every branch of cookery as she does in doughnuts. Her pies are poems, Mrs. Jiggers. Everything she dishes up is calculated to make a man There is no greater remedy than this, and it is a forget his troubles and sing a roundelay. Yet yo speak sympathetically of her husband because her complexion isn't the admiration of all beholders. In the shortsighted manner of your sex you speak of her crooked nose, forgetting the pancakes she knows how to prepare. You point the finger of scorn at her hair, overlooking the fact that she knows how to compound the old-fashioned beefsteak pie, such as our sainted mothers used to dish up in their inspired me-

"You speak of her marriage as though she were fortunate in securing a husband, evidently unaware of the fact that most of the unmarried men and widowers in this ward have proposed to her at one time or another. I was disappointed in love in my youth and vowed that I should never marry, but after eating some of Lucretia's pancakes I forgot my vow and proposed to her. I proposed to her three times and was turned down with the regularity of clockwork. When a woman will reject such a suitor as myself it follows that she places a proper valuation upon herself. The grocer on the corner, after eating supper at Highway's house, told Lucretia that he'd be glad to get a divorce from his wife if she'd marry him. Three prominent citizens attempted to abduct her and were foiled.

"The demand for this admirable young woman was far in excess of the supply, yet you speak as though she played in great luck getting a husband. I gave you credit for more intelligence, Mrs. Jiggers."

Where Are the Good Old Terms?

(Kansas City Times.) What has become of the old fashioned parent who referred to the chastisement of his son as "givin' Bill his needin's?" When Little Bill's mother would say, "Never mind, young man, when your pa comes home you will get your needin's," Little Bill knew what that meant. Not perhaps that Little Bill was ready to concede that he really needed to be led into the smokehouse after supper and chastised for some breach of discipline committed just after breakfast, but he knew the meaning of the term. He had been given his "needin's" with sufficient frequency to learn the meaning of the word.

And at shoool when Little Bill was told by a frowning teacher to "remain at recess," the kid was certain to be hailed when he did appear on the playground with, "Hey, Bill Jones, did you get your And there was that other good old word of "come-uppin's." Those who thought that "needin's" was a vulgar term, doing violence to the classic, used the high brow expression of "come-uppin's." "It's about time that boy got his come-uppin's if they expect to keep him out of the penitentiary," the neighbors would say of the proverbial tough kid of the town. It conveyed in a general way the same meaning to Little Bill-to all Little Bills-as "needin's," but specifically it was meant to convey the impression that judgment once for all should be meted out to one whose departure from the straight and narrow way had reached a critical point.

If the mother's frequent administration of "needin's," and the teacher's influence at school had failed to keep Little Bill from "playing hookey," and from violating the curfew ordinance, and from being the welterweight champion of the town kids, then it was high time for father to go into executive session with Little Bill and give him his "come-uppin's"-good and a plenty.

In all the recent discussion of what to do with Little Bill in the Speaking the Public Mind column of the Star, not one mention was made of the two old fashioned terms, "needin's" and "come-uppin's."

The Evolution of Games

In the "Interesting People" department of the June American Magazine appears an article about Stewart Culin, the wonder working ethnologist of the Brooklyn Institute museum, who has gathered together, with insufficient funds, exhibits that are the envy of wealthier nations. Following is an extract from the

"Mr. Culin's most brilliant achievement in science has been the unraveling of the evolution of games. In this work ne has literally studied games of all nations and of all times. Of his many publications on this subject two deserve special mention, because of their importance and lasting scientific value. One is 'Korean Games,' with notes on the games of China and Japan, a publication of the department of archeology and Paleontology of the University of Pennsylvania. This is a beautifully printed and handsomely illustrated volume, many of the illustrations being in color. Culin's second great work is on 'The Games of the North American Indians,' a book of some eight hundred and fifty pages, published by the bureau of American ethnology.

"He knows Uninese psychology and customs so well that when he was a witness in a case involving members of secret societies, it was thought that he must have been a member at some time. Culin was the friend of young Chinese, here as students, who are now leaders in the new republic. Culin's knowledge of their unselfish liberalism made him a prophet of the overthrow of the Chinese empire when the forecast seemed almost absurd."

Went the Russians One Better

(From the Saturday Evening Post.)

The Cramps built a cruiser for the Russian government some years ago, and there were a number of Russian naval officers at the yard during the course of its construction.

After the boat had been accepted the Russians gave a dinner in Washington to celebrate the event and invited the builders and the men who had furnished armor plate, and so on.

When it came time for toasts the Russians proposed the health of the czar, drank it, and crashed their glasses on the floor. This amazed the Americans, who asked why the Russians were breaking the glassware in that fashion.

"Because," it was explained, "that is the custom of our country. Whenever we drink to the czar we break the glasses so they may never be profaned by any less worthy toast." Two days later the steel men gave a return dinner. The time for toasts came and the head steel man gave one to the president of the United States. After the toast had been drunk the head steel man grabbed the tablecloth, yanked it from the table and sent everything on it to the floor. The noise could be heard two blocks away.

"Why do you do that?" asked the astonished Rus-

"Because," said the head steel man, "when we drink the health of the president of the United States we not only break the glasses but everything else on the table!"

One day little Laura came into the kitchen and found her grandmother shelling peas. After watching her a moment Laura said: "Oh, grandma, please let me help you unbutton the beans.'

Small Robert had been given oyster tew for dinner. The oysters were unusually large, and after peering into the bowl for some time he finally swallowed one. Laying down his spoon, he said: "Mamma, I don't like them big hoppy-toads."

Willie, aged five, was one day sent away from the dinner table for misbehavior. He went into the kitchen and the maid said:

"Willie, I'd be ashamed to be sent away from the table, as big a boy as you are."

"Well, that's what a fellow gets for being born in a preacher's family," rejoined the little fellow.

THE INCOME TAX

XVI.-LAWS IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN. With fifty-odd countries already having adopted the income tax as a part of their permanent system of taxation, it is interesting to note that in the past quarter of a century no nation that has adopted such a tax has repealed it. Ten of these countries have national as well as local income tax laws. The average date of the enactment of such laws is 1881, although a large majority of the countries had laws many decades ago. Taking twenty countries for averager it is found that the average rate is about 4 per cent, that one person out of fifty pays the tax, and that, counting the families of these taxpayers, about one person in ten affected by it. When the United States had its Civil war income tax law in force the exemption was placed at $1,000 during the years between 1867 and 1870, and yet only one person out of each 150 had to pay the tax. In looking for guiding lights in governmental matters the eye of the student nearly always turns to Australia and New Zealand, for there one finds much of the world's pioneer progressive legislation. The income tax laws of these countries are no exception. They are characterized by high exemptions, liberal graduations and sharp differentiation between labor-produced and capital-produced incomes. When the English committee was investigating such matters in 1906 it called in T. M. Coghlan, who had helped frame these Antipodean laws. Among other things he did was to furnish an estimate of what the New South Wales land tax and income tax would bring in in the way of revenues. In the London inquiry he testified that he had estimated correctly to within less than 2 per cent. His testimony was to the effect that the laws have worked well in practice, and that practically every contrary prediction has been discounted. For instance, when it was proposed to tax capital-produced income more heavily than labor-produced income, it was widely predicted that the effect would be to drive capital out of the country. He testified that no such effect has been noted. Labor produced, or earned incomes, are there called "personal exertion" incomes. It was feared that there would be a great difficulty in distinguish. ing between capital-produced and labor-produced incomes where a man manages the business in which his capital is invested. They get around this rather neatly, as the way the farmers are assessed will show. The part of the income which arises from the land is considered as the equivalent of the interest on the capital invested in the land, and the remainder of the income is supposed to arise from the "personal exertions" of the farmer. . . .

In Victoria the exemption is $973. For the first $2,433 above that the tax is a little less than 1 1-2 per cent, and this increases with each successive increase of income until it reaches its maximum of about 3 per cent on all incomes above $10,000. Incomes from property are taxed at double rates. . . .

In Austria (coming back to Europe) there is a tax on general earnings, a tax on corporate earnings, and a general income and salary tax. The rates vary, but go as high as 10 per cent. There is a provision which authorizes the government to enter into income tax reciprocity treaties with other counties, so that there shall be no double taxation of incomes between nations. Under this provision Germany and Austria have entered into such a treaty whereby income from land is to be assessed only where the land is situated, and income from personal property only in the land of actual comicile. This is probably the first such treaty in the history of the income tax. Taxable income is declared to be the sum of all revenues in money or "in money's worth" to the indivdual, including the rental value of his house and the provender his family consumes. Gifts and inheritances are not considered as income and reasonable life insurance premiums may be deducted from the gross income. Interest on debts is also deducted. There is an exemption of 200 crowns, and no one with an income of less than 2,000 crowns is nequired to make a report unless asked to do so. "Money's worth" is a good deal of a poser for the man who figures his income. Technically it is held that the value of a dinner given by one official to another is required to be included in income. There is no provision as to secrecy. Tax dodging is punishable by a fine of from two to nine times the tax. The Austrian law is generally pronounced as looking good on paper, but being at least a partial failure in practice. It is estimated that tax dodging is so general that certainly not more than half of the taxable income is reached, and that this may fall even as low as a third. This is attributed to the fact that the sentiment of the people is too overwhelmingly against the tax to permit of its efficient enforcement.

Italy has an income tax law that embodies the features of stoppage at the course and differentiation, but the rates levied are very high, so high, in fact, that the administration of the law has largely broken down in the face of them. The Italian rate is higher than the rates in England and Germany, and yet the yield is only a third as great as that of England and half as great as that of Germany. Of course these two countries are richer than Italy, and land incomes are not taxed in Italy, but even these things do not explain the great disproportion. It is attributed to fraud. Tax doging is almost universal. The people regard the law as the "code of financial torture." One writer says that the Italian taxpayer is the most patient human animal known to fiscal history, yet even he cannot stand the burdens of the income tax. The tax goes even as high as 15 and 20 per cent, and, of course, the people dodge it. The worst dodgers are said to be professional men, and of them it has been said that the diversities and undulations of their consciences attain a degree of refinement of which only the higher talents are capable. Publicity was tried as a cure for dodging, and it failed. It has been said that the only thing that would surprise an Italian would be to find that his neighbor had returned his true income, or had been assessed in any degree comparable thereto. The Italian tax is collected in a most peculiar way. The government does not undertake the collection itself, but for each collection district submits the privilege of collecting the tax to public auction, and the person or firm or company submitting the lowest bid and proving the necessary responsibility is awarded the contract. In the district in which Rome is situated the lowest bid ranges around 1 1-2 per cent of the taxes collected.

. . . Holland has an income tax law for property income and for exertion income. The property tax ranges from 3 to 5 per cent on earnings, while the exertion income tax is somewhat lower, this giving the usual differentiation between the earned and the unearned income. Incomes below $261 are exempted, and the meager income the Dutch average citizen enjoys may be gathered from the statement that only sixteen out of a thousand of the population are income taxpayers. There is also an inheritance tax which contains an interesting sliding scale. Property that descends to children and their children is taxed 1 per cent; property that goes back to parents is taxed 3 per cent; property of couples without children passing from the one to the other is taxed 4 per cent, and this idea is followed on out as the relationship grows more re-

TWO NEWS ITEMS

INDIVIDUAL TRUSTEE DISSIPATES ESTATE

Georgia newspapers the other day gave an account of the dissipation of an estate which left a young lady penniless. The father, who had a comfortable business in a Georgia city, died several years ago, leaving his only child, a daughter, an estate of $35,000. A man, a friend of the family, who was then considered honest and capable, was appointed trustee for the daughter's property. On coming of age she called upon him for an accounting and delivery of her inheritance and HE IMMEDI-ATELY DISAPPEARED. He is still among the "missing," and THE YOUNG LADY'S INHERI-TANCE IS GONE.

TRUST COMPANY OF GA. DOUBLES THIS ESTATE

The other news item, not heretofore published, relates to an Atlanta lady who died, leaving an only child, a son of ten years. SHE HAD WISELY MADE A WILL IN WHICH THE TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA was appointed EXECUTOR and GUARDIAN of the property of her son. From his inheritance, which was officially appraised at $16,500, the boy was supported comfortably and given a college education. When he reached his majority, less than a month ago, the TRUST COMPANY OF GEOR-GIA, his Guardian, turned over to him property appraised at $31,345, thus, with his maintenance, more than doubling the estate.

EXAMINATION

A pair of glasses are more than worthless if the lenses are not absolutely correct. The correct lenses cannot be properly fitted unless a careful examination is made by a competent and skillful operator, aided by the latest scientific eye testing instruments and appliances. Of course the comfort of a pair of glasses depends a great deal on the fit of the frames, the proper adjustment of eye glass mountings to the nose, and upon the size and shape of lenses. But primarily and most important of all is the correct fitting of the lenses. The experience necessary to properly diagnose a difficult case of eye trouble requiring correction by lenses, is not obtained in a day, and the longer these years of experience, the more you can depend upon the results obtained by your Optician. Our fifty years' growth has produced for you the very best optical service obtainable. We offer you the best equipped fitting rooms, the very latest styles of frames and mountings; the newest shapes and tints of lenses, the Kryptok Invisible Bifocals, moderate prices, and we make every possible effort to serve you pleasantly and satisfactorily. Plank had the Detroit Tigers at his mercy yesterday. He let them down with three singles and fanned the whole side in the fourth lining. Cobb was going perfect for the week until the ninth when Baker stabbed a foul and broke the streak. Philadelphia won the game, 7 to 0,

Friday's Game Is Doubtful; Hogg to Work

Probable That Paul Musser or Gilbert Price Will Be Sent to Mound for Crackers it Game Is Played

On account of the rain that is prevailing all over the south and especially in the city, the chances are very poor in favor of there being any game at Ponce de Leon this afternoon. This will be a great disappointment to the whole Atlanta fandom and to the ladies and jobbers of the city. This was to have been a big day at the park and but for the rain, the Crackers would be several points nearer the first place that is now occupied by the Mobile

If the weather is permitting there will be a game and Musser will work for the locals, while Hogg will do the slab work for the visitors. Today is Jobbers' and Ladies' day and the rain will be most likely to break up all arrangements that were planned for a

ENTRY LIST VERY LARGE

Arrangements for the twelfth annual tournament of the Southern Golf asso-! clation, which is to be held June 3-7 in Montgomery, are rapidly being perfected and there is every indication that and there will be something doing every it will be one of the best attended ever minute of the time. held. President H. F. Smith and Secretary J. C. Ryan are working overtime getting out circulars concerning hotel rates and other features. Atlanta will be well represented when the first ball is driven from tee No. 1. There are several local stars who are now going like a house afire, and they stand a good chance of bringing home some of the trophies that have been hung up. The course at East Lake is just getting in good shape for hard play, and with the improvement in the course the players are doing better.

Postpone Big

The big fight that was to have been pulled off at the auditorium-armory on the 9th of June, has been postponed until the 13th. This fight is to be one of the best that has ever been staged in Atlanta

The big bout will be for ten rounds and will be fought between Jim Savage and Jim Flynn. These boys are among the best and should furnish some very clever boxing. Eddie Hanlon and Mike Saul will be on for ten rounds and Spider Britt and Hayes Price complete the bill for ten rounds of good hard fighting.

Tommy Long was certainly the busy bee at the hitting game. The local's best hitter gathered in three bingles in four trips to the pan. Tommy got the first hit in each of the three rounds in which tallies came over.

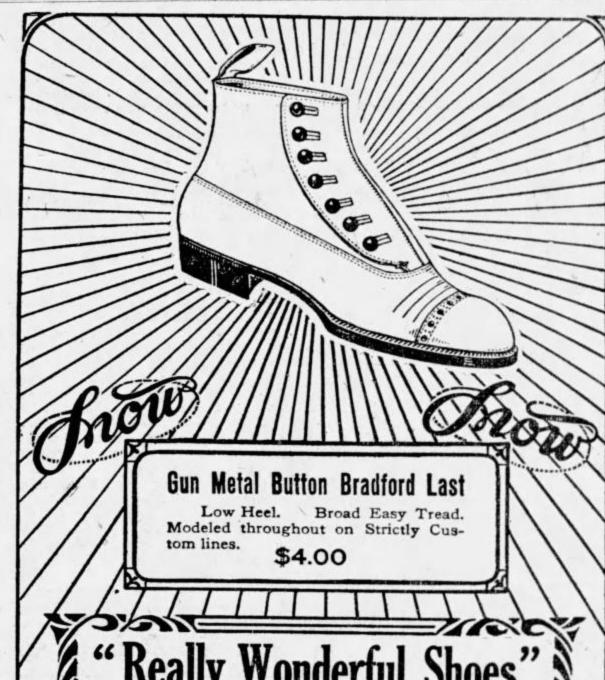

Wallace Smith made one of his very best stops in the third ining when he speared a hot grounder sent towards third by Stock. The ball was traveling at a very fast clip and only quick work enabled the star third sacker to get

Al O'Dell robbed Welchonce of a hit in the fifth when he raced over in front of shortstop and picked up Harry's hard hit grounder with one hand. And at that he had to hurry the throw to first to catch the runner.

Outfielder Robertson, Mike Finn's start right fiielder who is leading the league at the hitting game, looks mighty good at the bat even though he did not get a bingle off Brady. He stands well up to the plate and takes a mighty good swing. In the fourth, however, he appeared to pull a rather bad play, First base was occupied and there fere three balls and no strikes o nthe batter and he hit at the next offering served by Brady. It might not have been had to take at least one.

Brady pitched the game as it should have been worked. He has a good fielding team back of him and he trusted largely to the eight men who are out there helping him. He did not fan or walk a batter but made them all hit.

Fielding Help In Ball Game

Idea That Fielding Does Not Win Games Is All Big Mis-

Newspaper critics often say that fielding averages do not count, and that the best fielders often have the poorest records. According to the way the games are scored in recent years, their opinions appear to be a little off color. Jiggs Donohue, former White Sox, led the American league three years in succession, and was there ever a man who fielded the initial sack as good as Jiggs, in either fact or record? Lajoie and Collins have frequently led the second-sackers in figures-and didn't they deserve it?

Jimmy Collins, Lee Tannehill and Bill Bradley, former Nap, have been percentage leaders at third-were there ever any better ones?

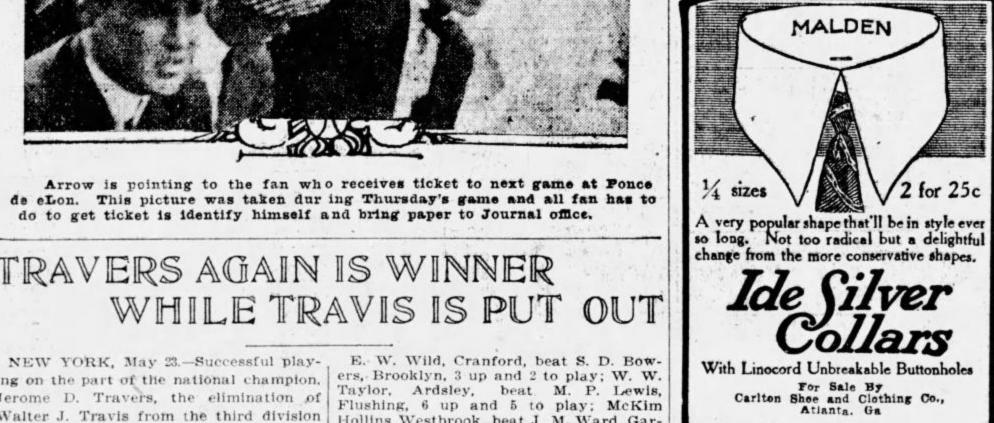

Wallace, Turner and McBride have led the shortstops-and who has any better class? The critics were certainly wrong in the aforesaid state-

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Dairy Industry In Georgia

ODAY I do not suppose there is a better opportunity offered anywhere in the United States for profitable dairying compared to the chance one has anywhere in Georgia, and especially around the large cities. It is surprising to know the amount of milk and Butter that is consumed even in Atlanta alone. There are over 500 licensed dairys doing business in and around Atlanta. There are probably several carloads of milk shipped into Atlanta every day from outside sources, and still it. is almost impossible to furnish enough milk for daily use.

The dairymen who have looked after their trade properly, given their customers clean, wholesome milk and have taken an interest in their business are having no trouble in selling their output at 50 cents per gallon retail to the best class of Atlanta trade. Forty cents is probably the standard price that most milk is sold for, and 25 cents per gallon wholesale is the price received for most milk handled in this way. It can be readily seen that when a man has a herd of cows that have been properly bred and raised that are producing from two to three gallons of milk each per day you can easily figure what an enormous income these cows will bring.

The great drawback that has always come to dairying in this section of country is the high price of feed and the low quality of production from the average dairy cow. As these two things govern prices and of course play an important part in profits, they are the two things that will make for a man, if he can regulate them, a big per cent of profit over those who pay no attention to these details. There is less money in milk today at 50 cents per gallon retail than there was twelve years ago at a price of 25 cents retail. This is brought about by the difference in the cost of feed, the difference in the price of dairy cattle, labor, and also the price of land; all of these having advanced from two to tenfold in the past twelve

After so long a time it is fully demonstrated now that we can grow anywhere in Georgia, not only the best but the cheapest dairy food in the world, namely alfalfa and ensilage corn. When a man has these two artieles if a few pounds of cotton seed meal is added to these at each feed he has the cheapest dairy food that can possibly be made, and if his cows are the right kind he can grow this feed and produce milk easily at 10 cents per gallon. Such being the case you can easily figure what a big per cent of profit there is for the dairyman who can or does produce his own feed. Ensilage is probably the most important one feed that a man can have in keeping a profitable herd of dairy cows. The United States government certainly has done some great work in Georgia in assisting those who so desire to construct cement silos in different parts of the state, and it can be done so cheaply that there is no excuse for a person not having a silo on every dairy farm. For from $150 to $350 Prof. Hart, who is connected with the Georgia State Agricultural college has superintended and had constructed a large number of these sitos which are permanant fixtures on many dairy farms. They are capable of holding from fifty to two hundred tons of ensilage, and by using the proper variety of ensilage corn such as Eureka, Mexican June or any of the heavy fodder corns it is no trouble to produce on good land from fifteen to forty tons of ensilage per acre. With irrigation, which can be constructed for about $150 per acre it is an easy matter to produce thirty-five to forty tons of enstlage per acre and easily two crops per year can be nad off of the same land. For instance, I know of one dairyman who plants very early roasting-ear corn, such as Snowflake or Stovall's evergreen. He usually sells about $200 worth of roasting-ears per acre from these, but of course it is on rich land which the cows have made rich. Then he has the corn. not less than fifteen tons per acre to go in silo. He fertitzes heavily this same ground and plants in July another crop of either Eureka or Mexican June, which produces about twenty-five tons per acre. This enables him to make the cheapest food that can possibly be had and the best, and this green succulent food will keep the cows up to a heavy flow of milk through the entire winter.

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION I have just purchased a vacant of that has a crop of alfalfa on just beginning to bloom. Will you please tell me when the right time is to harvest the crop and how often it should be harvested, also please tell me what to ertilize with and when it should be ione, as I would like to keep it growing, as I believe it to be a very profitable thing?

Will appreciate any information you can give me. W. R. S. Cedartown, Ga.

ANSWER. The proper time to cut alfalfa is when it shows a new growth at the crowns about two or three inches high. When a nice new growth has appeared the top crop is ready to Alfalfa should be harrowed twice a year, once after the second cutting and once after the last cutting. A disk standing harrow with the disk set up almost straight will answer the purpose, or a regular alfalfa harrow such as is made by

The B. F. Avery people is the proper implement for doing this work. It pays to broadcast a coating of Tennessee phosphate rock or well cured acid phosphate, about 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre once a year. This should be done in the fall after the last cutting. After alfalfa is two years old a heavy coating of manure can be broadcast in the fall. You will find it very profitable and nothing you can plant will pay you QUESTION.

Will you please tell me the trouble with my little chickens, and what to do for them. They open their mouths just like they are gaping. Then they will scratch the side of their mouth. They do this way all during the day. They are four to six weeks old. They eat and drink hearty until about a day before they die. They are free from lice and mites. They have free range. I feed on corn meal and wheat bran and little chick feed. I am a reader of The Semi-Weekly Journal. I carefully cut out your directions and save them, but have never seen anything in the paper like my chickens have. I have the Barred Plymouth Rocks. Any information you can give will be appreciated.

MRS. J. M. D.

Just so long as you feed soft feed to little chickens before they are ten days old you will have trouble wth them. Your little chickens have gapeworms. One-half teaspoonful of turpentine mixed with one pint of corn meal dough fed once a day on a plank will relieve them of these worms. They should have all of their feed either on a plank or in troughs. They pick up the gapeworms from the ground and eat them. Lime should be sprinkled around the premises, and use some permanganate of potash in the drinking water, just enough to make the water a medium pink.

HOW'S THIS FOR HIGH?

MR. WILLIAM FEHREN, of Sayler Park, Ohio, had 45 hens during January 1912. He secured 286 eggs. Fed good, sound grain and mash of various makes. In January, 1913, he had 45 hens. Secured 512 eggs. A GAIN of 226 eggs or over 788 per cent increase.

WHAT DID HE FEED IN 1913?

Equal Parts of Scratch Ce-re-a-lia Eggmash

MR. FEHREN keeps approximately 45 hens each year. His record for month of January for six years prior to 1913 is:

1912, 286 eggs: 1911, 290 eggs; 1910, 256 eggs; 1909, 320 eggs; 1908, 300 eggs; 1907, 310 eggs. Note how close they run. Then note the difference when Ce-re-a-lia is used.
