$1,691 IS WANTED TO COMPLETE FUND FOR BIGGER WESLEY

Women Campaigners Have Raised $23,308.05 of $25,000 They Need to Win Asa Candler's Offer of $75,000

FINAL REPORTS WILL BE HEARD SATURDAY EVENING

All Workers and Friends of Hospital Invited to Attend It, in Wesley Memorial Church at 8 O'Clock

With $1,691.95 to raise before 8 o'clock Saturday evening, when they convene at Wesley Memorial church for final reports, the ladies of the campaign for a greater Wesley Memorial hospital dispersed from their headquarters at noon in the Hotel Winecoff with determination to win.

The reports filled at the noon meeting were summarized in the following announcement:

Reported Saturday	$ 2,756.45
Already reported	20,551.60
Total to date	23,308.05
Balance remaining	1,691.95
Original total	$25,000.00

"We must succeed," said Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, dismissing the workers after their meeting in the Winecoff. "We must report the last of that $25,000 at Wesley Memorial church this evening. Then whatever is taken in the hospital collections tomorrow in St. Mark's and the other Methodist churches, and the contributions we have promised for next week, will be so much additional—so much as a margin. We must put $25,000 cash in bank to win Mr. Candler's offer of $75,000."

Mrs. R. K. Rambo, chairman of the woman's auxiliary of the campaign, was equally vehement. So also were other leaders in the campaign. All were determined to show a total of even more than $25,000 at the meeting in Wesley Memorial church Saturday evening.

All workers and all contributors, and all other friends of the hospital, were invited to that meeting by the central committee. No program has been announced, but it is expected there will be two or three speakers. The primary object of the gathering is to receive report of late contributors and wind up the week's work.

Smith & Ewing gave $50 through that committee; Downing & Foster, $100, through the First church committee, and George Muse gave $100 through St. Mark's committee. Young Man Caught After a Chase and Held as Pickpocket

William Watson Nabbed by Cops as He Darts Into Pool Room to Escape Crowd

Following an exciting chase up Peachtree street, William Watson, an alleged pickpocket, was captured in the Kimball pool room Saturday morning by Officers Shurdivant and Chewning. O. S. Taylor, who barely escaped losing his purse while in a Whitehall street store, led the chase after Watson, who is a good looking young white man and who gave his home address as Jacksonville.

According to Taylor's story, he felt a hand in his pocket while he was standing in Kress' viaduct store. He turned quickly and caught the hand, which belonged, he says, to Watson. Watson jerked loose and ran through the crowded store with Taylor close behind. The fugitive crossed the viaduct and ducked into the Kimball house, a number of people having joined in the chase.

The detectives saw the crowd following Watson and nabbed him as he went into the pool room, and took him to police headquarters.

Date of Wilson-McAdoo Nuptials Is the Latest Problem for Society

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, to William Gibbs McAdoo, today relieved the suspense in official and social circles in Washington. Prospects for another White House wedding had been the all-absorbing topic of conversation and formal announcement was awaited with keen interest.

Society has naturally turned to the probable date of the wedding. Washington expects it to occur in June, but this date has not been announced. At least twice in its history have weddings taken place in the White House in the late spring and early summer. Nellie Grant was a May bride there and Frances Folsom became the bride of President Cleveland in early June.

While close friends of the couple had known of the engagement for some time, they waited until today, after the formal announcement, to extend their congratulations.

WHAT IS A SALUBRITY? ASKS J. KENDRICK BANGS

Impossible to Explain It, as Humorist Writer Told Alkahest Members

Are you a salubrity?

Perhaps you don't know what a salubrity is. Neither did a score of members of the Alkahest Lyceum, gathered at the Piedmont hotel for their annual convention Saturday morning now until John Kendrick Bangs arose and told them.

Of course you know who John Kendrick Bangs is. Not for nothing has he been hailed as "The Dean of Style" been drawn from the Carnegie library several thousand times within the year, for Mr. Bangs' volatile humor has won for him a place among writers, lecturers and wits second only to that of the late Mark Twain's.

Well, John Kendrick Bangs is both celebrity and salubrity. It would be impossible to give his own definition of a salubrity in the scintillating words he gave it to the Alkahest people, but it appears to be one whose fame is subordinate to his wide heart, whose greatness is never so overweening as to be termed pride or vanity, who is wholesome and whole-hearted rather than lofty and disdainful.

This is not Mr. Bangs' first visit to Atlanta. He has lectured here several times under the auspices of the Alkahest system. He will be toastmaster at the Alkahest banquet Saturday night at the Capitol City club, leaving here Sunday for St. Augustine and a short vacation.

His kindly humor is as free-flowing as ever and he is sure to make great fun at the banquet Saturday night. Presiding with him as toastmaster will be Ross Crane, the famous cartoonist, while other celebrities and salubrities on the program are Detective William J. Burns, Frank Dixon, the famous minister; Booth Lowrey, the sage from Blue Mountain, Miss; the DeKoven quartet and the Oxford company.

TWO FORMER PRISON GUARDS WILL GO ON TRIAL NEXT TUESDAY

Clyde Thomason and Ed Tyree Must Answer Charges of Brutal Treatment of Prisoners in Fulton County

BOTH WERE INDICTED AFTER RECENT PROBE

Sheriff's Deputies Begin Collecting Twenty Convict Witnesses Who Have Been Sent to Other Camps

A score of Fulton county deputies were despatched throughout the state of Georgia Saturday morning to gather twenty convict witnesses for the trial next Tuesday morning in Judge Benjamin H. Hill's court of Clyde Thomason and Ed Tyree, former Fulton convict guards indicted as the result of the recent investigation by the grand jury.

The date for the trial was set Saturday morning in the solicitor general's office. Following the investigation, the chief convict witnesses were transferred to other camps than those in Fulton county, and nearly every part of the state will have to be visited before the deputies can bring back all twenty witnesses. Both guards were dismissed from the county service.

Thomason, who was guard at the Adamsville camp, is charged with assault with intent to murder J. M. Pirrin, a white convict, on November 19, 1913. Harris is now on the prison farm at Milledgeville.

Ed Tyree is accused of assault and battery against Steve Spratling, colored, at the Wiewoca camp, where Tyree was a guard.

Ware County May Have Probe of Camps Soon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS, March 14.—Two young white prisoners discharged from Ware county convict camp today after serving three months' sentences made startling statements concerning the food supplied them while on the gang and it is possible that their stories will lead to an investigation by the grand jury. Both of these attended the resignation of W. E. Hancock, county superintendent who quit because of alleged friction in the camp. J. C. Wesham has been named to succeed him.

PICKPOCKETS' "MOTHERS" ABOUT TO LOSE "JOBS"

Proposed Law Hits Women Who Plead for Accused "Sons" for Pay

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—If the bill in the New York legislature providing for the reorganization of the criminal courts becomes a law, a number of gray-haired women now earning $25 a week at thespolonte as professional mothers will have to seek other employment.

These women, according to Magistrate Henry W. Herbert, who discussed the proposed legislation yesterday before the Women's Municipal league, are employed by pickpockets to be their "mothers."

Under the present law, the speaker said, a magistrate has no power to deal with professionals, but when a pickpocket takes a woman's purse and is brought into his court the case must be passed along to the special sessions court. This action, Magistrate Herbert explained, resulted in delay during which time a gray-haired woman would visit the home of the complainant and plead for her "son," and, Magistrate Herbert declared, "in a majority of cases the victim agrees not to appear against him."

ATLANTA NEARS FINISH OF HER SHARE FOR THE WESLEY MEMORIAL

Well, it looks like Atlanta is going to finish its part of the Wesley Memorial hospital fund this week.

That's like it ought to be! There's no use dragging along with a thing we should do. "Should do. What's the matter with Atlanta lexicon. The city never yet has shirked a duty. This was one. Atlanta owed to itself the obligation of helping Wesley Memorial to even greater usefulness. That southern Johns Hopkins we've been talking about—that looms ahead now. It will be a credit to the city and to Georgia.

From its beginning until October 31 of last year the hospital collected $167,750 from pay patients. Out of that came the expense of caring for them. Of the net revenue remaining the hospital spent all—every last cent—on charity patients. Charity cost $70,000. Of that $27,000 came from Christmas collections, and $18,000 from the hospital's earnings.

Doesn't that show what work Wesley Memorial has been doing? Doesn't that prove its worth as a foundation for the big, great, broad institution we've got in mind?

Atlanta's part is nearly done, now. More must come in from our citizens, for good measure; but the bulk of the work is finished.

What about you, Georgia? What response are you going to make to that call for as much as Atlanta gave? The majority of Wesley's charity has been done for your people, for folks who came from outside of Atlanta. What will your answer be?

That's the next question. It will be broached Saturday evening at that general meeting in Wesley Memorial church when the final reports of the Atlanta canvass are received.

Asa G. Candler has agreed to give $75,000 spot cash.

It's up to the rest of us to do our share.

COUNTY JOINS THE CITY TO WIDEN BOTTLE NECK

Convicts Start to Work Monday Morning, as Result of Conference Saturday

Fulton county convicts will start Monday morning on the widening of the Peachtree street "bottle neck" between Harris street and Carnegie way, as the result of a conference Saturday morning between the public works committee of the county board and Forrest Adair, Ed W. Alfriend and Councilman George Boynton.

The city and the county will work together, the city's appropriation of $15,000 being used to set back the buildings and the labor and material for widening the street being furnished by the county.

Mr. Adair, Mr. Alfriend and others last Thursday made the necessary arrangements with the city for immediate commencement of work. They went before the public works committee of the county board Saturday morning and obtained the co-operation of the county. This made the whole plan complete and the work will now go forward.

The idea of widening the street before the Shrine convention was conceived by Mr. Adair and other Shriners and they promptly got to work. Both city and county authorities joined heartily in the idea, and the construction departments of city and county will put forth extra effort to get the street in shape for the big Shrine meeting here in May.

On each side of the street the curb will be set back five feet, giving the roadway an additional width of ten feet. This will be paved with asphalt to match the present pavement. The additional width is enough to permit of vehicles passing between the curb and a street car, which is not possible with the present street width.

GIVE ME PRESIDENCY OR DEATH, IS VILLA'S ULTIMATUM TO MEN

Close Friend of Rebel Leader Gives Authority for Statement That Villa Wants to Rule Mexico

(By Associated Press.)

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, March 14.—Villa, the one time bandit, will be the next president of Mexico. That is his ambition and despite all reports to the contrary it will remain his ambition until he either is dead or president."

This declaration was made today by a friend so close to General Villa as to give authority to the assertion. It was prompted by reports that the coming to Chihuahua of General Carranza, recognized as the civil head of the revolution, was to bring about conditions more satisfactory to foreign governments and to place in the seat of authority better advisers than General Villa appears to have in handling complications growing out of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject.

That Villa and Carranza might meet and that they might publicly embrace as an evidence of their perfect harmony was given out as a possibility.

In the absence of any indication that General Villa intended to move southward immediately, this city, the largest in rebel territory, apparently has resigned itself to an indefinite state of revolution.

Outwardly conditions are almost normal. The military band discourses operatic music in the plaza; crowds promenade in the gay lights; a wandering Tarahumare Indian garbed only in a blanket, a pair of boots and a silk hat, joins the parade and an enterprising merchant opens a soda water fountain.

The disappearance of "suspects," the reports of executions and the general knowledge that many people for months have been hiding in the basements of buildings form another aspect of life little mentioned. The "man on the hill," General Villa, who resides on an elevation a few blocks from the United States consulate, is the one man who can pronounce life or death for any of those who stroll in the plaza or hide in the basements.

TERRAZAO IN JAIL

Residing in his own marble home not far from the plaza, but held a prisoner is Luis Terrazas, Jr., son of one of the richest families in Mexico under the Diaz regime. As he paces up and down the tiled floor of his patio, not knowing what moment he may be called to face the firing squad, Terrazas can hear the cathedral bells and at night the military band.

When seen today the prisoner appeared to be utterly hopeless of his release. He has been confined here ever since General Villa's army entered the city last December.

FRANK DEFENSE MAY TRY TO MAKE DORSEY TAKE WITNESS STAND

Attorneys Are Informed the Solicitor Saw Frank on Day of Murder and Thought He Acted Queerly

AT THAT TIME CRIME HAD NOT BECOME KNOWN

Lawyers Will Contend Circumstance Prejudiced His Mind When Murder Came to Light and Frank Was Accused

That Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey on April 26, 1913, saw Leo M. Frank, the man he has prosecuted since that day, on the street and at that time became suspicious of his actions, is information which has been placed in the hands of the attorneys for the defense.

Solicitor Dorsey is at present in Valdosta with his family, but The Journal communicated with him over long distance telephone and he refused either to affirm or to deny the report.

An unusual fact in connection with the new sensation is that Solicitor Dorsey, although he never figured as a witness, claims to have heard the shout that he contended Mrs. Daisy Grace Hird into her frame house. Next to the Frank case the Grace case was the most celebrated prosecution in which Mr. Dorsey has figured as solicitor.

According to the information placed in the hands of the defense, Solicitor Dorsey attended a meeting at the McClure wholesale house on the Saturday Mary Phagan was murdered. The meeting commenced at noon and lasted quite a while.

Mr. Dorsey, who is vice president of the McClure company, left the meeting with C. W. McClure some time after 2 o'clock, and started for a motion picture show.

SAYS HE SAW FRANK

The Frank defense will contend, it is said, that the solicitor general then saw Leo M. Frank on the streets, probably about Hunter and Whitehall Sts., and some action on the part of the man who was later to go under the solicitor's fire, then aroused Mr. Dorsey's suspicions. The solicitor general was suspicious, it is alleged, that he later called Mr. McClure over the telephone to ask him if he, too, did not think Frank acted queerly. This, however, is denied by Mr. McClure.

The latter, who is the head of the McClure estate, was communicated with by a Journal representative. McClure remembers the meeting on April 26 and remembers walking up town to a motion picture show with the solicitor. Mr. McClure states that he is of the opinion that he left the meeting with the solicitor about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but is not certain of the time.

Then, Mr. McClure states, he did not know Leo Frank, even by sight, and does not have any recollection of seeing him. He did see the Montague brothers, directors of the pencil factory, on the walk to the "movie" with the solicitor, he says.

Mr. Dorsey, over long distance telephone, positively refused to discuss the case.

He was asked if he would make an affidavit as to what he saw Frank do on the street if needed by the state in the defense, and to that he replied: "I can't cross bridges until I get to them."

Although Luther Z. Rosser and Reuben R. Arnold, refuse to discuss the matter, it is generally understood that they will attempt to put the solicitor on oath and secure the admission that he saw Frank and that Frank, on the day of the tragedy, aroused his suspicions.

IN KEEPING WITH CHARGE

This would be in keeping with the charge that the defense will make in their coordination motion for a new trial that Mr. Dorsey became convinced of the guilt of the defendant before many of the facts in the case became known, and that he discarded all testimony that did not fit in with his theory of the murder.

The defense is expected to charge that the solicitor's knowledge that Frank was on the street at that time associated for him regarding the testimony of Mrs. J. B. Simmons, of Bimingham, who swears she heard screams at the factory between 2 and 3 o'clock on the day of the tragedy.

DORSEY SAW FRANK ON DAY OF CRIME, AND MAY BE A WITNESS

When informed that the solicitor is said to have seen him on the day of the tragedy, Leo Frank declared that if Mr. Dorsey did see him he could think of no action on his part which could have aroused anybody's suspicion.

"When I was on Whitehall, near Hunter street," Frank says, "I had two things on my mind. One was to walk by Jacobs' Pharmacy and buy some cigars and the other was to get to the factory. I did both things, but do not remember turning suddenly after I had started in one direction or any other action like that which might be construed as suspicious. I might have been jostled in the crowd, however."

At that time Frank says he did not know the solicitor general by sight.

Another of the various affidavits in the hands of the defense, which bear on Jim Conley and his actions about the factory before the date of the tragedy has been made public.

Miss Rubye Snipes, a seventeen-year-old employe of the factory, who resides at the corner of Hemphill avenue and Curran street, is the affiant, and she asserts under oath that Conley, in the dusk of an evening in April, 1911, met her at the point the defense claims he met Mary Phagan, and demanded a quarter.

Miss Snipes asserts that the negro startled her as he stepped from the dark place where he says he waited and watched on April 26, and that pointing to her purse he asked her in a surly manner for money.

She asked why he expected to get a quarter from her, she says, and then she heard a footstep at the top of the stairs and Conley retreated.

Before he left the city Friday Solicitor Dorsey was in conference with Chief Newport Lanford and the various detectives who worked on the Frank case, and with William M. Smith, Jim Conley's attorney.

After the conference, E. A. Stephens, assistant attorney general, was sent out of the city on a mysterious mission.

Although Dorsey and the men under him remain silent, it is known that they are carefully preparing to fight every point the defense will make in its extraordinary motion.

Frank Asks How Lanford Knows When Conley Lies

Leo M. Frank, from his cell in the tower, replied Saturday morning to a published statement attributed to Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford in which the official is quoted as saying that he would not believe any new statement that William J. Burns or anyone else might get out of the negro Jim Conley at this time.

In this connection Frank said:

"When first arrested, Conley delay denied that he could write. Chief Lanford now admits that he lied on this point. On May 18 Conley made an affidavit, which the chief now says is a lie. On May 24 Conley made another statement, which is an admitted lie. On May 28 he made another affidavit which the detectives admit contained many lies. On May 29 he made still another statement, which the detectives admit contains quite a few lies.

"After that, under the tender tutelage of the detectives, Conley evolved another statement which he told on the stand, and is vouched for by the state as the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

"Lanford says he knows this is the truth. Now he is quoted as saying that any new statement the negro may make will be a lie.

It was announced that the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association will establish permanent headquarters in the Hotel Ansley, where suffrage literature will be available.

"After this conference we expect to make great strides in organizing branches of the association in every city in Georgia," said Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president.

CAR COMPANY WANTS TWO MORE FRANCHISES

Plans to Move Express Station to Butler Street and Change East Point Cars

The Georgia Railway and Power company is planning to move its suburban express station from the present depot on Walton to a new building on Butler street between Decatur and Gilmer street to be erected for the purpose.

In consequence of this proposed change the company is applying to the city for a franchise to lay a car track on Butler street from Decatur to Gilmer street in order to reach the new station.

The company is planning to change the routing of the College Park, Hapeville and East Point cars. Instead of running them into the city on Forsyth street as at present, and stopping at Alabama street and reversing them, the company proposes to turn them east on Mitchell, south to Broad, run them north on Broad to Alabama, west on Alabama to Forsyth and then back again south on Forsyth street to their respective destinations.

In order to make this change it will be necessary to lay a track on Alabama street from Broad street to Forsyth street, and the company is applying for this franchise.

The electric railways committee of the general council, to which applications for franchises are referred, took up these two applications Friday and heard from Preston Arkwright, the president of the company.

Some members of the committee wanted the company, in consideration of the franchises, to give free transportation to the meters readers, inspectors, etc., in the city waterworks department, whose work carries them all over the city. To this proposition Mr. Arkwright demurred. He said such a proposition had nothing to do with the granting of a franchise.

The committee, after considerable discussion decided to recommend to council the granting of the franchises, and to take up the free transportation proposition later as a separate matter.

MANY DOGS SAVED FROM BLAZE; WERE HOT ONES

Did Not Bark as Flames Raged in Factory—Were Carried Out in Barrels

The market for hot-dogs in Atlanta very nearly received an addition of several hundred pounds of sausage Saturday morning when fire broke out in a house at 24 Piedmont avenue, just off Decatur street, shortly before 10 o'clock.

The house was a small cottage and was badly burned, but the chief excitement centered in saving No. 20 Piedmont from the flames, where many barrels of pig meat were about to be transferred into hot-dogs in the Empire Sausage factory.

The factory was saved from the flames, and so were the "dogs."

PURSUIT OF FUR SEAL HANDICAPPED BY ICE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 14.—The annual pursuit of the fur seal, which was begun yesterday by twenty-one steamers, carrying 4,300 men, has been handicapped at the outset by the ice conditions, according to wireless advices received last night.

The disadvantage of those afloat has been turned to gain for more fishermen who are venturing out over the inshore ice floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence to kill the seals which are feeding there. One man lost his life yesterday in this perilous work.

STEWART AND BINNS WIN SCHOOL CONTEST

To Represent Boys' High in Inter-Prep Declamatory Contest in April

In a contest held this morning John F. Stewart and Walter P. Binns won the two places as representatives from Boys' High in the inter-prep declamatory contest which will be held about the middle of April.

The Boys' High contest to determine just who should represent them this year was held Saturday morning, and out of eleven candidates for places, Stewart and Binns were the two selected by the faculty as having the best prepared speech.

John Stewart, who is editor of The Journal's school page, speaking on the 'Independence of Cuba," won the first place on the first ballot. Binns, Belingrath and Morton Nichols were all three so nearly equal that it required several ballots by the judges before Binns was finally given the place.

Much interest was manifested by the students in this contest this year, and a good number of students went out this morning to listen to the speeches. Binns selected one of Henry Grady's speeches as his subject, and rendered it in fine style.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Move acids, gases and clogged waste from liver and bowels

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It is not your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels right for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too. (Advt.)

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. Alonzo E. Baker, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

CALOMEL IS A FORM OF DEADLY MERCURY

Instead of Such Dangerous Stuff, It is Recommended That You Take Dodson's Liver Tone for Constipation.

Dodson's Liver Tone was made to take the place of calomel.

Calomel is a form of mercury, a mineral and a poison. Dodson's Liver Tone is an all-vegetable liquid—never harmful.

What calomel does unpleasantly and often with danger for constipation and sluggish liver, Dodson's Liver Tone does for you safely and pleasantly, with no pain and no gripe. It does not interfere in any way with your regular business, habits or diet. You feel good after taking it.

The great success and wide sale of Dodson's Liver Tone are the result of what it does for people. Its merit is backed up by a guarantee of "satisfaction or your money back," as your druggist will tell you.

Dodson's Liver Tone was intended from the start to take the place of calomel. The label on the bottle always has said so, beginning with the first bottle sold.

Dodson's Liver Tone "livens the liver," overcomes constipation agreeably and makes you feel good, and if you are not satisfied completely with it your druggist will hand back the purchase price (50c.) to you with a smile. When you go to buy a family remedy, don't fail to judge between the plain, simple truth about Dodson's and the loud lalms of its imitators. That the public does so accounts for the enormous increase in the sales of Dodson's Liver Tone month after month. (Advt.)

THE JOURNAL'S EDITORIAL GIVEN WIDE INDORSEMENT

Hundreds Commend Editorial "Frank Should Have a New Trial"

Below The Journal prints a few more of the many hundreds of letters received by it, in which the paper and its editor are commended for the editorial, "Frank Should Have a New Trial," published Tuesday, March 10.

These letters come from Dr. A. R. Holderby, pastor of Moore Memorial Presbyterian church; Rev. Fred A. Line, pastor of the First Universalist church; Rev. Clement C. Cary, a retired Methodist minister of Atlanta; George Gordon, Atlanta lawyer; E. D. Goodman, southern agent in Atlanta for the Draper company; W. W. Daniel, cashier Union Central Life Insurance company, Atlanta.

FROM DR. HOLDERBY.

Atlanta, Ga., March 13, 1914.
Hon. J. R. Gray, Editor Atlanta Journal.

My Dear Sir: Permit to congratulate you upon the position your paper has taken in the case of Leo M. Frank.

Your splendid editorial was sane, conservative and convincing and I trust it will be instrumental in securing for this unfortunate young man a fair and dispassionate trial.

You may call to mind that this was my position from the first and for which I was condemned.

I am not affirming, neither do you, that Frank is innocent or guilty, but simply that he has not had a fair and unprejudiced trial.

If Frank is guilty he should suffer the full penalty of the law.

But in the name of God let us give the fellow a fair chance to prove his innocence, if he is innocent, and thus save the state of Georgia from "bloodguiltiness."

I shall have more to say on this subject Sunday from my pulpit.

Cordially yours,
A. R. HOLDERBY.

FROM REV. F. A. LINE.

Atlanta, Ga., March 13, 1914.
Editor Atlanta Journal.

Dear Sir: I desire to concur with others in expressing most hearty commendation of your stand with reference to the Leo M. Frank case, as outlined in your editorial of Tuesday last. Your plea, made not in behalf of individuals but in behalf of principles, deserves the thoughtful consideration of all truth-loving justice - seeking men and women. Your conviction, so forcibly and courageously expressed, that Mr. Frank has not had a fair trial—could not have a fair trial under the conditions prevailing at the time—is the conviction of an ever-increasing number. This fact in itself should be sufficient for the fair-minded people of Atlanta and vicinity.

As suggested in your editorial, with the possibility of judicial murder, staring us as a community in the face, it is well indeed to pause and question ourselves as to what justice and fair dealing require in this case. Irrespective of personal conclusions as to the innocence or guilt of the party in question, we should be constantly reminded of the fact that in this great free democracy every man is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty; and whatever will assist in bringing to light the facts in the case to the satisfaction of all should be welcomed by those who believe in Mr. Frank's innocence and those who believe in his guilt. I am sure that the people as a whole are insistent that the guilty party shall be punished; moreover, that the innocent shall not be offered as a sacrifice for the guilty. They demand, or should demand, exact justice.

It is refreshing and gratifying to find the press of this city in its highest mission in standing for a square deal for every man, espousing the cause of truth and justice, at whatever cost.

I desire to add my word to yours in the plea for a new trial for Leo M. Frank.

Yours truly,
FRED A. LINE,
Pastor First Universalist Church.

FROM REV. C. C. CARY.

March 14, 1914.
James R. Gray, Editor Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: Permit me to unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly approve your recent editorial, calling for a new trial for Leo M. Frank.

You have done right, and it was a brave act on your part thus to take this public position.

Of course you will be criticised by many unreasonable and prejudiced people, but you can afford to stand firm with the inward consciousness of being right.

To hang Frank on the evidence of a self-confessed degraded negro perjurer would be nothing short of a legal calamity.

Yours truly,
CLEMENT C. CARY.

FROM ATTORNEY GEO. GORDON.

March 11, 1914.
Hon. James R. Gray, Editor The Atlanta Journal.

Dear Mr. Gray:

I take this opportunity to express to you my hearty approval and commendation of your timely and courageous editorial of March 10, upon the Frank case. It seems to me to have stated the case exactly as it is and should receive the approval of every fair-minded man. I think, too, that it will maintain its honest conviction of a multitude of your fellow citizens with regard to this case and they owe you a debt of gratitude for the masterly way in which you have spoken from the house top the things which have been told so secretly.

If Frank is guilty a fair and legal trial will develop that fact. If he be not guilty, no one with a particle of manhood in his makeup could desire to have him punished.

I have no connection with this case and write you only as your fellow citizen, interested with you in the reputation of our community, to indorse the stand you have taken in behalf of the fair name of Georgia and in defense of justice.

Yours sincerely,
GEORGE GORDON.

FROM J. D. CLOUDMAN.

Atlanta, Ga., March 12, 1914.
Hon. James R. Gray, Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: As a citizen of Atlanta interested in its welfare, permit me to congratulate you upon the brave and manly attitude of The Journal in reference to the Frank case, as set forth in your editorial Tuesday.

The stand of The Journal should meet with the outspoken approbation of all men who believe in justice and the due and proper administration of the laws.

I am, very truly yours,
J. D. CLOUDMAN,
Southern Agent.

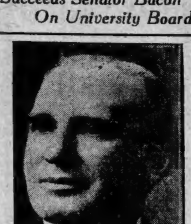

FROM W. W. DANIEL.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11, 1914.
Mr. James R. Gray, Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: Pardon the liberty I take in addressing you, but I want to express to you my approval and thanks for the stand you have taken in the Frank matter. I, too, feel that the man is entitled to a new trial, and I am happy to see your editorial expression.

Very truly yours,
W. W. DANIEL.

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

Theatrical history in Chicago a year ago shows there was but one distinct success, and that an unqualified triumph "A Modern Eve," which was given its initial presentation at the Garrick theater in Chicago last season and will be at the Atlanta Monday and Tuesday with a Tuesday matinee. While "A Modern Eve" was enjoying a prosperity which has broken all records in the Illinois metropolis, "The Only Son," "The Pink Lady," Miss Janis in "The Slim Princess," "Louisiana Lou" and the "Quaker Girl" withdrew from Chicago.

The tremendous patronage of the Forsyth theater may anticipate another splendid week's entertainment starting with next Monday matinee. William A. Brady's "Beauty is Only Skin Deep" will headline the bill. This is one of the biggest and most expensive attractions now featured in vaudeville. John Hyams and Leila Mclntyre will be welcome visitor.

There will be matinee and night performance today of the show this week headed by Laddie Cliff, the English boy comedian.

THE SERVANT QUESTION SOLVED

So Far as This Lady is Concerned—She Doesn't Seem to Need One

Pollock, La.—Mrs. T. S. Blair, of this town, has the following to say, which should be of interest to women generally: "For months, my health was very bad, and the medicines I took did not seem to do me any good.

I was very weak and nervous, and some days, I could not be up.

I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, to try, and before I had taken one bottle I was up and doing my work. Before I commenced taking Cardui, I had such spells I was not able to do anything. Now, I have only taken three bottles of Cardui in all, and I feel fine.

A few months ago I weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 155, and I do all my own work, cook, wash and milk —and feel like I did when I was 'sweet sixteen.'

Taking Cardui has cured me."

As a relief from the distressing symptoms of womanly ailments, nothing has been found during the past fifty years that would take the place of Cardui.

Its superiority is still unquestioned as a mild, building tonic for cases of womanly weakness where tired nature needs help. Made from purely vegetable ingredients, Cardui has no bad after effects and can do you nothing but good.

Try Cardui.

NO DECISION GIVEN IN PHONE RATE HEARING

Both Sides Heard in Case of Bell Co.'s Efforts to Increase Rates in Columbus

The Columbus telephone rate hearing, which has been in progress before the state railroad commission since last Wednesday morning, came to an end on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Efforts of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company to increase its rates in Columbus are being resisted by the general council and citizens of that city. It will probably be several weeks before the railroad commission renders its decision in the case.

As yet no formal orders have been received at Fort McPherson as to when the Seventeenth will leave for Laredo, Tex., but these instructions are expected on every mail. Saturday morning. Major George W. Martin, in temporary command of the regiment, had heard nothing from Washington.

Widen the "Bottle Neck" Now.

There could be no better time than now to begin the work of widening what is popularly known as "the bottle neck" of Peachtree street. Property owners are ready to bear much of the expense involved. The city government, realising the need of the improvement, has provided an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars. The roughness of winter is virtually over, so that the construction department can take up the task without delay. And, what is peculiarly important, the Shrine convention, the greatest event of the kind Atlanta has ever known, is barely two months futureward.

The present narrowness of Peachtree between Ellis street and the Forsyth street junction would prove a serious handicap to the Shriners' parades, lessening the pleasure of the occasion to the thousands of visitors and the Atlanta people themselves. An idea of the magnitude of the main parade may be gathered from the fact that it will assemble sixty-one bands, and the night pageant will probably be more than eight miles long. Atlanta is singularly fortunate and honored in having secured this great convention. It should leave nothing undone for the comfort of its guests; it should make the best possible appearance and give its visitors from every part of America the happiest possible impression.

There is really no need, however, of special occasion for the widening of Peachtree street between those points where traffic is daily congested and where conditions are becoming continually more hurtful. This work should have been done years ago; the interests of the entire community demand that it be done without further delay. Large building developments are awaiting its completion. It means a vast deal to business and to the general public. It is to be hoped that Council will adopt the proposed resolution, making the fifteen thousand dollar appropriation in the finance sheet available for immediate use, and that the construction set promptly to work. More than two months, of course, will be required to complete the widening process, but within that time adequate street space for the Shrine parades can be provided.

Senatorial Longevity.

In his appeal for less indulgence in dinner parties and tobacco and more attention to bodily exercise and fresh air, Senator Tillman mentioned the impressive fact that in the last four years he had witnessed the passing of twenty-two of his colleagues, most of whom, he believed, would be still living, had they duly safeguarded their strength. The stress of public life, officially and socially, is often severe, and the more industriously inclined a man is the greater is his need of hygienic care. Over-work together with over-eating and too little out-of-doors is the shortest cut to the hereafter. Senator Tillman's warning is very sound and wholesome philosophy.

Yet, it is a noteworthy circumstance, as the New York Evening Post observes, that twenty-two members of the Senate today have passed their sixty-fifth year; nine are between seventy and eighty, one is eighty-five and twelve are nearly seventy. We are reminded furthermore of a long list of spetuagenarians and octogenarians: "Senator Johnston died at seventy, Senator Bacon a seventy-five, Senators Morgan and Pettus at eighty-three and eighty-six; ex-Senator Berry died at seventy-two, ex-Senator Money at seventy-four and ex-Senator Higgins at seventy-one."

These are doubtless examples of the rewards of temperate living, which merely emphasise Senator Tillman's appeal. As a rule, however, men of the ripest age are among the hardest workers. It may be questioned whether more men rust out than wear out, though a medical journal recently contended that this is true, but it is certain that mental exertion within itself is not a detriment, but rather a help, to bodily well-being. Great statesmen, great thinkers are generally long-lived.

Keeping Southerners in the South.

"Keeping our own people at home is even more important to our progress than attracting settlers from other localities."

This good counsel is from a recent address by President Harrison, of the Southern Railway company, before the Selma, Alabama, chamber of commerce. In emphasis of his statement, Mr. Harrison adduced figures from the federal census of 1910, which showed that at that time 2,571,734 natives of the nine Southeastern States traversed by the Southern railway lines were living in other States, while only 472,412 natives of other States were living in these nine Southern States, "making the net loss of population to the section, through the movement to other States, 2,199,322."

Such a record demands the serious study of all agencies that are devoted to the South's conservation and upbuilding. While new energy and new capital are needed for the development of our latent resources, it is essential first of all that we retain our own people and keep vividly before them the truth that nowhere else will they find the paths to fortune so broad as on their native soil.

Within the last four years there has been a notable increase in the number of people from other parts of the continent who have settled in the South. Railway officials say that hundreds of men and families are continually passing through Atlanta on their way to home sites in south Georgia and neighboring States—people of American birth, of definite prospects and sturdy character who will make good citizens and add much to the section's wealth and development.

This tendency should be given every possible encouragement, but at the same time we should remember, as Mr. Harrison advises, that "we can best assure the preservation of the ideals and traditions of the South and the advancement of its prosperity if, in addition to welcoming the stranger, we keep our own people at home."

The Southerner can ill afford to leave a country to which thousands from other parts of the Union are turning for fresh opportunities. He can ill afford to desert a land that is in the primal stage of its development and that is becoming more and more a center of nationwide interest and faith. Not in agriculture alone, but in industry and commerce and every field of practical endeavor, the South's future looms brighter than that of any other region. As Mr. Harrison expresses it:

"The rapid progress being made by Southern farmers in the adoption of improved farming methods will greatly increase our steadily growing agricultural output. The economic law tending to the location of manufacturing enterprises in proximity to supplies of raw material and power resources, and the advantages of home markets based on a prosperous and increasing agricultural population, will stimulate the development of diversified manufacturing in all the Southern States."

It is assuring to note that Georgia's State Chamber of Commerce is giving particular attention to internal development and is impressing upon our own people the scope and value of their home advantages. It is advertising abroad the State's resources and is thereby attracting new settlers, but it is also fostering a spirit of intense interest and loyalty among Georgians themselves. It is seeking to organize the farmers and business men of every county in the State for practical effort in behalf of the commonwealth's upbuilding. That is the kind of endeavor that counts for progress and workmanly patriotism. A State thus organized need have no fear of losing any appreciable part of its native population.

Editorials in Brief

As for the March hare, he probably is not a hare at all. All that anybody knows about him is that he is very mad. He has been mad, they say, ever since his identity was lost. It is claimed that he was nothing more or less than the March air until an Englishman got hold of him, but it is doubtful if he were quite sane before that event, and he has shown no traces of sanity since. By this time everybody accepts him as the March hare and believes in his madness. Indeed, nothing in the world is so mad as the March hare. He serves as the standard in madness. Nobody knows just what he is going to do, but the March menagerie would be unsatisfactory and incomplete without him.—Indianapolis News.

On Saturday Oscar Straus, who as the bolting Progressive-Republican candidate for governor of New York, in 1912 received 392,183 votes, was cheered to the echo by the members and guests of the Republican club when, arguing for canal tolls fair and alike for all, he told how President Wilson in advocating that policy has risen above the petty claims of partisanship "to the higher plane of national honor." Still separating Progressive from Republican, and both from Democrat, are many things, many divergent views of public policy. If in this matter of canal tolls the best men in the three great parties unite in a spirit almost recalling "the era of good feeling," it is because, when Mr. Wilson says that national honor demands of us the maintenance in good faith of our plighted word, he merely expresses the informed and conscientious public opinion of the country. It is not a party leader that points out the way, but the president and the People.—New York World.

PERSONAL PRIVACY

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Crane.)

The instinct of personal privacy is about the strongest, and the least reckoned with, of all the forces that push us.

When we blame the boy for his wilfulness and complain that he is hard to guide, we do not reflect that it is that same independent spirit that makes the strong man.

The fundamental want in the human breast is to be let alone.

It is only the born parasite that is glad to be bossed and prefers the ease of sycophancy to the joyous dangers of responsibility.

The street people have devised a term for the invader of privacy, and call him Mr. Buttinsky.

The term "butt in" has all the aptness, picturesqueness, and striking poetry of slang.

The unwillingness to be managed explains many things simply which we are inclined to explain complexity or to give up as inexplainable.

Why is the mother-in-law the butt of so many jokes? Because the feeling of personal privacy is almost abnormally acute in the newly wed, and even mother's interference is resented.

Why does co-operative housekeeping fail, and why do all the grand schemes for forming Utopian colonies prove impractical? They shipwreck on the rock of personal privacy.

Now, that's brotherhood, or cheap living, or art, or any political or religious program, a man loves the privilege of minding his own business.

Why do so many fathers and mothers not succeed in holding their children, but clash with them, and at last become permanently alienated? Because they do not respect the child's sense of personal privacy and train him in everything else than the one thing needful—how to be liberty.

What causes half of the divorces? The inextinguishable itch to meddle; ignorance of the art of living together without managing, criticising, and regulating.

Why do people crowd the cities and flee the small towns and the country? Because in the latter they are under eternal espionage, and everybody knows the business of everybody else, while in the cities they can get that personal privacy that is the first thing of the soul.

Why is the custom house examination detestable? Why will a tariff system that involves going through people's baggage always be the most objectionable method of getting money for the state? And why will the income tax cause more trouble and black blood than you can shake a stick at? Because personal privacy is invaded and citizens are wounded in their most sensitive spot.

Even the public sale of alcohol, which it would seem ought to be prohibited, continues because men would rather be poisoned than to have their personal habits regulated.

If the church also would devote more effort to inspiring than to regulating, people it might prosper more.

Of course, in organized society every one cannot do entirely as he pleases, and a certain amount of liberty must be sacrificed to order, but all reformers and lawmakers, and all those who cherish schemes for the betterment of mankind, would do well to remember that the one thing we must plan to preserve and respect, even in the millennium, is the right of personal privacy if we aim to make the greatest possible number of people happy.

Authors and Indigestion

It is always a question whether a literary man should seek to evade indigestion. Did not Mrs. Radcliffe confess that some of the most thrilling episodes in the "Mysteries of Udolpho" come to her in a nightmare consequent upon eating pork chops? May not the "brownies," also, who gave Stevenson the dream inspiration of "Jekyll and Hyde" have been traceable to some similarly injudicious but lucky meal?

Mr. H. G. Wells is another of those who believe that indigestion is an aid to successful authorship. Some years ago, when called upon to answer the question, "What is the first step towards literary production?" Mr. Wells replied: "It is imperative, if you wish to write with any power or freshness at all, that you should utterly ruin your digestion." Victor Hugo appears to have done his best to bring on indigestion. Edmond Lockroy states in his Memoirs that it was Hugo's invariable custom when served with crayfish to devour the head, claws and tail; and to swallow the skin and pips whenever he ate an orange.

The literary man may very well, when he is lying on his back, console himself with literature. But what is the scientific man, with no particular interest in literature, to do? A certain professor of my acquaintance once got through a month of painful convalescence by the aid of another kind of reading. He read through the scores of his favorite composers. He had no ear for the rhythms of music, and he assured me that he heard the music as he read the scores. He said that during that month he really came to understand Beethoven, and that no performance of his work ever satisfied him afterwards.

The haggling effects of lying in bed have been felt by some who were not ill. Scott dictated many of his novels when lying in bed or on a couch, whilst Mark Rutherford, Alexander Pope, James Thomson, Jules Verne, and many others have confessed that ideas flowed more easily when they were tucked between the sheets. "Ean Lynne," "The Road Menders," are examples of telling work undertaken to soothe the weariness of a sick-bed.

The record achieved by two sisters of Brillat-Savarin, each of whom nearly attained a hundred years, bears testimony to the beneficial effects of "padding out" on human plants. These ladies lived at a country house belonging to the author of "La Physiologie du Gout," which he used only in September and October. They remained in bed for ten months of the year, getting up two days before his arrival in order to prepare for him, and living a normal life during his stay. On his departure they would say, "Adieu, Anthelme, a l'annee prochaine, nous allons nous coucher." One of these ladies died at the age of ninety-nine, as she was finishing dinner, her last words being, "Hurry up with the dessert!"

It has not always been laziness that caused famous authors to do their work in bed. Most authors have a peculiar position in which they find inspiration flow more easily. Charles Reade and Wilkie Collins worked best when standing, and Victor Hugo wrote practically the whole of "Les Miserables" standing at a high desk. Walt Whitman's favorite position was lying full length on a pile of lumber, whilst Byron composed many of his best verses on horseback.

Sir Henry Holland, the late Lord Knutsford's father, found that what is not too common—a really pleasant piece of medical advice. He recommended his dyspeptic patients to go out to dinner and eat made dishes. Robert Spencer, one of the recipients of this advice, found it to a considerable extent justified. The effects of agreeable emotions are often surprising," says the valetudinarian philosopher. "I have had many experiences of the fact that dyspepsia, so far from being necessarily exacerbated by dining out, may even be cured, notwithstanding many dietic improprieties, if the social surroundings are such as to yield great pleasure."

"You may beat your dyspepsia by joking at it. I sat down at the club lunch opposite an artist suffering from indigestion, myself being a fellow-sufferer. I prescribed, 'Let's take the absolute worst things!' We ordered roast pork, roly-poly pudding and Scotch ale, laughed all the time at the solemn men who were giving other advice, and—when we met again confessed that our dyspepsia had disappeared in laughter. —London Chronicle.

March 10.—Up and to the eye-chyrurgeon's, and he did examine my eyes for near an hour, bidding me read this and that, which I had no pains in doing, and asking me as to various colours, all of which I knew. To my office, and thence to Freddy Steele the artist's where was a great crowd indulging in the new dances, but I sate in the hall with R. Lent Has Real Value for All of Us

BY WALTER RAUSCHENBUSCH, D. D.

To say "No" is usually harder than to say "Yes." When we say "No" to the request of a friend, we know we are disappointing him. When we say "No" to our own hankerings, we have to breast the current of our desires. If we say "Yes," we can float down the current.

To say "No" may be a real declaration of independence. It informs the world, the flesh and the devil that you "don't have to," and are still master of your soul.

Psychologists call the faculty of saying "No" to your own desires the faculty of inhibition, and they agree that modern life is not training that faculty in most people. Children are allowed to do what they like and to learn only what tickles them. On that plan, of course, the movies and the tango have the right of way and the multiplication tables and the Ten Commandments go into the discard. Then, by and by, we wonder at the strange increase in divorces, dope fiends and white slavery.

Lent appeals to our faculty of inhibition. We are asked to restrict our food and hush down our amusements, and to give time to the serious side of life.

Some people need this more than others. Those whose main business in life is good feeding and amusement may well slow up and return to simpler ways. If they will devote their Lenten meditation to the question who is doing the work that enables them to play, and whether perhaps their excess of play is balanced elsewhere by an excess of toil, it will please the Master whose humility and sufferings they desire to remember in Lent.

Most of us need special times to stop and think, to take stock, to change our ways and to pray. Lent gives us that chance.

It will surely do no man harm to tighten the bridle rein over the neck of his desires for a while and to practice athletic training. It will test to what extent we are slaves of instinct and fashion, or free masters of ourselves.

If, at the same time, a man will take the time and energy set free by Lenten abstinence to give extra service to some brother cause that he believes in, it will speed up the coming of the better day.

FOOD DECEPTIONS

By Frederic J. Haskin

When a man goes out to buy an automobile no crafty dealer can sell him a horse; he cannot even be deceived as to the grade of the car. Did anybody ever hear of an automobile "trust" paying for a seven-passenger limousine and getting a two-passenger roadster? But every day he may be buying strawberry oil that never saw a strawberry. Who could be induced to accept a whisk broom in lieu of an expensive vacuum cleaner? On the other hand, thousands of householders day after day are handing out good money for maple syrup that has no maple syrup in it, for "egg noodles" which are noodles colored by saffron, for grape jelly made from apple peelings, and for a host of other food deceptions.

The federal department of agriculture has been enforcing the pure food and drugs act ever since its passage in 1906. The campaign that Dr. Harvey W. Wiley waged for six years is known to the nation. Dr. Carl Alsberg, his successor as chief of the bureau of chemistry, has carried the good work along. There have been thousands of seizures and prosecutions for flagrant violations of the law, covering every industry that does an interstate business, and almost as many convictions. Most of the states have followed the lead of the federal government. As a rule, the federal and state authorities join forces to drive these people out into the open, and a decided diminution of a nationwide fraud that once ran rampant has been the result. Nevertheless, the traffic is profitable enough to keep an active minority in the field, and the game of hide and seek, with Mr. Average Citizen as "it," still goes on.

In the last few months the department of agriculture has unearthed a number of ingenious deceptions in adulterations and substitutions in foods and drugs. Some have been so clever as to evade prosecution and the best that could be done was the issuance of warnings through the newspapers. A shipment of mint tablets was found to contain talc, the basic element of talcum powder.

* * *

Seizures of tomato catsup composed of putrid tomato pulp have been common of late. The same is true of tomato pastes. Hundreds of samples of catsup were found by the government chemists to be moldy, and full of bacteria, and yeasts. Decomposed tomato conserve was offered to the public under a label claiming that it had been put up in accordance with the pure food law. One shipment proudly proclaimed as a delectable and superior variety was wholly unfit for food. At Savannah and Augusta recently nearly 800 cases of tinned butter, peas and tomato pulp were seized and destroyed as unfit for human food.

Macaroni, eggs, beans, bran and flour deceitfully labeled, or of inferior quality, or downright filthy, have been tossed into the dump heap by the hands of the law. A great deal of the macaroni was manufactured in the eastern states and shipped out under labels so worded as to create the impression that it was of foreign origin. To the popular imagination Italy is the only simon-pure Promised Land for the lover of macaroni, but the pure, highgrade American product is the equal of any that is manufactured in Victor Emmanuel's kingdom.

In regard to eggs, the authorities found that the so-called villainous ones shipped from China were not only of a quality entitling them to admission, but that hundreds of crates and barrels of wholly domestic origin were decomposed and vile. "Evil" or moldy beans have been detected in canned baked beans during the past few months. Frequently the "tomato sauce" which twined so seductively around the beans was tainted in character. The stigma of a doubtful reputation now carries condemnation in the eyes of the discriminating public.

Diluted and infected milk, the death angel of thousands of babies and the herald of epidemics, still flows on. Cupidity or carelessness, and sometimes both, prompt the very profitable watering of it into human bodies. Several interstate shipments of condensed and evaporated milk have been held up and the responsible parties fined. Some of the evaporated milk was offered for sale in the capital of the nation. A portion of butter fat, a very essential element of milk, had been taken from the cans. In other words, it was skimmed and called "blended." A farmer in a certain eastern state, which we may call Delaware, milked his cows with scarlet fever scabs on his hands. The milk was drunk by visitors in a nearby city, one of whom left that morning for another eastern state, where he unsuspectedly gave the disease to many others before he himself was stricken.

A long list of soft and spirituous liquors has been put under the ban. A certain domestic wine was labeled and packed to make the careless buyer think it was champagne. A so-called tonic was found really was beer. Several cases of "scuppernong wine," which the interested parties discreetly failed to claim when the government seized the lot, was shown by chemical analysis to be a mixture of other wines that had been flavored, mixed and sweetened for the purpose of imitating scuppernong wine. Enthusiastic devotees of Tom and Jerry in New York had a hard shock a short time ago when they found that at least some of what they had drunk was wholly innocent of egg, for which coal tar dye had been substituted.

Bottles with the word "Cognac" in big letters and "type" in very small ones, and others on which "Brandy" was writ large, while "compound" immediately following rivaled the shrinking violet in modesty, were recently seized and examined. Pictures of beautiful, juicy grapes were also displayed prominently on the label. A name in a foreign language to imply European importation, completed the deception. The wine turned out to be a combination of neutral spirits and artificial coloring and flavoring, with not even a bowing acquaintance with grapes.

Dilute acetic acid and such material are being put into "pure" apple cider and cider vinegar; strawberry flavor composed largely of water, alcohol, sugar, artificial esters and aniline dyes is not uncommon; vanilla and peach extract, and orange oil, artificial coffee and inferior candy and a host of other articles of food and drink have been revealed as without the pale of honest business.

* * *

The earthquake which overwhelmed the city of Messina jumped the price of lemon oil from 75 cents to $5 a pound simply because the territory so irretrievably desolated could never again supply the country with nearly all of the lemon oil it used. Thus, a good economic reason exists for the enormous increase in price, but the federal authorities discovered that a number of American dealers have been charging as high for the oil residue as they do for the first-class product. So they drew off and prepared lemon oil of the first grade they took the dregs, mixed them with certain inferior ingredients, and sold the mixture under a misleading label at the same high price demanded for the pure article.

But all misbrandings and all harmful adulterations cannot be brought to book under the present law, even by the mighty United States government. The market is carrying today a brand of mace labeled "Bombay and Batavia Mace." Batavia mace is a genuine spice mace, whereas the Bombay variety is merely botanical in character, having practically no flavor or taste. This particular mixture was nearly all Bombay mace, with a modicum of the very necessary Batavia mace. Being properly labeled, within the letter of the law, it escapes prosecution. No patent medicine manufacturer would offer to the public a concoction named, for instance, "Bunkum's Psoriasis Opium Headache Powders," or "Skinum's Gin Dope for Women." But with impunity they flood the market with patent medicines, containing these and other dangerous and poisonous drugs, by the simple expedient of saying somewhere on the label, as a part of a long eulogy of the stuff, that it contains, among other things, this or that poison.

DR. JOHN E. WHITE RETURNS FROM VISIT TO CHICAGO

Dr. John E. White, who has been serving as university preacher at the University of Chicago for two weeks, has returned to the city. On the invitation of the Chicago organization of business men, Dr. White addressed an audience of three thousand in Orchestra hall under the auspices of the Chicago Sunday Evening club. He was brought into close association with the committee of fifteen, through which wonderful civic reforms have been wrought in that city; and also with the woman's suffrage movement, which has accomplished so much in that city.

Sunday night Dr. White will preach to the Second Baptist church on "Christianity, Citizenship in League for a City's Life." His subject Sunday morning will be, "The Cry for Christ."

UNIQUE SERVICES TO BE HELD AT R. R. Y. M. C. A.

The service at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will be quite unique and of unusual interest. The International Preachers' quartet, composed of four preachers located in Atlanta and filling important appointments in Atlanta churches, will sing and have charge of the meeting. These are W. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY DR. MARION McH. HULL.

One of the characteristics of Jesus was His intense sympathy for suffering humanity. "Human interest" is a phrase which we hear very frequently today. Jesus, was human interest personified. An illustration of that is this incident. One day He was preaching in the synagogue and in the midst of His sermon saw a woman sitting in the woman's side of the synagogue, whose face attracted Him. She was evidently a great sufferer as the lines in her face showed; her body was all bent, and the expression of her countenance showed that she had a great longing to be well. And had tried in vain to get what she desired. Another man might have finished his sermon and then spoken to her afterwards or she stopped, called the woman up to Him, and said to her, "Woman, thou are loosed from thine infirmity." And He laid His hand upon her, and immediately she was made straight.

There wasn't any opportunity for Him to continue that sermon; for the testimony which the woman gave at this time, glorifying God, made anything else impossible. If you want to appreciate the intense sympathy that Jesus had for the sufferer, think what this would have meant if this incident occurred in one of our churches or synagogues today?

Not everybody in that synagogue, however, was pleased; for the ruler was moved with indignation. Not because the woman had been healed and the services interrupted so much, as because Jesus had healed her on the Sabbath day. This question of Sabbath observance was one of the things which had come up to rift between Jesus and the rulers of the Jews. There are several occasions recorded in the gospels in which this conflict occurred. If you will study them carefully, you will find that in none of them did Jesus do or say anything that could be interpreted as a disregard of the Sabbath. It was a divine ordinance, and as such He was in full sympathy with it. But in every one of them, He did disregard the method of observing it. In their zeal to be the day holy, they had imposed so many restrictions that it became a burden. These restrictions seem ridiculous to us today, but they were very real to them at that time. They were not God's but man's. Jesus disregarded them, in order to get the people free from the burden which the Pharisees and Scribes had imposed upon them. The leaders of the Jews accused Him, therefore, as blasphemous, because He did not do things exactly as they thought they ought to be done. More than any other one thing probably, this caused their opposition to Him.

The ruler of this synagogue expressed that opposition, not in criticising Jesus, but in speaking a tirade against the crowd in the synagogue. "There are days in which you can be healed," he said, "if you want to be healed, come then; but do not come to be healed on the Sabbath."

His objection was so absurd that the Lord Jesus pointed it out to them in the plainest language. "You hypocrites, every one of you rulers will untie an ox or an ass on the Sabbath and carry it to water, and shall not I loose this daughter of Abraham whom Satan hath bound eighteen years?" The contrast was so marked between an ox and the woman who was a daughter of Abraham, between body thirst and soul thirst, between the suffering of an animal for a few hours and the suffering of a woman for eighteen years, that the argument was unanswerable. Jesus had made the ridiculous the position of the leaders was, and they glorified God, and rejoiced at the glorious things that He was doing through Jesus.

Jesus was not long after that that Jesus was invited to take breakfast with one of the chief Pharisees. It is more than probable that this was used as a trap; for while they were at the meal that Sabbath morning, a man with dropsy came in, which was smart enough to discern their effort to catch Him, and so He turned to them and asked, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day or not?" Well, what do you think they answered? Not a word! They closed their lips tighter. They were not willing to say that it was right, and they would not say that it was wrong. Then Jesus took the man and healed him and let him go, and turning to them, said, "Which of you shall have a son or even an ox fallen into a well, and will not straightway draw him up on the Sabbath day?" His question was unanswerable.

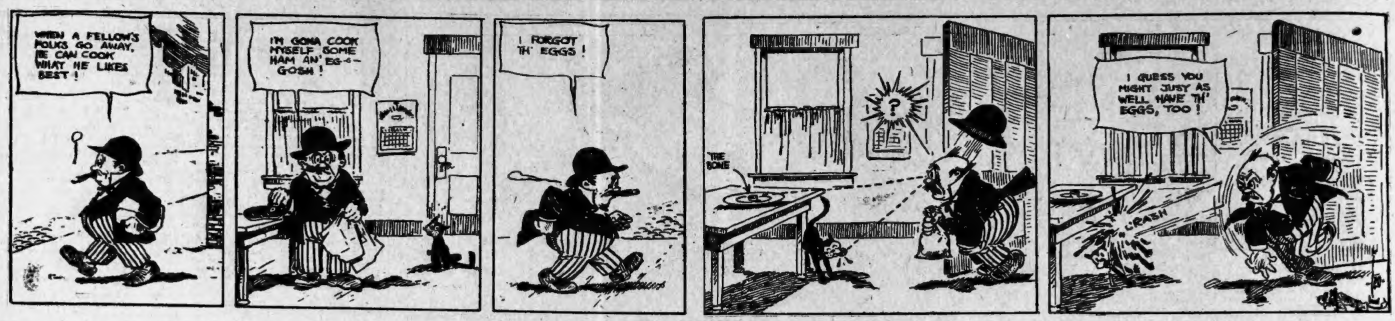

REST FOR REFRESHMENT.

This presents to us the question which is very pertinent in our own day. What is the lawful use of the Sabbath? There are two extremes. In the early days of this country the Puritanical or Pharisaical idea of the Sabbath was in vogue. I have a friend whose father would whip him for going outside of the front gate on Sunday, except to church. In these days we have come to the other end of the world

Crackers Play First Exhibition Game of the Season Today

Crackers Play First Game of Season Today

Manager Smith Lines His Crew Up Against the Baptist Tabernacle Amateurs—Game Begins at 3 o'Clock—Most of the Boys Will Get Into the Game

The first match game of the local baseball season is scheduled to be played at Ponce de Leon this afternoon. The Crackers will meet the snappy amateur aggregation representing the Baptist Tabernacle. Of course, the Crackers are going to win, and it is not likely that it will require any ninth inning "Garrison Finish" to get the decision. The game may not, therefore, be expected to produce any special thrills.

However, the contest will afford the boys their first opportunity to see the 1914 entry in real action. It is probable that Manager Smith will send in Kay Perryman and Dunn as the opening battery, and will later have Lawrence and Munch relieve this pair. Eible, who has just gotten in, will work at second; Schwind at short, with Lynch and Mannsh dividing the time at third. Welchonce, Long and Flanagan will start in the outfield, and Archer and Nixon will relieve two of these at some later stage.

The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock. George Winters has been tagged by Manager Bill Smith as "it" for umpiring the spring games, and will no doubt handle this battle. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

The two squads headed by Captain Harry Welchonce and Al Nixon played a six-inning game Friday afternoon, and again Harry's boys got the decision over Nick's bunch, the score standing 4 to 2. The Nixonites got away to a good start by shoving two runs over in the first frame, but Welchonce's charges came back strong with three in the second, and followed this up with two in the fifth and another in the sixth, while Nick's boys were unable to negotiate the trip after the first inning.

Frank Maush, Nixon and Flanagan were the hitting kids of the battle. Frank whacked out a trio of safeties, while the other two each stung a couple safely. Gil Price and Jack Doscher fed up left-handed shoots to Nixon's gang during the six innings, while Frank Browning and Elmer Lawrence spun them over for Captain Harry's outfit. Twelve safeties were gathered by the Regulars, and five by the Youngsters.

Cubs Must Fill Playing Dates

TAMPA, Fla., March 14.—Henry O'Day, manager of the Chicago National league team, last night received a telegram from officials of the club in Chicago, saying it was not possible to cancel exhibition games scheduled between the Chicago team and other clubs along the route back to Chicago.

O'Day wished to cancel games in Birmingham, Nashville, Chattanooga and Memphis, believing it best for the players to stay in the warmer climate here. The Chicago team will return here following the present series at Jacksonville with the Philadelphia Athletics, according to O'Day's plan.

Cardinals Won From Jacksonville

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 14.—The St. Louis National league team defeated the Jacksonville, South Atlantic league club here yesterday, 9 to 1. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	9	12	3
Jacksonville	1	4	1

Griner, Doak and Wingo; Coles, Pearson and Snyder, Cutso.

Two More Report To Manager Gilks

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 14.—Outfielder Jantzen and Infielder Baker reported to the local club Friday, making a total of eighteen players engaged in training. Manager Gilks announces that he has secured three new players from St. Louis and will bring them to Montgomery next Monday.

Schultz Joins Rochester

MACON, Ga., March 14.—Joe Schultz left the Boston team Friday to join Rochester at Anniston, Ala. Schultz is the property of Boston, but played with Toronto last year. An arrangement was made by Rochester with Stallings for the transfer this year.

THE SPORTLIGHT

BY GRANTLAND RICE

In the midst of these raging Federal league billows and foam capped breakers of organized baseball, it is just as well to remember that our esteemed national pastime is not the only dish on the menu for this spring and summer.

The 1914 international conflict between America and England—as we have remarked before—will be the keenest ever known since Cornwallis and Packenham departed our coasts, leaving their well known shirts behind them.

VANGUARD LEAVES.

The first international gun was fired at tall noon Thursday when Jerry Travers, amateur golf champion, planted hoof up the Baltic for invasion of England. Two weeks after Jerry arrives he will be joined by Francis Ouimet. This will establish a new record as for the first time in 400 years of golfing history one country is sending its open and amateur champion to compete in the open and amateur championship of Great Britain. It never happened before and we doubt if it will ever happen again, insofar as those of us now lingering above the sod are concerned.

TWO WONDERFUL TYPES.

The task which confronts these two young Americans—Travers is twenty-six and Ouimet is twenty-one—stands as one of the toughest assignments of the age. To beard the Lion upon his native cop bunker is no easy day's work. It will be even tougher than usual this season for England has made up her mind to make one last desperate assault upon America's sportive prestige and she will put about everything she has into the charge.

But while the job is a robust one, America is lucky in having these two representatives, as both carry wonderful temperaments for the nerve-wracking work ahead. They both belong to the type that can stand up and deliver under fire.

HOW TRAVERS FEELS.

We had a long talk with Travers before he sailed. He knows just what the odds against him are, but he has batted against tough odds before. "I expect," he said, "to land about the 19th of March, which will give me exactly two months of preparation. I intend to take it easy at the start, gradually working my way into shape. I will probably play around London and Liverpool first and then spend a few days at Sandwich, where the championship will be held. After this I will play other courses, returning to Sandwich about two weeks before the big battle begins.

TOUGH FIGHT AHEAD.

"Ouimet and I have a much tougher battle ahead than most people figure us to have. In the first place, they have a fine lot of golfers there, many of whom are almost unknown. You are likely there to meet a man in your first match that you never heard of, and find him shooting par for the course. As all the matches up to the final are at 18 holes, this doesn't allow for many mistakes, and a man may play good golf and yet be beaten in his first match. If they get the jump on you in an 18-hole match there is no great chance of getting even over the short route. However, I was never in better shape in my life and never felt so like getting back to the game after a good winter's rest. I had the best year last season I have ever known, and I only hope I can keep going.

ABOUT DRIVING.

"I believe," continued Travers, "that I can get going well again with the wood, where I have been unsteady for a year or two. My whole fault there is over swinging, and I will correct this. I have also picked up the putter I want after having the Schenectady barred."

Travers, as he left, couldn't have looked in any better physical trim. He has taken excellent care of himself all the winter, and, with two months' preparation ahead should be at the top of his game by May 18, when the first blow is struck.

TRAVERS AND OUIMET.

There is much preliminary speculation as to which of the two American champions will make the better showing. On form the odds look to be with the Travers, through his greater experience. He has not only won four American amateur championships but he has been in the thick of tournament battle for about ten years. And, in addition to this, he has already played in an English championship.

No gamer golfer than Travers ever swung a club. We doubt if the game in America, or anywhere else, has ever shown a man who combined more grit and headwork—added to natural ability. English experts rank him among the three best match players in the world.

Ouimet's temperament is about as wonderful as that belonging to Travers. He showed at Brookline last fall against Vardon and Ray a nerve and a coolness under fire that could not be excelled. Both Travers and Ouimet are wonder putters—one feature at least in which they excel anything that England or Scotland has to show.

Fred Herreshoff, Heinie Schmidt and one or two others will also enter in behalf of the Stars and Stripes, so America will have a good army in the field. If "Chick" Evans and Warren Wood would only swing into line the occasion would be fairly well replete.

TAKING UP A QUERY.

"Where," queries L. F., "do you stand in regard to the Feds and organized baseball?" Our interest isn't hysterical in either case. Naturally, we'd like to see both succeed for the best interests of the game. But we can't see just where it is up to us to become aligned with either faction. We have no personal interest in the matter except to look on and observe what happens, translating the leading incidents into the public interest. We have thought for some time that a third big league was coming, and now that it's here we believe it will help the game in those cities where there is only one big league club.

Seek to Enjoin Federal Park

CHICAGO, March 14.—A suit to prevent the erection of the Chicago Federal league plant was brought in the Cook county circuit court yesterday by Herman Croon, owner of property near the site of the proposed park. The plaintiff asserted that incorporators of the club had failed to file with the building commissioner the written consent of a majority of property owners on the streets surrounding the park. An injunction restraining the defendants from building grandstands and from advertising their intention to hold public exhibitions of baseball was asked.

Two hundred men have been at work on the park for more than a week, and the concrete foundations of the grandstand and bleachers are about complete.

Meyer Pries to Box Frank Bass

Meyer Pries and Frank Bass will clash in the main bout at the Columbia theater tonight. The boys are scheduled to battle over the ten-round. Bass hails from Memphis, where he has fought some of the best boys of his weight. He is out after a chance at Kid Young and thinks if he wins over Pries he will be in line for a crack at the newsboy champion.

"Spider" Britt, of Atlanta, will make his appearance in the semi-wind-up, taking on Eddie Walsh for six rounds. These boys ought to put up a corking scrap. Young Britt, Spider's brother, will clash with Eddie Rudder in the four-round opener.

Gene Milburn Lost to Brown

Memphis Billiardist in National Amateur Tournament Is Beaten by a Brooklyn Player

NEW YORK, March 14.—With a run of 106, which is the high mark so far in the National Amateur Billiard tournament, Morris D. Brown, of Brooklyn, a former holder of the championship, took the lead from Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn., in the twenty-second inning of yesterday's game and won in the thirty-seventh inning by 400 to 266. The men alternated in the lead, a few points apart, for twenty-one innings, but after his big run Brown kept the lead, playing steadily and after thirty innings had been played he was more than 300 points ahead.

Milburn was not dismayed by the odds against him, for in his three following turns the Memphis man, with clusters of 45, 34 and 21, added 100 caroms to his string. His runs of 45 and 54 were made up mostly of close nursing and fine play, than which nothing better has been shown at the amateur billiard club this week.

In the night game J. Ferdinand Poggenburg defeated Charles Heddon 400 to 217 in 34 innings. The victor led from the start. In his twenty-ninth inning Heddon, however, made a run of 64.

Scores:

Poggenburg, 400; average 13 26-45; high runs 51, 45, 37.

Heddon, 217; average 6 19-33; high runs 64, 28, 24.

Joseph Mayer, of New York, will meet Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn., in the afternoon game tomorrow and at night Edward W. Gardner, of New York, will oppose Dr. Walter Dufflenheimer.

Many Bid for Davis Cup Play

Several Racquet Clubs Want Privilege of Staging Big Tennis Classic

NEW YORK, March 14.—Bidding for the privilege of staging the Davis cup international tennis matches in this country this summer promises to be lively. The recent announcement of the Crescent Athletic club that stands accommodating 15,000, would be erected at Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, in the event of the club securing the attraction, has been followed by an offer from the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills, Long Island, to provide seating facilities for 20,000.

It is known that in addition applications also will be made by the Longwood Cricket club, of Boston; Merion Cricket club, of Philadelphia; Newport casino and Pittsburg for consideration.

It is reasonably certain that the challenge round will be played in New York while the preliminaries, if any are played in this country, probably will be played in other places.

Fullerton Notes

Crawford, by the way, probably will have the distinction of being the first ball player ever offered a contract by wireless.

One almost is inclined to suspect insincerity when a man yells for two months that baseball is a losing proposition, then boasts that he pulled more than a million out in eight years.

We have a horrible suspicion that the opponents of prize fighting hired "Snowy" Baker to come here. When he goes back to Australia no one will be left here to fight.

Those world's touring ball players are learning foreign languages rapidly. Joe Hens got sick riding a camel out to see the pyramids, and Buck Weaver referred to it as "camel de mer."

If John Kling bought Joe Tinker for two bats, a uniform and $8 in cash, and Weegman paid $30,000 for him, calculate whether or not it pays to advertise.

ANECDOTE.

The czar of all the Russias had a groan.

"Tell them," he said to the imperial enunciator, "this criticism of their ruler must stop."

"What have they called you now, sire?"

"Why, they charged that I had as much power as Ban Johnson."

Yale Beat Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., March 14.—Yale defeated Princeton in their annual dual gymnastic meet last night by the score of 30 to 24.

Getting Ready

By Innis Brown

The fact that the infield at Ponce de Leon was still too soft for practice Friday restricted activities on the part of the Crackers with the horse hide to throwing, catching and a bit of easy hitting practice. Manager Bill Smith, however, introduced a new stunt in the nature of work with a brand new medicine ball. All of the boys took a hand in throwing and catching the big spheroid, while some six or seven of the bunch organized a kind of football squad. They bucked the line, ran ends, and even pulled a few sensational (?) forward passes.

With the kindly indulgence of the weather man the Crackers will line up for their first match contest this afternoon. They are scheduled to take a work-out against the Baptist Tabernacle team. Manager Smith will doubtless use about the full complement of athletes on hand in this melee.

It's getting about time for them to read out the batting order in the contest of the Feds vs. the Regs, meaning the petition for an injunction, or some other legal document outlining the struggle which is expected to be staged between the Outlaws and the Inlaws from a baseball point of view. The Federals claim to have contracts signed by Baumgardner and Williams, of the Browns; Killifer, of the Phillies; Kahler and Blanding, of the Naps, and several others, who are reported training with their respective clubs of the organized forces.

Possibly it will be necessary to await the actual beginning of play for the Feds to seek injunctions. However, George Stovall, manager of the May Sox outlaws, and who formerly managed the Browns, is trying out another little stunt with reference to Baumgardner and Williams. Stovie marched right into the Browns' camp in St. Petersburg, and had a chat with the two players. He also announced that they would play with his club or not at all, and that he was ready and willing to fight for them both in and out of the courts. With George's pugnacious temperament, it is not likely that he was invited to begin the "out-of-court" campaign then and there.

While Hughey Jennings' Tigers were having a little diamond argument with the Pels in New Orleans a day or two ago, some one started a confab with the brick-top pilot concerning Big John Cochran, who walloped the symmetry out of several dozen of Spalding's best in the Appalachian league last season. This fan ventured the remark that Cochran was entitled to a fielding job, the statement brought forth this from Hughey: "Well, if he fielded as well as he hits, you don't think he would be down here, do you?" They call the ex-Clemsonite "a second Joe Jackson" in the Crescent City.

Whether it is quantity or quality, we are unable to say, but Branch Rickey, baseball incubator at St. Petersburg, is drawing a deal of attention from Southern league managers. First Carlton Molesworth and Bill Schwartz took a run down to look over Branch's college coterie, and now Bobby Gilks is giving the bunch a close scrutiny. However, in spite of reports to the contrary, Rickey insists that he has not sold either Jenkins or Covington, who were said to have been turned loose to Nashville and Birmingham respectively.

The Washington Nationals gave Henry Collier a cordial reception when he reached the training camp at Charlottesville. Harry Holland having preceded him, has taken the job of acquainting him with things about the burg. Collier unburdened himself of quite a long confab about how the Naps are working out under nice weather conditions at Athens, while the Griffmen have been confined largely to indoor practice.

Big league scribes apparently have trouble in keeping track of the boys who come up to the big top for a short time, and then go back to the alfalfa. A Gotham writer explains at length that Kickapoo Eddie Summers, who twirled last season for Chattanoogs should prove a valuable man for the Brooklyn Federals. This statement is out of line merely in a few minor details. The hurler who worked for the Lookouts was Ruby Somers and Kickapoo Eddie, of stroll fame, has never played in this league.

If local fans have entertained any fears that Wallie Smith may again cavort around the infield for the Crackers, said hopes may as well be packed in moth balls, and laid away with other family relics. Clark Griffith has lashed Wallie on to a utility role, locked the key and tossed the key away. Might as well ask the Old Fox to ship Chick Gandil or Zeb Milon down for a few months this summer.

Otto Jordan has two Indians trying for his Dallas team and both of them are pitchers. It is just as well that we tell them in advance that one of these is an Indian—his name is Lik-owski. It is said to be a Polish Indian, whatever that is. The other bears the moniker of Scott. Otto also has Harry Steen, who once played with Nashville in his line-up.

Prep League Notes

The game that Boys' High won from Mariat college Thursday afternoon, 26 to 19, was a great victory for the Purple and White quintet. They played the best game they have played so far this season and deserved the victory.

Hubert, captain of the Mariat team this season, is to be commended for the way he has kept his team in the race all the season. After the Donald Fraser five had won from Mariat, the Mariat boys were almost ready to quit, and but for Hubert would not have played half as good as they did. Hubert has been the life of the Mariat team for the season of 1914.

The loser of the Donald Fraser-Boys' High game will be tied with Mariat college for second place and it will be a probability never be played off, as basketball has already greatly encroached on baseball time.

When the Boys' High-Donald Fraser game is played, and the winner of the Prep league peanant determined, one of the most sensational and successful seasons that this league has ever known will come to a close.

Baseball is certainly booming at all of the preparatory schools, the various athletes have overcome their first stiffness and are practicing with vim.

Coach White, of Boys' High, has his men out daily and is putting them through hard workouts. Boys High should have a great team this year, as the new material that has turned out for the team is very promising.

"Guy" Lipscomb, who held down the keystone bag last season, is the only infielder that the 1912 champions lost and as Vinson is showing so much promise at this position, Boys' High bids fair to have as good an infield as they had last year.

George Tiller, a young pitcher of the grammar league fame, will enter Boys' High sometime during the next week, and will try for a pitcher's place on the varsity. Tiller is a good pitcher and should make high school a valuable man.

The new sweaters that the B. H. S. have been sporting in the last two games are very pretty, and the men that they adorn earned them in good fashion.

Tech High will have their baseball team in great shape for the opening of the Prep league on April 3. This school has been practicing their team for several weeks now and their athletes are in fine trim for the opening.

A movement is on foot to have a prep tennis tournament this spring, all seven of the Prep teams entering it. This plan should be carried into effect, as some great tennis players are now at the local schools.

Grammar school baseball will start in about two weeks, and the prospects for a great season for this league are very bright. They have already had an organization meeting and elected officers. A schedule will be adopted at the next meeting.

The Formwalt team seems to have a monopoly on the pennant in this league, as they have won it every year since the organization started and their team this year promises to be as good as it was in former years.

Dooin's Daisies Win Slug Fest

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 14.—The Philadelphia Nationals defeated the Jersey City Internationals in the first of the games on the Phillies' training grounds here yesterday, 11 to 10. After exhausting his pitching staff by the ninth-inning rally, which netted the Jerseyites that runs and tied the game, Dooin was compelled to go in himself for the tenth.

The game was witnessed by Governor John K. Tener, president of the National league, President William F. Baker, of the Philadelphia club, and a party of eight other prominent Philadelphians who are here for a few days' sojourn and are being entertained by local civic and commercial bodies.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	11	17	3
Jersey City	10	11	2

Alexander, Marshall, Tincup, Dooin and Killifer and Burns; Thompson, Sheats, Stewart and Johnson.

Pitcher Weaver Seeks Treatment Of Salary Wing

Former Cracker, Now Member of Pels' Hurling Staff, Will Visit Bonesetter Reese in Effort to Get Kinks Out of His Pitching Arm

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—If Bonesetter Reese's wonderful skill of mending lame arms for ball players and the outlay of several hundred dollars is going to continue "Buck" Weaver, Pelican twirler, a Class A man, Johnny Dobbs will have one of the best right-handers in the Southern league this season.

Manager Dobbs has completed arrangements for Weaver's departure to see the famous Youngstown, Ohio, specialist in the hope that "Buck" will deliver the goods once the regular campaign gets under way. Weaver's ailment, according to the Pel mogul, isn't serious, but he doesn't care to take any chances.

It is expected that Weaver will spend a week or ten days with Reese, and if the muscle running from his shoulder to the elbow is put back in its proper place, the pitcher will return immediately to the Pels, and start getting in proper condition for the opening game.

In sending Weaver to Youngstown, Manager Dobbs says he could probably bring Weaver around by keeping him working at the Pelican ball park, but instead of taking a chance, prefers to spend a little money and have Dr. Reese put him in shape. "If Weaver rounds in," said Dobbs, "and I don't think there is a chance he won't, we'll have one of the best pitchers in the league this year. His ailment isn't of a serious nature, but he is too valuable a man to trifle with. We are in hopes 'Buck' will toe the scratch in the opening game at home, which shows what we think of him."

Weaver is believed to be suffering the same trouble as Bert Maxwell during his last year as a member of the Pelicans. Maxwell was treated by Bonesetter Reese and afterward he proved one of the leading pitchers in the International league.

Manager Dobbs is putting a stiff workout under the heels of his Pelicans daily to have everybody ready for the Detroit game Saturday. Dobbs will probably start Gedger, Pedd and possibly Egnew a whirl in the rifle box or try Stivers again. Johnny is anxious to have his club make a good showing against Detroit and will work all of his regulars again giving Barbare the first base job.

The initial sack is by far the weakest position on the infield and Dobbs realizes he must either develop the Carolina recruit or induce Magnate Somers to send Bluhm here from Toledo.

Season Opened In Waycross

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 14.—With the arrival of nearly all of the Georgia State league managers for 1914 the season is formally open for the league now, and before another week passes, one or more games will have been played. Waycross is getting its team together earlier than any other member of the league, so as to play a few exhibition games with the big league teams here this month. However, the Americus and Thomasville managers have gone to work at their respective headquarters and the managers of the other teams are due to arrive before March ends.

Little stock is being taken locally in the scheme to increase the Georgia State league this season from six to eight teams and if the question comes to a vote at a directors' meeting it is believed the proposition will lose out. It is felt that it is too late in the season to admit other cities and make a success of the season. If the prospects pan out as they look now the circuit may be made eight clubs unanimously next fall.

Pittsburg Feerals Land at Lynchburg

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 14.—Twenty-two players of the Pittsburg Federal league team reached here Friday and go into training today. The team is in charge of Manager H. H. Gessler and Business Manager William McCullough. In the squad are Jo Barre he Swigt, Jewish Adams, Eddie Roberts, John Kerr and Howard Camnitz. Manager Gessler expects the squad to number twenty-seven players by tomorrow night.

Pittsburg Pirates Reach Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 14.—Manager Fred Clarke and the entire Pittsburg National league team arrived here Friday, several days earlier than expected, from Dawson Springs, Ky., for spring practice.

World's Champions Play in Great Form and Win Easily. Strunk's Batting Featured

TAMPA, Fla., March 14.—Hitting in world's championship form the Philadelphia Americans defeated the Chicago National league team Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 2.

The hitting of Strunk was a feature. Out of five times up he hit safely four times, one of them a double. With three men on in the ninth inning and no one out "Bullet Joe" Bush tightened up and retired the next three Cub batters in order.

A tremendous crowd greeted the team in the second game and summerlike weather prevailed. The last game of the series will be played here tomorrow.

Ritchie Matched With Jimmy Duffy

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 14.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight boxing champion, and Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, have been matched to box here the second week in May. Ritchie is guaranteed $10,000 with a privilege of 45 per cent of the gross receipts.

STALLINGS' BOYS, PEPPER KIDS OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

MACON, Ga., March 12.—Boston in the pepper-pot team of the National league. The transformation of a hopeless joke into one of the livest, fastest and most dangerous clubs in the country is one of the modern miracles of baseball.

I saw the Braves in their second and third practice sessions of the year and attended school in the lecture room. In twenty years I never have seen so much life, determination and fighting spirit in any team.

There are thirty-seven of them on the grounds, almost everyone young, speedy and ambitious. It is the fastest crowd of youngsters I ever have watched.

This is almost certainly a first division ball club—and if Stallings has luck in developing pitchers and catchers, it may be a serious pennant contender.

George Stallings, twice canned out of the American league, is demonstrating the fact that he is one of the greatest of baseball generals. He is a great leader of men on and off the field—and this year he has a bunch of boys willing to follow where he leads. His problem now is to school them. To this end he paid a fortune for Johnny Evers—to help school and steady his youthful infield, and by so doing he has made the strongest second base-shortstop combination in the country—possibly barring the Barry-Collins duo of the Athletics. Now speed and brilliancy at second base and shortstop is two-thirds of the total defensive strength of any team, and the essential of all championship clubs. With Evers and Maranville working together, Stallings has speed, brilliancy and Evers' experience of twelve years to help the "Rabbit" develop.

Stallings' methods are interesting. I had the pleasure of going through a full day with his team. All players must be down by 8:30 and at breakfast. At 9:30 school starts.

Then the players dressed and walked or trotted a mile to the grounds and worked an hour and a half. Then back to lunch and at 3 o'clock at it again, harder than ever, hustling, trying, watching each other and LEARNING.

You fellows ought to see the Rabbit and the Crab work together. They work as if made for each other. Maranville's style of passing the ball is exactly that of Tinker at his best—just the way that enables Evers to make the pivot throw most rapidly and with least danger of error.

The catching department is not strong. Gowdy and Bert Whaling will be the regulars. Gowdy is a big, husky fellow who has improved greatly. Walter Kenefick is promising. Dick Lewis, an ex-Harvard man, is fine material. But the best new prospect is Fred Tyler, who is a brother of George Tyler, the pitcher.

Stalling knows he must find pitchers and that finding good pitchers is like extracting radium from clay. He has Adolf Luque, the Cuban, and eighteen others.

Tyler, with competent catching, is a great left-hander. Of the new [illegible] fancy Crutcher greatly. He is in good enough condition to tell something of what he can do and he shows a lot. Bill James is the fellow Fielder Jones declared would be a marvel—and Stallings thinks the same. Rudolph is likely to develop into a marvel at any minute.

The infield probably will be Charlie Schmidt, at first—a butcher who can hit .400 against a porterhouse and almost as much against good pitching. Sweeney can play a lot of first base and he will be up there if Schmidt slips. Evers and Maranville will be at second and short. Charlie Deal, ex-Tiger, probably will be at third.

The outfield—Joe Connolly, Tom Griffith and Larry Gilbert—is one fast combination and there is hitting power behind the speed. Leslie Mann is promising.

Pensacola Club To Free Players

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 14.—Holders of the local franchise in the Cotton States league declared today that they were ready to release all players immediately upon the disbanding of the league, which is expected to take place at Meridian next week. The disruption of the league is due, so the local ball men say, to the failure of Pensacola, Selma and Jackson to observe the salary limit. Toward the close of last season some of the clubs paid salaries equal of those paid in the Southern league.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Fabbrelli & Co.: The market for October contracts are worth the money of July and we expect the range to widen out to 500 points, narrow.

Logan & Bryan: Sentiment at the moment is badly mixed.

There is little incentive to promote a sustained rise still the nervousness of the shorts is likely to bring some further advance.

Moyse & Holmes: There may be setbacks from time to time, but market is covered and should work higher.

Butler & Montgomery: The situation seems to favor further advance.

WEEKLY STOCK REVIEW

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 14.—Notwithstanding irregularity in the securities market this week gave no real indication of uncertain or lack of speculative sentiment. Opinion as to the outlook was confident and optimistic and the stock market were limiting chiefly to the day to day dealings and movements of trade and investment situation, the principal facts question. The most encouraging feature was the steady improvement in railroad reports as to the business outlook all serving to offset the effect of unfavorable political settlement of these problems.

The week's trade news showed the condition of what was to be expected in the way of general business, perhaps which was predicted confidently at the beginning of the year. February statistics of returns from the steel and copper industries were unexpectedly good. Quarterly dividend trade for the first half of March, however, indicated that the reduction rate was large. Railroad earnings continued to fall off.

The money market was little changed, although time loans showed a firmer tendency.

STOCK MARKET OPINION

Financial Bureau: Modern conditions in the standard active stocks may be seen in New York Stocks.

Cotton—The market remains in a trading stage.

Grain—Wheat is well taken on declines.

New York Stocks: Most stocks are exceedingly scarce.

Wall Street Journal: Conservative quarters predict that after a rest the upward movement will be resumed.

New York Sun: Speculative sentiment is more broadly disposed.

New York Post: Offerings of time money is somewhat larger but banks have not cut off town.

MONEY AND BONDS.

Commercial paper, quiet; prime single name paper, 4@4½; other names, 4½@5.

Sterling exchange, firm; 60 days 4.84.25; demand 4.86.70.

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Hess-Bowman says: The cotton market is at last in the mood which is commonly known as "the sober second thought. The bulk of the crop having been harvested, the possibilities of bearish manipulation are far smaller than at any time during the season. Besides, manipulations of bullish manipulation are greater, and are being put through aggressively by the fact that the lower grades, being readily saleable, have been liquidated without any pressure, especially in New Orleans, where the difference between grades is the right. It remains to be seen how much of this crop as shown in the statistics is really good for the spinner. This knowledge will be common property within a few weeks, and the time it will also be known whether the American mills are shrinking from the responsibility. Besides, many technical problems must be solved in the near future. For instance, should Wm are short of May in New York, at a discount of sixty points, they will have to bond to liquidate in some fashion, and it will be increasingly difficult to liquidate with the bread crop. In the end, demand must be measured against supply. The crop is the supply and the consumption is a crop of this kind. Linters, bullies and punk have come in the past few years so far that the artillery does not count in the crisis of battle. Many new factors, combined with old factors, affect consumptions to coast. 40 at Brownsville, west southern point of Texas.

Forecast:

West Texas: Tonight fair, warmer in southeast portion; Sunday fair.

Oklahoma: Tonight and Sunday fair.

East Texas: Tonight fair, warmer in south portion; Sunday fair.

Arkansas and Alabama: Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer.

Louisiana: Fair tonight and Sunday.

Tennessee: Fair tonight warmer, extreme west portion; Sunday fair.

Mississippi: Fair tonight and Sunday, rising temperature.

Market was steady at start; trading light. Fair demand for May from spot people and offerings were light. Wall Street brokers bought July.

Weather map indicates fair and cool dis tricts with temperatures conditions favorable to western states.

Supply and distribution report won't be out until Tuesday.

Fenner, E. H. Cone & Waters were principal buyers. Some said to be for McFadden. Bullish. Bullish.

New Orleans—Considerable drop in receipts and large loss in stock. Large exports indicated for coming week.

McFadden: Bullish; very good buyers of May, taking 15,000 to 20,000 bales of that option. Bullish. Bullish. Bullish. Were buyers of July, and Jenks also bought July and sold May. Bullish. Bullish. Bullish. Considered afternoon among the ring in the war of profit taking and selling on the bulges. A large proportion of the business was switching and commission trade for long account. There was no news and sentiment is becoming more bullish. Bullish.—Cheshire.

STOCK GOSSIP

Chicago Inter Ocean says: It was the gossip of the wheat trade last night that there would still be a big export movement of wheat and flour than at present if the bulls were to extend much further. Bulls have been claiming that there would be a better demand for hard wheat for several days past, and that with the southwest dry, crop damage reports would be coming in during the coming days. But there was no news and sentiment is becoming more bullish.—Cheshire.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow, Jones summary:

Interest centered current directors adopt formal resolution to dissolve. Failures this week 274, compared with 230 last week. Bradstreet's review says irregularity still characterizes business situation, but reports of trade movements are conflicting. Bradstreet says, reports as to actual business in progress are more favorable. Dun's says: Failures for week 216, a decrease of 14 from last year. Canadian Pacific has declared a dividend of 2½ per cent, payable May 1, to stock of record April 15. Directors also declared a dividend of 1 per cent on the new common stock issued in connection with the recent acquisition of the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo railway

BARBER SHOP for sale or rent,

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Prepare Now to Raise Feed for Your Poultry and Live Stock

THERE is nothing of so much importance today to our southern people as the raising for something to eat for human nutrition, also stock and poultry. Our future wealth and prosperity depends altogether during the next ten to twenty years on the amount of food that we raise in this country, and a man's income hereafter can practically be measured by the amount of food that he produces to supply his own wants, and some to sell. His wealth will be measured by the amount he produces and not so much the amount of business a man does in dollars and cents from sales that he received as it is the amount of profit he makes, which comes through the saving of feed that his live stock consumes and that which he buys.

There is not trouble to do an unlimited amount of business throughout this entire country under good dairy products, fat animals for sale, or poultry and eggs for sale, also vegetables. And, if anyone can produce the feeds that produce these things he can make all the money he wants. It he can only stop the feed bills. That is where today a majority of the men from all live stock and poultry establishments that have been in business in this country usually go. It is paid out for feed. The labor proposition is a secondary consideration. But then we have to pay the same price for feed it runs into a pile of money and practically wipes out the income that most people get. Especially does this apply to the dairy business.

When the bull weevil visits our cotton fields, it will naturally make bulls and meal scarce, and as these are our main dependence for feed for cattle it is sure to have a telling effect on our dairy industry, also on our beef products, unless our people find a way quickly by which plan some other kind of feed can be grown and produced that will take place of cotton seed hulls and meal.

The most serious question that confronts our people today is this subject of producing more feed in the south. No one can deny that we have the most ideal conditions that exist anywhere to produce heavy yields. The records of the corn clubs prove this. But, just so long as we state last to do what it did last year, spend practically speaking $37,000,000 more for food products than our main money crop cotton brings in return to us, just so long as this is done it will be a long time before we can ever overdo the production of food. We will not only have to produce this extra before we would have any to sell. Therefore, it is more important for us to stop this leak and try to produce more feed. It will change things and make the dairy business independent quicker than anything else connected with our present operations. The man who produces his home supplies and some feed to sell is the one who can be independent.

It is folly for any man to ever think that he can make any money by feeding a lot of cattle, hogs, horses or poultry and have all of his feed to buy. However, hundreds are doing so. It is all right when the price is low, but suppose three more years like the past three have been will strike us. Then we are sure to loose money. Paying twice for feed what we did three years ago takes away the profit. No man that could make money three years ago with the price of feed and the price of his products sold is loosing money today. He can not help it, because feed of all kinds is twice as high and the price he receives for his products is not very much more. This price of bought feed will force and put out of business hundreds of people who would not think of quitting the business if they could buy feed reasonable, or if they had produced it themselves.

Yours very truly.

"HINDSIGHTS"

Like the red light on the auto, are only good to keep from being run over. "Hindsights" never showed the way TO any place. It takes the "foresights" to lead a man or a machine anywhere. And the more piercing and far reaching the "foresight" the further away can the TURN IN THE ROAD be seen.

And it's a long lane that has no turning; and Broad street has waited a long time for our Produce friends to clear out.

A mighty small lamp out to show what's bound to happen now. Surrounded by high priced, congested retail stores, Broad street just simply can't help getting its share of that trade from now on.

Don't sleep at the switch, and let this situation get away from you. Buy while it's the cheapest lot on the street, the 24x70 we have been offering this week at a little over $1,200 per foot. The best posted men in town say it is the bargain of the season.

ROW IN HEALTH BOARD OVER ITS PATRONAGE

Result of Dorsey-Bradfield Clash Is to Let Heads of Depts. Name Their Men

As the result of a clash between Dr. R. C. Dorsey and Dr. J. H. Bradfield over the election of a milk inspector, the city board of health Friday afternoon rescinded the rule requiring the heads of the department to make three nominations for each place to be filled by the board, and adopted a rule requiring only one nomination for each place. The effect of the new rule is to let the heads of the department name the men under them.

The clash came when Dr. J. F. Kennedy, the health officer, nominated only one man, E. L. Brown, for the milk inspector's job. Dr. Dorsey contended that there must be three nominations under the rule. Dr. Bradfield contended for the election of Dr. Kennedy's nominee, regardless of the rule. Finally Dr. Kennedy nominated three men, including Mr. Brown, and Brown was elected.

Among the three nominated was Q. C. Strickland, now a sanitary inspector, and a brother of M. C. Strickland, who is a member of the board. Mr. Strickland objected to this nomination, saying it would be embarrassing for him to have to vote for his brother. So Dr. Kennedy withdrew Strickland's name.

The "nepotism" question came up again a few minutes later, when John Jentsen, the chief of the sanitary department, was asked to make nominations for five sewer flushers. He nominated fifteen men, among them C. A. Weaver, a brother of Dr. H. N. Weaver, who is a member of the board. Dr. Weaver made no objection to the nomination, but Weaver was not one of the five elected by the board. Thereupon Dr. Weaver remarked that evidently his brother wasn't popular with the board.

The five flushers elected were as follows: J. H. Harper, W. J. Kelley, W. F. Carter, J. L. Acree and H. Jones.

Only Four Weeks Remain In Easter Gift Campaign

Candidates Are Busily Engaged in Securing Subscriptions in Race to Head the List by April 11

With but four short weeks left in which to line up their forces for the grand dash to the wire, candidates in The Atlanta Journal's Easter Gift distribution are working earnestly and determinedly these days, for each realizes that the time is growing shorter, that the gifts are certainly worth while and each has a value equal to any effort that can possibly be put forth in securing it. Beginning with the banner gift of one thousand dollars in gold the prize list is one that appeals to everyone. And with but four short weeks left in which to win those prizes, every minute is going to prove of importance.

One thousand dollars for four weeks' is rewarding you at the rate of $250 per week, which is far greater than the salary the majority of the big financiers of the country receive for their week's work.

In addition to this Banner Gift of $1,000, there are the three automobiles—two Studebaker touring cars and one, Paige-Brunswick touring car, as well as the district awards. A more desirable list of awards would be hard to select, and each and every one of these prizes is going to be won during these coming four weeks.

PRELIMINARY WORK FINISHED.

Up to this time the work has been but preliminary. Candidates have been planning their campaigns, lining up their friends into working campaigns and generally preparing for whirlwind campaigns. From now on the work will start and during these four weeks that remain before the call of "time" puts an end to their efforts, each and every candidate is going to put forth his or her best efforts.

The competition is fair in every way, all will receive the same treatment and anyone, even though but just starting, can win by trying. No candidate can lose. Everyone is certain to receive a reward for his or her efforts, and the prospect is before you of winning one of the handsome Banner Gifts. Each district has its own separate and distinct awards, and these must be won in each and every district regardless of the work done in the other districts.

AID OF FRIENDS NECESSARY.

No candidate should lose sight of the fact that his or her friends and their aid are essential to success. Your friends can do so much for you in so many ways that your main plan should be to interest them in your campaign by showing your own interest. There is no booster equal to an interested person, but in order to gain this interest you must show your own and communicate a spark of interest to these. Success is within your grasp if you but realize it, and by careful planning, consistent and determined work, any candidate in the list can come out on top on April 11.

SOME IDEAS FOR CANDIDATES.

Many candidates have ideas of their own as to the best way to proceed, but for those who are somewhat at sea some suggestions might not come amiss. Not only should you seek the help of those persons in your immediate circle of acquaintances, but also of those friends away and in other places. Sit down tonight and write to a number of your friends—probably many of these are former Georgians, and interested in The Journal and Atlanta—tell them of your ambition and desire to win one of these prizes and ask their help.

Many of them will be glad to assist you and this outside help will be found far more effective than you realize. Then, oftentimes there are people who you cannot see during the day. Utilize the telephone, and don't take "no" for an answer. The Journal is a vital necessity to the people of Atlanta and Georgia, as well as those in nearby states, and in offering them this paper you are giving full value for what is paid. Only by their paying now, in advance, you are enabled to win a prize that may mean weeks, months and years of real pleasure and delight for you.

If a person is interested enough to give you a subscription, he or she will prove sufficient interested to pay you in advance, and if you explain that by so doing you will receive twice the usual number of votes, you will find them glad to comply with your request. Votes are the objects of your work, for votes mean ultimate success, and the more votes secured the greater your prospects of success.

CASH WITH SUBSCRIPTIONS MEANS MORE VOTES AND GREATER PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS.

LINDE AIR PRODUCTS CO. WILL BUILD PLANT HERE

For the purpose of constructing a plant designed for cutting and welding metals by the use of oxygen and acetylene, the Linde Air Products company of New York, Friday afternoon purchased a site for the building on Roy street at the Southern railway crossing.

The new concern was brought here through the efforts of W. H. Leahy, secretary of the industrial and statistical bureau of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, and is one of the largest and most important acquisitions, of its kind ever secured.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter
A Real Live Doll to Fondle is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

She is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It has a wonderful influence, large or small fear, banishes all pain, is a grateful encouragement to the expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind; designed to eliminate a greatest happiness as nature intended she should.
The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments are relieved, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation.
There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervousness or twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women.
This splendid remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 232 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.
