JUDGE ELLIS FLAYS EASY METHOD IN SECURING DIVORCES

Gives Lengthy Talk to Jury After Giving Decisions to Free 140 Mismated Persons in Four Days

LAW MUCH TOO EASY, SAYS NOTED JURIST

Had Presented Bill Some Time Ago to Make Divorce Harder to Obtain, but Was Defeated, Says Juries Get Disgusted

Pronouncing in the strongest terms the present ease with which divorces are obtained in Georgia, and urging the adoption of laws introducing radical and sweeping reforms, Judge W. D. Ellis, Thursday morning, from the bench of the superior court, addressed the jury which has been hearing divorce cases for the past four days.

Judge Ellis' talk to the jury was given at the conclusion of the last case on the undefended divorce calendar, began Monday, since which time 140 persons have been granted divorces.

Judge Ellis stated that a bill embodying his ideas of radical reform had been introduced by him in the Georgia legislature, and was at first reported unfavorably. "But," said the judge, "I heard afterwards, when the bill had been killed, that there were a number of divorce lawyers on the general judiciary committee—said they killed my bill.

"Gentlemen of the jury, this concludes the divorce docket," said Judge Ellis, at the close of the last case. "And I never get through with a divorce docket without feeling humiliated that such a state of affairs exists.

"The jury, too, is always disgusted at what they have seen and heard during the trial of these cases.

"When I came to the bar, divorce proceedings were rare. The thing is now growing so, however, that it permeates all classes of society, taking place not infrequently among some of the best families of the state.

"We had twenty cases in which divorces have been granted in little over three days, making 140 persons divorced in this hamlet six times a year.

"During the trial of all these cases, not a wail of an infant was heard in court. You saw hardly any of the jurists of the parties present, nor was there a gentleman of the cloth, a clergyman, here during the whole of the proceedings.

"If a man is on trial for murder or some other crime, his wife and children and family will flock to court to be with him—not so with the persons seeking divorces.

"Did you notice that nearly all of the women came here wearing startling and gaudy clothes, and that they all talked in the most low and bland tones that the jurymen could hardly hear them?

"I mean they are regular Xantippes at home; if they had talked at home as low and bland there would never have been any cause for divorce proceedings.

"One woman you will remember, made a sworn statement of most inhuman cruelty suffered at the hands of her husband, and then denied all of this statement, branding it as untrue. How many other husbands might also say such statements, either in print or in court if they were here, we can only guess!

"The United States leads the world in divorces, and the number is increasing alarmingly. Today statistics show that there is one divorce for every twelve marriages.

"You also remember a case here in which a bright prominent man testified that his wife since she did not believe in marriage at all—that she believed in cheating with the man no longer than love lasted.

"This might be all right for the persons involved, if there were the only persons involved. But they are not. If marriage were on such a basis, that of cheating one firm and then starting a new one at will, it would destroy the home; this would destroy the community, and this would seriously affect the state.

Now, Would You Do It?

Suppose you wanted a job, or to sell a house to sell, or were looking for a buyer of some kind, would you try buttonholing a stranger to effect the desired arrangement? Suppose you stepped up to a likely looking person and began:

"Sir (or Madam), I am anxious to lay before you a business proposition—"

How far do you suppose you would get in stating your case? The very idea is preposterous.

But there is a method by which you can buttonhole strangers and thus method is The Journal Want Ads.

Try them, for you can always state your case as fully as you wish.

GEORGIA FRUIT CROP ESCAPES DAMAGE IN RECENT COLD SPELL

Reports Received at Fruit Exchange Indicate That Cold Did Little Damage Throughout the State

REAL DANGER EXPECTED ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Advise Farmers to Take Every Precaution to Protect Their Orchards, as Freezing Weather Is Predicted

Early reports from all over Georgia Thursday morning to the Georgia Fruit exchange in Atlanta indicated that the state's fruit crop so far has not suffered from the cold snap.

The real danger will come Thursday night, for the cold is expected to be much worse.

Secretary H. D. Marks, of the fruit exchange, stated that reports he had received up to 10 o'clock Thursday morning were all favorable to the fruit crop. In south Georgia it was not cold enough to endanger the fruit, he said, while the cloudy weather that prevailed all over north Georgia Wednesday night saved the fruit in that part of the state.

"The real danger will come Thursday night," said Mr. Marks. "I advise all the farmers to take what means they can to protect their orchards."

At the weather bureau it was stated that the lowest temperature Wednesday night was only 33 degrees, one degree above freezing, and that there was no frost.

Forecaster von Herrman says that the temperature will drop to about 30 degrees Thursday night, and that the fruit will be in danger all over the state.

"There was no frost Wednesday night," he explained, "because the skies were cloudy and there was no wind, but Thursday night will be clear with no wind and frost will form.

The forecast for Friday is for fine clear weather, and the forecaster says that the temperature will begin to rise rapidly Friday afternoon, with every prospect of a fine warm Easter Sunday.

Dispatches from Tennessee, the Carolinas, Alabama, Texas and various Georgia points indicate great uneasiness on the part of orchardmen and truck farmers. Snow fell as far south as Greenville, S. C., but the drops in temperature are reported from many points.

In Asheville, N. C., it was reported that the fruit crop was killed. Early vegetables in Knoxville, Tenn., and vicinity are also blighted, and in Texas the cold has held stop at the point where it did not hurt the valuable vegetation.

The snowfall in Greenville broke the record of several years, while the thermometer in Richmond were the latest since 1898. Orchardmen in Norfolk, Va., are much worried, and much damage to peach and plum trees is reported from Nashville, Tenn., though it is believed a part of the crops will be saved.

In many places the thermometer went down to freezing, and from the west reports indicate that this weather was the coldest in twenty years for this season of the year.

GUNMEN WILL CONFESS, IS RUMORED THURSDAY

At Least One of Men Condemned to Die Expected to Talk

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 9.—There were persistent rumors today to the effect that at least one of the four gunmen who are to die at Sing Sing Monday morning for the part they played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, would confess. The rumors could not be traced to their source.

Joseph A. Shay, counsel for Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, convicted of instigating the murder but saved from the higher court ruling, said he might go to the prison some time today and endeavor to get statements from the four men to be used by the defense at the second trial of Becker. In case the condemned men decline to make statements to him, he has prepared an application to the supreme court for an order requiring the appointment of a commission to take their depositions. In either event it was said the execution of the sentence would not be delayed.

(By Associated Press.)

The resolution in the first attempt made in congress to investigate the selection of the reserve cities. Its introduction yesterday followed a hot debate, participated in mostly by southern senators, over the selections of Atlanta and Dallas as against New Orleans.

LODGE RAISES VOICE TO DEFEND WILSON'S CANAL TOLLS POLICY

Senate Is Told "Decent Respect for Opinions of Mankind" Demands Prompt Repeal of Exemption Clause

COURSE OF PRESIDENT IS HIGHLY COMMENDED

Senator Says Chief Executive Seeks to Restore United States to Former Position of Influence Among Powers

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Lodge, ranking Republican member of the foreign relations committee, addressed the senate today in support of President Wilson's Panama canal tolls policy. He maintained vigorously the legal right of the United States to exempt its shipping, foreign as well as coastwise, from tolls, but declared "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind" and the "distrust, and in some cases, dislike" with which the United States is regarded abroad, demanded prompt repeal of the exemption clause of the canal act.

"Whether we shall insist upon giving to our ships two or three millions of dollars in a disputed way is, in my conception, a very small question compared to the larger issues which are here involved," said the senator. "When the year 1909 opened, the United States occupied a higher and stronger position among the nations of the earth than at any period in our history. Never before had we possessed such an influence in international affairs, and that influence had been used beneficently and for the world's peace in two conspicuous instances—at Portsmouth and at Algeciras. Never before had our relations with the various states of Central and South America been so good. It seemed as if the shadow of suspicion which, by twist of our dominant and at times domineering power, had darkened and chilled our relations with the people of Latin America at last been lifted.

INFLUENCE IS LOST.

"This great position and this commanding influence have been largely lost. I am not in the councils of the president of the United States, but I believe that during the past year the present position of the United States in its foreign relations has become very apparent to him, as it has to other responsible and reflecting men, and with this appreciation of our present position has come the earnest wish to retrace some of our steps, at least, and to retain, so far as possible, the high place which we formerly occupied.

"It would be a needless impropriety to point out the specific conditions of our present relations with the various nations, both in the world and close at new; it is enough to note the fact that we are regarded by other nations with distrust and in some cases with dislike. Rightly or wrongly, they have come to believe that we are not to be trusted; that we make our international relations the sport of politics and treat them as if they were in no wise different from questions of domestic legislation.

"This has not been in accord with our history or our position. Only once have we abrogated a treaty, and then actual evil declared war existed. We have scrupulously observed our international agreements, and even differences have arisen we have settled them not with the high hand of power, but by negotiation and arbitration.

"I suppose that at this moment in the midst of the adroitly stimulated passions raised against the president's recommendation that he should repeal

J. M. ROWE'S BODY FOUND AT BOTTOM OF ELEVATOR SHAFT

Negro Janitor in Steiner-Emery Building Finds Decomposed Remains of Lawrenceville Man While Fixing Machinery

BODY HAD APPARENTLY BEEN THERE FOR DAYS

Doctor's Certificate That Man Was Subject to Fits Leads to Theory That His Death Was an Accident

The body of James M. Rowe, a white man, of Lawrenceville, Ga., was found in a partly decomposed state in the pit of the freight elevator in the basement of the Steiner-Emery building Thursday.

Mystery surrounds his death. Detectives working on the case have eliminated suicide or murder and believe Rowe came to his end through falling down the elevator shaft.

The body was discovered by Sam Phillips, negro janitor and elevator man of the building. Phillips had run the elevator to the basement and stopped it halfway between the floors that he might crawl beneath it and fix the rope that had come loose from the whirl.

As the darky jumped to the floor of the basement, a long, low chest used for storing junk and receiving freight, and crawled under the elevator, he almost ran into a man's leg. He was so frightened that he at once left the basement and called detectives.

WOUND ON ARM.

When the body was removed an hour later, it was in such a condition that it could hardly be handled. The face of the man was mashed in, there was a wound in his arm, he was bruised up on his stomach when first found.

Undertakers declared the body must have lain there nearly a week. The pit to the elevator is two feet deep, so that Phillips, when he ran down to the basement to get freight, need not necessarily have touched the body with the bottom of the car when he stopped it level with the basement floor. Consequently, he did not know the body was there, he says, until he had to fix the elevator.

The man's identity was assumed from letters and other papers found in his pockets, all bearing the name of J. M. Rowe. This identification was confirmed later to the satisfaction of the police when E. R. Prewitte, of a furniture firm at 142 Edgewood avenue, viewed the body and concluded it was that of J. M. Rowe, who worked for him as an office man and salesman for a few months previous to December, 1912. Prewitte said Rowe left at Christmas time to spend the holidays in Lawrenceville, and never came back. He said Rowe has several sons, one of whom is an evangelist, Charles W. Rowe, in Rome the last time Prewitte heard from him. A bill of sale in the dead man's pocket led to the policy inquiry of Prewitte.

FORMING CONVICT GUARD.

Several other steps to confirm the body's identification as that of J. M. Rowe were started by the police.

A dispatch from Lawrenceville said J. M. Rowe was until recently a convict on the Gwinnett county road, and there Tuesday morning for Birmingham, Ala. It must have been earlier than that, however, if this is Rowe's body, for the corpse was decomposed. The Lawrenceville dispatch continued that Rowe was sixty years old; that he formerly lived in Greenville, S. C., that he has one sister residing in Lawrenceville, Mrs. Thomas M. O'Kelly, and that he has other relatives and friends in Walton and Jackson counties.

A message from Monroe said Rowe

OFFICER WILL BE SHOT FOR MURDER OF BENTON

Carranza's Commission Puts All Blame on Member of Villa's Staff

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 9.—When Major Rudolfo Fierro, lately of General Pancho Villa's staff, is stood against a wall and shot to death by a firing squad, as he will be in a few days, the killing of William S. Benton, English ranchman, on February 17 last, will be a "closed incident."

The commission appointed by General Carranza to investigate Benton's death has made a preliminary report charging Benton was murdered by Major Fierro. This much has already been communicated to General Carranza and to General H. L. Scott, recently appointed assistant chief of staff of the United States army. The full findings of the commission will be ready at once as they are practically complete now.

Meanwhile Major Fierro is a prisoner, incommunicado, in the Chihuahua jail, and his execution has been decreed by the constitutionalist government. When he has been put to death the fact will be communicated officially to the American and British governments, with a statement that it should be accepted as an adequate settlement of the Benton case.

The report of the Carranza commission will show, following the testimony given before it, that when the irascible Benton intruded Villa in the latter's office in Juarez, Villa ordered Major Fierro to place him under arrest and to take him by train to Chihuahua City, that night and place him in the penitentiary.

"I will see how he acts after a month," General Villa is reported to have said. "If he is submissive, I will liberate him that he may return to the United States; if not, I will hold him a while longer."

Major Fierro and a squad of soldiers boarded the train with Benton that night. As the train approached Samalayuca, a short distance south of Juarez, the testimony states, Fierro shot Benton in the head behind the left ear. The train was stopped, the dying man removed and then the rifle squad poured a volley of bullets into his breast.

Fierro was at once placed under arrest.

RETURNS HOME TO DIE; LIVES ONLY TWO HOURS

QUITMAN, Ga., April 9.—After long years of wandering in foreign lands, Lee Garrett returned to his father's home in this county and died within two hours after his arrival.

He was the oldest son of J. M. Garrett, a well known farmer, and was forty-two years old. He had spent most of his later years in South America and Mexico. Recently he has been living at Dothan, Ala. Within the past few months his health has been failing and several days ago it was feared that his condition was serious and that he wished to return to his old home.

The funeral and interment occurred Tuesday afternoon at Philadelphia church.

PERUNA RESTORES A Chronic Invalid

Mrs. Sophie Bauer, 521 First Ave., North, Faribault, Minn., writes: "I cannot praise your wonderful medicine, Peruna, enough. It has done much for me during the past ten years, and I keep it in the house continually. I was in such a condition that I could eat nothing but bread and milk, and even that was too heavy for me at times. Now I can eat anything. I will recommend Peruna to all my friends."

The effect of Peruna on digestion is immediate—sometimes wonderful, as in Mrs. Bauer's case. Sharpens appetite, quickens digestion and stimulates the bowels. A most convenient and valuable family medicine. In tablet or liquid form as preferred.

EMPLOYERS URGED TO HELP FIFTH REGIMENT

Chamber of Commerce Sends Out Letters Requesting Their Co-operation

An earnest effort is being made by the Atlanta chamber of commerce to foster interest and co-operation among Atlanta employers and citizens in helping to maintain the local military organization here.

With this end in view letters have been sent to employers all over Atlanta appealing strongly for their encouragement and assistance in every way possible for that organization. A copy of the resolutions on this subject recently adopted by the chamber of commerce is enclosed with the letter, and these resolutions contain an urgent appeal to the people of Atlanta to give to the Fifth regiment and help as much as possible to keep it up to a high standard.

In its letter to the employers the chamber of commerce says:

"The chamber desires to impress on all employers the necessity of co-operating with the officers in the matter of encouraging enlistments. It is earnestly hoped that you may be able to encourage young men in your employ to enlist in the national guard organizations, but if the chamber also desires that the officers co-operate with you in seeing that no undue burden is imposed on employers by the enlistment of too many men from any one establishment or any one department. By the very nature of the organization of the military, it sometimes happens that too many men are enlisted from one establishment, without knowledge on the part of Colonel O. H. Hall, commander of the regiment. It is desired, therefore, that should such a condition arise that you communicate with Colonel Hall, who is taking steps to correct such a situation."

Belief is expressed by the officers of the chamber of commerce that employers all over Atlanta will come to the assistance of the regiment and that its organization will be materially benefited as the result of the work being done.

LAST CHANCE TO HEAR DE CORTEZ WOLFFUNGEN

Operatic Tenor Will Give Final Concert at Baptist Tabernacle April 14

Atlantians will have their last opportunity this season of hearing De Cortez Wolffungen, operatic tenor, at 8:15 o'clock, Tuesday evening, April 14, at the Baptist Tabernacle, in a concert given under the auspices of the music committee of the Atlanta Woman's club. Mrs. W. Lawson Peel, chairman.

He will be accompanied by Miss Harrison and will be assisted by Madame Carthew-Yorstoun, soprano, and Hermann Conkling, violinist, an excellent program has been arranged.

De Cortez Fame—Numerous Atlanta music lovers some of the most wonderful concerts ever heard here. As a memories of grand opera in various throughout America. Last year he was given a medal as a member of the music committee at the inauguration of President Wilson. Among his endorsements are those by Dr. Carl Beck, conductor of the Boston symphony orchestra, and Hofrath von Schuck, director of the Royal opera, Dresden.

Tickets for next week's concert have been placed on sale at Brown & Allen's and Cable hall.

Negro Brought Here

Will Phillips, a negro, was brought to Atlanta from Cumming, Ga., Wednesday night by Sheriff Lummers, of Forsyth county, and locked in the Tower on the charge of perpetrating the recent robberies at that town.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances of the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other items appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

A bill containing some unusual entertaining features is the Forsyth's offering this week. The novelty is the Vorligraph—views foreign and local are displayed on the huge screen and are viewed by the audience through lorgnettes with which they have been furnished, and a marvelous picture is the result, one that is so real one imagines himself a few feet away actually viewing the sight in reality.

Then there are the Alexander Kids, second to no juvenile entertainers ever seen here, giving a really remarkable entertainment. Arthur Deagon, the singing comedian, gives a clever number, and Ray Cox entertains in her charming fashion. There are other big features, all going to make up a standard Forsyth offering.

Next week "A Persian Garden," a company of fourteen people, including Lillian Boardman, Flavia Aracaro and Fred Lyon, headed by Louis Simon. This is a musical comedy playlet that has scored one of the biggest successes this season in vaudeville.

"The Lilly," one of David Belasco's masterpieces will be the opening bill of the LaVerne Stock company at the Lyric theater starting with Easter week, Monday night's performance at 8:15, and continuing throughout the week, with night performances daily and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The prices for the spring and summer season will be $1 for lower box seats, 75 cents upper box and loge seats, 75 cents orchestra seats, 50 cents, 35 cents and 25 cents balcony seats, and 15 cents and 10 cents gallery. For matinees, all box seats will be 50 cents, all loge seats 50 cents and orchestra and balcony seats, 25 cents, gallery, 10 cents.

"The Dope," a modern photo-frame, with Herman Lieb heading the cast, will be seen at the Grand all next week, with matinees and night performances daily, at 2 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. The prices will be 10 and 20 cents.

The unearthing of a colossal vice system controlling some 36,000 victims and reaping an annual net profit of a million and a half dollars in New York City, was one of the sensational news happenings of the past year. The manner in which this vice trust worked and entrapped its victims, is made the basis of a powerful moving picture dramatization which will be presented at the Atlanta theater for one week beginning next Monday, with a daily matinee at 2:30 and a night performance at 8:30. It is called "Smashing the Vice Trust," and is a spectacular production in six parts in 700 scenes.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS FOR 1,000 Y. W. C. A. MEMBERS

Membership Committee Starts Work Unterrified by the Gloomy Weather

The campaign of the Young Woman's Christian association to secure 1,000 new members began Wednesday morning, and twenty enthusiastic women went to work despite the gloomy day.

Mrs. Clayton Callaway is chairman of the membership committee. The following ladies are working under her for members: Mrs. Clyde King, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Witham, Mrs. Ernest C. Kouts, Mrs. Joseph Broughton, Mrs. Charles Whitner, Mrs. Frank S. Dean, Miss Dallas Dumas, Mrs. Ben Watkins, Mrs. A. R. Colcord, Mrs. Philip Weltner, Mrs. George M. Brown, Mrs. Thomas Daniel, Miss Molly Courtney, Miss Orpha Maddox, Miss Genevieve Saunders, Miss Sara Converse, Mrs. H. T. Hinton, Mrs. W. T. McKinstry.

The association urges all the women of the city to join. The membership fee is small, but each new member adds to the strength of the organization. At present the membership is only 500, and in reality the association needs 1,000 members to put it on the proper basis. The membership campaign committee, however, has set 1,000 as the mark.

The committee will meet daily at 11 o'clock at the association rooms to make its report.

NEW COUNTY IS OPPOSED BY JOHN D. HUMPHRIES

Mayor of Hapeville Believes Fulton Cannot Be Improved On, He Says

John D. Humphries, mayor of Hapeville, requests publication of the following card in which he expresses opposition to formation of a separate county out of parts of Fulton county:

"I have read the article in yesterday's Journal to the effect that a movement is on foot to form a new county out of the southern portion of Fulton county, including Hapeville, East Point and College Park, and the northern portions of Clayton and Campbell counties, and that headquarters for an organization to press the matter before the legislature will soon be established. This is the first knowledge I have had of any such movement. The mayor and council of Hapeville were in session Tuesday night, and nothing was said at that meeting by any member present about such a movement. I do not know of such, it consists now, if it is originated.

"Personally, I am opposed to any such movement. I do not believe our community could be benefited in any manner whatever by the creation of the new county suggested. On the other hand, I feel that Fulton county cannot be beat, and I believe it is best for the city of Hapeville to remain in Fulton county.

"I note what was published regarding dissatisfaction among some people, whose names were not mentioned, to public improvements in the southern portion of the county. Without reference to other sections or counties claims other communities may have regarding this matter, I wish to say that the city of Hapeville is not complaining against the county commissioners. I believe the county commissioners are endeavoring to do the best they can. And while there are improvements that we would like to have made, I do not believe it is the purpose of our county commissioners to make these improvements as early as possible.

"JOHN D. HUMPHRIES."

TRAVELING MEN ELATED OVER TICKET SOLUTION

Journal Praised for Its Help in Vexed Mileage Question on Railroads

Georgia's commercial traveling man are elated by the very simple solution attained Wednesday of the vexed mileage question. The railroad commission's approval validated an agreement already reached between representatives of the travelers and other representatives of the railroads whereby "stop over" tickets, good for stop-overs at any and all points between the starting point and destination during five days after date of issue, are to be sold at all regular ticket offices on the main trunk lines of the state after June 1. Within ten days from now the railroads will restore all forms of interchangeable mileage which were withdrawn from sale when the railroad commission ordered, some months ago, that mileage be pulled on trains.

R. A. Broyles of Atlanta, representative of the Georgia division of the T. P. A. in the agreement, is the man who originated the suggestion of stop-over tickets. He believes they should offer "an everything solution" to the mileage question.

The agreement followed conferences in Atlanta March 31 and April 7 between Mr. Broyles, H. D. Shackelford, representative of the Georgia division U. C. T., and the Georgia Travelers' association; and James L. Mayson, attorney, on the one hand, and representatives of the railroads on the other.

The amazing simplicity of the solution has impressed railroad authorities and all others who have been debating this matter for months in various forms. It was seized upon at once by representatives of the Georgia railroads, and the state railroad commission decided within a very few minutes after going into executive session, to approve it unanimously.

"Mr. Broyles' suggestion is a bigger thing than the people realize even yet," said one observer of the situation Thursday. "The railroads and the traveling men have seized it like trout striking flies. It suits both sides perfectly."

Mr. Broyles gives credit to The Journal for standing by the traveling men during their long fight. He addressed the following letter to the editor of The Journal Thursday morning:

"Allow me to congratulate you on your excellent service in giving so accurate an account of the mileage settlement yesterday in your afternoon issue. The settlement gave the traveling men all we asked for, and was more than satisfactory to the railroads, all of which showed an earnest desire to recognize the rights of the traveling public.

"It was a most happy solution to the whole proposition, and the traveling men will ever remember with deep gratitude the splendid work done by The Atlanta Journal, both editorially, through its news columns, and especially through the 'Firing Line' pages, in our behalf. You were a pioneer in our fight, and never allowed your energies to fag.

"Yours very truly,

(Signed) "R. A. BROYLES."

Following is a statement dictated by R. A. Broyles to explain the agreement.

"It has always been recognized that at terminal stations capable agents are employed, who were thoroughly familiar with their duties to make the exchange of mileage for a regular ticket as required by the carriers. But—was not the case, however, at the intermediate points, where necessarily, small salaried men were employed.

"The result was that a traveling man had to quit his work fifteen to twenty minutes in advance of the arrival of trains which he expected to board at these small stations, fearful of the probability that he might encounter a dozen passengers going to a barbecue or picnic or some other such place, and, while it was true that it occurred seldom, yet it had to be anticipated, and the results to the traveler (namely, loss of time) operated to his disadvantage just the same.

"From my long years of experience in railroad service, the idea occurred to me that this whole matter could be solved to the entire satisfaction of all concerned, and with great benefit to both the traveling man and carrier, by selling what will be known as 'stop-over tickets,' allowing purchaser of same the privilege of consuming five days on his journey and also privilege of stopping at any or all intermediate points without renewal of any part of his ticket or exchange of mileage at windows.

"To-wit: The traveling man desiring to leave Atlanta to go to Griffin, or any intermediate point, could tender his mileage at the ticket window in Atlanta and receive in exchange a ticket to that point which will allow him to stop over at any or all intermediate points. This suggestion of mine reached some of the traffic passenger managers, who seemed to recognize that it was a wise one, and they at once called a conference in Atlanta to confer with Mr. Shackelford (who is the state chairman of the United Commercial Travelers and Georgia Travelers) and myself on railroad matters.

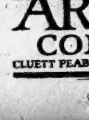

"This conference was entirely harmonious and, as the ultimate result shows, satisfactory to the railroads. Mr. Shackelford was in hearty accord, and a conclusion satisfactory to all was soon reached, as will be noted by the agreement, which has been approved by the railroad commission.

"This, in my judgment, will soon be made effective by the carriers in the entire southeastern territory, which reaches from the Ohio and Potomac rivers to the Mississippi, and should be an everlasting solution to the mileage question."

TAXPAYERS MUST MAKE RETURNS BEFORE MAY 1

Tax Receiver Armistead wants it impressed on the taxpayers of Fulton that returns must be made this year before May 1, instead of before June 1, as was formerly the case. This change, under a new law, in effect for the first time, December 9, however, is still the last day for the payment of taxes.

Love for Automobiles Lures Boy from Home; Father Seeks Him Here

J. H. Sands, of West Point, Ga., and three Atlanta detectives are searching the city today with especial attention to all automobiles and garages in search of sixteen-year-old E. C. Sands, who ran away from home last Sunday to become a second Barney Oldfield.

"He had been crazy about automobiles a long time," said Mr. J. H. Sands on his arrival here Thursday. "He kept begging me to buy a car and would dream of carburetors and spark plugs. Then he wanted to come to Atlanta and learn automobiling and be a chauffeur, but I wouldn't let him.

"Sunday after he had managed to scrape up $5, he borrowed another dollar from his brother and caught the train for Atlanta. He told his brother he was coming up here to enter the automobile school.

"But he's too young to be out in the world alone—only sixteen years old. I'm going to take him back to West Point and home."

The ceremony is obligatory upon all Knights Rose Croix. The requirement of the order is that "even if a Knight be alone in a place, he must feast in spirit at least on this day with his brethren."

The ceremony of relighting the lights, held each Easter Sunday by Knights Rose Croix all over the world, will be celebrated next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Masonic temple.

ATLANTA'S MAY WEATHER WILL DELIGHT SHRINERS

Sunny Spring Weather Here for Visitors From Lands of Late Winter Snows

"Atlanta's climate is going to make a big hit with the Shriners next month," predicted C. F. von Herrmann, the weather man, Thursday. "Few people realize what a contrast the springtime here will offer with the fag end of winter that many of the visitors will leave behind them."

Basing the forecast on the records of many years past, the weather bureau has compiled data which proves May will present Atlanta at her best and prettiest. The temperature will be mild then; flowers will be in full bloom, bright sunshine every day is to be expected.

THE TRANSPORMATION.

To this there will come thousands of Shriners and other visitors from homes where the winter does not end till June. These visitors will wear their ulsters and mittens when they start to Atlanta. From the whole north and northwest they will bring stories of cold weather.

The several trains of New England will come together from the land of winter to the land of spring. Those temples have established the custom of making their pilgrimages in one body to the imperial council meetings. Their company will be formed of big delegations from Kora temple, of Lewiston, Me.; Bektash, of Concord, N. H.; Mount Sinai, of Montpelier, Vt.; Cairo, of Rutland, Vt.; Aleppo, of Boston; Melha, of Springfield, Mass.; Palestine, of Providence, and Sphinx, of Hartford.

Medinah temple, Chicago, is another that will bring tales of cold weather. The north winds of Lake Michigan have not yet ceased to blow. In its bulletin on the Atlanta pilgrimage, Medinah pictures spring scenes which its nobles may expect to find in Atlanta and other stops along their way in Dixie.

Nile temple, Seattle, will come from the cold of the far northwest to join battle with the four California temples for the 1915 meeting of the imperial council. Seattle is preparing a determined fight for that prize. California advance representative, Douglas White, is already here, arranging the Kimball hotel for accommodation of the state's Shriners.

This contrast between winter and spring will not be realised by the southern temples which are coming to Atlanta. Morocco temple, coming full force from Jacksonville, will feel quite at home here. Al Amin, of Little Rock, coming in one of the numerous decorated trains that will be timing the railroads of the country next month, will find the weather balmy. Fort Worth's Shriners, who will ask charter as a temple at the Atlanta meeting, will not notice a great difference in the temperature.

One of the big factors in Atlanta's success as hostess of the Shriners next month will be her spring weather. The local committees anticipate that, and are planning other factors to harmonize.

STOP

Coffee Drinkers, And think a minute!

Some persons seem able, for a time at least, to get along with coffee, but it contains a subtle, habit-forming drug, caffeine, which sooner or later is pretty sure to rob one of health and comfort.

If you know coffee don't harm you—if you feel prime and fit under its continued use, well and good—stick to it.

But—if you are sometimes a bit "off color," and irritable nerves, disturbed heart action, biliousness, headache, or symptoms of liver or kidney trouble make you wonder what's the matter—

Better find out what coffee has to do with it.

Evidently some people are learning the truth about coffee—listen—

During 1913 the sales of coffee in this country decreased over one hundred million pounds.

A mighty army of former coffee drinkers now use and enjoy freedom from their old coffee aches and pains.

Postum, made of whole wheat and a bit of molasses, is a delicious table beverage absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin.

If you are interested in bettering yourself—think it over!

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for Postum

Advertisements in The Journal Bring Good Results to U. S. Army

Advertising pays. Even the United States government has learned the truth of the saying by the results obtained through its advertisements for recruits to the regular army.

For the past six months the war department has been running advertisements for recruits, using The Journal only in Atlanta. As a result there have been about ten applications daily, and the recruiting station has been getting, so many men that the department has ordered the advertisements discontinued.

In the past two days, since the discontinuance of the advertising, not a single application has been received at the local office at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets.

There are now six recruiting offices in this district. They are located in the postoffice buildings at Rome, Augusta and Columbus, Ga.; one in an old Chevy street, Macon; another on Second avenue in Birmingham, and the sixth in Atlanta at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets.

HIS CASE HOPELESS MOST FRIENDS THOUGHT

Could Not Eat or Sleep. A Friend Advises Black-Draught, Which Does the Work

Pomeroyton, Ky.—This town is the home of Mr. A. J. Hughes, whose condition for five years was such as led him, as well as most of his friends, to believe that he could not recover.

Mr. Hughes now says: "I was down with stomach trouble for five years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die.

My condition was such that I could not eat or sleep. I tried many different medicines, but they did me no good.

Nearly all my friends thought I would die, but one of them advised me to take Thedford's Black-Draught. I followed his advice with but little faith.

However I have now taken Black-Draught for three months, and can truthfully say that I am well.

I haven't had sick headache any more, and feel so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me.

This reliable Vegetable remedy has been in successful use for the past quarters of a century. To purify the blood renew the appetite, regulate liver, stomach and bowels, we urge you to try it.

Why suffer, when the same relief that Mr. Hughes found, is within easy reach of you? At every drug store. Only costs one cent a dose. Try it.

BRINSON RAILWAY BEGS FEDERAL AID IN STRIKE

Savannah Postmaster Is Asked to Help Move Mail Train

(By Associated Press.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 9.—R. R. Morgan, general manager of the Savannah and Northwestern route—better known as the Brinson railway—appealed to Postmaster Marion Lucas this morning for advice on how to get a mail train out of St. Clair to Savannah. There is a strike of conductors on the Brinson road and Mr. Morgan told the postmaster he understood that the train had been held up at St. Clair. Mr. Lucas advised Mr. Morgan to get in communication with the United States marshal's office.

Telephone advices from St. Clair state that there has been no disorder, but that the train due to leave there at 6 o'clock this morning had not departed up to noon.

The Brinson railway officials succeeded, it is understood, in getting a man to bring the train out as conductor, but about the time he was to leave the train of the Georgia and Florida railway came up and the crew induced the substitute conductor to abandon his post and not start the train out.

The telephone messages from St. Clair say there is no trouble expected, but that all efforts toward getting some one to take the train out of town as a conductor have failed.

Mr. Morgan says the sheriff of Burke county had agreed to go to St. Clair for the purpose of restoring order and trying to get the train out. Mr. Morgan insists that his crew was intimidated by men armed with guns and revolvers this morning at St. Clair.

To Cure Corns, Callouses, Bunions and Aching Feet

The following is absolutely the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts. The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly and the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Prepared only by Medical Formula Co., Chicago, Ill., and Dayton, Ohio.—(Advt.)

RESULTS OF COLDS

To Neglect a Cold in the Beginning is to Run a Pretty Big Risk.

When the Liver Gets Lazy the Blood Thickens and the System Becomes Easily Susceptible to Cold and Disease.

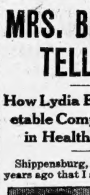

A cold is directly traceable to an inactive liver. The liver finds its efforts overcome and food remains in the stomach or bowels. The head gets hot, the feet cold and the bowels constipated. Right then and there is the danger point. The bowels must be kept open. The system must be relieved of congestion.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is the greatest known relief. It is better than calomel. It will rejuvenate the liver, send the blood racing through the veins, dispel the congestion and make you feel as if life is worth living.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT acts quickly and mildly, and never gripes or nauseates. Don't take an inferior substitute. Some stores may offer other preparations upon which they make larger profits; often similar in name, but very different in action. JACOBS' LIVER SALT is 25c for a large jar at druggists, or sent by mail (postpaid). Jacobs' Pharmacy.—(Advt.)

DEKALB REQUESTS LOAN OF FULTON'S CONVICTS

Fifty Are Wanted to Aid in Building Atlanta-Stone Mountain Boulevard

A delegation of prominent DeKalb county citizens representing Decatur, Clarkston and Stone Mountain, came to Atlanta Thursday for the purpose of laying before the county commissioners of Fulton county a proposition for this county to lend DeKalb county fifty convicts to be used in building the proposed "granite" boulevard from Atlanta to Stone Mountain.

In the delegation were Robert Ramspeck, representing the Decatur board of trade; D. W. Webb, representing the Clarkston board of trade; W. E. Tuggle, John F. McCurdy and W. S. McCurdy, representing the Stone Mountain board of trade.

The delegation first called on Judge T. E. Patterson, of the state prison commission, at his office in the state capitol, and obtained his indorsement of the proposition. He said inasmuch as Fulton county has in the neighborhood of 400 convicts, he thought it could spare fifty convicts to DeKalb county for the boulevard to connect the two counties, and further said the prison commission would authorize the transfer of the convicts if Fulton county should agree.

CALL ON BOARD.

The delegation then called on the members of the Fulton county board, seeing them individually. It was suggested by the Fulton commissioners that the proposition be put in formal shape, including an official request from the county commissioner of DeKalb county, R. J. Freeman, and the board would then hold a special meeing to take it under consideration.

That Commissioner Freeman will readily give his official request is practically certain, as the delegation saw him before coming to Atlanta and obtained his promise of indorsement and co-operation.

The delegation will get their proposition in the proper shape as soon as possible and probably will be back in a few days, ready to go before the Fulton county commissioners.

The members of the delegation, as named above, constitute a sub committee of the general citizens' committee in charge of the project, and were specially appointed to lay before the Fulton county commissioners the request for fifty convicts.

ENTHUSIASTIC.

The DeKalb county citizens, not only along the route of the proposed boulevard but throughout the county, are highly enthusiastic in their support of the project, and are anxious for it to be finished by the first of next October, in time for the American Road congress which meets in Atlanta in November, bringing several thousand delegates to the city.

In building the boulevard it is proposed to use granite donated by the owners of Stone mountain for the base or foundation of the road; to haul this granite with teams donated by citizens of DeKalb county; to buy cement, lime, road binder, etc., with money raised by an assessment per front foot on the property fronting the boulevard; and do the work with DeKalb and Fulton county convicts. The road will represent when finished a total investment of something like $100,000 and will be among the finest in the United States.

PLAZA PLAN INDORSED BY ATLANTA AD MEN

Club Pledges Support to Campaign for Bond Issue of $2,000,000

Formal indorsement by the Ad Men's club of Atlanta was placed on the plaza plan of Architect Haralson Bleckley on Thursday after Mr. Bleckley had explained its details at the club's weekly luncheon in the Hotel Ansley. The organization not only indorsed the proposed plaza over the railroad tracks in the heart of Atlanta, but pledged its aid in a campaign for a bond issue of $2,000,000 to cover the cost of constructing that improvement.

"Cleveland, Ohio, has spent $16,000,000 recently on civic improvements of this identical nature," Mr. Bleckley told the Ad Men to emphasize the reasonableness of the $2,000,000 cost. "And Chicago is considering a plan which, if adopted, will cost that city $250,000,000. San Francisco expects to spend $8,000,000 soon on improvements like this. St. Louis is pleading the expenditure of $3,500,000.

HISTORY OF PLAN.

Mr. Bleckley sketched the history of the plan since 1906, when he first suggested it to the Atlanta chamber of commerce and it was taken up by The Atlanta Journal. He said the idea is erroneous that there are two plans—one originated by Captain Clayton, city chief of construction, and the other by himself—in conflict with each other. There is but one plan, said he. Captain Clayton has assisted by adjusting it to street grades.

"Once it is built, the plaza will put Atlanta on a par with almost any other city in this country," said Mr. Bleckley. "It will give us a civic center of which we may be justly proud."

Mayor James G. Woodward, an enthusiastic advocate of the plaza plan, was another guest of honor at the luncheon. W. A. Hansell, assistant chief of construction for the city, was a third. Mr. Bleckley illustrated his address with stereopticon views of projects like the Atlanta plaza which other cities have completed.

TO KEEP DANGEROUS PESTS FROM COUNTRY

New Order in Effect to Prevent Fruit Flies From Entering

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Fearing introduction into the United States of the melon fly and the Mediterranean fruit fly, the department of agriculture today issued a new order providing for severe punishment of those who attempt to violate the quarantine declared in 1912 against certain Hawaiian fruits, vines and vegetables which might be the means of these two dangerous pests getting into this country. The new order is effective May 1 and the penalty it imposes is a $500 fine or imprisonment for a year or both.

Under the new regulations importations of bananas and pineapples are permitted under stringent conditions of inspection and certification. Practically all other fruits and such vegetables as tomatoes, squashes, green peppers and string beans are excluded.

It is because of the havoc these two pests play with the fruit industry when once they get a foothold that the new order was promulgated. Hitherto the United States has been free from both the melon fly and the Mediterranean fruit fly.

CARNEGIE APPLAUDS TOLLS REPEAL SPEECH

GREENSBORO CITIZENS TO ASK FOR NEW SCHEDULES

Delegation to Appear at Hearing on Proposed Georgia Railroad Changes

GREENSBORO, Ga., April 9.—Former State Senator E. A. Copelan, R. L. McCommons, president of the Greensboro National bank; Editor Jim Williams, of the Greensboro Herald-Journal, together with other prominent citizens will appear before the state railroad commission in Atlanta Monday morning when the petition of the Georgia railroad changes in their passenger train schedules, is called up for consideration. These Greensboro citizens are heartily in favor of the proposed schedules and they intend to present strong arguments why the railroad should be allowed to make the contemplated changes.

The consensus of opinion in Greensboro is that the schedule would greatly benefit this city and other towns along the route of the railroad. Every train is scheduled to make stops at Greensboro and with the proposed through trains each way it would give the people efficient and quick accommodations for through service.

It is very likely that a delegation from Greensboro will interview General Manager Charles A. Wickersham, of the Georgia railroad, within the next few days concerning a matter of honor at Greensboro. Possibly the oldest wooden depot on the railroad has on its line is at Greensboro and the local citizens will argue that the business at this point would warrant a new station.

J. R. SMITH WILL REPLY TO COL. PAXON

Campaign for Governor Brown Comments on Story in Macon Telegraph

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LEESBURG, Ga., April 9.—J. R. Smith, of Atlanta, who is here on business in connection with his farm located near Leesburg, when shown an article in yesterday's Telegraph containing a statement from Colonel F. J. Paxon concerning an alleged conference between Governor Brown and Colonel Paxon some days ago in which Colonel Paxon associated Mr. Smith's name, said:

"I regret exceedingly that a conversation between friends in a private home should have been dragged into public print, but since Colonel Paxon has of his own volition associated my name with the matter I shall upon my return to Atlanta issue a signed statement which I shall furnish the press. I feel that I should do this in justice to all parties concerned."

Mr. Smith will perhaps be in Atlanta tonight or tomorrow morning.

HOWARD ABLY DEFENDS SITES FOR RESERVE BANKS

Ga. Congressman Declares New Orleans Cannot Compare With City Like Atlanta

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—With an able and effective speech in the house Wednesday, Congressman William Schley Howard came to the defense of the regional bank organization committee when representatives from Louisiana attacked the committee for having recognized Atlanta's claims for a regional bank over those presented by New Orleans.

Representatives of Louisiana, in both house and senate, have announced their purpose to appeal the committee's decision to the reserve board and are seeking to get New Orleans' arguments into the Congressional Record. These efforts are being resisted in the senate by Senator Hoke Smith and in the house by Congressman Howard and other Georgia members.

Following the speech of Congressman Howard Wednesday that Senator Smith and other members of the Georgia delegation took occasion to congratulate him.

Speaking on the resolution introduced by the Louisiana representatives and calling on the organization committee to furnish all its data and the reasons which governed it in selecting the reserve districts, Congressman Howard said:

NEW ORLEANS DISGRUNTLED.

"New Orleans is simply disappointed and disgruntled. Otherwise that city would never have adopted such an insulting and slanderous statement as it has sent here. This statement not only shows spleen and selfishness, but is not founded on fact."

Congressman Howard quoted many facts and figures to show that Atlanta's claims to a regional reserve bank were superior to the claims of New Orleans, and he declared that within a few brief years Atlanta would exceed New Orleans in population, just as it has already outstripped the Crescent City in a business, financial and every other substantial way.

The organization committee was congratulated by Mr. Howard for having awarded reserve banks to Dallas and Richmond.

"Like Atlanta," he said, "Dallas is a live, wide-awake, thrifty metropolis, but if the truth must be told New Orleans is half asleep all the time. Stopping in New Orleans on a trip home from Dallas the fact was impressed upon me. What a magnificent place to spend my old age; to die in, and sleep in forever."

DENIES POLITICS CHARGE.

The Georgia congressman vigorously denied the charge that politics played a part in the selection of Atlanta. "If there had been any purpose to play politics," he said, "New Orleans would have been the most fruitful field, for there was needed to overcome the defection caused by the tariff bill."

Several times during his speech Mr. Howard was interrupted by Representative Elder, of Louisiana, and each time the Georgian bested his opponent. Upon one of these interruptions Mr. Elder inquired of Mr. Howard if it was not true that Atlanta was principally famous for its coca-cola.

Quick as a flash Mr. Howard replied: "The Coca-Cola company probably makes more money than any other in the world, and they do it because they sell so much to the citizens of New Orleans, who need it to keep awake. It is a great tonic for overcoming physical inertia."

MANY WILL ATTEND W. & L. ASSOCIATION

With fully 200 delegates in attendance, the annual convention of the Tri-State Water and Light association will be called to order in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel for a two days' session April 16.

A large number of the visitors have already made reservations and additional requests for rooms are coming in daily.

OPERA ATTENDANCE TO SMASH PAST RECORDS

Seat Sale Indicates Biggest Crowd Yet—Individual Tickets On Now

Sales of seats for the coming season of grand opera are so far ahead of past years that it has become a certainty that this season will eclipse all records for attendance. The sale of tickets for individual operas opened this week at the music stores of the Cable Piano company and the Phillips & Crew Co., and there was a rush for the choicest seats.

Only the vast expanse of the auditorium makes opera in Atlanta possible at current prices. Georgia opera lovers pay less for the best seats than New Yorkers must pay, and in New York the speculators' evil makes a seat at the Metropolitan cost from $8 to $10 unless purchased far in advance.

The out-of-town demand for opera tickets indicates that the crowd in Atlanta for the week of April 27 will be second only to Shriners' week a fortnight afterward. All the principal hotels have reserved rooms to their full capacity, and the music festival association is receiving requests for information as to rooms in private homes.

FAVORS USE OF KNIFE AS AN AID TO RADIUM

German Surgeon Thinks It Unwise to Rely on New Treatment Alone

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, April 9.—Prof. Czerny, a celebrated Heidelberg surgeon, publishes in the current number of the Leutsche Rebue, a summary of the results observed by him in 4,000 cases of cancer treated by radium since 1908. His conclusion is that cures undoubtedly have been effected by means of radium and mesothorium, although they have been permanent in only some of the cases.

Prof. Czerny favors the acquisition by the imperial government of large supplies of radio-active substances for gratuitously entitled to the benefits of the state insurance system.

He thinks it premature to substitute radium for operations and favors the removal of cancers by the knife, and then the application of radium for the prevention of a recurrence of the growth.

Prof. Czerny himself has from the beginning combined operations with radium, and is convinced that this system promises the best results. He treats superficial cancer with mesothorium

SAY MANY NEWSPAPERS IGNORE NEW POSTAL LAW

Rep. Barnhart Declares Shipping Trusts Are Paying for Attack on Tolls Repeal

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Representative Barnhart, Democrat of Indiana, author of the newspaper publicity section of the postoffice law, told Postmaster General Burleson today that he believed certain newspapers were violating its provisions by not marking as advertising certain matter attacking the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption, which Mr. Barnhart alleges he has reason to believe is being furnished by a shipping trust. Mr. Burleson told Mr. Barnhart he was ready to receive any evidence of violation of the law.

"The postmaster general has information that certain newspapers, some of them the largest and most influential in various cities from coast to coast, are printing articles for the shipping trust in the agitation against the tolls repeal bill," said Representative Barnhart today.

"These articles, according to the information before the department, are printed as bona fide news articles without the slightest indication that they are advertisements. Newspapers and their editors and owners, if investigation discloses they are accepting pay for the so-called news articles, may be fined by the courts and their newspapers barred from the second class privilege."

BOY TELLS DETECTIVES HE KILLED HIS UNCLE

Seventeen-year-old Youth Relates How He Murdered Relative With an Axe

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., April 9.—Harry Lee, the eighten-year-old nephew of P. O. Bonnell, who was charged with the murder of his uncle, confessed to the killing this morning. A detective from the Burns agency arrived here from the Atlanta office and he, together with the local officers began work to ferret out the crime. After spending about three hours on the scene, they were convinced that sufficient clues were obtained to point to the boy's guilt.

The coroner's jury in the meantime had released the boy, but the solicitor general ordered him held for trial. The officers talked with Lee at the jail last night and again this morning when he broke down crying and confessed, giving as his reasons that his uncle had continually abused him and had refused to let him have money to go home with.

Lee says he was all dressed with the exception of his shoes and stepped out on the back porch, got an axe and returning to the bed where Bonnell had been asleep for ten minutes struck him once on the head. His uncle struggled, he said, then he hit him twice more, then he ran out and gave the alarm.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well

Mrs. W. W. Lake, of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The grippe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cods' livers—combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Thick

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is again fashionable. Mixing this at home is troublesome, but you can get it ready-to-use at any drug store for 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—(Advt.)

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

NO "JINT" DEBATES FOR SLATON'S SENATE RACE

He Expects to Conduct Campaign Largely by Means of Personal Correspondence

If there are to be any "jint" debates between the candidates for Senator Bacon's unexpired term these debates will have to be pulled off without the participation and presence of Governor John M. Slaton, and those who have indulged the hope and expectation of seeing and hearing the governor in such a contest may as well pocket their disappointment now.

The governor does not intend to enter into any joint debates, and what is more and further, it is not his purpose to make a stump-speaking campaign.

The following statement, given out by Governor Slaton, expresses his views:

"I have speaking engagements for the next two months at meetings of an educational nature and these I shall fill. One of these is at Albany at the chautauqua. Otherwise I will not make any speeches during the coming campaign. I shall confine my efforts to communications to the public and will keep in touch with the voters by means of personal correspondence.

"I can see no good of joint debates. They usually wind up in a contest of mud-slinging and billingsgate, and the man who is most proficient in this art gets the most applause, but not necessarily the largest number of votes. I do not believe in any such methods. The people of the state know me and my record for the past twenty years.

"I think the governor can be of more service to his state and himself by ploughing his fields than by listening to two men abuse each other. I think the farmers feel this way about it also."

Judge Spencer R. Atkinson May Run for Legislature

Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, of Atlanta, may be a candidate for the legislature from Fulton county. A committee of well-known lawyers called upon Judge Atkinson Wednesday afternoon and presented him with a petition signed by a majority of the members of the Atlanta Bar association, many business man and numerous other leading citizens.

This committee consisted of R. B. Blackburn, Van Astor Batchelor, Harvey Hill, A. J. Orme, Edgar Latham, Walter Mashburn, Alex Smith, Jr., Hughes Spalding, Lee Jordan, Sam Evins, Hollins Randolph, R. E. Pomeroy and Roy Dorsey.

Mr. Blackburn, acting as spokesman for the committee, told Judge Atkinson that it was men of his high qualifications that Fulton county needed in the legislature at this time. Judge Atkinson thanked the committee for the compliment paid to him and gave his promise that he would take the request under consideration and announce his decision within the next few days.

It is understood that the Citizens' league will indorse Judge Atkinson's candidacy in the event he decides to make the race. Judge Atkinson is a former superior court judge, former chairman of the state railroad commission and an ex-member of the state supreme court. He has a large law practice.

The petition presented to him read as follows:

"We, the undersigned lawyers of Fulton county, Georgia, realizing the importance of legislation likely to come before the general assembly at its next session, such as the plank plan, legal procedure reforms and other legal questions requiring the experience and learning of able lawyers, do hereby advocate the election of some able and eminent member of the Atlanta bar to participate in this work.

"With this end in view, we respectfully petition you to accede to the wishes of a great number of your fellow citizens and enter the contest at the primary as a candidate for representative of Fulton county in the next general assembly."

Efforts are also being made to have Mr. Blackburn stand for re-election to the legislature. He has represented Fulton county several times and is now a member of the house.

Speaker Burwell Likely To Run for Governor

With the announcement from Sparta Thursday that William H. Burwell, speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, is seriously considering the advisability of announcing for governor, interest in that contest was heightened.

Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the governorship and J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, openly states that it is his intention to make the race.

In addition to these there are five other possibilities—C. Murphey Candler, of Decatur; Judge N. E. Harris, of Macon; E. E. Miller and G. Gunny Jordan, of Columbus, and Mr. Burwell, who has given out the following statement:

"I am considering very seriously the matter of running for governor. I have been considering that very thing ever since Governor Slaton stated positively his candidacy for the United States senate.

"I have already conferred with a number of my friends throughout the state as to the matter and am expecting to confer with others during the present week. I may say, too, that the outlook now is that I shall enter the race.

"I do not deny an ambition to be governor, and if it appears to me finally that the present is a fit and proper time for me to try for that high and honorable position, I certainly shall make the race. I shall be in position to state positively what I will do, however, within a few days."

W. C. Vereen Will Not Enter Governor's Race

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MOULTRIE, Ga., April 9.—W. C. Vereen will not be a candidate for governor this year.

He said as much to a representative of The Journal today. Mr. Vereen says that he is not willing to leave his business interests to engage in a long hot political fight, such as is promised in Georgia this year.

While Mr. Vereen made it plain that he would not become a candidate for governor, at the same time he said he did not want to fail to let it be known that he is deeply appreciative of the efforts of his friends, who have pressed his claims for that high office.

Ben F. Perry to Support Col. Park for Treasurer

Editor Ben F. Perry, of the Jonesboro News, who has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for state treasurer, has announced that he will not be in this race, but that he is supporting Colonel L. M. Park, and in the event of Colonel Park's election he will be chief clerk to the treasurer. Mr. Perry expresses his appreciation of the numerous pledges of support made to him by friends throughout the state.

DORSEY PLANS TO LEAVE CITY FOR SHORT TIME

Leaves Tonight, to Return Day Previous to One Set for Frank's Execution

Despite the activity of Detective William J. Burns and the numerous agents of the attorneys for the defense of Leo M. Frank, Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey is planning to leave Atlanta on Thursday night to be absent until the morning of the 16th of April, when the extraordinary motion for a new trial for Frank will be formally filed with the court.

While the solicitor refuses to discuss the case the inference is drawn from his attitude towards recent developments that he is confident that the extraordinary motion will not be sustained by the courts. Before his departure several of the city detectives, who have been identified with the case, were called to the solicitor's office, but they are said to have already completed their investigation of the points made by the defense in the notice that the extraordinary motion would be filed.

It has been the prevailing impression that the extraordinary motion would be filed on Thursday of next week and the arguments begun on the same day. That, however, is erroneous. According to the routine court procedure in the case, Judge Ben H. Hill in all probability will issue a rule nisi, requiring the state to show cause on a given date, why the motion should not be granted.

The issuance of such a rule will halt the execution of Frank, scheduled for April 17.

The superior court reconvenes for routine business on May 11, it is practically certain that on this will be set for the hearing which will allow for its conclusion before the routine court session. The date of the hearing will probably be fixed for between 10 and 15 days from the date of the filing of the motion.

Detective Burns on Thursday would set no definite date for the making of a report on his investigation. It is still believed that the detective's report will be made public during the early part of next week.

ROOT OUT YOUR CORNS WITH PAINLESS TANGO

Don't Fuss and Worry, and Pick and Gouge and Torture Your Toes With Caustics.

TANGO for Corns is the most marvelous remedy of the age. No wonder everybody is enthusiastic about it. One touch of TANGO on a corn ends your suffering. Applied in a second, and it's done. No plaster or salve to fuss with; nothing to stick to the stocking and be jerked from the sore toe with excruciating agony; no swelling tenderness, no blood. Whatever you do for a corn, NEVER use a point or a blade, because the risk is too great. A slip of the instrument and a drop of blood caused many cases of blood poison.

TANGO is the one safe remedy that roots out the core of the corn painlessly. It softens this kernel and brings it out, the root, and the corn is gone forever. No pain, no fuss, no sore, bandaged toes.

TANGO is the safest and surest remedy for corns and bunions; the one GUARANTEED remedy. Any druggist will return your money if TANGO fails to root out the CORE of the corn painlessly. 25c at All Druggists. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy, Atlanta.—(Advt.)

That Your Easter Hat May Be--- the crowning glory (you know the hats this spring are calculated to show the hair) of your Easter costume, may be the matter of the selection of your store.

You hear the styles spoken of in a general way; so do many milliners that offer "the latest Parisian ideas"; but through our connection with the shop of Estelle Mershon, 20 East Forty-sixth street, New York, we are kept in closest touch with the new fashions just as they are brought out.

There is no doubting the styles here!

All this week hats that reflect these fashions have been arriving, also fashion letters that enable our own work rooms to reproduce hats of Paris style at small prices.

Your Easter hat, selected at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co., will be a picture of style and becomingness.

None But the Most Capable Should Fit Your Easter Corset

There was a time, years ago, when corsets were sold much the same as a spool of thread—as an article that cost so much to produce. The merchant added his profit and sold it. It was nothing more than a piece of merchandise.

That time passed in Atlanta when we opened our improved Corset Service Department, when we advertised that corsets were the one thing in this store that we would rather not sell to a woman if her choice were contrary to what our trained fitters thought was the right model for her figure.

We looked upon corsets as more than merchandise. The fit of the corset involved a woman's health and comfort. The store that failed to recognize this failed in its service. So we had expert fitters, women who knew anatomy; who sold corsets, yes, but who first fitted corsets—the right corset.

It was the new way in the corset business.

Since then practically all good stores have followed.

It was inevitable that they should. The old way offered no attraction to women.

The Chamberlin-Johnson DuBose Co. way offered every attraction; the correction of infirmities, the strengthening of the body; they were an aid to right breathing, to better digestion—to health.

All this was in years gone by—we got a good start in the right direction and then we set to intensifying our corset service; to putting right principles into better operation.

This resulted in securing the most thoroughly capable experts in fitting, and makes of corsets that were fashioned so that they would not sacrifice a woman's health and comfort for style. This work has gone forward until today it has reached a point as near perfection as determined effort could bring it.

The Corset Section is under the charge of a woman who studied and knew the human anatomy before she knew corsets.

She had the professional knowledge of a surgeon before she began the fitting of corsets.

She selects the styles and models this Corset Service Section offers its customers.

It is quite natural for her to judge corsets and their merits from the health-standpoint.

So when a woman comes to be fitted it is not a question of selling her this "pretty" model or that one, but the model that her figure requires; that a surgeon would advise.

We do not mean that this question enters into every woman's selection of her corset; we do mean that we are best prepared to help the woman who requires professional advice and knowledge in the choice of her corset.

And we have not said a word about corset styles!

But you can see the styles!

It is gratifying to all interests concerned that the railroads and the commercial travelers of Georgia have reached a satisfactory adjustment of the long vexed mileage-book issue. The agreement seems to approach the main ends the travelers have had in view, without exposing the roads to any possible harm. The interchangeable mileage coupon books will be restored, and the roads will also offer for sale so-called "stop-over" tickets whereby the traveler can stop at as many points as he may desire between the starting point and the destination specified on his ticket. This will go far toward relieving the travelers of the difficulties they experienced under the old plan of having to exchange their mileage coupons for regular train tickets on every trip.

The fact that the railroads and the traveling men have reached an amicable settlement of their differences after years of rather heated argument and litigation is significant. The record of the case goes to show that when both parties to a dispute recognize mutual rights and interests they can generally arrive at a peaceful and profitable agreement.

The traveling men are regular and valuable patrons of the transportation companies. They are producers of business for the railroads as well as for the merchants and manufacturers they directly represent. Certainly, then, it behooves the railroads to accommodate the commercial travelers as far as they consistently can, to consider their convenience and interests at every possible point.

The fact is, this is the proper and reasonable attitude for public service companies to maintain toward all their patrons. Fortunately, the one-time disposition of railroads to ignore the public is rapidly passing. They are recognizing more and more clearly the fundamental importance of serving their patrons efficiently, justly and even generously. When this truth is completely recognized, there will be little difficulty in reaching friendly adjustments of disputes.

May the frost be tempered to the Georgia peach.

Georgia Facts.

The value of Georgia's peanut crop for 1913 was two and a quarter million dollars, the value of its sugar cane products more than two and a half million, and of its pecan orchards twelve and a half million.

These are among a thousand or more uncommonly interesting facts compiled by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce to show the extent and variety of the State's resources. They will prove a revelation not only to people in other parts of the Union but to Georgians themselves. We are accustomed to speak in glowing terms of the natural treasure and the broad possibilities of this commonwealth, but not until we pass from generalities to specific data and details, as the State Chamber of Commerce has done, can we realize just what this treasure amounts to and just what these possibilities are.

A glance at the Chamber's compilation shows that in every field of practical endeavor, in industry and commerce as well as in agriculture, Georgia is forging rapidly forward. There are, for instance, five thousand factories now operating in the State. Their aggregate production in 1912 was two hundred and two million, eight hundred and sixty thousand dollars; and since that time their increase has been more remarkable than ever.

In matters of finance, the record is particularly impressive. The total resources of the six hundred and ninety-three State banks show a gain in 1913, as compared with 1912, of five million, six hundred and ninety-three thousand dollars. Individual deposits in the State banks on January the first of the current year amounted to ninety-one million, four hundred and forty-one thousand, five hundred and thirty-five dollars, while the individual deposits in national banks were fifty-three million, six hundred and thirty-three thousand, nine hundred and eighty-nine dollars, making a total of more than one hundred and forty-five million dollars.

There are now invested in the capital stock of financial and commercial, public service, industrial and manufacturing, mercantile and miscellaneous corporations in Georgia four hundred and eighty-five million, five hundred and ninety-three thousand, eight hundred and twenty-six dollars. When to this is added the capital stock of the State and the national banks, there appears the impressive total of five hundred and twenty-nine million, six hundred and fifty-seven thousand, eight hundred and thirty-nine dollars invested in Georgia corporations.

As an instance of the farming possibilities of the State, the Chamber cites the fact that Georgia has an average of two hundred and thirty-five "growing" days in the year; in other States, etc.o, for example, the number of "growing" days is only one hundred and sixty-five. Agriculture and its allied pursuits, such as dairying and cattle raising, can thus be conducted through practically the entire twelve-month.

The value of the State's farm lands, buildings, machinery and live stock has increased from some one hundred and forty-three million dollars in 1880 to six hundred and twenty-five millions in 1913. The value of farm products have increased from sixty-seven million dollars in 1880 to three hundred and sixty millions in 1913.

While the towns and cities of the State have grown wondrously in the past decade, the development of rural districts has been no less remarkable. Of the ninety-odd thousand telephones now in use in Georgia, fifteen thousand, four hundred and fifty-eight are on farmers' line stations. Between twenty thousand and twenty-five thousand automobiles are owned in Georgia—far more than in any other Southern State—and of these a large portion are owned by people in rural districts.

The State Chamber of Commerce has rendered distinctive service in compiling and publishing these interesting facts. The work has been admirably conducted by Mr. W. M. Parkhurst. It will count for much in advertising and upbuilding the State.

Even a gold-handled umbrella has its ups and downs.

Knowledge often consists of a lot of miscellany that is not worth knowing.

An Omen of Prosperity.

The announcement that the Southern railway has contracted for five million dollars' worth of new equipment evidences a firm belief in the South's continued prosperity, and presages a time of unusual business expansion. The order includes sixty locomotives, fifty-four all-steel passenger train cars and more than four thousand freight cars, largely of steel construction. Improvements and additions so extensive would never be made were they not required by present growth or well warranted by developments clearly in prospect.

The Southern railway, together with all transportation lines in the Southeast, has peculiar cause for faith in the future. This part of the Union has been steadily progressing for years past. Its wondrous resources make it an empire within the nation. Its opportunities are now appealing more broadly than ever before to homeseekers and investors the country over. Its agricultural interests, the great foundation of economic welfare, are entering upon a new era of scientific development. The land is becoming more productive and more valuable. Industries, too, are growing apace. Manufacturing as well as farming advances from season to season. Especially noteworthy is the fact that the South's financial interests are now assured; with the establishment of the new banking and currency system, under which this section will be supplied with three reserve banks, we shall no longer be dependent upon remote centers of finance for monetary resources. Southern enterprise and initiative will be given a fair chance.

These conditions which apply peculiarly, as we have said, to the Southeast are largely true of the country as a whole. Railroads in every region are looking forward to increased demands for service, and are seeking the means to meet those demands. There have been occasional and local discouragements, but the general temper of American business today is distinctly hopeful. A spirit of fresh energy and faith is astir; the months and years ahead are rich in promise.

It takes a smart mother to manufacture smart sayings for her children.

It is easy to be optimistic and laugh at the misfortunes of others if you have none of your own.

Editorials in Brief

Straws will show the direction of the wind's blowing. In the Presidential primaries held in South Dakota in 1912 the Roosevelt delegates received over thirty-eight thousand votes, the La Follette delegates about nineteen thousand votes, the Taft delegates only ten thousand votes. Senator Coe I. Crawford, leader of the Roosevelt forces in the state, became one of the leaders of the "progressive" wing of the Republican party at the Chicago convention. South Dakota was one of two States in which the names of the Taft electors were not permitted upon the official ballots. It was "all one way." In the State wide primary held last week Senator Crawford was a candidate for renomination. His opponent was Representative Charles H. Burke, who supported Mr. Taft at Chicago and has been charged with being a "reactionary." Representative Burke defeated Senator Crawford by more than ten thousand votes.—New York Herald.

WIGS AND MOODS

By Dr. Frank Crane

(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Crane.)

The vogue of the colored wig is growing. The American women of Europe have gone in for it. Now it's got to go.

Colored hair was the feature of a picturesque dinner recently given in Paris by Mrs. Kirkpatrick, formerly of Brooklyn. Many leaders of society were present, all be-wigged.

The men are coming along. Sanford Saltus turned up the other day with blue hair at a ball at the Country club at Nice.

Why not?

It is the function of our high society, whom we have endowed so that they toil not, neither do they spin, to devise refinements in self-expression which those of us who have to work are too busy to invent.

And really, hair and hair, hair as an occipital excrescence of the human animal, smacks somewhat of vulgarity; it is for the "precious" ones in Paris as now to treat hair as a part of the clothing.

Long ago Bismarck saw this. "I would wear hair," he said, "to second my humors. Hence I wear periwigs of all qualities, long, short, middle, long, blond, dark. To me my wig is head-covering which I prefer to a hat of silk, wool or cotton."

One time he was attending a military review at Warsaw, where were present also Alexander II. and William, the future emperor of Germany. The Iron Chancellor had adorned himself with a blond wig. All went well until a Russian general hinted that the head-piece was leaning a bit to one side. Bismarck spurred his horse up to the carriage which was to take him home, and in the presence of all the royal personages tossed his wig into the vehicle, clapped on his hat, and resumed his place in the procession.

It is said also of Bulwer that he wore dark hair with a dark suit, light hair with light clothes, and russet hair with a red waistcoat.

But why should the advantage of changeable haircolor be confined to the bald? Is it to reward an inferiority of nature?

As for us, we also have our red-headed days, our moods of blue, hours when the soul's penumbra is golden; let us bewig ourselves accordingly.

Gray is always great, but why should Man, proud Man, the apex of evolution, be confined to the hair unto which he was born?

Life is a series of experiments in experience, a continuous adventure in personal expression. Whenever discovers a new medium of showing the nuances of the spirit has done us all a service.

If there are times when you would put on a flannel shirt, accompany a sweater coat and put the ball upon the smooth green, a hairy ulster and drive a six-cylinder, a dress suit and chat with the steel magnate's daughter over a cup of tea, and all that, why should you not wear a blue wig this spring morning and respond to the cerulean sky, a blond wig when you caper nimbly with Goldie in the tango, a raven black wig when you apply for a job where only young men are wanted, and a white wig and two-foot whiskers when you attend a meeting of the learned, so as to let no man despise your youth?

On the color wig there are no limitiees. If there be those who have seventeen vests, nineteen pairs of trousers, and a whole clothes-line full of variegated ties, to say nothing of shoes, black, tan, russet, white and patent leather, why should you not have in your boudoir also a row of wigs, arranged carefully in VIBGYOR, that is to say, violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red, also intersred and ultraviolet, that you may escape the humdrum of your sameness, and when the moon changes or the wind shifts to the east, or when day breaks for you joyous or gloomy, elect and wear the hair that suits you, lest the vibrations jangle, and you be out of tune with the cosmic waves of the universe?

A New Map of the United States

It would have been manifestly impossible for a mere human agency to divide the country into eight or like twelve districts and locate their several seats for the new federal reserve system with satisfaction to all concerned. But where criticism takes the course of charging with the esteemed Tribune that a "political stunt" has been given to the system, it is near forgetting why the system has been decreed.

There is complaint over the locations given some of the reserve banks.

Why Richmond instead of Baltimore if not for reasons personal to a member of the organising committee. But Richmond was first choice of a majority of the banks in that district.

Why Dallas over New Orleans? Or do we forget the great empire of trade and finance grown up thereabouts within a generation?

Why Kansas City when another Missouri city has a reserve bank? Or is the fact overlooked that Kansas City is the distributing center of an area quite distinct from that of St. Louis?

Why have tributary points in New Jersey and Connecticut been cut off from New York City? But complaint would be as great had these points been included and the upper strata cut off.

If the new system as now outlined has put on the map of the United States which must be hung up in Wall street great business and financial centers of the country heretofore little known there, this is its merit as well as its purpose.

It is idle to extend the criticism to the creation or so many districts or to the efforts of the committee to secure for each some measure of equality in banking power. That matter was fought out when the bill was under discussion. The law aims to decentralise bank reserves, and not otherwise. It seeks to break up and not to fasten down tighter that Wall street domination of reserves and credit which had become an evil everywhere recognized outside of Wall street.

There is still to be a co-ordination of these reserves for the benefit of all. There is still to be freedom for Jersey or Connecticut banks to do business with banks in New York City. There is still to be no interference with the natural courses of trade anywhere.

The committee has worked in harmony with the law. It is helping give the country a new financial and not a "political" start.—New York World.

Quips and Quiddities

The youngster had a grievance, which she confided to her mother.

"Mother, you know the way me an' Johnny Smith play I'm Indians and he's soldiers?"

"Yes, dear; what of it?"

"Well, if I don't let him lick me every time we play he says I aren't patriotic."—Century.

Even the little children in Ireland, according to Hugh O'Donnell, have the true Irish sense of humor. He was standing before Nelson's statue, he said, when he asked a youngster: "Was Nelson really Irish?"

"That he was," replied the child. "That's why he is what he was."

Thomas C. Logan, of Philadelphia, is sometimes pessimistic about things in general and always particular about what he eats. One day he went into a restaurant and after scanning the menu laid to the waiter, "I see here you have some calf's heart."

"Yes, sir," agreed the waiter.

"Well, how about that?" pursued Logan. "Is it tender?"

"Yes, sir," the waiter assured him.

"Then," ordered Logan, "bring it to me. If there is in this world such a thing as a tender heart, I want it."—The Popular Magazine.

An old man who looked like a foreigner was walking along a London street playing a concertina that had seen better days. Noticing a brass plate with the words "Doctor of Music" written under the name on it, he went up to the house and rang the bell. The door was answered by a servant, who asked his business.

"Please," he said, "is the doctor o' music in?"

"Yes; what is it you want?" the servant asked.

"Why, just pop in an' ax him how much he'll charge to mend my concertina," was the reply.

The Journal's Letter Box

Editor The Journal:

In these our noisy days of clashing opinions, affirmations and denials, with wild winds of controversy blowing in all directions, casting dust into the eyes of believer and doubter, while in the turmoil of battling creeds, the still and small voice of Toleration is scarcely able to make itself heard, permit me to recall a little poem written by that wise and eminent jurist, Chief Justice Logan E. Bleckley, who, in addition to his profound knowledge of law, was also a true poet. It was called "Toleration," and will appeal with great force to the conscience and common sense of all thinking men and women:

TOLERATION.

My brother, why should we fall out.
Why not forgive you all your doubt.
And me all my conviction?
No matter what our dreams may be,
At last, when we awaken,
It may be plain to you and me,
We both were much mistaken.

CHARLES W. HUBNER.

Moreland, Ga., March 27, 1914.

Editor The Journal:

To ridicule is to be unkind. A query is not advice. Estimates on corn, peas and cotton, versus cotton, made by the writer was prompted by the hope of a generous crop of corn and some peas, that farmers would neglect the grain crops, would give them more consideration. No Georgia farmer needs to be advised that he should grow some cotton. The pity is that some farmers are disposed to resent a bare suggestion or expression pertaining to the details or modus operandi of their noble calling. Whens statistics show that Georgia has more cattle, hogs and sheep now than were on the farms of our fathers in 1860, and when it is a fact that Georgia's annual corn crops for many years have measured less than was grown before the year of 1861, it is time for every patriotic citizen of our state to raise his voice in gentle protest; when the figures have been published, and not refuted, that Georgia spent $18,000,000 more for feed stuff, meats and dairy products in a recent year than her cotton crop brought on the markets of the world. It does seem to me that mild criticism is in order, and that a few reasonable figures placed before the farmers should not be construed as either egotistical or the dream of a fanatic. The old style of advising diversified farming and making cotton the surplus crop has never been heeded with the majority of forty years. Cotton is a very expensive crop to grow, and to harvest, history will sustain me in the assertion, that it annually sells close around the cost of production, sometimes a little above, often below. Who read Mr. Loring Brown's history of the two Georgia farmers? One grew no cotton at all; the other grew too much. I make the assertion and invite proof to the contrary that mortgages on cotton lands have vastly increased in the past few years, while they have been lifted from lands of the corn growing sections. While we are poor planters of wasteful habits in growing cotton, we do not conserve it; it goes to the other fellow. Let me invote your readers to read "Down South" in issue of the Country Gentleman to be published April 11. We are told it will tell us about Georgia. I congratulate Mr. Fowler on being a successful hog raiser. I dare say his swine will show a better per cent of profit than his cotton. The writer does not pose as an expert farmer, but is trying to demonstrate, has sold surplus corn, oats, hay and meat for past three years, made in that time not less than forty-five bushels of corn to the acre on fifty acres annually, and will grow the same farm this year two acres in grain to every acre in cotton, because he has found for himself more clear dollars directly and indirectly from the grain crops; yet the original curse applies to myself but the same as to other farmers. We are drowsy from "cotton dope." So long as the majority grow cotton in such vast quantities that the grower is not a factor in making the price (and that they will continue to do) I am inclined to believe reason and figures would favor the few with nerve enough to throw off the yoke while applying intelligent methods to the growing of grain and live stock. Your readers were invited to drop the postals on either side. Have you received any saying Mr. Fowler's estimate is unreasonable? I also received a letter from a farmer and ex-business man in an adjoining county, saying: "Line of thought expressed in your letter is calculated to do much good." He displayed the fact that many of our farmers did not stop to think or to calculate. It is refreshing to know at least one farmer accepts kindly and without ridicule and humble effort to arouse some increased interest in a policy affecting as it does the economic condition of our section and people. If present conditions are ideal, let's go on with the procession and drop the discussion. If not, I would be pleased to hear again from the fluent writer, Mr. Fowler. Doubtless he has won the hearts of many farmers in his successful "bringing down" of this writer, and they are now in a recipient mood for what he will have to say further. If a single ray of light should be reflected from his pen or mine to brighten the pathway of any tiller of the soil, the object of my first query will have been accomplished. Respectfully,

W. A. BRANNON.

Editor The Journal:

As an humble member of the Democratic party I protest against the unjust and undemocratic county unit rule adopted by the state executive committee for state house offices and United States senators. I further protest against their action in clothing the congressional and senatorial committees with the several congressional and senatorial districts with power to adopt the same unjust and undemocratic rule. A party rule that will not permit the minority voter in one county to join his vote with the majority voter in another county voting for a common interest is saturated with fraud.

If we intend to have majority rule within the party let's have the man unit so that the popular will cannot be defeated and purge the party of the juggling, log-rolling privileges embodied in the county unit.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

A National Co-Operative University.

A university of the United States on a gigantic co-operative basis, to be located in the capital of the nation, is a plan that has just been proposed in certain influential circles. This unique contribution to the recent national university symposium was called forth by a bill introduced into the lower house of congress by Representative Fess last month. The co-operative plan goes contrary to the Fess bill in many ways.

The bill now pending was drawn at the instance of the National Association of State University Presidents, and calls for an endowment of $5,000,000 to found and equip the University of the United States, which shall be wholly a great graduate school for research work, the entrance requirement to be the degree of Master of Arts or the equivalent. The idea is that each institution would be the capstone of our national systems of education, and that it would take rank with the world's best, such as the University of Paris, the Universities of Berlin, Oxford, etc.

The co-operative plan would require only a B. A. or equivalent, and contemplates a great training school for the thousands of federal employes, who would spend half their time in theoretical study and the other half in practical work. Dean Herman Schneider, engineering department, University of Cincinnati, has used this system with signal success. It is believed by those who favor this proposal that it would be instrumental in the government service.

THE FEDERAL CITY

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

V.—BUILDING THE CAPITOL AND WHITE HOUSE.

Robinson Crusoe, who was cast away on a desert island with only such materials as he could save from a stranded ship, was considering the needs he had to meet, in a better position than those who were charged with the duty of providing permanent quarters for the congress and the executive in the Federal City established by the act of congress of July 16, 1790, as amended by the act of March 3, 1791. Crusoe, at least, had more money than he could spend, and the progressive builders of the capitol and the White House lacked not only money, but the materials and hands to do the work.

Under the authority of the first act, President Washington appointed three commissioners, Thomas Johnson, David Stuart and Daniel Carroll, first, to lay out the ten miles square for a federal district, and then to provide the buildings for the government.

When the commissioners first met in Georgetown, in the fall of 1790, and looked over their jurisdiction, they might well have been appalled at the extent of their task. The land on which the federal buildings were to be placed was only partly cleared of the primeval forest, and the only signs of human effort were a few planted fields and the frame and log buildings of the planters. The leaders of principalities were Alexandria and Georgetown, both principal ports of exportation, and Georgetown, both principal ports of exporting material in either town and special importations from the north or from Europe were customary when building operations of any extent were undertaken.

There was also absolutely no skilled labor. The primitive industries of a community on the verge of the frontier were carried on by means of slave labor, and the processes of the exchange of agricultural commodities of life made no provision for an industrial undertaking such as had been imposed on the commissioners of the new city.

The first requirement was, of course, that plans should be made for the new buildings, and the commissioners inserted advertisements in the leading newspapers of the country for a plan for a capitol, offering as a prize to the successful contestant the choice of a gold medal or of a lot in the new city. The commissioners' letters mention the receipt of "several" designs, but there are only six that are specifically mentioned. Two of these were so imperfect as not to have received serious consideration. One of these was a plan drawn by Samuel MacIntire, of Salem, Mass. The author of this plan was a master builder who is now recognized as the leading American adopter of the Georgian fashions of architecture into what is now known as the colonial style. His plan apparently received little attention, and the two drawn by Dr. William Thornton and by Samuel S. Hallet were taken up for consideration. Hallet was a French artist resident in Philadelphia and had been encouraged to make a plan by those interested in the new city. Dr. William Thornton was an amateur architecture and it was urged that his plan was impracticable. He submitted it to a jury of practical builders who assured him that the objection was well founded.

The criticism of the Hallet plan was that there was not sufficient provision for the accommodation of the executive departments in the capitol in addition to the president's house. Hoban had been recommended to Washington by influential men of Charleston, S. C., and he was able to satisfy the commissioners of his qualifications. He was engaged at a salary of 200 guineas a year and was directed to embody drawing plans for the president's house, which was generally styled "the palace," and also any other architectural work, drafting or planning that the commissioners might need in addition to superintendence of the building operations.

Hoban's plan for the palace was approved before the contest for the plan of the capitol was finished, and when laid out on the ground was found to differ materially from the arrangement for the location which had been made and staked out by Major L'Enfant in connection with his plan of the city, although no difficulty was experienced in adjusting the Hoban plan to the space which had been reserved for the presidential home.

During the time the plans were being prepared the commissioners were making a survey of the source of material for the new buildings. They employed Francis Appleton, of Massachusetts, to visit all the ports of supply in the north and engage all the available sails and other hardware, lead and glass that might be on hand or in prospect for importations.

They were fortunate in finding a supply of stone close at hand. There formerly existed on the bank of the Potomac river, within what is now Potomac park in the city of Washington, an outcrop of the freestone which constitutes the obstructions to the navigation of the river for about twelve miles above Georgetown. It was a prominent ledge which had been used for years as a landmark and was known as the "Key of All Keys" for the reason that it was the point from which the survey of several land patents in the vicinity started. It is the tradition of later years that General Braddock and his army landed on this rock to begin their land journey toward Fort Duquesne, which was he requested.

terminated by Braddock's defeat. There was enough of this stone to build the foundations of the capitol and White House, but a larger quantity and better grade were wanted for the walls. It was thought that suitable stone could be found on the Mount Vernon estate, but it was found to be too soft, and a satisfactory supply was located on a quarry already opened on Aquia creek about thirty-five miles below Washington. The island and quarry were purchased, the commissioners built a wharf at the western end of the city not far from the location of the canal, and foundation stone and this item of supply was arranged, as were the items of lime, brick and timber, by going down to the principal sources and shipping the materials for construction to the nature herself.

For lime the commissioners contracted for the delivery of thousands of bushels of oyster shells which were delivered, some in bulk and others in sacks, on the beds of the lower river. The supply of timber was taken from the forests along the river. Hoban was sent to overlook the cutting of the timber, one of which was purchased, and a contract was made with Colonel William Washington to collect slaves and fell the trees, delivering them at the river edge to be towed to the commissioners' timber yard in Washington. The manufacture of brick had already been undertaken by private persons in Washington, and the commissioners had a good deal of trouble to prevent the excavation of the necessary clay in search for brick clay. Ample material for brick for the capitol and White House was found on lands owned by the United States.

All these operations demanded labor and the supply of labor presented the hardest problem the commissioners had to solve. The slave-population could handle only the roughest of the work, and it is made a matter of record that when employed as tenders for masons they hindered rather than helped. The commissioners addressed appeals for workmen not only to the north, where the skilled artisans of the time resided, but to all the European countries from which immigration might be expected.

DR. KENNEDY EXPLAINS SLAUGHTER HOUSE LAW

Atlanta's Health Officer Answers Protest of Randolph County Farmers

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer of Atlanta, has written a letter to Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia chamber of commerce, explaining the reasons for the provision of Atlanta's slaughter house ordinance which requires meat shipped into Atlanta to be passed at the place of slaughter by United States government inspectors.

This is the provision that has been protested by the farmers of Randolph county, Ga., through their county chamber of commerce, on the ground that it discriminates against them in favor of the big western packing houses.

According to Dr. Kennedy, such a provision is absolutely necessary to protect the health of people in Atlanta, because experience has proved that in the absence of such a provision some unscrupulous farmers will butcher diseased hogs and cattle and ship the meat here to be sold.

The ordinance is admittedly a discrimination against the small hog and cattle raiser—though not especially against those of Randolph county—to the extent that a certain average number of hogs and cattle must be slaughtered in a particular locality to obtain the services of a government inspector. Moreover, the government requires butchering to be done in a slaughter house built according to certain sanitary specifications.

INSPECTOR NOT NEEDED.

In the case of Randolph county the number of hogs and cattle raised by the farmers is not sufficient to warrant the building of such a slaughter house, and, therefore, the county has no government inspector.

Where the farmers in a locality do not raise sufficient hogs and cattle to justify a slaughter house they have the alternative of shipping their animals to Atlanta "on their feet."

But the Randolph county farmers say the local packing houses of Atlanta will not buy hogs or cattle in less than carload lots and since no single farmer raises enough to make carload shipments it is necessary for several farmers to combine to fill a car, which is not convenient or profitable.

Atlanta's health authorities appreciate the fact, says Dr. Kennedy in his letter, that the provision of the ordinance in question may operate to the disadvantage of small raisers, but nevertheless it is considered necessary to protect the health of the citizens, for the reason stated above, and this should be Atlanta's first duty.

POLICEMAN BREAKS HAND, BUT HOLDS TO PRISONER

After an exciting chase down alleys back of Decatur street early Wednesday night police call officers and detectives caught three negro boys, said to be members of a gang who were burglarizing the wholesale tobacco house of Edward Lichenstein, 119 Decatur street.

The boys, Love Bridges, twelve years old; Marshall Bridges, seventeen years old, and Will Thomas, seventeen years old, are thought by detectives to be members of the gang who have recently stolen goods by the wagonload from Decatur street stores.

Call Officer Cochran, while making a grab for a negro who was disappearing through a window, broke his right hand against the butt of his revolver. In spite of the injury to his hand, however, Cochran held his prisoner.

POLICE CHIEF POSSESSES UNCLAIMED DIAMOND

A large solitaire diamond, cut, but uset, found in a crack in the steps of the old speedway, is in the possession of the county police, awaiting its owner to come and claim and identify it.

The diamond, valued at $200, was found by a negro named Barry Hutchins. Hutchins was trying to pawn it Tuesday in a Decatur street shop when a county policeman walked in, and arrested him.

Wednesday the man was released and told by Chief Matheson to come back Saturday. The chief will hold the diamond until then for its owner to come and claim it, if no owner shows up, the solitaire will go to Hutchins, its finder.

GEORGIA BOY GETS HIGH POSITION IN WASHINGTON

S. M. Grogan, of Elberton, Is Made Chief Statistician of Cities in Census Bureau

Starke M. Grogan, a statistician in the United States census bureau who has been assigned for several years to gathering statistics of cities, has just been appointed chief statistician of cities by W. J. Harris, the director of the census.

Mr. Grogan is from Elberton, Ga., and his family is one of the oldest in that section of the state. His assignment having been to the territory including Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah and other Georgia cities, he has many friends over to-day, methods of municipal accounting of his promotion.

In a letter to his friends in the city comptroller's office of Atlanta, announcing his appointment, Mr. Grogan takes occasion to compliment Comptroller Goldsmith very highly on the up-every recommendation of the bureau has which he has put in use at the suggestion of the census bureau. He says every recommendation of the bureau has been carried out, so that Atlanta's system of accounting is on a par with the most progressive cities in the country.

Mr. Grogan in his letter also compliments Director W. J. Harris, who is a Georgia man, having been appointed by President Wilson soon after the latter went in office. Mr. Grogan says Director Harris has done some very fine work in hastening the reports on the 1913 census and has made himself popular with the men in the bureau by his businesslike methods and agreeable personality.

With Mr. Harris as director of the census and Mr. Gorgan as chief statistician of cities, Georgia may boast of two of the most important positions in this branch of the national government.

Women in Chicago To Plan Campaign For Next Election

Recent Victories Give Inspiration for Wet and Dry Vote Campaign

CHICAGO, April 9.—Inspired by their victories in the Illinois local option elections Tuesday the temperance forces today issued a call for a delegate convention to be held here next Monday to formulate plans for a wet and dry vote in Chicago at the mayoralty election next spring.

The drys contemplated beginning the city campaign at once and continuing until election day a year hence. The temperance forces had considered the advisability of making an issue of the saloon question at the aldermanic election last Tuesday but decided to postpone the vote until a more opportune time.

No exact date had been determined upon but the drys had announced they would call a saloon vote in Chicago some time between 1915 and 1918. Tuesday's dry victories were said today to have hastened the Chicago contest at least a year.

Revised returns from Tuesday's local option elections in Illinois showed that more than one-half the 102 counties in the state are now anti-saloon territory. Twenty-two counties were added to the dry column. Thirty counties already were dry, making a total of fifty-two prohibition counties.

Declaring that women demonstrated their desire to vote at Tuesday's township elections, woman suffrage leaders today began a movement for full suffrage for the women of Illinois. This could be obtained only through a change in the state's constitution.

Under the equal suffrage act passed by the last legislature women cannot vote for state officials, members of the legislature, members of congress or other constitutional offices.

PINKERTON AGENCY HERE MAKES SPLENDID RECORD

Report Shows That 259 Forgers and Bank Swindlers Were Captured

Through the work of Pinkerton's National Detective agency 259 forgers and bank swindlers were captured during the year ending January 31, 1914. Of this number seventeen were arrested in Georgia, thirteen of them having committed offenses against Atlanta banks.

The report of the Pinkerton's National Detective agency, dealing altogether with protection afforded by it to banks, and exclusive of the work done by its agents for the express companies and in private cases, shows that during the past four years the agency has run down 879 bank swindlers, who had obtained a total of $393,646.85, and that of this amount the Pinkertons recovered $138,891.03 for their subscribers.

In this report are many letters from bankers and chiefs of police commending the work of the Pinkertons, and it is pointed out that the Pinkerton agents always work in conjunction with the police.

The Atlanta office of Pinkerton's National Detective agency is located in the Candler building. J. H. Kelly is superintendent and Harry Scott, assistant superintendent.

GEORGIA CORPORATIONS ARE WORTH $529,657,839

Booklet Being Prepared by the State Chamber Contains Many Facts

More than $500,000,000—or $529,657,839 to be exact—is the amount invested in Georgia corporations, according to a statement issued by the Georgia chamber of commerce concerning its booklet, "Georgia Facts," which is being printed. The stand of Georgia among other states of the union is shown to be remarkable by the investigations which have been made to compile the material for this booklet.

Farming is favored by the natural conditions prevailing in Georgia. The booklet contrasts Georgia's 235 growing days in each year with the 148 growing days in Ohio, for instance. Out of 59,475 square miles of land in Georgia, only 540 square miles are covered by water. The state has 7,536 miles of railroad. The total individual deposits in state, savings and national banks of Georgia on January 1, 1914, was more than $145,000,000.

Georgia's farm products brought to the state in 1913 $360,000,000. The mineral products that year were valued at $6,400,000. The total production of more than 5,000 factories in Georgia in 1912 was $702,863,000.

These and numerous other facts of vital interest are compiled in the chamber's booklet, which will be ready soon for distribution among all who seek information about Georgia.

DIFFERENCE IS SHOWN BETWEEN TWO "ARMIES"

Some confusion has resulted in Atlanta, according to members of the Salvation Army here, in the distinction between the army and the organization known as the Volunteers of America, both of which are accustomed to make collections for relief work in the city.

In no spirit of antagonism, but merely to make clear to Atlantians that these are two separate bodies, the Salvation Army people suggest that subscribers make sure to which of the two they are giving when visited.

A Doctors's First Question Is——?

"How are Your Bowels?" A Simple Remedy that Guarantees Good Bowel Action.

LIEUT. G. W. VAUGHAN

Trace the origin of the commoner ills of life and almost invariably you will find that constipation was the cause. It is not to be expected that a mass of fermented food can remain in the system beyond its time without vitiating the blood and affecting the nerves and muscles. It congests the entire body.

The results are colds, fevers, piles, headaches, biliousness, with its accompanying indigestion and sleeplessness. There is only one thing to do, and that is to remove the trouble; and when nature seems unable to do it, outside aid is necessary. You will find the best of all outside aids a remedy that many thousands are now using for this very purpose, called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Many hundreds of letters are received by Dr. Caldwell telling of the good results obtained, and among the enthusiastic letters is one from Lieut. G. W. Vaughan, of 425 W. North St., Decatur, Ill. He is 72 and has had a bad liver and stomach since he came out of the army. He says he tried about everything, but never succeeded in getting permanent relief until he took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. He is never without a bottle in the house, and he is never without good health.

It has untold advantages over pills, salts and the various coarse cathartics and purgatives, for while these do but temporary good, Syrup Pepsin cures permanently. The effect of its action is to train the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally again, and in a short time all forms of medicine can be dispensed with. It can be bought without inconvenience at any nearby drug store for fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being regularly bought by those who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

LOWER CABLES AND BEAR PRESSURE CAUSED DECLINE

Market in New York Closed 8 to 25 Points Lower Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 9.—The cotton market opened steady today with April 22 points lower and other months 2 to 5 lower. Cables were disappointing and the forecasts were for fair to wet weather in the south. The big fluctuation in April represented little more than a selling order for a month in which there is very little interest, after yesterday sold 7 to 9 points net lower during the early trading.

There was just about enough buying by prominent spot house brokers to absorb offerings on the early decline and trading later became very quiet with prices steady at a rally of 3 or 4 points from the lowest shortly after midday.

The market turned easier during the early afternoon under realizing some of which seemed to result from recent pessimistic buyers. Active months sold about 7 to 11 points net lower.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—In the face of unfavorable cables and weather reports the cotton market opened 5 to 9 points lower today and sagged 10 to a level 17 to 20 points down in the early trading. Heavy selling by Wall street account and large realizing over the holidays from longs were the reasons for the fall.

Reports of frost and freezing in Texas and probable damage to young cotton caused buying on which the market went to a level unchanged to 3 points down compared with yesterday's close. At noon however, the market was 2 to 5 points down, net.

W. H. Boggs, of Baltimore, Is Found Dead With Pistol Bullet in His Head

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—W. H. Boggs, of Baltimore, was found dead in Arlington National cemetery today with a pistol in his hand and a bullet hole in his head. A bank book showing a substantial balance in Baltimore identified the body. He is supposed to have ended the g.ards and entered the cemetery last night.

That he killed himself while despondent from an attack of illness from which he was convalescing was the belief expressed by Mrs. Boggs, at Baltimore, when notified of her husband's death.

Mr Boggs was a manufacturer's agent.

PLUCKY YOUNG GIRLS ROUT SNATCH THIEF

Two plucky young girls, determined not to be robbed without putting up a stiff fight, put a would-be negro snatch thief to route in front of 252 South Pryor street Wednesday night when he molested them on their way home from work. They were Miss Mary Gershon, of 248 Central avenue, and Miss Camp, of 252 South Pryor street.

As the girls reached the home of Miss Camp, the latter grabbed the purse of her companion, which was hanging on her arm. She started to pull away from him and screamed. The other girl stood by her and fought the negro off.

MANY homes are bought and sold through The Journal Want Columns.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit could hardly believe what he had seen—the big black stranger, with the great terrible claws, backing away from Jimmy Skunk, and Jimmy acting just as if he was in the habit of meeting this stranger every day and making him act out of his way. And yet he knew that Jimmy never had seen him before. Peter always had had a great deal of respect for Jimmy Skunk. He knew that Jimmy just laughed at Reddy Fox although Reddy is ever so much bigger than he, and he knew that Bowser the Hound almost turned aside if he happened to meet Jimmy. But he really had not thought that Jimmy would dare to treat this great stranger so, and if he hadn't seen it himself he wouldn't have believed it because—well, because he couldn't have believed it.

Peter was full of wonder and excitement as he hurried away to tell all whom he should meet what he had seen. He didn't know who the stranger was. Never had he seen any one like him in the Green Forest. The very thought of him made Peter shake with fright, even if Jimmy Skunk should say that there was nothing to be afraid of and Peter knew that this is just what Jimmy would say when he met him. Presently as he hurried lippetty-lippetty-lip through the Green Forest he met his cousin, Jumper the Hare.

"Oh, Jumper! Cousin Jumper! I've seen him," cried Peter just as soon as he was near enough to make himself heard.

Jumper sat up and looked at Peter curiously. "Supposing you tell me who you've seen," said he quite as if he had no particular interest in the matter.

"Why, the stranger! The great big stranger who made those tracks in the snow I told you about and whom you tried to find and couldn't. I saw him just a few minutes ago! Who do you suppose he is, and do you suppose he has come to the Green Forest to stay?" cried Peter, talking so fast that the words just tumbled out.

"How should I know?" replied Jumper the Hare. "Suppose you tell me something about him. What does he look like?"

"Well, he's big," began Peter. "He's bigger than any one else in the Green Forest. Why, he's as big as Farmer Brown's boy! He wears a black fur coat. He stands on two legs and he walks on four legs, and he hasn't any tail."

Jumper yawned just as if he wasn't the least bit interested. "I've heard all that before from Sammy Jay," said he.

"And don't you believe it!" cried Peter.

Jumper the Hare smiled at Peter, and Peter knew right away by that smile that his big cousin had been teasing him. "Yes," said he, "I believe it because—well, because I have seen him myself."

"You have?" cried Peter, "and do you really know who he is?"

Jumper nodded. "Yes," said he, "he's an old acquaintance of mine."

"Who?" demanded Peter, his eyes popping out with excitement. "Tell me quick, who is he?"

"He's some one I used to know when I lived in the Great Woods before I came to live in the Green Forest on the edge of the Green Meadows," replied Jumper, speaking so slowly that Peter thought he never would get it out.

"But what's his name? Do tell me his name, Cousin Jumper," implored Peter.

"His name," replied Jumper slowly, very slowly, while Peter held his breath and leaned forward with eyes and ears and mouth wide open. "His name is——"

"Is what?" cried Peter.

"Is Buster Bear," replied Jumper the Hare.

Matinee Party to Visitor

Miss Hattie Pudge will be hostess at a matinee party Tuesday, April 14, at the Lyric theater, in honor of Mrs. Hay Carlton, of Montgomery, Ala., the guest of Mrs. Walter Smith.

The invited guests are Mrs. Carlton, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Frank Winecoff, Miss Alma Downing, Miss Lebie Ewing and Miss Nell Pace.

Stabat Mater Rendition

The "Stabat Mater" will be sung Friday evening by St. Luke's choir.

This will be a musical event of unusual importance, owing to the beauty of the oratorio and its infrequent production.

It is written in the brilliant operatic style of Rossini's time and remains unique in its elimination of long heavy choruses and the substitution of several solo quartets of great beauty, and yet the final "Amen" chorus is one of difficulty. The solos and duets are numerous and elaborate and will be sung by the following artists: Soprano, Mrs. Lyda Moeckle; alto, Miss Harriett Mildridge; tenor, Mr. James Fardwell; bass, Mr. Harry Bates. Mrs. Cecil Poole, soprano; Miss Grace Mauk, alto; Mr. William Clower, tenor, and Mr. Charles Chalmers, baritone, will assist in the quartets. Miss Ethel Beyer will accompany at the organ and Mrs. Charles Chalmers at the piano.

The Misses Voorhees, Mr. Poundstone and Dr. C. B. Wilmer, violinists, and Mr. Clarence Blosser, cornetist, will add greatly to the accompaniment.

The organist and director, Mr. Cecil Poole, requests the congregation to be in their seats by 8 o'clock, as the processional will start promptly at that hour.

Bridge Party to Visitors

Miss Lebie Ewing entertained her bridge club and a few other guests at her home in Ansley Park Wednesday morning, in compliment to Mrs. Ray Carlton, of Montgomery, Ala., the guest of Mrs. Walter Smith, and to Miss Margaret Darby, of Washington, D. C., the guest of Mrs. R. C. Darby.

The rooms in which the game was played were effectively decorated with white dogwood, daffodils and other early spring flowers.

The guests of honor were presented with handkerchief sachets by the club prize and the guest prize, for top scores were lace collars and the consolation prize was a book.

Those present were Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Ray Carlton, Mrs. Jarvis Ison, Mrs. Grady Estes, Mrs. John Tanner, Mrs. Carlton McKinney, Mrs. Clarke Frazier, Mrs. Nowell, Mrs. Morris Ewing, Miss Louise Mell, Miss Marguerite Harper, Miss Betty Fudge, Miss Mary Peter, Miss Annie Mendelin and Miss Margaret Bramlett, Miss Bernice Schnuesell, Miss Edith Tanner, Miss Ruth Tanner and Miss Virginia Ribble.

"The Shop With a Reputation"

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

PARIS.—Day by day the new coiffure grows in importance. And day by day women make failures of it. Possibly we think it is ugly because we are so unused to it. It may be that custom will soften the asperity of its appearance.

They talk over here as though we were going back to the hairdressing of the time of Louis XV as well as to the hats. If the painted portraits of that day faithfully portray the features of the women, the high forehead was universal. Today it is not so in France, which is fortunate.

The person who made up the traditional statement anent the fact that such a facial blemish betrayed mental strength evidently did it to console those who suffered under this unkind stroke of nature. There has never been a time when a high forehead was acceptable to women. And yet there are artists today who declare in favor of it.

I heard Paul Poiret expressing himself strongly for it, at a dinner the other night where the subject of the new silhouette was under discussion. He thought women would look their best, more intellectual, more attractive, and more beautiful, when they pushed their hair back from the forehead. The women disagreed with him.

There has always been a feeling among civilized women that the face must be softened by tendrils or waves or curls. This was not only true without the hat, but with the hat. Today women are discarding this theory and it takes a beautiful face to stand the hard line of a hat across the uncovered brow.

Five Points of Beauty.

There are few women who possess the perfect formation of the hair on the brow which has long gone by the name of the five points of beauty. The women of the eighteenth century were supposedly natural in these points by training their hair from childhood to grow according to this method, and probably many of them were successful in achieving the effect by means of a comb deftly wielded.

But it is too late for us to go to work on these five points and yet one is astounded to see that there are lovely foreheads left in the world.

What the woman with the high forehead will do under the pressure of the new fashion no one knows. She will probably go back to the habit of having her hair waved low over the forehead, it closely to the head, contenting herself with a few real or false tendrils drawn above the eyebrows.

One thing is certain; the heads of women look infinitely better in the back than they have done for years. The hair is drawn away from the neck to the crown of the head, rippling as it goes, and the artists and hairdressers will tell you that it is as essential to beauty for the hair to grow well in the back as in the front; but women will not listen to this verdict.

The Hair Is Arranged.

It is not necessary to wave the hair in the new coiffure, but many women prefer it. Straight hair, if it grows well and has a high gloss, is quite acceptable as far as fashion is concerned. The cardinal points of the new hair-dressing are smoothness, a close outline of the head, and absence of knot, braid, or puff, and positively no parting anywhere.

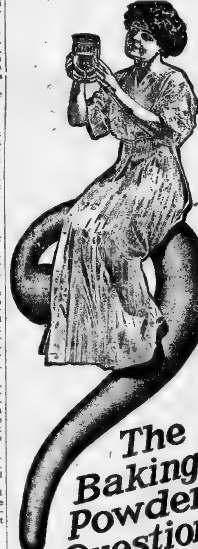

Instead of the line going downward from the temple to nape of neck, it now goes upward. All the hair is drawn toward the lower crown of the head. One rarely sees combs, although the long barette has been revived.

Q-BAN DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Its Effect Is Amazing—Darkens Hair So Evenly Nobody Will Know It Has Been Applied.

You can turn gray, faded, streaked with gray hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll apply, on retiring, Q-Ban to hair and scalp like a shampoo. Q-Ban is harmless, not sticky, delightful to use and darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Q-Ban also produces that soft, luster and appearance of abundance to the hair which makes the hair so fascinating and attractive, besides prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Q-Ban gives a delightful feeling of refreshment and cleanliness to the scalp, and promotes the growth of thin or brittle hair. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired or prematurely, or even streaked with gray folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Q-Ban and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance. A Word of Timely Advice for Every Candidate

Next Saturday night at ten o'clock the Big Easter Gift Campaign of The Atlanta Journal will come to a close. This fact is vitally important to every candidate in the entire list, for it means THAT BUT TWO DAYS REMAIN IN WHICH TO WIN. Hence, every minute remaining is filled with deep meaning for the candidate who is earnest and sincere, and wants to win. These splendid gifts—ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD, one "Paige-Brunswick" touring car, valued at $1,050; two "Studebaker" touring cars, valued at $1,050 each; twenty elegant diamond rings; twenty solid gold watches; twenty perfect vacuum cleaners and twenty silver berry sets—are going to be won during these final two days, and YOUR CHANCES TO WIN THEM ARE AS GOOD AS THOSE OF ANY OTHER CANDIDATE. Not a minute should be lost; not a single subscription should be overlooked, for EVERY ONE IS GOING TO COUNT, and count faster than they have ever done before.

Keep this fact in mind—THE PRIZES HAVE NOT BEEN WON AS YET, AND WILL NOT BE WON UNTIL NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT AT TEN O'CLOCK, and every possible bit of effort you can put forth in the intervening time will bring you a return far more valuable than anything you ever received or ever will receive again. THIS IS THE TIME TO WORK, AND WORK EARNESTLY AND PERSEVERINGLY, FOR AFTER THESE TWO DAYS HAVE PASSED, YOUR EFFORT WILL BE OF NO AVAIL IN WINNING THESE AWARDS. Your motto should be, and must, if you are going to win: WORK, HARD AND SINCERE WORK, EVERY MINUTE OF THESE LAST TWO DAYS. Then you can rest assured of success and possession of a handsome reward.

Promptly at the hour of ten o'clock next Saturday night the campaign will come to a close. Candidates outside of Atlanta will be permitted to mail their subscriptions up to this hour, provided the postmark or postmaster's signature shows that the mailing was done BY ten o'clock.

To protect the interests of every candidate in every way, and satisfy everyone, The Journal has arranged to have present at 9 o'clock the following well known gentlemen, who have kindly consented to act as judges of the returns, and who have no interest other than to see that every regulation in regard to the close is properly carried out, in order that they may certify to the results when the final accounting takes place: Rev. A. M. Hughlett, pastor of St. Mark's M. E. Church, South; Colonel Walter P. Andrews; Mr. Jerome Jones, editor of the Journal of Labor; Mr. Ivan Allen, the well known local merchant; and Mr. Wm. T. Perkerson, assistant cashier of the Fourth National Bank. These gentlemen will be in attendance from 9 o'clock until the close at 10 o'clock.

After the close of the campaign the books of the Easter Gift Department will be carefully audited by the Joel Hunter Audit Co., of Atlanta, and as soon thereafter as the work can be finished, the winners will be announced. This will probably not be until Wednesday or Thursday of next week. A representative of the Audit Company will also be in attendance at the close next Saturday night.

TWO DAYS OF EFFORT—AND ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD, A HANDSOME AUTOMOBILE—WHAT A PROSPECT FOR THOSE WHO WORK EARNESTLY.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1914.

Be not of love too sure
Nor though Venus may lure.

Until afternoon this day may be unfortunate, astrologers announce, for although in the early morning Saturn and Jupiter are in benefic aspect Mars and Neptune rule for evil. Venus is friendly, but the malefic influences are strong enough to cause complications and disappointments.

Difficulties and obstacles are likely to be encountered in making changes or removals, while thir aspect presages.

It is wise to cultivate poise and to control the emotions until this rule is past. New acquaintances should be avoided and tact should be employed in dealing with friends, as impulsive speech and hasty judgment are common. Mars is adverse. Persons born between March 21 and April 20 are held to be peculiarly susceptible to the vibrations of this planet.

The aspect is not favorable for domestic peace. Men should control the impulse to be egotistical and domineering.

With Neptune at enmity with the world, astrologers believe that special care should be taken to guard against infectious diseases. The greatest watchfulness in preserving cleanly conditions is counseled.

There is a sinister sign for new partnerships or associations. Caution should be the guide during this day, the seers declare.

Under this rule a desire for luxuries is said to be intensified. It is a most dangerous sway for women.

Loss of influence and discouragement will be experienced by certain militant leaders abroad and disagreements among suffragists in the United States will multiply. But the stars promise great progress for the votes-for-women movement.

A woman who is famous in the middle west will meet with serious criticism before summer. Her health will be affected by disappointment, astrologers declare.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of many changes within the year. They will prosper by removals and will gain by travel, but they may lose money and meet with severe reverses of fortune.

Children born on this day will make many friends. They will be optimistic and even heroic in times of adversity. Many reformers are born under today's influences.

Roman Crown, Lost in 1368, Robs Up in Poland.

After 500 years disappearance from human ken the famous crown belonging to Charles, the fourth emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, has suddenly appeared in Poland as a gift to the National museum. It is of bronze and silver and studded with precious stones.

In 1368 Charles came to Gracow to marry Princess Elisabeth, granddaughter of Casimir the Great, Poland's king. The kings of Poland, Hungary, Denmark and Cyprus met him and made a feast, at which the emperor wore his crown, which vanished after the marriage. A poor squire in the emperor's train had stolen it in the night and buried it under a tree, but he was killed by the emperor's soldiers and the secret of its whereabouts died with him. From that day till the present year it disappeared. Now it is in Cracow. Who brought it? Only the curators of the National museum know, and they will not tell.

Beauty Doctor Tells Secret

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement. "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieves itching and scalp diseases, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair. (Advt.)

The object of the association is to teach the many uses of electricity through publicity.

$1,000,000 TO BE GIVEN UNIVERSITY OF PENN.

(By Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—Approximately $1,000,000 will go to the University of Pennsylvania under the terms of the will of Dr. Louis A. Duhring, for years professor of dermatology at the university. That announcement was made yesterday by the Rev. Hewson L. Dupring, executor of his will. It previously had been announced that the university would receive about $400,000 from the estate. Examination of Dr. Dupring's papers, however, revealed that the estate was of greater value than had been supposed.

Checks Dr. Dupring had failed to cash, ranging from a few dollars to several thousand dollars, were found in some of his books.

Bequests total about $436,800. The residue, Dr. Dupring directed, is to go to the university.

MUSICIANS GIVE BAND FOR EASTER EGG HUNT

Atlanta Local No. 148 Gives 30-Piece Organization for Big Children's Event

Atlanta local, No. 148, of the American Federation of Musicians, has contributed a band of thirty pieces to play for the annual Easter egg hunt which The Journal and the board of park commissioners will give to the children of Atlanta at Grant park on Saturday, April 25.

The band will be led by Prof. C. E. Harper, the well known band master, and will take its position in the middle of the hunt grounds. At 2 o'clock the band will strike up "Dixie," and that will be the signal for the children to cross the line and gather in the egg.

The donation of the music is in accordance with an established custom of the musicians' local, and ranks with the most substantial donations to the hunt, inasmuch as a band of thirty pieces would cost about $95 if its services had to be paid for.

Subscriptions to buy the eggs and pay the other expenses of the hunt are coming in rapidly. The members of the general council of the city, following their usual custom, have given $1 each, making a total of $40 from this source. Letters sent out by the committee in charge of the hunt asking for a renewal of subscriptions by gentlemen who have given regularly in the past are bringing prompt and generous responses. The clubs of the city, which gave $16 each last year, have likewise been asked to renew their subscriptions.

The committee has awarded a contract for 250,000 eggs, which is the largest number ever bought. Each year the number of eggs must be increased, because the number of children increases each year.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE FOR THE SECOND TIME

Had One Day of Married Life When She Got First Separation

Married to B. P. Tuggle in 1909, divorced from him after one day of married life, Margaret A. Tuggle, formerly Margaret A. Bowls, married him the second time on July 5, 1911, only to be divorced the second time in Judge Ellis' court Thursday. She was granted a first verdict.

Mrs. Tuggle, who is a pretty young woman, testified that she was only fifteen years old at the time of the first marriage.

She said she and her husband separated after one day, and that later she was granted a divorce. She said she married him because she was afraid he would shoot her if she did not.

Then, asserting that she was afraid of him still, she married him the second time. They lived together for less than two months, during which she says she lost 21 pounds, due to the nagging and worrying and abuse she received from her husband. She has not seen him since August, 26, 1911, when, she states, he deserted her, going to the state of Washington.

Paul L. Lindsey was her attorney.

St. Louis Teams Appear Due to Leave Cellar

Managers Rickey and Huggins Have Strengthened Their Forces Materially, and Better Things Are Due – Outfielder Cruise Looks Like a Find

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—St. Louis may not own two first division ball clubs this summer, but unless the March-April form is given a kayo wallop the Cardinals and Browns are not going to trail home last in their circuits. The Cardinals look particularly promising and with the extra speed Branch Rickey has injected into his crew the Browns should never be tail-enders.

There is some real life in the Cardinals' camp with the arrival of five Pirates and Miller Huggins was exceptionally lucky in capturing a few youngsters who have all the marks of being major leaguers. The Cards didn't go very heavy in the purchase and draft last fall, but what they did snare appears very profitable.

The recruit who has been boosted since the first day he arrived in St. Augustine, Fla., is Outfielder Walton Cruise, and the Southern boy came across in great fashion in Sunday's victory. It was his smashing two-bagger over Bert Shotton's head in the seventh round that sent home the winning marker while he skipped far back to the edge of the left field crowd for a line drive.

CRUISE SPOTTED IN SOUTH.

Cruise really is the best bet who has joined the Cardinals in several years. And at present he is far from being at his best, being a victim of the ball player's ailment, charley horse and a sore arm. But Cruise has the build of a real ball player and all he needs to make him a regular is the experience.

The first day he appeared with the Jacksonville club Manager Huggins and Scout Connery spotted Cruise. They watched him and immediately opened negotiations with Manager Percy Wilder. Huggins intended making the deal and then having him stick in the South Atlantic league for another season, but with Rebel Oakes jumping to the Feds another outfielder was needed, so Cruise was brought to St. Louis with the rest of the Cardinals.

In the south Higgins always named Charley Miller and Teddy Cather as his candidates for the outfield job, with Magee and Wilson. Cather drew the place the first day and Cruise was never even mentioned. In fact, the kid was picked as a bench warmer more than anything else.

Now, though, it would not be a bit surprising if he becomes the regular guardian of the left field pasture, ahead of Cather and Miller.

Browns Looked Good Saturday.

Another prize shown by the Cardinals in the spring series is Pitcher Hagerman, and he will be sent against the Browns before the games are over. Hagerman gave a good exhibition last Thursday, until he became rattled with the continued objections of Branch Rickey. However, Hagerman and Cruise are two of the choicest youngsters who have joined the Cardinals in some time.

The Browns, too, are well equipped with the young material, and despite the fact that Rickey has lost three out of four games the Browns are going to be an improvement this summer. The best showing for the Sportsman's park brigade was Saturday, when they drubbed the Cards, 8 to 1. In that game the Browns worked everything perfectly and the Cards were outclassed at every angle.

Then Sunday the Browns played their rivals toe to toe, and one hit in the seventh round would have turned the victory over to their side.

There is one important feature to the play of the new Brownies, and that is speed. Rickey has his squad moving exceptionally fast once they get on the laths, and the hit-and-run seems to be his pet play. It gets away from many double plays, and produces the desired runs.

The 1914 outfield also is a big improvement on the Browns. In left field there was a big weakness last year, but with Clarence Walker there this summer Shotton and Williams have a good mate. "Tillie" is fast, can throw and hit, and is going to improve, too, with more seasoning.

Americus Throws French Wrestler

KANSAS CITY, April 8.—Gus Schonlein (Americus) won from Raoul De Rouen, the French wrestler, here Wednesday night in straight falls. De Rouen used rough tactics in the first fall and Referee Porteous disqualified him after twenty-one minutes and thirty-four seconds of wrestling. Schonlein took the second fall.

President Lyon, of the North Carolina league, announces that his umpire staff will include William M. Radcliffe, of Chicago; William E. Van Buskirk, of Washington, and Frank Miller, of Varsailles, Ohio. All are new men.

THE SPORTLIGHT

BY GRANTLAND RICE

SOME REWRITTEN VERSE.

But the guy worth a muckle is one who can chuckle
Don't dance and you live alone;
And the bloke who can't whirl is considered a churl,
A must and a boob and a bole.

It's easy enough to be pleasant
At times in this mundane fandango;
Dance and the world dips with you,
When his wife makes him learn to tango.

The "hesitation" is vexation;
The "lame duck's" even worse;
The dip of knee perplexes me
And the tango makes me curse.

Princeton will have more than a great stadium next fall. She'll have a great football team to defend it—one of the greatest in Nassau annals. The three-cornered combat among the Tiger, Prof. Brickley and Frank Hinkey next fall will be quite an epoch, as such things go in the intercollegiate world.

WHERE THEY WILL FINISH—OR THEREABOUTS.
(No. 6. St. Louis Entries.)

Back in 1908 the Browns yielded to a lucid interval under Jimmy McAleer and finished within a game or two of the top. In 1911, under Bresnahan, the Cardinals blew the old town to another distinct shock by sticking in the running most of the way.

But I these days of long schedules, driving competition and terrific hand-to-hand conflicts, St. Louis is up against a distinct disadvantage in the way of summer weather that frames an almost unbeatable handicap. If you had to get out and hustle under a St. Louis summer sun you'd do just what her ball clubs do—i. e., hustle into the cellar to cool off at the first opening.

BIG HANDICAP.

The Browns and Cardinals for some years have been joshed as bushleaguers, bone-heads, boobs and the like where most of the joshing was unfair.

It hasn't been a question of material as much as it has been a case of bad ball playing weather. We have seen the Giants, tearing along at top speed, hit St. Louis in July or August, curl up in four days and sag badly for a week afterward. Rival clubs play eleven games a year in St. Louis. The Browns and Cardinals play 77 games there each—a matter of 7 to 1. Put the Athletics there under present playing conditions and Col. Mack would have the battle of his life to win out or stick around the top.

THE PEP MELTS OUT.

We traveled westward one day last July with the Cardinals and discussed this climate handicap with several members of the squad. Each had the same testimony to offer—that after playing at home four or five days they were completely wilted and all in, with high ambition nothing but a clammy lump, melted down like a stiff collar or boiled shirt. We believe this to be true. We have gone there yearning to combine the art of Shakespeare and Ruskin, and at the end of three days have been content to put 200 of the shortest English words we know on the wire and call it a hard day's work. Ambition wilts with the collar and a clammy shirt is an abomination in the house of genius and high emprise.

PRETTY GOOD STUFF.

The material exhibited by the Browns and Cardinals has been pretty good stuff, despite all the panning it has received.

The Browns last season were supposed to be a joke club, and yet they had back of the bat young Agnew, a backstopper to compare favorably with Schalk and Schang. On the box they had such people as Baumgardner, Leverenz, Wellman, Hamilton, Allison, all firstclass people. And in addition there were such men as Pratt, Shotten and Williams.

TRUE OF THE CARDS.

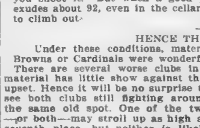

The same was true of the Cardinals. Ivy Wingo is a firstclass catcher. There have been many worse pitchers than Sallee and Harmon. When Hauser was on deck what better infield could a fan ask for—barring one or two—than Konetchy, Huggins, Hauser and Mowrey. All four averaged close to stardom. Lee Magee is another good ball player.

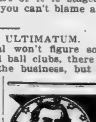

But all this talent on both clubs promptly went to sea. It was melted away. It soon became soggy. It was not because the material was not there—but simply that the material happened to be human and found it impossible to keep going under such conditions. The job of compiling 100 in 154 consecutive battles is quite an undertaking anyway you shoot it. But when a good part of it is staged under a sky that exudes about 92, even in the cellar, you can't blame a club for not yearning to climb out.

HENCE THE ULTIMATUM.

Under these conditions, material won't figure so much. If either Browns or Cardinals were wonderful ball clubs, there might be a chance. There are several worse clubs in the business, but even good, average material has little show against this upset. Hence it will be no surprise to see both clubs still fighting around the same old spot. One of the two—or both—may stroll up as high as seventh place, but neither is likely to attain sixth.

Catcher Red John, of the White Sox, who injured his arm in an exhibition game, may not be able to play before late in the season.

HOW NEWSPAPER MAN FEELS ON DAY HE PLAYS GOLF MATCH

BY MILT SAUL.

The newspaper man who is entered in the Brookhaven golf tournament can meet more different kinds of Old Familiar Faces the day he plays his match than any other specimen of sportsman. This fact is due, no doubt, to the vivid and cultivated imagination possessed by newspaper men. Be that as it may, he always gets his money's worth by entertaining all the varying moods to which the human mind is subject.

Here is the usual program he follows on the day he is due to play his match:

8:30 a. m. Awakens from dream in which Old Silver Cup, the dog, follows him about town and refuses to quit him, finally becoming attached to him by means of big heavy chains. Looks out of window to note weather conditions, sees sun coming up and hears troops of O Joys singing on roof of Chinese laundry next adoor. Snatches few more winks of sleep, during which rival newspaper man who is to be opponent in tournament appears to be shadowing him, with designs on Old Silver Cup.

7 a. m. Gets out of bed, trims corns with safety razor blade to insure solid comfort in walking on golf links. Half dressed, seizes old putting iron and practices laying up to hole in the carpet, using big marble swiped from boarding house lady's little boy. On holing out at twenty-first stroke, cheers from spectators sitting on the bed, viz: Satisfaction, Contentment, Good-Opinion-Of-Self and Old Man Supreme Confidence.

8 a. m. Appears in newspaper office, tells city editor, reporters and copy boys about dream. Starts in day's work by sending boy for cigarettes, although warned against it by Old Friend Prime Condition. Smokes two in rapid succession, whereupon Old Lady Good Intentions goes weeping from the room, looking back sorrowfully as she passes through door. Villain Nervousness (outside) takes peek through open door as old lady goes out.

10 a. m. Meets reporter who lost match day before to rival newspaper man he is to play today. Asks about prospective opponent's game, and upon being told by reporter it's a bear, Old Man Supreme Confidence, who has been walking arm in arm with him all morning, stands off at distance and begins to look as if he had appointment somewhere else. Good-Opinion-Of-Self also draws away and pulls out watch as if to see how much time is left to catch a train. Villain Nervousness, concealed behind telephone pole, allows victim hurried glimpse of his ugly features distorted into cruel smile. Mental vision of Old Silver Cup, the dog, tugging at chains to get away.

12:30 p. m. Enters quick lunch stand. Sign-Of-Greasy-Spoon, orders Irish stew and mince pie, failing to see little rascal, Indigestion, sneaking up behind his stool at counter. Pays check to young counter hustler while telling her about golf match, dream, etc., and rushes out to catch flustered car, little rascal now swinging to his coat-tail.

1:30 p. m. Meets opponent at first tee, shakes hands, notes sun-burn on opponent's arms and neck suggesting long practice and resulting skill. Looks around for Old Familiar Faces, but finds only little rascal Indigestion, Villain Nervousness and a hideous dwarf called Cold Feet. Old Man Supreme Confidence reappears, but is arm in arm with opponent now. Good-Opinion-Of-Self disappearing over hill with coat-tails flying. Hears howls of Old Silver Cup, the dog, dying away in distance.

4 p. m. Match is over. Enters dressing room of club house wearing sickly grin, accompanied by sad-faced old gentleman with gray beard. Shakes hands with old gentleman, tells him good-by but he is evidently unwilling to go. "You are not trying to get rid of the last Old Familiar Face, are you?" asks the old gentleman. "Because if you are you'll not succeed. I'll stand by you when others fail, my boy. When you are in need of a friend you'll always find Old Man Gloom on the job!"

11 p. m. Enters bed room in boarding house, picks up empty beer bottle from mantel where little old Fancy had deposited "phantom silver cup several days before. Opens window, tosses bottle out, with single expression: "Good night!"

Ad-Men's Club Will Boost Opening Day at Ponce de Leon

Ad Men to Help Boost Opening Day Attendance

Matter Up for Discussion at Noonday Luncheon — Association Will Have Parade on Opening Day—Other Cities Active in Getting 'Em Out

Another force has been enlisted to help swell the attendance at the first real baseball game of the approaching season at Ponce de Leon on Tuesday afternoon of next week. The new entrant is the Ad Men's club. President E. H. Goodyear notified members of the club a few days ago that the matter would be taken up at luncheon today at the Ansley hotel, and urged that all members who could possibly do so, attend this luncheon.

Last year this club took a very active part in turning the crowd out to see the opening game, and they expect to exceed their efforts of last year this year. Practically every member of the club is an enthusiastic fan, and in addition is turning out in force the club will have a service organization during the next few days to interest as many as they can in seeing the opening game.

The baseball association plans to have lots of music on hand for this occasion, and arrangements have already been made to this end. It is planned to have the noonday parade through the down town streets on the morning before the game and if you hear that familiar chant of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," you may know that every time man, woman and child that happens to be up in the city about that time will be hearing it also.

Already a number of business people have announced that they will close up for the day and let their forces go to the game. Some will doubtless carry their entire working force out to the park, as the crowd is expected to be the largest in the year. There will be just as many go on the monthly can, and every business house in the city who has been approached on the subject has kindly consented to let as many away from their places of business as can possibly be spared. Here is a list of those who have agreed to help increase the attendance in this way:

Harry E. Schlesinger & Co.
Georgia Railway and Power company.
Fourth National bank.
Natural Woman company.
M. Kuh, & Co.
S. A. Cheatin & Co.
Libby-Knox-Miller.
George Muse Clothing company.
Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company.

While local merchants are enlisting additional forces to help boost attendance at the ball park, other factors are helping the contest to arrest opening day baseball in Atlanta. Management of the baseball park is responsible for handing the music offered by the Ponce de Leon Park Band. Fans are enthusiastic over the fact that Dobbs' team is scheduled to represent the Alabama league, and an active campaign is being waged in order to put a record crowd in the ballparks to see the Dobbsmen in their opening game.

And all the while Birmingham, New Orleans and Chattanooga are working hard to put a crowd in that will outdraw the local attendance. Birmingham has created all the while that the Dixie will be on hand to see the Barons take the opener, and they figure that such a number turn out that the Rebels have a fall out of Vols that will have even more numbers, this is a question for debate, and both cities will not be disappointed in the returns on the turnstiles are all in.

Georgia Lost Pitching Duel

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ATHENS, Ga., April 8.—In a pitchers' battle between Hitchcock and Siesler Georgia was defeated by Michigan again Wednesday afternoon to the tune of 2 to 0. Hitchcock held the Wolverines scoreless and almost hitless after the third inning. He gave up only one hit after the third. During the nine innings he allowed the hard hitting Michigan team only three hits. Siesler as usual was in great form. He struck out thirteen Georgia batters and gave up six hits which he kept well scattered. Several times Georgia would get within scoring or third, but Siesler would tighten up and strike out the next batter.

Michigan's first run came in the first inning and was a result of a base on balls and an error. The second run was made in the second inning in almost the same way. Baker walked and advanced on a hit by Hughitt and later scored on an error by Torbett.

"Big John" Henderson had a big day on first. He gathered in 18 put outs. McWhorter also made two beautiful catches of two long ones to deep center. Following is score by innings:

Gordon to Play Cordele Team

Preps Tackle Professionals Friday and Saturday—Eleven Players Will Make Trip

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 9.—The Gordon institute baseball team will leave here Friday morning for Cordele, Ga., where they will play a series of two games with the Empire State league team of that city.

The following players, in charge of Coach VanTassell and Faculty Manager Paul Rosser, will make the trip:

Catcher Monahan; Pitchers Dosier, Maxey and Slappey; first base, Jarrett; second base, Klugery; third base, Mise; shortstop, Ray; outfielders, Branch, Dumas and Hughes (capt).

Maxey and Dosier have been selected to divide the first game against the professionals, with Slappey, a southpaw, twirling in the second contest. Fillingom and Bankston, a former Gordon battery, is the star batetry for the Cordele team. To add to the interest of the game they will be used against their old team mate by the Cordele manager.

Considering that Gordon only has three old men this season, the splendid team that Coach VanTassell has been able to build up is going to be a credit to the school. After the Cordele games, Gordon will have some games that mean much to the ranking of the team in prep circles. Two series of games with Georgia Military college and two with Riverside, one series with Barnesville and the other in their cities, are the principal games.

The schedule for the rest of the season, after the Cordele games, is as follows:

April 13-14, G. M. C., at Barnesville.
April 17-8, LaGrange, at LaGrange.
April 22-23, Wake Forest, at Barnesville.
April 27-28, Riverside, at Gainesville.
May 1-2, Riverside, at Barnesville.
May 4-5, Dahlonega, at Barnesville.
May 11-12, G. M. C., at Milledgeville.

Scribes Begin Second Round

With the exception of one match the first round of the Newspaper Golf tournament over the Brookhaven course of the Capital City club has been finished. This match has been delayed owing to the fact that one contestant has been absent from the city. He is expected back today and the match will doubtless be played this afternoon. The only match played Wednesday was that between Baskerville and Gertatowsky. The former won, 6 up and 5 to play.

Here are the pairings for the second rounds:

In addition to the Gentry cup, which goes to the winner of the first flight, A. J. Spalding & Bros. is giving a driver to the runner up. A cup will be given to the winner of the second flight and a silver basket is the prize given by Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company to the runner up. A dozen golf balls will be given to the low medal score winner.

Carckers Meet Bronchos Again

Following a lay-off of one day the Crackers and Broncos handled by Jawn Ganzel will met for the third game of their series this afternoon. Manager Ganzel announces that he will start Pitcher Upham on the slab, and if he fares well he will be sent the full route. Manager Smith has not announced his choice, but he will probably make a selection from the following: Lawrence, Doescher or Ehrd.

Manager Ganzel announces that he has several lines out for other material to strengthen his club and that he expects at least a few of these to materialise within the next few days. It is possible that some of his new men may be acquired before Saturday, and that they may report to the club here. The three games that remain with the Broncos are the last of the exhibition battles, before the flag drops on the regular race Tuesday of next week. Following is the probable line-up of the two teams:

Carrigan Offers To Buy Gainer

DETROIT, Mich., April 9.—Del Gainer, a veteran Detroit baseball player, may play first base for the Boston Americans this season. A cord to that effect was received here Wednesday from Manager Jennings, who is with the rest of the Detroit squads at Cincinnati. Jennings said he had received a cash offer from Manager Carrigan of Boston, for Gainer's release, but intends to keep the tall southerner at least until the season is under way.

Gainer has been one of the most unfortunate players in major league baseball. During the past three seasons he seldom has played a dozen games without sustaining severe injury.

Tigers to Help Lookout Staff

Manager Jennings Will Turn Over One and Possibly Two Pitchers to McCormick

CHATTANOOGA, April 9.—Although Hugh Jennings did not leave a pitcher behind him when he took his Tigers northward he named two pitchers on the Detroit roster who will be available for Chattanooga early next week. Just who these two pitchers are, the manager was not prepared to state. Announcement will be made in due time, after McCormick has decided as to which of his youngsters to retain and as to which of the two Tiger twirlers he wants, or whether he wants both of them.

Inasmuch as Manager McCormick has one classy twirler coming from George Stallings, it is not probable that he will accept more than one from Detroit, as the youngsters of the club can surely be depended on to develop one man "good enough to keep," and Kroh and Sliva seem to be in sufficiently sure form to be retained.

Eight pitchers probably will be carried on the Chattanooga roster at the beginning of the season and until the thirty-day limit expires, during which eighteen men can be carried. Granting that one Tiger and one Brave are added to the present squad, this leaves early season jobs for four young pitchers out of the staff now on hand. These four berths will be parceled out among E. Harding, Harfoof, Ostendorf, Gross, Turner, Lorensen and Fox. Hence it's not hard to figure that only one of this bunch are likely to be released before the first of the season.

One of the rare accidents of the local training season happened yesterday when a fiercely batted ball, during batting practice, struck Floyd Kroh's glove hand and broke a finger. It was fortunate that the injury was not to the pitching arm. As it is Kroh will not pitch any more until the beginning of the regular season, giving his broken digit time to heal.

Judge Sessions' decision that the Feds tempted players to jump their contracts might be answered if the Feds showed a bushel or two of letters and telegrams from players seeking temptation.

Alabama Defeats S. W. P. U. Team

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 9.—Alabama gave the first victory over the S. W. P. U. here Wednesday by the score of 7 to 6. The weather was very raw and cold and Cunch Graves used two of his second string pitchers.

Three Alabama errors proved responsible for the closeness of the score, but Alabama played very ragged ball, seeming to treat the game as a joke and being greatly overconfident. The visitors threw a scare into the home camp in the eighth, when on a couple of hits, a hit batter, a walk and an error they piled across three runs.

But the Crimson lads tightened down and won out handily in the ninth with two down. Three runs tied and a man on third. Cargill hit one to deep left center, which would have easily been good for the circuit. Little, for W. P. U., pitched an excellent game, fanning eleven Alabama batters. Sands and Russell Enter Tennis Finals

NEW YORK, April 9.—By winning Wednesday in the semi-final round of the national amateur court tennis championship tournament at the Racquet and Tennis club C. T. Russell, of Boston, and C. E. Sands, of this city, are the finalists who will meet today in the match which will decide which shall play in the challenge match against Jay Gould, the titleholder, next saturday.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

By Innis Brown

Southern league clubs are winding up their exhibition games, and by the end of the present week practically every team in the league will have bidden farewell to their northern guest. Home products have fared as well or better at the hands of invading forces this spring than ever before, since several teams in the circuit have taken the measure of more than one big league club, while minor leagures in training in Dixie, have been worsted in a majority of cases.

Over in Montgomery, Manager Bobby Gilks has recently been drilling his charges stiffly on running bases. Bob appreciates the importance of this department of the attack. Also he has several swift youngsters who should prove dangerous, once they get on the paths, provided they know how to take advantage of their natural speed. Last season the Billikens had one of the best base runners in the league in Clyde Wares. Jantzen, who is back with the team this year, also warned things up on the base lines.

Incidentally, the Billikens are counting strongly on ancient Bill Elwert again this year. Bill has been hustling around on the diamond for a good many years, but he was still good enough to top the third sackers in the league last season. He also hit for an average of .262, and stole twenty-eight bases. This is some considerable showing on the runways, when it is considered that speed is no longer Bill's big asset in negotiating the rounds paraded by his helpmates.

Bill Schwarts has yet to land a first and second baseman for his Vols. At present the manager is covering the initial station himself, while he is working Bert King, the former Lookout outfielder, at Chief Perry's old stand. He expects to get further reinforcements from the majors, but the getting is not as good as it might be just at present. It is quite likely that he and King will appear in the above roles against the Crackers here on Tuesday.

Over in Memphis the fans are rejoicing over the fact that Glen Liebhardt is showing fine form again. Glen repeatedly worked ten innings in two games against big leaguers, and allowed just five hits and no runs. It looks like the good old days when the Iron Man was known as Lieber Glenn," and was the idol of Bluffton bugs.

In addition to the work of Liebhardt, the work of Earl Dunckel is a source of gratification to the followers of Pinch's fortunes. Like our own Hack Fibel, Dunckel is a youngster, and guards the first sack. He has been fielding in great shape for the Turtles, and hitting like a house-a-fire. Furthermore, unlike his lumbering predecessor, Bill Abstain, Dunckel can chase some speed on the bases.

Emory Juniors Still Leading

Nose Out Victory Over Sophs by Score of 3 to 2 in Third Game—Seniors Defeat Freshmen

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EMORY COLLEGE, Oxford, Ga., April 9.—After the third set of games of the season the standings in Emory's interclass baseball race is:

	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Juniors	3	3	0	1.000
Seniors	3	2	1	.666
Sophomores	3	1	2	.333
Freshmen	3	0	3	.000

Juniors 3, Sophomores 3.
Seniors 10, Freshmen 4.

These were the results in two games Tuesday afternoon, but the exhibitions were better than the scores intimate. When the Juniors barely got a victory over the Sophomores, it was in the prettiest game of the season. Both of the afternoon's battles were featured by long hits.

Neal, the Junior second baseman, carried away the batting honors by driving out a triple, pair of doubles, and a single, and his hits were responsible for each of the Juniors' three runs. Weaver, a Soph, and Cheshire, the Junior catcher, each laced out a three-bagger. The pitching honors between Merritt and Summers were about even.

Stewart, a Senior outfielder, featured the Freshmen-Senior battle by a circuit drive, and Bacon, a Freshman, connected for a hit for four bags. Lester pitched a nice game for the Seniors and only gave up two hits while he was securing a triple and a couple of two-baggers.

Score	R.	H.	E.
Seniors 10	8	2
Freshmen	2	5

Lester and Saxon; Lane and Mobley.

Score	R.	H.	E.
Sophomores	2	8	2
Juniors 3	7	3

Merritt and Harris; Summers and Cheshire.

Johnny Dobbs is slated over the acquisition of Outfielder Burns who was obtained from the Cleveland club of the American association. Burns batted only .257 in the association last season, but Dobbs says he was never in condition. If Burns pans out as Dobbs expects, the Vols will have a dandy good outfield trio. Hur Northern is a known quantity, and whatever Big John Coghran, former Appalachian league manager, lack in fielding, he will make up with his deadly work with the bludgeon.

As soon as Bill Schwarts obtains a second baseman and allows Bert King to return to the outfield he will have five more worthy gents for jobs in the outer gardens. They are Dave Callahan, Yale Sloan, Carl Stimson, Pinch McCabe and Kiser Shook. King and Callahan were in the league last season. McCabe comes from the international league, while Stimson hails from Lansing in the South Michigan association, the same circuit in which Mack Eibel played last season.

Recruits on Manager Molesworth's Baron club have some formidable batting records held over from last season. Jimmy Sage hit .364 in the New England league. Catcher Tragesser hit .302 with Zanesville; Infielder Clarke smote for an average of .303 with Gadsden, while Tex Covington hit for .301 with Denison in the Texas-Oklahoma league.

Alabama Boys Beat S. P. U.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 9.—Alabama got a clean-cut victory Wednesday afternoon over the Southwestern Presbyterian university, of Clarksville, Tenn., by the final score of 7 to 6. The locals began with a rush, scoring four runs in the first two innings and one more in both the fifth and the seventh. In the second Southwestern scored once, and in the fifth twice. In the seventh they got busy with the stick and put three more runs over, tying the score. Alabama was unable to break the tie until the ninth, when Hamilton, who was sent in as a pinch hitter, rapped out a double and scored on a single by Cargile.

A heavy diamond and cold weather made fast play impossible.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Use of Commercial Fertilizer

NEARLY every southern state buys an enormous amount of fertilizer every season. The business done in this respect runs into millions of dollars in every southern state every year, and when judgment is used it is a good investment, and without fertilizer our crops would be cut probably in half every season. It is wonderful how lands in this section of country respond to good fertilization, and at the end of the season it is simply amazing to know the difference in weight of crops that have been harvested from well fertilized fields and those that have received no fertilizer at all. Corn and cotton both often have the appearance of heavy production where fertilizer is used sparingly, but when it is gathered and weighed a person can hardly believe themselves to know what a big difference there is in weight off of a highly fertilized field and one that is scantily fertilized.

It is folly for a farmer to spend his time and labor cultivating a crop and not get everything possible out of his land that can be made. By the use of fertilizer most of the yields are practically doubled, and in fact it pays to fertilize liberally especially on lands that are in a condition to respond to heavy dressings. We believe it pays far better to use one-half ton to one ton of fertilizer per acre, if a man has land in condition to do so rather than to use 200 to 400 pounds per acre. 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer, scattered over an acre of land is a very small amount and when this is scattered at the rate of a small covering one acre of land it seems impossible to do much good. But it is surprising what will be the outcome by even using 200 to 400 pounds per acre. Every farmer should use two or three times this much if his land can stand it.

One of the heavy drains and losses that comes to the farmer in the use of fertilizer is by the average farmer not knowing what kind of fertilizer is suited to his land. When find some different kinds of soil in the same field. Most of them require different kinds of fertilizer, and there are not many who know what is suited or best to use in such cases or on certain kinds of land, and in this one respect there is room for some improvement and study. Every farmer should at least have some idea of what his land is well supplied with or what it is deficient in, and buy such fertilizers as are needed and suited for the crop that he expects to produce on these lands. It is folly to use certain kinds of fertilizers on land that is already supplied with these elements that you are using and no one should attempt to do so. It pays in the long run to either have your land analyzed or to make a bit of experiment and know exactly what your land is deficient in and supply only these elements. It is simply folly for anyone to use on his land certain things that he already has in the soil.

The saving that would come to our people in this respect would run into thousands of dollars. Our crops would make far heavier yields and we would get the things that we fertilize for if we would only post ourselves and know just what kind of materials to use. In nearly every section of the south our lands make a weed or stalk that is capable of carrying a heavy load of fruit, but the amount of fruit that it matures, and in such cases lands of this character should have a fertilizer that would be sufficient in food elements to mature these heavy crops after they had been grown by the plants. How often do we see tremendous big cotton stalks with only a few bolls on them, and we will often see a tall stalk of corn with one small ear on it. In such cases it shows that the land has not the necessary elements in the soil to balance it and make these plants productive. And, in such cases the wants should be studied and supplied.

Our people should pay more attention to this one thing in farming and buy such fertilizers as are suited to our lands and such as would give us certain results that we wanted. It looks like a little thing, but if these things are studied out closely and more attention paid to it it would mean millions of dollars to every southern state that is now lost.

The use of fertilizer is almost absolutely essential in all sections of the country and no better investment can be made by the farmer than he uses judgment and buys such fertilizer as his lands are deficient in. This is a subject that should receive the most careful consideration by our farmers as it means millions of dollars to our country. Nearly any man can help you in this respect if you simply ask him, and it is worth while to do so. Buy fertilizers suited to your lands that will furnish the necessary food element for the crops that you expect to plant. Give this a little study and you will profit by so doing. Yours very truly,

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

ONCE IN A WHILE A REALLY GOOD HOME IS OFFERED AT A PRICE WORTH WHILE.

As a rule the price is more than it would cost to replace the property, but we have a splendidly located HOME on Peachtree at actually less than it cost several years ago. If you should add the advance in value that the ground has experienced, you can readily see an added saving of $7,500.

This place cost about $40,000; add $7,500 to the ground value and you have $47,500.

OUR PRICE IS ONLY $30,000

That makes the description worth reading, doesn't it?

Our Peachtree this side of Brookwood, on an elevated lot 550 feet deep, houses seats back on a ridge, well back from the street in the finest residence section of Atlanta.

The owner built for himself, and put in the home everything a man who is able to have what he wants would insist on. Solid mahogany throughout, hot water heater, big, roomy garage and servants' quarters, TWO TILE BATHS, big sleeping porch, solid mahogany finished living room and everything else in proportion. The exterior of the home would suit anybody. Not a crazy pretentatious looking place, but stands out as the home of a gentleman.

We couldn't tell you over the phone whose place this is. If you are interested in a place like this, it's worth your while to come and see us. Owner is going to the country, and doesn't need the money, so you can buy on your own terms.

Fellow Members of the Capital City Club

The property offered the Club for its permanent club site, and to perfect its new golf links, will be worth $60,000.00 "on or before" five years.

EDWIN P. ANSLEY.

OGLETHORPE PARK

Will Have the Most Beautiful Driving System in the South

OGLETHORPE DRIVE, a big boulevard extending through the S. C. Stovall property, past the Capital City Club and through the Hart estate, lying just north of the Brookhaven estate and the Country Club, thence into DeKalb County and through one land lot to Oglethorpe University grounds and Silver Lake properties; thence on a direct route to Chamblee, and extending north by way of Peachtree Road, with a network of lateral drives leading in every direction, complete the system.

These properties will make only a few tracts, as it is to be cut into lots of two to five acres each. Each tract will be developed upon its own merits, and a carefully selected building site will be provided in each instance.

The route selected follows a ridge higher than any part of Peachtree Road, overlooking the entire country. With the beautiful club property and lake in the foreground, it has the effect of a mountain plateau, with a great formal garden extending in all directions.

Some of the finest landscape engineers of this and other sections have inspected this property and express wonder that this plan has not been discovered sooner.

Below are the indorsements of some of the officials of the Capital City Country Club:

THE AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ATLANTA
Atlanta, Ga., March 14, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—

I have seen the preliminary plans for connecting from Peachtree Road the Capital City Country Club properties and the Oglethorpe University and Silver Lake properties by the development of land lots 10, 11 and 12. This will mold these valuable properties closely together and, when carried out, will be of much benefit to all the properties involved and one of the most important improvements made in the northern end of Fulton and western part of DeKalb County for many years.

I should think the merits of this proposition would fully warrant the County Commissioners of Fulton and DeKalb in co-operating liberally with you and your associates in opening up this property, which is sure to mean a large increase in the taxable returns from this section and its rapid development.

As you know, I have no personal interest whatever in any of this property, except my interest, as President, in the future welfare of the Capital City Country Club. Knowing your ability and success in developing property in this and other sections of the country, I have confidence in your judgment, and believe that if your present plans are carried out, your expectations in the success of the enterprise will be fully realized.

Yours truly, ROBT. F. MADDOX.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY
Candler Building.
Atlanta, Ga., March 13, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—

The plan you have outlined for connecting the property adjoining the Capital City Country Club with that adjoining the site set aside for Oglethorpe University with a splendid driveway, in which you make provision for a private right-of-way for the car line, is one of the broadest developments undertaken around Atlanta.

I did not know until I saw your plat that only one Land Lot separates the properties of Brookhaven Estates from that of the Silver Lake Estates, nor that a drive could be built on the north side of the Capital City Club property to connect with the University site, that would be only a few hundred feet longer than by Peachtree Road.

The fact that you are willing to change your plans, so that your proposed driveway around the Club property form an attractive Boulevard system around the Golf Links, and are willing to locate your drive on the north of the Links, fifty or more feet from the Club property, and allow us the use of this extra space that is very necessary to make this part of the Links as wide as they should be, is another evidence of your sincerity in dealing with your neighbors. It occurs to me that your neighbors, and the public, have profited more than you have in all of your developments; but it is that broadness of vision that has made your developments successful.

I believe the Club and the University will certainly co-operate with you to the fullest extent in carrying out your development plans, and I hope that all adjoining property owners will do the same.

Wishing you success in all your plans, I am
Very truly, T. JULIAN M'GILL,
Chairman Golf Committee,
Capital City Country Club.

If the club had a beautiful site on which to erect its permanent club, I believe its members would quickly subscribe to a bond issue to pay for such a club, and to induce the street car company to extend its car line to said site.

Mr. Stovall has agreed to donate the lot or tract marked "B" adjoining the club property, and I am willing to donate the tract marked "C" for a club site, and I am also willing to co-operate with Mr. Stovall in grading the driveway marked "Club Drive" across the club's property and that agreed to be deeded to it, provided the club will secure an extension of the Peachtree and Brookhaven car line from its present terminus to the north line of the property agreed to be donated to the club by me.

For the consideration named, and in order for the club to secure additional land for its new Golf Course, at a point where the new links are very much congested, I am willing to deed to the club the tract of land marked "D" on the plat, provided the club agrees to maintain said tract for club purposes as Golf Links and Park.

The Driveway marked "Club Drive" could connect the present and proposed new club buildings, both with an electric line and an automobile drive. The driveways shown on the plat would furnish the most attractive driving system in the South.

As Oglethorpe Park will soon have nine or ten driveways into it, a few weeks' work will convert from sage fields, laps and limbs, into a beautiful suburban residence section.

When the Piedmont Driving Club burned, a few years ago, I offered my present home site (then in the rough) and forty acres adjoining, for a Golf Course, in exchange for its present five-acre site. Some of its members hooted at the proposition. Since that time, dozens of these same members have come to me and expressed their regrets. Therefore, I say, let's look to the future growth of Atlanta and its suburbs before the club rejects an offer to acquire additional property that it will never have again, except at a large cost.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN P. ANSLEY.

NEW CLUBHOUSE FOR BROOKHAVEN

When Option to Buy Is Exercised Capital City Country Club Will Build Handsome Home.

"The establishment of a country club at Brookhaven by the Capital City club has proven a wise and popular step. I think the club will unquestionably exercise its option to buy the property in June, 1916, and when we do, we will erect one of the handsomest club buildings in the South."

This was the statement of Robert F. Maddox, president of the Capital City club, to whose efforts is due much of the credit, both for the leasing of Brookhaven and for the successful maintenance of the attractive country club.

"The tract," continued Mr. Maddox, "consists of 150 acres, ideally adapted as a country club. The lake, clear as crystal, and ideal for boating, is one of the prettiest in the state.

"The golf links, now nine holes, is being enlarged to an 18-hole course, which gives promise of being not only the sportiest in the South, but without question the most picturesque.

"The clubhouse, while attractive, both as to interior and exterior, and while answering its purposes at the present time, will probably give way to a larger one when we exercise our option to buy, and it is safe to assume that the Capital City will build a clubhouse of which all Atlanta may justly feel proud.

"The members of the club, without exception, as far as I have been able to ascertain, are tremendously pleased with the success of Brookhaven so far, and nothing will be overlooked in continuing its usefulness as an ideal country club."

ANOTHER APARTMENT HOUSE.

George S. Moffett has let a contract for the erection of an apartment house on the northwest corner of Seventh and Juniper streets. A. N. Canton is the architect and W. P. Francis the builder.

The building will be three stories and solid brick construction, a lot fronting 50 feet on Tenth and 128 feet on Juniper streets. It will cost $132,000.

There will be twelve apartments containing four rooms each. Work will be started at once.

NELSON STREET BUILDING.

Gude & Co., who have the contract to erect a building for the Atlanta Seed Plow company, on Nelson street, will make application for a building permit this week.

The structure will cost $75,000, and the lessees will use it as its southern distributing quarters.

The cheapness of material is an inducement to many owners to build. Even if they have no particular use for a building at the present time, it pays to discount future high prices.

REALTY SALES.

Several small sales were either announced Thursday, or went to record.

Mrs. I. S. More has sold to Eugene Dickey a lot on the east side of Peachtree road, 300 feet south of Mayson's avenue 95x275 feet, for $7,500 or a little over $100 a front foot.

W. M. Nichols and A. E. Kelley sold to Mrs. Matilda Regenstein 68 East Fair street, the lot being 50x117, and 128 feet east of Peachtree road, for $5,150. This is in the rear of the Regenstein property on Pryor street.

Claud E. Sims has sold for Mrs. Florence L. Carter, of Jesup, Ga., lot 13, block 18, of Ansley Park, to D. O. Dougherty for $2,650 cash. This lot fronts 85 feet on the Prado and extends back 150 feet to an alley and is located near Piedmont avenue. It is understood that Mr. Dougherty will begin at once to build a home.

Mr. Sims has also sold for himself to Dr. Claud A. Smith a lot on Morgan avenue, near North boulevard for $800, and a house and lot on Hampton street, corner of Exposition, to J. A. Howard for $800 cash.

Also for George W. Lawless to Mrs. Ora Wall a house and lot at 34 East avenue, Kirkwood, for $2,500.

PEACHTREE STORE.

Willis Ragan has been granted a building permit for the erection of a one-story brick store on his property in the intersection of Peachtree and West Peachtree streets.

The store will occupy the triangle in front of the Plaza hotel, also Mr. Ragan's property. The hotel has been renovated.

NORTH AVENUE IMPROVEMENT.

The Nichols Contracting company has been given a contract for the paving of East North avenue from Moreland avenue to Goldsboro drive with a bituminous macadam pavement.

The contract also includes a sewer on North avenue from Felder street to the Goldsboro drive. Work on these improvements will be started about April 20.

MANY CHANGES EXPECTED IN N. Y. CONSTITUTION

Entirely New Set of Organic Laws May Be Adopted by 1915 Convention

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 9.—The constitutional convention which the voters of the state authorized to meet in April, 1915, may either revise the present constitution or draft an entirely new set of organic laws.

Since 1895, when the present constitution went into effect, several hundred bills have been introduced in the legislature to amend it, showing the demand made on legislators by members of the judiciary and administrative officers of the state from alleged shortcoming in its provisions.

If next year's constitutional convention follows precedent it will work out a new apportionment of senate districts. A general arrangement of the assembly districts then must follow as a matter of course.

It is certain drastic reforms will be urged in the fiscal policy of the state. For many years the need of reforming the policy with reference to sinking funds and permanent improvements has been felt by governors and fiscal officers. It is also expected the convention will be urged to provide for raising money by bonds for such permanent improvements as the erection of new buildings for the state charitable and penal institutions.

Important changes affecting the state highway department will be urged also.

The report of the convention, whether in the form of a new constitution or amendments, will be submitted to the voters either at the general election next year, or at a special election, as the convention may decide.

DISCUSS RURAL CREDITS AT LOUISVILLE SESSION

Many Subjects Brought Before Education Conference of South

LOUISVILLE, April 9.—Rural credits with the main discussion centered on the session of the business men's conference was the predominant subject at today's meeting of the conference for education in the south. An attempt was made to reach conclusions for presentation to the conference for a vote.

Different phases of the best means of financing the southern farmer for long term credit were assigned for discussion to Dr. Morris Bien, Hill, Durham, N. C., who was on the program to give his views on what form of land mortgage credit association offers the best means of advancing cheap credit; Herbert Woodruff, president of the First National bank of Joliet, Ill., who elected to show the use of national and state legislation in land financing, and F. G. Harding, president of the First National bank of Birmingham, Ala., was selected to conduct the meeting.

John Lee Coulter, secretary of the United States commission on rural credits, was the principal speaker on "financing the farmer for personal short term credit." His discussion centered on the question of supplementing national and state banks with credit unions.

While farm finance was the feature of the day, debates on the question of farmers, country women, preachers and doctors were held where specialized subjects were discussed.

DECLARE "TAP LINES" ARE COMMON CARRIERS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Representatives of the railroads interesting themselves in the southwest were before the supreme court today to argue against the order of the interstate commerce commission prohibiting their receiving a share of trunk line rates on lumber owned by the same interests as the "tap lines." The government is seeking to have the court reverse the decision of the commerce court, holding this order illegal.

Counsel argued that the "tap lines" are legitimate railroads and not, as the government contends, merely agencies of lumber companies to wring rebates from railroad companies. They insist that the "little lines" were developing the sections of the country through which they pass, and in truth were common carriers.

Miss Winnie Torrence and Miss Dorothy Duke will be the contestants from the music class.

The judges of the contest will be representatives from Cox college and Agnes Scott college.

the toll exemption it will be thought very poor spirited and even truckling—I believe that is the accepted word—to suggest that in deciding this question we should take into consideration the opinions of other nations. Nevertheless, I consider this a very important element in any decision which I may reach, and I am encouraged to believe that I am right in so thinking, because I have the warrant and authority of the author of the Declaration of Independence. When Jefferson framed that great instrument he declared the impelling reason for making the declaration was 'a decent respect for the opinions of mankind.'

"The long delay in the ratification by the senate of the treaties renewing the arbitration treaties of 1908 produced a widespread feeling among other nations that our championship of the principle of arbitration and our loud boasts of our devotion to the cause of peace were the merest hypocrisy, because we seemed ready to abandon the cause of arbitration when it looked as if our treaties might bring us to the arbitration of questions which we did not desire to have decided by an impartial tribunal. The president renewed the arbitration treaties, and finally, after a delay which, as I have said, aroused unpleasant suspicions, those which have been sent to the senate have been ratified. This was the president's first step, as I looked at it, in his effort to restore the influence and reputation of the United States, which he had found to be impaired. The second step is his recommendation of the repeal of the toll exemption clause of the canal act.

TROUBLED BY NO DOUBTS.

"The outcry about exhibiting subservicency to Great Britain or any other country because we are fit to repeal the tolls seems to me hardly worthy of serious consideration. The United States is altogether too great and too powerful to be subservient to any one, and the mere fact of suggesting it seems to me to indicate an unworthy state on the part of those from whom it emanates not only of the validity of their position but of the power and greatness of their own country, as to which I, for one, am troubled by no doubts.

"As I have listened to some recent stirring declarations of our utter fearlessness, of our readiness to face a world in arms in defense of toll exemption, about which noble cause no country would think of fighting there have been moments when I have marveled as I thought of the coolness and indifference with which we have contemplated the murder of more than a hundred and fifty Americans not many miles from our own border. The violated rights, the unavenged, the almost unnoticed deaths of those innocent people have seemed to make heroics about canal tolls, where there is no peril to any one, peculiarly out of place."

TOLLS HEARING BEGINS.

Public hearings were begun today before the senate canals committee on the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption. Senators who have introduced bills and resolutions on the subject were first heard.

Senator Norris, Republican, spoke on his amendment to reaffirm the right of the United States to discriminate in favor of its own ships, if it chooses to do so, and to direct the president to submit the controversy to arbitration. He opposed the exemption as a subsidy and said he did not want congress to construe the treaty and foreclose the right of the United States to control the canal.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, made a statement supporting his proposal to make the canal free to all ships of all nations.

Commissioner Chamberlain, of the navigation bureau, Prof. S. S. Huebner and Dr. Emory Johnson, who investigated the tolls question for President Taft, will be heard later.

New Alabama Senator With Wilson on Tolls

(By Associated Press.)

COLUMBIANA, Ala., April 9.—Captain Frank S. White, who will fill the short term in the United States senate from Alabama today declared himself with President Wilson on the tolls question. He said:

"I am opposed to the exemption of canal tolls to American ships, on the grounds that it is unfair and undemocratic. My position is independent of any person of national honor that might arise out of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Exemption of tolls to United States ships is in line with the levying of taxes on imports for the sake of protection. It's a favoritism shown American ships at the expense of the people."

Captain White will take office immediately after the special election on May 11.

worse off than an orphan. If the mother gets the divorce and the child, it despises its father, and if the father gets the child it loathes its mother. There are also institutions where orphaned children can go—but there are none for children of divorced parents, who would be better off if their parents were dead and respected.

"I presented a bill to the legislature once advocating new divorce laws. I don't think that divorce should be made impossible—there are cases in which it should be allowed—no gentleman ought to be yoked to a harlot and no virtuous woman to a brute—but there should be much greater restrictions placed around divorces than at present. One of the great reasons for so many divorces today is because they are so easy to get. If a law should be passed requiring that all that was necessary for a divorce was for the husband or wife to file notice of divorce proceedings in the sheriff's office, and that the divorce would be granted automatically if the wife or husband did not file an answer to these proceedings within twenty days, the number of divorces would increase enormously above the present great number.

"In my bill I wanted to make it harder to get a divorce. One provision of it was that no total divorce should be granted, as at present, on the uncorroborated testimony of the parties in the case. If a man is an habitual drunkard, or if he beats his wife, or does other things for which a divorce is asked, you can always get some persons, neighbors or others, who know about it.

"This would stop juries from being forced to take testimony as presented, nearly always by only one party in the case, even if the jury does not believe it. For, if the sworn testimony of one party in the case is all you have, even if you don't believe it, you will have to find your verdict according to it, or otherwise there would be ground for a new trial because the verdict was contrary to the evidence.

"Another provision of the bill was that no marriage should take place within six months or one year after the divorce—this was aimed to stop a decree in the morning and wedding at night.

"Another clause provided that there should be an attorney paid by the state, appointed to conduct one side of the prosecution. Ninety per cent of the divorce cases are ex parte—and, in 75 per cent of these cases, I believe there is collusion between the husband and wife to get the divorce. This collusion is against the law, and, if it can be proved, the jury can refuse to grant the divorce. But you generally can't prove it.

"My bill was listened to attentively, and they listened to a talk I made to them, much the same talk as I am making now from the bench. It was reported on favorably—but, after it was killed I heard that there were a number of divorce lawyers on the general judiciary committee—and they killed my bill.

"Some of the cases we have tried here are almost equivalent to seduction—when a man marries a pretty, innocent little girl of fifteen years, and then goes off, leaving her ill and destitute, as was brought out in one of the cases.

"You did right in refusing permission to remarry to defendants of this class.

"We've got to administer the law as we find it," said Judge Ellis, in conclusion, "and perhaps I should not have spoken like this in regard to the law. But I believed it my duty to call public attention to these things."

Then, after thanking the jury for their services, Judge Ellis said he would ring down the curtain on divorces and take up some other controversies.

GEORGIA TRAVELERS TO BE CHAMBER MEMBERS

To Become Associate Components and Have All Privliges of New Building

The traveling men of the state of Georgia are to be made associate members of the Atlanta chamber of commerce with all the privilages of the new building at the corner of Auburn avenue and North Pryor street.

Such was the announcement made Thursday morning by President Mell R. Wilkinson following his appointment of J. H. Andrews as chairman of the commercial travelers' standing committee of the chamber. "The new chairman," said Mr. Wilkinson, "has already made some valuable suggestions as to how to proceed in this new step and I feel certain that the campaign for membership will be a successful one.

"The associate membership will be tendered to all men traveling for Atlanta firms and to Atlanta men representing foreign houses. Their quarters in the new building will be attractively furnished and everything will be done for their comfort and convenience. It will be an ideal place to carry out-of-town customers and the cafe to be opened in connection with the chamber will prove a most attractive feature."

Mr. Andrews will shortly call his committee together and begin a campaign to secure a large associate membership in the organization. The traveling men are in thorough accord with this movement, which was launched by Witmer L. Moore during the latter part of his term as president.

Mr. Wilkinson said that the chamber could not have a more effective set of men to co-operate in the work than the commercial travelers of the state. He declared that they were the original boosters for Atlanta and were in a large measure responsible for the rapid strides the city has taken in recent years.

President Wilkinson also announced the appointment of Hervey W. Laird, assistant to the president of the Southern States Life Insurance company, as chairman of the committee on avocational education.

J. M. ROWE'S BODY FOUND AT BOTTOM OF ELEVATOR SHAFT

was known there, but left there about two years ago.

The police began another thorough search of the basement shortly before 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon for the hat of the dead man. It had not been discovered in the earlier hunt.

Captain W. S. Kincaid, president of the Home Art Supply company, 174 Whitehall street, identified the body at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon as that of J. M. Rowe, who had worked for him off and on, as he expressed it, for several months. The last time he saw Rowe, said he, was about two months ago.

ing on the mystery. They were:

Two letters, postmarked Lanett, Ala., and addressed respectively to J. M. and Jim Rowe, Lawrenceville, Ga. Both are signed "Your loving wife," and are written in pencil ungrammatically.

A report of twelve misdemeanor cases for convicts on th streets of Gwinnett county, signed Captain C. L. Nash, for March of this year. Detectives believe Rowe was employed in Gwinnett county.

A paper detade March 21, 1914, typewritten on a letterhead of William S. Stanley, salesman for the J. R. Watkins Medical company, of Winona, Minn. This paper purports to be taken out in Lawrenceville before Judge R. B. Russell. It is not signed, but declares that Rowe is hereby freed from disabilities of his divorce obtained twelve years ago. Detectives believe it was taken out by Rowe and that he meant to mail it to his wife in Alabama.

A medical certificate signed by Drs. J. T. Van Horn and J. T. Huret, dated July 9, 1909, stating that James M. Rowe has for twenty years been a citizen of Walton county, that he is subject to occasional fits and nervous trouble so that he was unfit to do manual labor.

In Rowe's pockets were a box of blue and red pills and a half emptied bottle of strychnine or morphine tablets. There was found near him in the shaft an empty whisky bottle. Taken with his medical certificate, detectives say this points to a solution of the mystery, namely that Rowe was doped or in a crazy mood, wandered into the Steiner-Emery building and fell down the elevator shaft.

Robbery as a motive for a crime is eliminated, as he had $5.56 in his pockets and a gold watch. The watch was running when taken from his pocket but it is believed the removal of the body started the works. The watch had stopped at five minutes of three.

One remarkable fact that tends to refute the theory of death by fall is that the watch, which was in the watch pocket of his trousers, and two pairs of spectacles in a case were not broken.

Other articles found in Rowe's pockets were soap coupons, two twists of chewing tobacco, a pocket knife, closed, two bills of goods, several buttons, picture postcards, picture of an old man and woman, and a worn pocketbook containing the coupons and a $5 bill.

ABOUT 45 YEARS OLD.

The dead man is apparently about forty-five years old. He was dressed in a blue suit and wore black shoes, a white shirt and collar, with no necktie. He is tall and heavy set, hair cropped very close, smooth shaven.

Until the coroner's inquest was held, it was impossible to say whether violence had been done to Rowe. His face was mashed in terribly, and his hand hurt, but only a minute examination will tell whether the bruises were due to an assault or a fall.

Detectives Bass Rosser, John Black and Webb, who immediately began an investigation, incline to the fall theory.

The freight elevator in the Steiner-Emery building is never used for passengers. It runs between the basement and the fourth floor and on any one of the intervening floors could have been entered had the door been open.

Detectives say that the floor of the Steiner-Emery building on the level of the viaduct might have been gained through a number of routes, from Marietta street or Broad street or Viaduct place.

Their theory is that Rowe, in a doped or crazed condition, blundered into the building from one of the side entrances and fell down the shaft.

They say there is no way he or any one else save Sam Phillips, the janitor, could have entered the basement from beneath the viaduct. There is only one door and that opens on an alley leading up from the railroad tracks. As this door is always locked, according to the janitor, no one could have entered the basement from the same level and found the pit beneath the shaft.

Detectives say, furthermore, that there is no door leading to the basement from the first floor, that the only way to get there is down the elevator shaft. Through this process of elimination, they conclude that Rowe came to his death through being pushed or falling down the shaft.

The body was removed to the chapel of A. O. & Roy Donehoo, where an inquest was held at 1 o'clock.

Phillips told the police something got wrong with one of the elevator cables Thursday morning. He lowered the car to the basement, and there crawled under it into the shallow pit.

Immediately, he said, he found the body in there with him and got out. He did not stop to investigate, he told the officers, because he was too scared.

Detectives Webb and Harper examined the place superficially and then locked its doors, admitting no one, to await the coroner.

The detectives said the body was dressed in a blue suit and black shoes. It lay in a crumpled position and was advancing in decomposition, they said. It appears to be that of a man slightly past middle age.

The basement where the body was found is not used save occasionally to receive freight for tenants of the building. A few things are stored there. Its doors, which were shut, open directly out on a platform level with the railroad tracks under the viaduct.
