FEDERALS ABANDON BATTLESHIP DURING SIEGE OF MAZATLAN

Rebels Are Expected to Take City at Any Moment, According to Wireless Report From U. S. S. California

TOWNSPEOPLE IN PANIC; SHELLS FALL IN STREET

One American and One Englishman Reported Slain—U. S. Ship Captured by Mexicans Is Released

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 8, by wireless to San Diego, Cal., May 9.—The fall of Mazatlan seems to be imminent. The city officials embarked last night on the federal gunboat Guerrero and the steamer Lamintour, both of which are ready to sail for Salina Cruz.

The American brig Geneva was captured on the high seas April 26 by the Mexican transport Morrican, according to information received here today. At the demand, however, of Captain Magruder, of the United States cruiser Raleigh the brig was released.

The federals have abandoned the gunboat Moreles. A wild shot from the Guerrero today passed through a street of Mazatlan, creating a panic.

As a result of a three days' battle, the townespeople are in a state of terror and hundreds are fleeing. It is reported that C. B. Helley, an American, and G. H. Williams, an Englishman, were killed, and two other Americans, Walter Neal and Patrick Baird, were wounded near El Favor mine, in the vicinity of Hestatipquito.

Lehman May Be Named As One of U. S. Mediators

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The South American mediators continued their sessions today. They were satisfied from telegrams received from Mexico City last midnight that the Huerta delegates would sail today from Vera Cruz to Galveston and proceed direct to Niagara Falls for the conference opening on the eighteenth.

Frederick H. Lehman, of St. Louis, formerly solicitor general, whose name has been mentioned as a possible American delegate in the mediation, will arrive here later today and have a conference with the president. The impression prevails the place has been offered to him.

While interest was renewed today in the diplomatic phase of the Mexican crisis, there was an abatement of execution of the program of preparedness in the war and navy departments. Secretary Garrison explained that he was trying to gather transports at Galveston that could be used to send the fourth and sixth brigades to Vera Cruz "in case it is bought wise in view of a precautionary attitude to have them there." He asserted no aggressive move was contemplated. Reports from Galveston today said the two brigades were ready to embark.

EXTEND AMERICAN LINES.

High officers of the army who have weighed the Vera Cruz situation are reported to have urged that the American lines there be extended to insure a sufficient food and water supply. Other uses for reinforcements would be preparedness against any possibility of sudden attack by federals and readiness for a quick movement on Mexico City should the Huerta regime crumble and mob rule threaten.

The South American envoys transmitted to Huerta today the reply of the American government to his protest that the United States had broken the truce by landing additional troops at Vera Cruz. Secretary Bryan declared that nothing had been done to violate the armistice. The delay in delivering the note convinced that the United States had not violated it in spirit, at least.

While the diplomatic and military phases of the international crisis compelled much attention, observers turned to developments in the Huerta-Carranza strife. Constitutionalists expressed confidence that their troops would drive the federals out of Tampico in the next few days. That development, it was hoped in some quarters, would relieve tension over the menace to foreign property by the Tampico oil district. Reports that San Luis Potosi had been taken by rebels were not credited by Carranza's Juarez agents. They said their forces were not ready for a decisive attack on that southern gateway to Huerta's capital.

American and foreign refugees arriving at Vera Cruz from the interior stated all was quiet in Mexico City where Huerta had asserted he would see his capital in ashes before he would quit.

South's Veterans Indorse Wilson's Mexican Policy

(By Associated Press.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 9.—Indorsement of the policy of President Wilson in handling the Mexican situation was one of the last official actions of the twenty-fourth annual United Confederate Veterans reunion which concluded here last night.

Approval of the policy of the president was unanimously voted in a resolution adopted by the veterans yesterday afternoon:

"Whereas, the present unsettled condition in the commonwealth of Mexico appears likely to involve some action on the part of the United States,

"Be it resolved, That this convention of United Confederate Veterans recognizes the great wisdom and discretion of the president of the United States and will heartily support such action as he may take in every possible way."

Commander-in-Chief Stephen D. Youngblood was instructed by the convention to forward the resolution to President Wilson.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 9.—A special from Benson, N. C., today says that Jasper Lee, ten-year-old son of Frank Lee, shot and killed his baby sister late yesterday.

CHAS. W. POST DIES BY HIS OWN HAND IN SANTA BARBARA, CAL.

Millionaire Manufacturer, of Battle Creek, Mich., Commits Suicide by Shooting Himself

WAS SEIZED BY ILLNESS SEVERAL MONTHS AGO

Operation Had Been Performed and He Appeared to Have Been Cured of His Ailment

(By Associated Press.)

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., May 9.—Charles W. Post, the millionaire manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., shot and killed himself this morning.

Mr. Post was stricken here several months ago and hurried to Rochester, Minn., aboard a special train for an operation. He returned here only recently, apparently recovered.

Post Business Interests Worth Many Millions

(By Associated Press.)

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 9.—Charles W. Post was one of the founders of the so-called health food industry. His business interests here for the manufacturing of breakfast foods represented millions of dollars.

Mr. Post as born in Springfield, Ill., in 1854. He engaged in the hardware and other lines of business there until 1884 when his health broke down. He traveled extensively in search of treatment for some time and arrived here in 1891.

His search for health was responsible, it is said, for his investigation into the health food subject and when his health had been regained he turned all of his attention to that line of endeavor.

Employing thousands of workmen, he took an active part in local civic affairs. In 1908 he was made president of the National Citizens' Industrial association of America and for several years he attracted wide attention because of his attacks against labor unions. He was an ardent supporter of the "open-shop."

ATLANTA BANK CLEARINGS SHOW ANOTHER INCREASE

Gain for Week Is Nearly $2,000,000 and for Day Is $371,000.

Bank clearings made another good showing today, both for the week and for the day, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1913.

For the week the increase was a shade under $2,000,000, and for the day it was $371,000. The remarkable fact about Atlanta bank clearings is that they have shown an increase for every week since early last fall when the cotton crop began to move.

Following is the comparison:

Today	$2,300,252.81
Same day last year	2,000,389.26
Increase	$371,963.55
Past week	$14,639,308.59
Same last year	12,622,495.65
Increase	$1,997,902.94

COMMITTEE ORDERS RECOUNT OF VOTES

Turner-Hightower Race for County Commission to Be Decided Today

Controversies as to the accuracy of the court which showed G. C. Turner a winner over T. J. Hightower in the race for county commissioner, will be settled Saturday afternoon by a re-count of the votes cast in the Fifth ward.

The county executive committee decided Saturday to have the votes cast in the Fifth ward re-counted after Mr. Hightower had presented a petition in which he set out that he was dissatisfied with the manner in which the report from this precinct had been made.

STRIKERS AND OTHERS GIVE ARMS TO TROOPS

TRINIDAD, Col., May 9.—Federal army officers today began to receive arms and ammunition from all residents of the Trinidad districts in the Colorado strike zone. The strikers gathered at the tent colony in San Rafael Heights. Citizens appeared with — weapons at various places in the town which had been proscribed by the proclamation.

No intimation was given as to what will become of the weapons ultimately, except assurances that the arms would not be given out again by the troops to any save their rightful owners.

Official Welcomers of Yaarab Temple Stationed at All Points to Receive Delegations and Pilot Them to Hotels

At noon Saturday the program of Shrine week began. The official welcomers representing Yaarab temple took their post in the railway stations at that hour and clear the decks for action.

For hours the incoming trains have been pouring their hundreds into Atlanta, one visitor at a time or in groups of two and three. At noon, though, the real begins started. From now till early Tuesday morning it will grow bigger every hour.

Atlanta is almost ready. Decorators worked all night again, and fresh gangs were at their task by daylight. Others will relieve them, and the work will go on through Saturday night. By Sunday morning Atlanta will be all dressed for the great company that's coming.

Chairman W. A. Fuller, of the Terminal station reception committee, requests all nobles willing to serve but not yet assigned to work on the reception committee, to report to him at the Terminal at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. About fifty new names have been received by him. These members will receive their badges and be assigned to sub-committees Sunday morning.

Chairman Lee Hagan, in charge of the Union station, has issued a similar request.

POTENTATE AT ANSLEY.

Potentate Forrest Adair of Yaarab temple moved to the Ansley hotel, Saturday morning. His home in Druid Hills will know him no more until the last of the big Shrine delegations has left town. Henceforth he is to be neither real estate man or family head—just potentate of Yamrab temple and noble of the Mystic Shrine. He brought his tea to town with him Saturday morning, and his baggage followed later.

"Shrine Park" where the Southern railway will park practically all of the special trains arriving over its lines, was dedicated Friday evening. Several hundred people were present, their number including the majority of the Shrine's leaders in Atlanta. Mayor James G. Woodward made a speech, the flags were hoisted, the lights were turned on—and the dedication was done.

The "Morocco Special," due to arrive with Jacksonville's Shriners aboard early Sunday morning, will have the unique distinction of being entirely a Shrine train, not only laden with passengers who are nobles of the faith

FELDER OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR SENATE AT PERRY

Tremendous Crowd Frequently Interrupts the Speaker With Enthusiastic Applause

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

PERRY, Ga., May 9.—One of the largest gatherings of business men, farmers and citizens of Houston county that ever assembled at the court house at Perry heard Thomas S. Felder, candidate for the United States senate, make his initial campaign speech this morning. Every seat in the court room and every available standing room was occupied when Prof. Green, county school superintendent, presented the speaker. He was received with a storm of applause.

He spoke for an hour and fifteen minutes and was frequently interrupted with applause from the enthusiastic crowd. During his speech he voiced his disapproval of the peonage question and attacked Governor Slaton for not resigning the governorship while offering himself as a candidate for the United States senate. Each scathing denunciation of such a principle brought forth applause from the large audience. Many of the ladies among the audience cheered the speaker.

Mr. Felder also declared he was opposed to a United States judge holding office for life, and pointed out why he thought they should be elected by the people.

A delegation of citizens from Perry met Mr. Felder in autos five miles from the city and escorted him to Perry, where he was greeted by a large crowd. He spent fully half an hour mingling with the crowd, shaking hands with many of his friends who have known him since boyhood.

RELEASE PAYMASTER OF REBELS IN TEXAS

(By Associated Press.)

LAREDO, Tex., May 9.—The rebel paymaster, Major Manuel Caballero, arrested by a United States patrol on the Texas side of the Rio Grande yesterday, was released today. He was travelling on the American side, crossing into Mexico from time to time when opposite points were rebel soldiers were stationed. He still had some payments to make when arrested.

Need More Autos For Shrine Parade

"We need more automobiles for that parade Tuesday morning, and for the use of the ladies afterward," said Noble A. S. Adams, chairman of the Shriners' automobile committee, Saturday.

"We've got a number already, but we need more—more. We haven't near enough. The situation is urgent, and we must have an even more generous response from the automobile owners of Atlanta."

EARTHQUAKE DEATH LIST IS KNOWN TO BE 135

Number of Dead and Injured Will Be Increased When All Reports Are In

(By Associated Press.)

CATANIA, May 9.—Earthquake and volcanic eruption followed by fire destroyed many villages on the slopes of Mount Etna last night. The disaster caused the death of at least 135 persons. The number of injured is estimated at 283. These figures probably will be increased by complete advices from the wrecked villages. Refugees declare that the property loss is as great as in the San Francisco disaster of 1908. Railroad tracks were torn up, churches razed, houses shaken to ruin and telephone poles overturned over a radius of several miles around Catania.

Terror-stricken people rushed from the villages into Catania before daybreak today, bringing stories of ruin and disaster. Their reports caused the authorities to take immediate steps to start measures of relief. The army, navy and the civilian authorities received orders from Rome to render mutual aid in the work of rescue. The aid of the Red Cross was quickly enlisted.

Interruption of railroads and telegraphs made it impossible to obtain any accurate details as to the loss of life.

For several days earthquake shocks had been felt at frequent intervals, accompanied by eruptions of Mount Etna. No particular attention, however, was paid to them as the shocks were not exceptionally violent.

The first severe shock was felt at 9 o'clock last evening but the extent of the catas trophe was not realized until this morning when terror-stricken people of rugees began streaming into town.

The center of the disturbance was at the village of Linera. Here the proportion of dead and injured was very heavy. The victims were mostly women and children. The property loss at Linera was also extremely heavy. The work of rescue was rendered difficult by the great accumulation of debris.

The property damage was very great in many other villages. Churches and public buildings were destroyed and hundreds of houses fell to the ground.

Nevertheless it was believed by those in charge of the work of rescue that the death list would not be so heavy as at first reported. According to refugees fire in some places completed the work of destruction and hindered the efforts of the rescuers.

45 PERUVIAN SOLDIERS MASSACRED FOR MUTINY

NEW YORK, May 9.—Captain W. P. Aspinall, of the steamer Gregory, which arrived yesterday from Iquitos, 2,500 miles up the Amazon, brought a story of a massacre of 45 Peruvian soldiers, all Negroes, who had mutinied and killed their officers.

Captain Aspinall gives the story on the authority of the man who carried out the executions, Captain Fernando Gasmal, who was a passenger on his ship as far as Barbadoes.

The forty-five mutineers when captured, were chackled together and taken out on the Napo river on a lighter in tow of a gunboat. Then, the story goes, a machine gun on the gunboat was turned on the prisoners and all were killed. Their bodies were thrown into the river.

BURNS AND LEHON ARE SUMMONED ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Detectives Must Explain Why They Sent Annie Maud Carter, Frank Case Witness, Out of Court's Jurisdiction

MOTION TO SET ASIDE VERDICT IS POSTPONED

Hearing Will Be Taken Up Next Saturday — Judge Closely Questions Negress About Who Furnished Money

Judge Ben H. Hill, of the criminal division of superior court, Saturday morning cited William J. Burns and Dan S. Lehon to appear before him next Tuesday to answer a charge of contempt of court for sending Annie Maud Carter, negro witness in the Frank case, out of the state. The action was taken after hearing the woman's testimony.

Judge Hill also ordered a postponement of the hearing of the motion to set aside the verdict in the Frank case on the ground that Frank was not in court, until next Saturday morning. This is the motion brought by Attorneys Tye, Peeples and others, and it will be heard by Judge Hill in the library of the state capitol.

Judge Hill was in his chambers on the fourth floor of the Thrower building by 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Promptly at 10 o'clock Attorneys Tye and Peeples appeared, and the Judge announced to them that Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey had been unable to prepare the case, and that he had decided to postpone the matter until Saturday of next week.

Mr. Tye then asked the solicitor if he was certain to be ready by next Saturday.

WILL DO HIS BEST.

"I can only say that I will do my best," responded the solicitor, "and that I will work consanily on the motion, beginning Monday morning."

"Will you raise an issue of fact?" asked Mr. Tye.

"I can't say now," answered Mr. Dorsey, "for to be perfectly frank with you I haven't read your motion."

Judge Hill then stated that he desired to finish the hearing before taking up the regular criminal docket Monday of next week, and the discussion ended.

Although the hearing of Annie Maud Carter's statement was slated for 11 o'clock, Judge Hill stated he would like to get through with it, and accordingly a deputy sheriff was dispatched to the Tower for the woman, while another notified the attorneys for the defense of Frank.

At 10:30 o'clock the woman was brought into the court room and by that time quite a crowd had collected.

Judge Hill took the bench and said: "The report in this morning's Constitution that this is to be an inquisition is exaggerated. I simply desire to ascertain from this woman, who sent her out of the jurisdiction of the court. I don't propose to ask her, or allow her to be asked, about her original testimony."

TWO ATTORNEYS PRESENT.

Then came the interesting development that two attorneys were in the court to represent the woman.

Attorney George Gordon, who figured as counsel for Mincola and Albert McKnight, addressed the court:

"Representing this woman, I would like to ask the nature of this proceeding. Is it a contempt proceeding or in the nature of an interrogation about her testimony?"

"I have stated the nature of the proceeding," answered the court.

"I wish to object to any statement which will incriminate the woman," said Mr. Gordon.

"I will not ask, or permit to be asked, any question which would incriminate or tend to incriminate her."

Attorney Tillou Von Nones, who was retained by Solicitor Dorsey then addressed the court saying:

"I have been employed in this case in good faith and I would like to ask the court to ascertain from the witness which one of us is her attorney."

"That is not a matter for the court," said Judge Hill and then he spoke to

WOMEN GIVE SUFFRAGE BIG BOOST AT CAPITAL

Thousands Join In Parade and Mass Meting at Washington for "the Cause"

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—With banners flying, ten bands playing and the women singing a marching song, several thousand suffragists from various sections of the country today paraded along Pennsylvania avenue from LaFayette square to the capitol. There were 581 of them, representing every state in the union, and assigned one to each senatorial and representative district. They presented the members of congress petitions asking the passage of the Bristow-Mondell resolution calling for a federal constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

Immense crowds viewed the procession along the route. When the capitol was reached the bands were massed on the plaza before the east front, where they played the "March of the Women" composed by Dr. Rieta Ryan Snyder, Maryland, accompanying a chorus of 1,000 women, wearing robes of white, with green stoles and fillets of green on their heads.

MASS MEETING HELD.

The parade followed a mass meeting in a downtown theater presided over by Mrs. William Kent, wife of representative Kent, of California, and at which stirring addresses were delivered by Miss Carolina Lexow, field secretary of the Women's Political Union of New York; Mrs. Donald Hooker, of Baltimore, and Miss Lucy Burns, of Brooklyn, vice chairman of the Congressional Union for woman suffrage, under the auspices of which the demonstration was held.

The cavalry section was commanded by Mrs. Juliet Barrett Rublee, of Washington, who also was the mounted grand marshal of the procession.

In advance of the marching contingent were seven color bearers on horseback, each carrying a purple, white and gold flag, their leader being Miss Inez Hill, daughter of former Representative Hill, of Connecticut. Among the prominent cavalry women were Miss Edith S. Church, wife of Representative Church, of California; Mrs. Charles Forrest Curry, wife of another California representative; Miss Mary Morgan, of Washington, niece of Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester; Miss Alberta Hill, formerly of Australia, now of New York, and Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of Representative Kent.

Mrs. George Odell was chairman of the foot marshals of the political division, which was next in line, and which was subdivided into various sections. The sections that created the most interest were those of the women writers and the actresses.

LEADING WOMEN PRESENT.

The former was organized by Mrs. Marie Manning Gasch, of Washington, and among those who trudged with her were Miss Nina Gale, of Wisconsin; Edna Kenton, Helen Reimer Snyder Martin, Mrs. Adelaide Fairbanks Timmons, daughter of former Governor Fraser Fairbanks, and wife of Lieutenant Timmons, U. S. N.; Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr; Margaret Spalding Gerry, of New York; Alice Duer Miller and Roberta Bradshaw. Among the actresses Hattie Williams, Annie Russell and Mrs. Mary Kealty Clagett were conspicuous.

Other groups included college women, farmers, waitresses, saleswomen, laundresses, women printers, stenographers, social workers, seamstresses, artists, physicians, dentists, nurses, lawyers, teachers, taxpayers and homemakers, the latter section organized by Mrs. Harry W. Wiley, of Washington, wife of the noted pure food expert.

An interesting feature was a large delegation of women voters from the ten states where members of the fair sex now are allowed to cast the ballot. Walking at the head of this contingent was Dr. Cora Smith King, of Seattle, Wash., treasurer of the National Council of Women Voters. Bringing up the rear of the ranks were hundreds of women under the banners of separate states.

FIFTH WARD IMPROVEMENT CLUB DEMANDS SIDEWALKS

Voices Protest Because Mayor's Veto Was Not Overridden by Aldermen

The Fifth Ward Improvement club at a meeting Friday night voiced a protest against the action of the aldermanic board in reversing the action of common council overriding Mayor Woodward's veto of certain sidewalk assessment ordinances in the Fifth ward.

In other words, the club wants the sidewalks paved and is indignant because the aldermanic board did not join the common council in overriding the mayor's veto.

Councilman Jesse B. Lee, of the Fifth ward, who introduced the assessment ordinances and who was severely criticised in the mayor's message accompanying the veto, attended the meeting and made a speech.

A committee was appointed to secure names to a petition to council insisting that the sidewalks in question be paved.

CAPT. MAYO ISSUES A CARD OF THANKS

W. M. Mayo, who was defeated for sheriff of Fulton county in the primary last Tuesday, issues the following card of thanks:

"I desire to express for myself and deputies our grateful thanks to the voters who cast their ballots for me in the primary of May 5, 1914, and I beg to state that neither myself nor deputies will ever forget their steadfast loyalty to us. I is my purpose to further say that we do not entertain the slightest ill will towards those who did not vote for us. The people have expressed their preference and we sincerely submit to their will.

"Respectfully,

"W. M. MAYO."

SHOOTS HIMSELF IN FOOT WHILE ON HUNTING TRIP

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., May 9.—W. J. Jenkins, aged 18 years, at noon today accidentally shot his right foot with a shotgun while out hunting with a crowd of boys in the suburbs of the city.

His playmates carried him to the nearest house and he was rushed to the city, where medical aid was given. The doctors amputated the large toe and foot, cut several small bones. It is not thought that he will lose the entire foot.

Alfred W. Brewerton, Journal Cartoonist, Is Signally Honored

Far and wide has spread the fame of Alfred W. Brewerton, The Journal's talented cartoonist. Recently Mr. Brewerton completed a series of comic cartoons for the New York World, and almost immediately thereafter he was requested to prepare a similar series for the Chicago Tribune. His work has long been in demand for art exhibitions in various cities of the country.

Perhaps the most substantial recognition which has come to Mr. Brewerton is contained in a letter which he has just received from Hon. Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior department, and member of President Wilson's cabinet.

Secretary Lane writes Mr. Brewerton that the employes of the interior department have organized a Home Club and that they are desirous of obtaining some of his works to hang in the club. The secretary's letter follows:

"The Secretary of the Interior,

"Washington, May 7, 1914.

"My Dear Mr. Brewerton:

"I enclose a card describing the Home Club. We wish to furnish one of the rooms with cartoons by the most celebrated American cartoonist and I will be very glad if we could hang one or more of your works upon our walls. The men and women of the department of the interior have furnished this house elaborately out of their own pockets. Nobody has contributed a dollar, and I am extremely proud of what they have done.

"Cordially yours,

"FRANKLIN K. LANE.

BATLESHIP WILL ESCORT SAILORS' BODIES TO PORT

Wyoming to Meet Montana, Which Is Bearing Victims of Vera Cruz Invasion

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 9.—The battleship Wyoming left the Brooklyn navy yard today to meet the armored cruiser Montana, bearing the bodies of the United States marines and bluejackets killed at Vera Cruz. The Wyoming will remain at anchor off the Statue of Liberty until the Montana passes Sandy Hook lightship, just outside New York harbor, until the arrival tomorrow of the Montana. With the Montana will be the presidential yacht Mayflower, carrying Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The funeral ship is expected at the government anchorage off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, by noon Sunday. It will move up the bay late in the afternoon, when the dead will be taken off and placed on caissons at the battery. They will remain there under a military guard until transferred to the Brooklyn navy yard early Monday.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS HOLD BIG MINSTREL SHOW

An event of Friday night was the minstrel show held under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class of the Church of the Incarnation in the parish house in West End.

The entire performance was thoroughly entertaining by a large cast. Edwin Pollard was especially pleasing in a clever song, "If I Were King."

The program:

Opening Chorus—the company.

Garland of Old Fashioned Roses—W. E. Hannum.

All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go—Mr. R. W. Williams.

Out on the Deep—W. P. Hunter.

You're a Great Big Blue Eyed Baby—E. E. Pollard.

You're My Girl—J. M. Wilson.

End Song—Stanley Addis.

If I Were King—Edwin Pollard.

Mr. Thomas Peters between part one and two.

A mock trial completed the program.

BOYS WHO RODE AWAY IN AUTO BROUGHT BACK

Arrested in Lafayette, Ga., Sollie Smith, sixteen years old, 190 Luckie street, and C. C. Hagan, fourteen years old, 292 Simpson street, the two boys who rode away Monday night in the big touring car of Virgil Collier, were brought back in the car Friday by Virgil Collier and James Catron, and lodged in the police barracks.

Smith stated he took the car, and that Hagan did not even know it was a stolen machine. The car was abandoned when gasoline gave out near Acworth, Ga. Collier will no doubt renew our action of the grand jury in his private car.

Mr. Woodward, who is one of Alabama's wealthiest men, has been very ill at Orlando since January 18.

PAINTER TO BE SENT TO N. Y. TO FACE CHARGES

Mrx Green, a painter and decorator, who has resided in Savannah for the past three years, may have to go back to New York city to stand trial on the charge of abandonment of his minor children.

Governor Slaton Saturday morning held a hearing on the requisition issued for Green by Governor Glynn.

Governor Slaton, acting upon the advice of the attorney general, held that the requisition was properly made out and that he had no discretion in the matter, but he stated that he would submit the facts to Governor Glynn and allow him an opportunity to withdraw the requisition if he saw fit.

Farm Club Meetings

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., May 9.—The corn and canning clubs of Floyd county will hold a joint meeting Saturday at the Rome chamber of commerce rooms. Addresses will be made by Wright Willingham, president of the chamber; Miss Lelia D. Dowdle, of Rome; Dr. William Bradford, of Cedartown, and Dr. J. Phil Campbell, of Athens. In the afternoon a moving picture demonstration of corn and canning club work will be given at a local motion picture theater.

KILLING OF ONE PRIVATE WILL NOT CAUSE CLASH

Usual Explanations Will Be Asked for Reported Execution by Mexicans

(By Associated Press.)

VERA CRUZ, Mex., May 9.—Even if the reported execution by General Maas' men of Private Samuel Parks, the orderly missing since Wednesday, prove true, army officers are inclined not to regard one such incident as apt to precipitate a clash.

They believe such an act would probably be that of a subordinate, officer without authority and that General Maas would be wholly ignorant of the matter until the Mexico City government asked for an explanation. It is assumed here that the matter will be taken up by the authorities at Washington through the Brasilian minister at Mexico City and that the Huerta officials will make a prompt investigation. General Funston deems it inadvisable to open formal communication with General Maas and is therefore leaving the case of Private Parks to Washington.

General Funston has asked that the brigade equipment, left behind at Galveston because of lack of room for horses and wagons on the transports, be sent forward. He also asks that recruits for regimental duty be assembled at recruiting depots in the United States, be shipped.

Disposition of the outposts and the aviators indicate that there are more Mexican regulars in that direction than was heretofore thought. A party of fifty was seen. They made no hostile demonstration and proceeded apparently without paying attention to the Americans. The largest party seen northwest previously was a small squad which was sighted a few days ago by an aviator.

The army estimates the population of Vera Cruz, including troops and American and Mexican refugees at between 40,000 and 50,000. This is one-third above normal. The increase has brought on a shortage in foods. Efforts to limit the water consumption are in progress. Army officers report that the situation is generally satisfactory work. Under, existing arrangement they handle only Mexicans while the troops look after the cases in which soldiers and sailors are involved.

BIG FRAUD CHARGED IN LOTTERY TICKETS

Cuban Representative Charges Two Sets Have Been Printed

(By Associated Press.)

HAVANA, May 9.—A commission was created in the house of representatives yesterday evening when Representative Sachon announced that a fraud was being perpetrated with lottery tickets by the printing of two series, one genuine and for the Cuban government and the other spurious for sale abroad. Senor SoGaro said the persons attending the spurious tickets were reaping a profit of $70,000 a month from the fraud.

The director of the lottery in a statement last night said the report that two sets of tickets had been printed arose out of the fact that there was an error on the backs of some of the tickets, and these had been recalled and duplicates issued for them. The director declared no illegal tickets were being issued.

NEXT WEEK SEES THE END OF OUR FAMOUS "HEART SONGS" DISTRIBUTION

The few remaining days of our enormous "Heart Songs" distribution will probably be taken advantage of by hundreds, who, for some reason or other have not yet secured a copy. This great work of "Heart Song" music is one that has secured a firm hold on the affections of the people at large, and more as the years go by in this community. The wide distribution of the work has already far exceeded our anticipations, and we are more than gratified by the hearty welcome that has attended our efforts. Indeed, it would seem that we have struck upon the right book for our readers, but that we chose the right moment to present it. We are sure that it is the very best song book ever published, and that every owner will, from time to time in the future, congratulate himself, and feel grateful to this paper for the possession of a unique work that will afford untold pleasure to his family, as well as himself. The distribution will positively end next week, so those who desire to secure one of the copies of the publishers. Our coupon in this issue gives the terms for the final week.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

JUDGE JAMES B. PARK WOULD SUCCEED KIMBERLY.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GREENSBORO, Ga., May 9.—Judge James B. Park, of Greensboro, who is serving his second term as judge of the Ocmulgee circuit, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the bench of this circuit. He is the only candidate to enter the race so far, and it is not thought that he will have any opposition.

Judge Park has become prominent in judicial circles since his elevation from the Greensboro bar to the bench of the Ocmulgee circuit. He presided at the famous Nick Wilburn and Mrs. Katy King trial in Jones county, where the latter was freed, and the former now stands under the sentence of death for the murder of Mrs. King's husband.

The Democratic executive committee has set the date for the county primary for May 27. Each county official is seeking re-election, and the only officials without opposition so far are Sheriff J. L. Hixon and Clerk of Court S. H. Willis.

Two candidates have announced for the state legislature from Greene county, subject to the state primary. They are Dr. C. C. King, of White Plains, and Captain Alex H. Smith, of Greensboro. The latter has represented Greene county in the legislature. It is the final session Saturday morning, the Georgia Bankers' association in convention at the Piedmont hotel, unanimously indorsed President L. P. Hillyer, of Macon, class A, and Captain F. D. Bloodworth, of Savannah, class C, as directors of the national bank for the southeastern district, Atlanta.

Both of these men are among the most prominent bankers of the state. If Captain Bloodworth is appointed to the position, he will probably move to Atlanta and take up permanent residence here.

From the time that Miss Jane Elliott, dancing with Barrett Philip, entered the dining room and gave an exhibition of all that is new in terpsichorean art, until the last chaser number was over, and visitors were preparing to go home, the dinner tendered the members of the Georgia Bankers' association at the Capital City club Friday night by the Atlanta Clearing House association was a regular scream. It was a flock of screams and a few more thrown in for good measure.

THE RALLIAR DOCUMENT.

The bankers were there, some 500 of them, and when they left them it was pink and sweethearts. At each place the guests found a document familiar in its general form to Masons, but unattached. And it was a perfectly good bond if negotiated to help a ravenous speculator part with his money. Each coupon called for something good to eat or a new cabaret stunt. The closing was furious, and fun.

The appearance of Miss Elliott and Mr. Philip was hinged with acclaim. Their dancing was thoroughly appreciated and served to get the guests in a humor for the evening's fun.

Robert F. Maddox, who didn't eat anything because he was too busy being master of the ceremonies, escorted the stars of the Forsyth theater bill for this week and offered them to the guests before the curtain went up at 8:30. It was really a big night, and if the bankers don't want to come to Atlanta for every other convention they have it is not the fault of the local clearing house association.

The only speaker of the evening was Colonel John Temple Graves, and he acquitted himself in his usual attractive and witty style.

The final session of the bankers convention in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Several addresses on banking and financial matters will be delivered, and before adjournment at 1 o'clock of every other convention they have it is not the fault of the local clearing house association.

Deaths and Funerals

MR. FRANK W. LOOMIS.

Mr. Frank W. Loomis, who for several months past has been temporarily a resident of Atlanta, died Friday night in a hospital in Savannah, where he went about three weeks ago. He was agent for one of the publishing houses, his home was in Iowa, and his wife and daughter, who survive him, are now on their way from Iowa to Savannah.

INFANT DIES.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cohen died Friday night at the family residence, 207 East Fair street. The body is at Greenberg & Bond's and funeral arrangements will be completed later.

MRS. JANE A. SUMMERS.

Mrs. Jane Alice Summers, aged seventy-five years, died Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at her residence, 52 Waddell street. The body is in charge of Greenberg & Bond's and the funeral will be held from there Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. F. Lisle officiating. Interment will be in Hollywood cemetery. Mrs. Summers is survived by one brother, Bradford Brake, of Manchester, Ga., one daughter, Mrs. J. S. Green, and the following sons: J. B. Summers, of California; Henry N. Summers, Oklahoma; J. D. Summers, of Alabama; C. E. and B. C. Summers, of Atlanta, and G. F. Summers, of Montana.

PREDICT WEATHER TO BE PLEASANT AFTER SUNDAY

Fair weather is forecasted for Saturday night and Sunday.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

The last rehearsals for "Are You a Mason" are over and the players of the Lucile LaVerne company at the Lyric are ready to spring the bright farce comedy on Shrine visitors and homefolks next Monday night. It promises to be the success of all the stock season.

"The Heir to the Hoorah" has its last performances today, rounding out a week of popularity. The new dancing floor in the foyer opens today and theatregoers are invited to trot and tango to the music of the Lyric orchestra at every performance, between the acts and after the last curtain.

The Forsyth's offering this week is packing the theater daily. There are seven features, every one of them capable of holding headline positions.

Jesse Lasky's "The Trained Nurses" is undoubtedly the very best miniature musical comedy ever presented on a vaudeville stage. There are two stars, Clark and Bergman, a splendid chorus and other principals.

Next week will witness probably the biggest week in the Forsyth's history.

Although the Forsyth has played some of the biggest and best headliners on the stage today, no one has ever so pleased.

With the best Junior Keith Vaudeville show the Grand has offered, the management expects large houses at all performances today. Volicose and May, modern athletes, featuring teeth work; Russell and Church, singing and talking comediennes; Hunter and Davenport in blackface comedy; the Heuman Trio of sensational and comedy cyclists, and Smith and Ryan in a novel singing act comprise the vaudeville portion of the program, and the feature picture is "The Dread of Doom," the best-acted film shown at this house in many a day.

Jake Wells has completed arrangements for the Grand to show Shriners' week the latest big feature picture sent over from Europe, "The Blue Mouse," a comedy in six parts, featuring Madge Lessing. This is the comedy Clyde Fitch adapted for the American stage a few years ago and made a tremendous hit on Broadway with the late Mable Harrison in the title role. It has the reputation of running more than 200 nights in Paris and Berlin and will be shown here for the first time at popular prices. To accommodate the crowd that are sure to attend this management will give continuous performances daily from noon until midnight.

F. E. CALLAWAY PRAISES THE NEW TARIFF LAW

Gives Interesting Talk Before Cotton Men of State in Session Here

The new tariff law enacted during Wilson's administration was highly praised by Fuller E. Callaway, of LaGrange, chairman of the tariff committee, at the convention of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of Georgia Friday at the Piedmont hotel.

Before the 200 members of the association, representing all of the big cotton factories in Georgia, Mr. Callaway said that the cotton men of Georgia ought not to object to the new tariff, despite the fact that it cuts their rate of protection from 37 per cent to 7 1-2 per cent.

"The new tariff, the first real tariff revision that this country has ever had, opens up the way for competition with England and Germany in cotton goods in export trade to China, India and the far east. Shortly after Columbus came to America a high protective tariff would have been a good thing to encourage infant industries, but today, when the output of manufactured goods in this country is enough to supply the demand here, and when soon we will be manufacturing enough to exceed the demand, so that we will have to export, a high tariff is not needed. It is better for the manufacturers, in the long run, to be put on a competitive basis with England and Germany.

"Besides, the Georgia manufacturers did not lose anything by the big reduction, because they did not gain anything by the high tariff when it was in effect. The northern interests saw to it that prices of labor and material were kept so high that none of us in Georgia could gain from protection."

Mr. Callaway, in the course of his remarks, said that the manufacturers were going to discover in time that child labor was not a good investment proposition. His address called for enthusiastic applause from the members of the association.

James A. Emery, chief counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, in his address on "Legislation and Business," attacked the new anti-trust legislation, the Clayton bill, now before congress.

Allen F. Johnson, president of the Exposition Cotton Mills, Atlanta, was elected president of the association to succeed F. B. Gordon, of Columbus, who has held this office for two years. At a banquet given by the association Friday evening, a handsome set of silver goblets and silver plates, twelve of each, was presented to Mr. Gordon by Lee M. Jordan, of Atlanta, the name of the association.

The Duke's Warehouse Plan," by means of which a series of warehouses throughout the south are to be built to facilitate the marketing of the cotton crop, was introduced by the association. Stuart W. Cramer, of Charlotte, N. C., president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, outlined this plan.

Harry L. Williams, of Columbus, was reelected secretary and treasurer of the association. The convention, the fourteenth annual one held by the manufacturers, adjourned late Friday night.

BEAVERS WILL INSTALL NEW OFFICERS SATURDAY

Tenth Annual Session Will Come to Close Here This Afternoon

With two business sessions Saturday and the installation of officers Saturday afternoon, the tenth annual convention of the Supreme Dam, Independent Order of Beavers, which has been in session at 57 1-2 East Hunter street since Friday, will come to a close.

The delegates attended a banquet at the Kimball House Friday night at which Mrs. C. Mundy, president of Atlanta dam, acted as toastmaster, and speeches were heard from Judge R. B. Russell, Robert E. Davison, John Y. Smith, J. T. Dabney and Sam Jones.

The delegates went on an auto sightseeing tour around Atlanta Saturday. At Saturday afternoon's session the following officers will be installed, chosen Friday in Chattanooga as the meeting place for next year's convention: Supreme president, Sam E. Jones, of Chattanooga; supreme past president, Judge J. N. Piazza, Vicksburg; supreme vice president, W. C. Mundy, Atlanta; supreme chaplain, C. W. Clark, Vicksburg; supreme secretary, W. H. Fruitticher, Birmingham; supreme treasurer, W. T. Holt, Mobile; supreme guide, George Continwall, Nashville; supreme guardian, G. R. Signaio, Memphis; supreme sentinel, E. F. Wallace, Dora, Ala.; supreme trustee, R. A. Commines, Vicksburg; supreme counsellor, A. J. Graham, Atlanta; supreme organizer, H. B. English, Birmingham.

METHODISTS ASKED TO ESTABLISH OWN SCHOOL

Vanderbilt Committee Head Would Leave Location to the Commission

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 9.—The complete withdrawal of the Methodist church from Vanderbilt university and the creation of a special commission with power to establish an institution of learning which church would have full power and control, was advocated today by B. H. Linbaugh, of Oklahoma, chairman of special committee on Vanderbilt matter.

"A great church in my judgment should not stand sponsor for an institution of any character over which it has no control," he said. "It appears that under the recent decision of the supreme court of Tennessee the Methodist church south, has no such right in Vanderbilt university as would give it power and control over the institution or any of its departments, and entertaining these views, I am of the opinion that it would be wise of the church, through a special commission, to establish an institution of learning over which it has full power and control.

"Our committee has before it certain memorials presented by leading men of the church and citizens of Atlanta, Ga., with reference to the location of a university in or near that city. The several proposals are receiving from the committee that careful consideration they are entitled to and will receive at the hands of the general conference serious consideration."

Mr. Linbaugh expressed belief that the committee would recommend the location of a new university of the special commission.

ADD 605 NEW NAMES TO RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. ROLL

The membership campaign which has just closed in the Railroad Y. M. C. A. resulted in an addition of 605 new names to the roll, the membership list now totalling 1,600 and more.

The closing evening of the campaign, which was Friday night, was made pleasant by a special program of music and readings. Refreshments were served and everybody had a delightful time.

W. W. Waite, chairman of the membership committee, and Ira Ogre, sponsors in the campaign, Misses Susie Turner, Flora Phipps and Ethel Rutherford, have received much praise for their share of the work.

C. J. Adair, C. W. Williams and H. E. Butler led the three membership teams.

ASK POLICE TO SEARCH FOR TWO MISSING MEN

Chief W. W. McDonell, of the Youngstown, Ohio, police has requested Chief eBavers in a letter received Saturday to please aid in finding two missing men for whom relatives in Youngstown are searching.

Craig Armstrong Powis, 40 years old, missing for years, heard of in New York, Atlanta and Los Angeles, is one of the men, and the other is Lewis E. Kinman, 38 years old, a hatter, heard of in Davenport, Iowa; Atlanta and Louisville, Ky. Any information about them will be gratefully received by Chief Beavers.

OLLIE TAYLOR AGAIN IN TOILS OF POLICE HERE

Ollie Taylor, the Atlanta boy whose case attracted considerable attention a year or so ago when he was sentenced to the reformatory, was arraigned Friday before Recorder Broyles and sentenced to the reformatory again.

After some months in the reformatory Ollie was deemed worthy of parole, and was released.

This time he is charged with a misdemeanor, and his sentence is the usual reformatory sentence, to wit: Until he is twenty-one years of age, or until such earlier date as he is deemed worthy of parole.

METHODIST LAYMAN TO BE HONORED

Degree of Master Mason Will Be Conferred on E. H. Buchannan Monday — Elaborate Program Has Been Planned

A special communication of Atlanta lodge No. 66, F. and A. M., will be held in Scottish Rite hall in the Masonic Temple Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. At this time, the sublime degree of Master Mason will be conferred by all of the living past grand masters of the lodge, on E. H. Buchannan.

This will be the first time in the history of Georgia Masonry that any degree in the blue or symbolic lodge has ever been conferred by all the living past masters of the Atlanta lodge. The lodge has prepared an interesting program with which to celebrate the occasion. A special song program will be rendered by the lodge quartet, composed of Frank Crandall, Charles F. Sisk, W. J. Hubbard and Leslie Hubbard, accompanied by Paul M. Hubbard, organist.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies of conferring the degree, George M. Napier, most worshipful past grand master, will deliver a lecture on the symbolism of Mansonry.

Following is a list of the past grand masters who will assist in the ceremony of conferring the degree of Master Mason:

Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons of Georgia Robert L.Colding, in the east.

Most Worshipful Past Grand Master of Masons in Georgia Max Meyerhardt, in the west.

Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons in Georgia Henry Banks, in the south.

Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons in Georgia Thomas H. Jeffries, senior deacon.

Past Master of Atlanta Lodge James L. Mayson, junior deacon.

Past Master Atlanta Lodge Luther P. Stephens, senior steward.

Past Master Atlanta Lodge R. N. Fickett, junior deacon.

Most Worshipful Past Grand Master of Georgia James W. Taylor, chaplain.

WISHES TO MAKE AMENDS HONORABLE TO TECH

In a speech before the Georgia Teachers association, I stated that Mrs. Zebulon Walker has reported to the U. D. C.'s that "The History used in the Georgia Tech was unfair to our southland."

I find from further investigation that her report was as follows: "Two histories used in the Tech high school are decidedly objectionable." Prof. K. G. Matheson states that "the Tech high school has no connection with the Georgia School of Technology, and that it receives not one cent from the Georgia Tech by appropriation, or otherwise."

I regret having made the statement about the Georgia School of Technology and ask you to publish this as I wish to make amends honorable to the Georgia Tech.

PEACHTREE STORES WILL CLOSE FOR BIG PARADE

Merchants, Following Action of Those on Whitehall, Who Will Give Holiday

Peachtree street stores will be closed during the big Shriners' parade on Tuesday.

Roy Parks, of Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co., conferred with a number of the Peachtree street merchants Saturday and an agreement was reached whereby the stores will remain closed until after the parade. Because of considerable uncertainty as to how much time the parade will occupy, it was decided not to specify any hour at which the stores will open, the agreement being simply that they will remain closed until the parade has been completed.

Following as it does a similar agreement on the part of Whitehall street merchants, the action of the Peachtree street stores means that all of the principal stores along the route of the parade will be closed while the parade is in progress.

Deaths and Funerals

MR. MCLTLLAND'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mr. John E. McClelland was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the Central Presbyterian church. The services were conducted by Dr. Dunbar Ogden, the pastor, and Rev. Dr. Patton. Following the services at the church the body was placed on a special car and taken to Stone Mountain. The honorary escort of Masons held special services at the grave and paid Masonic honors to the dead.

COLONEL MARK HARDIN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

"Warwick of Georgia Politics" Dies in Atlanta at Age of 84 Years

Colonel Mark Hardin, who for many years was known as "The Warwick of Georgia Politics," died Saturday morning at his home, 19 Baltimore place. He was in his eighty-fourth year, and for some time had been in failing health. He had been a resident of Atlanta thirty-five years or more, and for more than sixty years was identified with the political life of the state.

He was the son of the late Colonel William Hardin, former clerk of the court of Henry county and United States Indian commissioner to enroll the Cherokees. His grandfather was Ezekiel Clarke, of McDonough.

He was born in Henry county in 1830, but taken to north Georgia when a child. The Indians still inhabited that portion of the state, and the only habitable house in the section was an old Moravian mission house, and into this they moved. Later the family moved near Rome, Ga., and there Colonel William Hardin founded the first bank north of the Chattahoochee, the Western Bank of Georgia. Later it will be moved to Cass county, now Bartow, and was prominent in the history of that county.

CLERK OF THE SENATE.

In 1847 Colonel Mark Hardin, then a mere boy, went to the West Point Military academy, but resigned in 1848 to become the clerk of the Georgia senate.

His political career began at that time when he was about 19 years old, and since then he has been prominently identified with the history-making politics of Georgia. He was a member of the legislature from Cass county during the 60ies and was a member after the war also. He was elected clerk of the house of representatives in 1868, which he held for thirty-two years. He was secretary of the constitutional convention of 1877 and was one of the secretaries of the national convention of 1880. He was calling the roll when Hancock was nominated. He also took an active part in the state gubernatorial conventions of Georgia.

MARRIED IN 1851.

In 1851 he was married to Miss Emma Sullivan, daughter of Col. John Sullivan, and they celebrated their golden wedding in 1901.

During the war he was captain of the First Kentucky cavalry, and in the latter part of 1862 was made prisoner by the federals. He was imprisoned for two years at Fort Warren, and was the first prisoner released from custody after Vice President Alexander H. Stephens was released.

Of his ten children five survive him. They are Mrs. John H. Mecaslin, Mrs. Martha H. Garner, Miss Virginia Hardin, Miss Helen Hardin, of Atlanta, and Everett A. Hardin, of New York. One grandson, John H. Mecaslin, survives him also.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

CREDIT MEN RE-ELECT E. L. ADAMS PRESIDENT

Other Officers Elected and Delegates Chosen to National Convention

The Atlanta Credit Men's association at its annual meeting Friday night reelected E. L. Adams president and elected the other officers as follows:

Members of executive board for one year—L. E. Floyd, J. Frietag, Bolling H. Jones.

Members of executive board for two years—H. D. Carter, E. L. Rhodes, Ralph Rosenfeld.

Delegates to annual convention at Rochester—E. L. Adams, J. L. Baldwin, Harry T. Moore.

Addresses were delivered at the meeting Friday night by Judge Joseph Henry Lumpkin, of the supreme court of Georgia, and Joel Hunter, the accountant. At the close of the meeting a delightful luncheon was served.

Leaves for Utah

Benjamin M. Hall, jr., left Friday for Provo, Utah, where he will be engaged as junior engineer in the United States reclamation service. His first work will be on the Strawberry valley project. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech and an honor man at graduation.

IOWA WOMAN TELLS OTHERS

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Carried Her Safely Through Change of Life.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"At the Change of Life the doctor said I would have to give up my work and take an op. for some time as there was no help for me but to lie still. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and kept up my work and now I am over the Change and that is all I took. It was better for me than all the doctor's medicines I tried. Many people have asked me what I took and I know this is good."—Mrs. E. J. RICKETS, 354 8th Avenue, West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Shrine Monocles Are Latest Decorations; Have You Got Yours?

NOBLE T. J. PAXON.
Wearing the latest out—the Shrine monocle.

Shrine fads ranging from Shrine sandwiches at the soda fount to Shrine shrugs in the ball room, have invaded Atlanta, but the ultra-top-notch has been reached in the Shrine monocle.

Shrine monocles will be worn by everybody who feels himself strictly in the swim, whether man or woman. They differ from other monocles only in that they have a red ribbon and not a black one, with a slide bearing the Shrine insignia and lenses of window glass.

Otherwise, they're regular monocles, just as hard to see through, just as hard to keep in place, just as distinguished and nifty-looking.

ROTARIANS TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE FOR THE SHRINERS

Fourth Floor of Chamber Building to Be Fitted to Receive Shriner Rotarians

One of the busiest and gayest of the Shriner headquarters during the forthcoming week is expected to be the fourth floor of the chamber of commerce building, where open house for Shriner Rotarians will be kept by the Rotary club.

As a first step, the Rotarians have taken over the fourth floor of the chamber of commerce building. As a second, it has installed large amounts of furniture. When it opens Saturday afternoon, there will be ready for visitors, free stenographer service, telephones, cigars, music and whatever else the occasion and the visitors demand.

As the Rotary club is a countrywide organization, and possesses a particularly widewake membership, it contains an unusual number of Shriners. Hubert W. Anderson, president of the Atlanta Rotarians and Albert S. Adams, president-elect, are both Shriners, so are many of the members. So is everyone on the committee in charge of the preparations, which consists of Fred Houser, Lee Duncan, Howard Cole, "Jim" Land, and Dan Lee Crew. Mr. Houser is in charge of the active work of fixing up the rooms, and Mr. Duncan is chairman of the committee.

Prosperity for the South.

There is sound sense as well as high optimism in Mr. Louis B. Farley's prediction that the South will soon enter the richest era of prosperity the country has ever known. Mr. Farley is the head of a Montgomery national bank, a former president of the Alabama Bankers' Association and a peculiarly keen observer of financial affairs. While in Atlanta yesterday, attending the annual meeting of the Georgia Bankers' Association, he said:

"The South is already feeling the good of the new currency measure. Money is getting freer each day, and business interests large and small are sensing the wave of prosperity that is sure to come. When the regional banks are established, there can be no better security for financial interests. The banks will be protected in so thorough a manner that panics will be unheard of. I do not believe that under the new law we shall ever again have a financial stringency, much less a calamity. The vast resources of the South assure her immunity from financial troubles, now that we all but have our regional banks. As an example of improved conditions, I can say that paper is being met more promptly now than in the last several years. Improvement has come gradually, but there is no mistaking its presence."

The fact is, the South has been steadily developing in agriculture, industries and commerce for the last thirty years. A comparison of her crop values, her factories and her trade volume as they are today and as they were in the early eighties is amazing. But heretofore the South has been greatly handicapped by financial dependence on remote monetary centers. Now that this drag upon her energy is to be removed by the establishment of three regional banks in her midst, she will move forward with new vigor to unparralleled achievement.

All the world loves a Shriner.

Pity we couldn't keep the decorations.

Where is the list of American and foreign residents killed in Mexico?

The cool weather reminds us that some changes, even in May, are premature.

Silencing the Croakers.

Professional pessimists are very lonesome nowadays in the cheerful West. In Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Nebraska, says the Kansas City Star, timely spring rains following a seasonable winter have virtually assured a wheat crop that will exceed all records.

"There is no gloomy talk to be heard from any quarter in these States except from those politicians who are always gloomy when conditions look best for the people. It is going to be a hard year for the politicians. Last fall they were hoping there would be a failure in the wheat crop, and they would have blamed it on the Wilson administration. The wheat crop is simply upsetting all their plans. One Kansas farmer answered a politician in this way: 'You will not get more than fifty cents a bushel for your wheat this year,' said the politician, 'thanks to the Wilson tariff.' 'Well,' answered the farmer, 'I do not expect to sell a bumper crop at the same price I would get if everybdoy else failed to raise wheat. But if I get fifty cents a bushel this year, that will be the same as a dollar and a quarter for an ordinary year, because I expect to raise two and a half times as much this year as I raise in ordinary years.'"

The time is past when down-and-out politicians could fool the people into thinking that straightforward government spelt declining prosperity, or that economic reforms would interfere with nature's husbandry. Good crops do not necessarily follow good government, but they are certainly not to be credited to bad government. The calamity harpers have been twanging their rusty strings month after month, hoping to create the hard times they desire; but the country has moved steadily forward to this buoyant spring, a million fields are growing green with the heavens' alchemy, and they ripen betimes into autumn gold. The political frogs meanwhile may croak as they please from their mire.

The Confederate veterans at Jacksonville approved of the president's Mexican war policy, and we suspect the veterans show a thing or two about war.

Safety in Travel.

On the basis of records established by firstclass railway systems, statisticians figure that the chance of being on a train in which any passenger might be fatally injured is only one in a million.

One hundred and eleven million passengers were carried last year on the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburg; not one of them was killed in a train accident. "Considering the question of individual safety as revealed by the figures for a term of years," says the Manufacturers' Record, we find that out of nearly six hundred million passengers carried on the company's lines during the last six years only sixteen lives were lost by train accidents, and nine of them were from one wreck. Thirty-seven million were carried for each person killed. In other words, the chance of death per passenger was only one-thirty-seven-million-five-hundred-thousandth."

The movement for greater safety in travel has evidently been productive of much substantial good. The Interstate Commerce Commission and State railroad commissioners have been steadily emphasizing the safety idea; and most of the country's representative railroads have exerted themselves to this end.

Passengers cars of all-steel construction are gradually replacing those of wood, a fact which tends to reduce the number of fatalities to a minimum even when wrecks occur. Train equipment and operation are becoming more efficient, and the management of railroads is growing continually better.

There is still much room for improvement, but American railroads are undoubtedly advancing upon lines of safety. The proper spirit is at work; the number of serious wrecks and casualties will continue to decrease.

Huerta should consider that Uncle Sam hasn't broken the armistice. He is simply preparing for war.

After next week, it will take more than an ordinary parade to make this town sit up and take notice.

Whatever effect this May blizzard may have on vegetation, the spring gardener is at least more comfortable at his work.

Small Towns.

The decrease of population in many small towns of the United States opens an interesting field of inquiry and comparison. In Pennsylvania sixteen hundred and twenty towns have fewer inhabitants now than in 1900, in Ohio eleven hundred and thirty-six show losses, in Illinois seven hundred and eighty-eight, in New York seven hundred and forty-six, in Michigan six hundred and sixty-seven, in Indiana six hundred and thirty-nine, in Iowa five hundred and sixty-four, in Missouri five hundred and forty and in Wisconsin three hundred and forty-six. In these nine States, six thousand, nine hundred and fifty-six towns lost population. It is noteworthy moreover that out of seven hundred and seventy-seven county seats in these States, two hundred and seventeen showed losses.

The Courier-Journal interprets this record as meaning that rural towns are declining along with rural districts, and of a number of States that is doubtless true. It is apparent in Georgia, however, that the small towns as well as the larger cities are thriving. Georgia's rural population increased from a million, eight hundred and forty thousand, two hundred and seventy-one in 1910. Its total population at the last census was two million, six hundred and nine thousand, one hundred and twenty-one. It is evident that the State's rural districts are not being abandoned.

There are twenty-three towns and cities in Georgia with five thousand or more inhabitants, a larger number than in any other Southern State with the exception of Texas. Most of those communities have a population of between five and seven thousand. They are growing rapidly, are being developed upon modern lines. They are the centers of rich agricultural districts, and their prosperity depends chiefly on rural interests.

Especially significant is the fact that one hundred and twenty towns in Georgia have public utilities, and in seventy-seven towns these utilities are municipally owned. In many places of less than a thousand inhabitants there are electric light plants and waterworks, and gas plants are steadily increasing. The fact is, the small towns of Georgia are among the State's richest assets.

Huerta would like to fly, if he could safely.

The average man is seldom very polite—unless he is trying to sell you something.

If a man has a large and expensive family to provide for, he hasn't much time to worry.

Editorials in Brief

Consideration of Richard Olney for the position of Governor of the Federal Reserve Board has served a useful purpose, even though his refusal to accept the appointment is announced. It has revealed the type of man that the President is seeking. It has quieted whatever apprehensions there may have been in the business world that the control of the new banking and currency system was to be intrusted to radicals and politicians. Powerful financial interests were opposed to the present National-Banking law at first. Adopting it finally, and bringing about under its operation what amounted to a great central bank in New York, they have hoped to legalize a situation which to the country at large had become intolerable. With regional banking established probably for all time, they have been willing to admit the wisdom of the change if they could be assured that the new institution would be conservatively managed.

WINSLOW, COMMANDER OF SUPERDREADNOUGHT

BY HERBERT COREY.

WASHINGTON.—"It's Winslow's luck," say navy men.

Rear Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow was placed by Secretary Daniels in command of a special service squadron for use in the war with Mexico. It is made up of the superdreadnaughts New York and Texas, and then grades down to steamers about big enough to go up a creek. That's where Winslow's luck comes in. If this were a regular war, and he were to tackle an enemy's fleet with that assortment of juveniles, he would come home with cracks in his cast-iron. But whatever work there may be for the navy—except lying outside a hot, shimmering port, slowly frying in the sun—will be inshore work in shallow waters; and Winslow is provided with the sort of boats for which this sort of war was invented. They make one think of the boat schedule on the Kentucky river the year of the big drought.

"Steamers," according to the card, "will in all cases leave the wharf not later than 5 o'clock in the morning—this in order to take advantage of the dew."

But if the navy men conceal that Winslow is lucky, they do not envy him, or at least they do not envy him any more than human nature forces on them. For Winslow is not only very popular, but he is one of the very best officers in the service. He has proven that a score of times. He is one of the half dozen or thereabouts who won very high distinction for personal daring during the Spanish-American war, and this statement is made in full recollection of the fact that almost every man in both services was burning to distinguish himself, and would take almost any chance at all to get his name in general orders. Winslow was in command of the gunboat Nashville. His commanding officer desired to cut the cables off Cienfuegos, in order that the Spaniards penned in there might have no opportunity to communicate with Madrid. He ordered Winslow to do the cutting.

The cable could only be reached in shallow water with the tools at Winslow's command. And the shallow water was in excellent rifle range of shore. Because of which fact—and also because he saw a chance to have what he eccentrically believes to be fun—Winslow left his junior in command of the Nashville and went out with a boat's crew in a small launch to saw through that cable. After three hours the boat came back spotted with bullet holes. Winslow had been first through the band. The cable was pulled up and utterly unrooted. It was held to be one of the most gallant exploits of the war.

Recently Winslow has been in command of the War college at Newport, and in one of the several junior admirals who has been picked out by the gossips to succeed Admiral Badger when that old seaman relinquishes command is a few months. He is one of the expert navigators of the service. Few men know the north Atlantic as Winslow does. He is one of the handsomest men in the navy, and the navy figures itself as a rather pulchritudinous organization. Winslow is a graduate of the Annapolis class of 1875 and will arrive at the retiring age in 1916. And yet his waist is almost as slender as when he was a boy. His back is as straight and his muscles as strong.

"I found out why," said one of his associates. "Incidentally, it gave me an insight into Winslow's character. You know, he is one of the real topnote society men in the navy. One morning I walked into his office.

"'Cigarette, admiral?' I asked.

"'Thanks, no,' said he. 'I'm not going to smoke during Lent.'

"'I didn't know you are a religious man,' I said.

"'I'm not,' said he. 'But I believe in taking hold of myself once in a while—just to show my body that Cameron Winslow is boss. I'll never own a habit that I can't handle.'

"Every day he does his setting up exercises, as he did when he was a boy at Annapolis. He believes they keep his head clear, and—in spite of his messmates' talk of Winslow's luck—he thinks that good fortune hangs on good thinking.

"I remember," said he the other day, "that I had taken over the command of the first torpedo boat ever built from its builder, the blind Mr. Herreshoff. As I stepped to the bridge, I said:

"'Wish me luck, Mr. Herreshoff.'

"The blind man turned to me.

"'Good luck, Mr. Winslow,' said he, 'is nothing more than good judgment.'"

That torpedo boat, incidentally, first hinted to harbor sailors hereabouts that Winslow is a skipper to watch by—and occasionally at. When he was putting that boat through her paces he frightened the passengers on two or three ferryboats into conniptions by apparently missing a collision by the width of a puff of steam. What the passengers didn't know—but he did—was that the boat answered her helm like a baby buggy. He used to boast that he could take her up a flight of stairs. It was a good many years later before he ruined the disposition of the Sandy Hook pilots by tearing up the channel with the battleship Connecticut, under full head of steam—and without a pilot to cost him a dollar. That feat had never been done before, but it is a commonplace now. Winslow is one of the admirals who believes that the way to keep a fleet in condition is to keep it at sea.

A striking honor was paid Admiral Winslow when he was selected to command the Charleston, on which Secretary of State Root was conveyed to the Pan-American congress at Rio. This was because, in addition to his capacity as a commander and as a navigator, he is a man of very unusual personal charm, and of high social standing. His father was that Captain Winslow who commanded the Kearsarge when she defeated the dreaded Alabama, the scourge of the seas, off Cherbourg during the Civil war. Admiral Winslow inherited a place among the aristocrats of America, as well as very considerable wealth. Neither position nor fortune suffered by his marriage with Miss Dora, daughter of the late Henry O. Havemeyer. Their life has been very happy.

Winslow is a bluff, hearty, straightforward man who thoroughly enjoys all those mitigations of a sailor's lot which may be found in a New York ballroom or on a Newport veranda. But—just a little bit better—he enjoys the sailor's lot itself.

A Rank Outsider

He slips around the sleeping farm
With method and precision.
His presence raises an alarm
Of angry indecision.
His tactics in the ducks a boost,
And when it comes to chickens,
If they're not high upon the roost
He plays the very dickens.
The neighbors dread him from afar;
He bluffs the most courageous;
Don't leave the cellar door ajar,
His manners are outrageous.
His visits do not stem the tide,
In fact they shock and shame us,
And so we're glad his calls are rare,
Although his fur is famous.

—WILL HERFORD.

Quips and Quiddities

"So," said the visitor, "you intend to become a physician when you grow up?"

"Yes, sir," said the youth.

"And why have you decided upon the medical profession?"

"Well, a doctor seems to be the only man who keeps on getting paid whether his work is satisfactory or not."

Tom Ochiltree, having been hurt in a railway accident, brought suit for damages. Walking with the aid of crutches some months afterward, he met a friend, who inquired:

"Can't you get along without crutches, Tom?"

"My doctor says I can," said Ochiltree, "but my lawyer says I can't."

The Old Flag and an Appropriation

BY SAVOYARD

Captain Curry was a gallant soldier in the patriot army of the Revolution of '76 and of his exploits at Monmouth he related it this way when slightly in his cups in his old age and reminiscent of his deeds of daring on fields of battle:

"Although in the light horse I fought that day on foot. I slashed with my saber cuts one and two, and a head went off here and a limb went off there until the blood actually ran into my shoes. A pile of dead bodies surrounded me. I was excited and still slashing away, when I felt a touch on my shoulder. I looked up and there was Washington. I shall never forget the solemnity of his manner, the benignity of his countenance, and the gravity of his speech. He gazed at me sadly a moment without speaking, and then he mildly said: 'Young man, restrain your impetuosity. In the name of God, I beseech you, do not make a slaughter house of the field of battle.'"

The speeches against the repeal of the ship subsidy would indicate that Captain Curry is numerous in the land—his tribe has increased and many of them have turned statesmen and serve in the national legislature.

• • •

With Colonel Henry Watterson's permission I would draw it this way: Your Jingo in congress wraps himself in the American flag, marches with martial tread down the footlights, fires off two hose-pistols, and yells, "England to be damned!" We hear such stuff as this: "It is our canal, and we may do what we please with it regardless of all other tongues and peoples."

Then we say don't you do it? Why don't you contend for a law forbidding all alien vessels from passing through the canal? Why don't you make it an exclusively American ditch? If you are going to violate the nation's solemn covenant, why not smash it all to flinders?

• • •

But why direct all the cussing at England? Germany is just as dissatisfied with our disregard of the treaty as England is. But all the oxen in Texas could not drag out of any Jingo in congress from Champ Clark to Little Campbell, of Kansas, from Victor Murdock to Samuel M. Shortridge, of California, from Jim Mann to Mondell, of Wammen's sheep walk, one word of defiance to Germany. There is the German vote, and it would not do to monkey with that. All the other nations of the globe are opposed to our action and in their eyes we are dishonored. Read the great speech of Mr. Lodge. Here is a pregnant passage from it: "It is not well for any country to allow powerful, to be an outlaw among the nations." And here is another from that remarkable address: "We are regarded by other nations with distrust, and in some cases with dislike. Until they or enough of them come to believe that we are not to be trusted; that we make our international relations the sport of politics and treat them as if they were in no wise different from questions of domestic relations."

All England did was to call attention to our solemn treaty and the Jingoes say that if we recede and comply with the treaty we allow ourselves to be bullied, and Champ Clark talks about "meeting the world in arms" and blowing up the canal with dynamite and kindred rot!

• • •

But if there were no England and no treaty this subsidy ought to be repealed. It is a taxation of all the people to bestow a subsidy on a bloated and opulent monopoly. Each time the ship trust will carry through the canal is coal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, sugar from our island possessions to the Atlantic, and lumber from the Pacific to the Atlantic, articles the railroads cannot carry because of distance and cost.

Well, not long ago a citizen of Richmond, Va., who owns a coal mine put a cargo of coal on one of the vessels of this ship trust and sent it to San Francisco. The freight was enormous—all the traffic would bear—and on that venture the ship monopoly made money out of that coal mine owner. This man's son had some curiosity and set about an investigation and found that an English ship, had the law allowed, could have carried that coal for one-third of the rate this American monopoly charged him.

• • •

And for 125 years this coastwise shipping monopoly has thus had American domestic commerce by the throat. But for this monopoly the cotton of Mississippi would reach the loom of Massachusetts for one-third of the freight charge the ship trust now exacts. And this remorseless and odious ship trust will carry monopoly, to swell its dividends on its watered stock must get a subsidy from a Democratic congress!

If Champ Clark and Oscar Underwood, Claude Kitchin and James Vardaman, Victor Murdock and Albert Cummins and the other advocates of special privilege by subsidy would really benefit the American people, let them repeal this graft and open the coastwise trade of the United States to foreign craft. Why not? Any foreign ship can enter the coastwise trade of England. You can load an American ship at Montreal and unload it at Liverpool. You can load an American ship at Glasgow, Scotland, and unload it at London, England. There's millions in it. England wants goods carried from seller to buyer at cheapest freight rate. We insist on highest freight rate.

• • •

But we are puny, weak, feeble, and cannot allow that, and to sustain the monopoly every bale of cotton from the south that reaches New England must pay a tax in the way of extravagant freight to this insatiate monster. And then it is proposed to subsidize it with money from the public treasury!

And they do it in the name of patriotism and the flag!

The Journal's Letter Box

Cimarron, N. Mex., April 17, 1914.

Editor The Journal:

"Talk about universal peace—it looks like universal war." So says W. C. Cantrell in The Journal of the 11th. He must be a member in good standing of "The Ancient Order of Jingoes." Senator Fall, of this state, being the high jinx of the order. That, I say, is the impression one gets after reading his letter.

So far the United States has no reason to intervene in Mexico. She advised all citizens of this and other countries to leave. She has done everything in her power to protect those who remained.

Neither side there would welcome an intervention of this country, or any other. Mexico is passing through what this country passed through in the war of '61. The United States certainly welcomed no intervention of a foreign power at that time. Mexico must work out her own destiny, as we did.

Senator Fall looks for war because he has money invested in Mexico. He would be perfectly willing to sacrifice the lives of thousands of this country's young men to save a few dollars of his own.

Mr. Cantrell seems greatly worried about the Japan war scare. His letter reads likke the stuff of a press agent of a powder factory, or the editorial of a Hearst paper. Japan "may be crazy, but she ain't no fool."

The free tolls bill should be repealed as a matter of national honor, Great Britain or no Great Britain. Neither of these countries is so anxious for war as some would have us think.

Why can't we leave intervention to the cool, sound head of President Wilson? His hands and feet are not tied at all. If they are, what would he do with them loose? He makes a better president tied than some others we have had that were not tied. He can be counted on to do the right thing at the right time.

Let the esteemed senator from this state, and his crowd of jingoes may scream war till their eyes pop out, but it worries President Wilson not a bit. There will be no intervention in Mexico as long as President Wilson is boss, and he is boss with a big "B," except as a very last resort.

In closing, let me add that we are watching and ready. Does Mr. Cantrell think this government is asleep at the switch?

Very respectfully yours,
J. B. HOGAN.

AIRCRAFT IN WAR

By Frederic J. Haskin

Mexico will be the historic scene of the first satisfactory demonstration of aircraft in war, if the dark clouds now lowering over that distracted land really portend a great armed conflict, as so many people predict. Aeroplanes were used for reconnaissance purposes by France in her Moroccan campaigns, by Italy in Tripoli, and by Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey in the Balkan war, but the result fell not more than definitely fixing the status of the fighting ships of the air in modern warfare.

• • •

A general war in Mexico would be quite different, perhaps. The Mexicans have possibly ten aeroplanes, and the constitutionalists have been particularly active in spying out the location and disposition of federal troops. They also have dropped explosives, but with indifferent success. In this, however, no other nation has scored more than technical records. Just what the Mexicans can do with aircraft in a big war remains to be seen.

• • •

From the time that American troops were sent to the Mexican border nearly two years ago the use of military aeroplanes that we own have been maneuvering and doing scout duty almost daily. The day after Admiral Fletcher took Vera Cruz our naval aircraft were flying over the Mexican interior, bringing back reports of movements of the Huerta troops, burning of a bridge, tearing up of railroad track, etc. General Funston reports good work by the aeroplanes, with operators and pilots, and others have remained in Mexico in readiness for the call to the front. There is a natural aeronautic spirit in this country of seventy-five experienced exhibition flyers, but not more than five, perhaps, have any knowledge whatever of military across-country flying.

• • •

The airmen of all countries feel confident that aircraft will prove to be a veritable "fifth arm of the service," being just as much an integral part of an army as infantry, cavalry, artillery and engineers. Army men all over the world, while not in accord as to its exact status in warfare, do feel with signal unanimity that no war will be fought hereafter without aerial participation. As time goes on more and more navies are being called for the potential battleships and cruisers of the central blue.

• • •

The army or navy aviator of today must know wireless and electricity, for wireless apparatus is attached to every up-to-date military monoplane or biplane. It would be useless for the air scout to make a reconnoissance over the enemy's country, fifty or a hundred miles from his own base, unless he were prepared to get back information to the commanding general. In order to know how to handle and how to drop bombs and other dangerous munitions, the fighting airman must have more than a casual knowledge of high explosives.

• • •

The very latest task for the aeroplane in the fire control of field artillery, whereby the fighters in the air become the eyes of the fighters on the ground. This is a French expedient less than a year old, and was brought about, it is understood in international military circles, by the discovery that the Germans had developed a field howitzer which was supposed to be able to do a great deal of damage to French batteries. It is also the custom nowadays to equip military aeroplanes with machine guns or a light pounder Krupp, and here is something else to tax the ingenuity of disciples of Mars who take to the air.

• • •

The duty of a flying corps is not over with locating the enemy and dropping a bomb or two, for while the battle is raging the aviator must hover for tactical reconnoissance. A height of 4,000 feet is generally safe, but they must get as low as possible so as to be in a position by wire to their commander on the ground every maneuver of the enemy, to warn of a flanking movement, to sight the possibility of a rear attack, to ferret out the faintest indication of a break in the opposing line of coal fire, etc. Military aeroplaning is not "A long life, and a merry one, my heartlea."

• • •

The best type of military aeroplanes are constructed to carry enough "free weight" to provide for a pilot, an observer, who uses the wireless and does the bomb throwing, and for the ammunition. There are four kinds of aerial explosives, the heavy explosive bombs, small bombs or hand grenades, incendiary projectiles, and aerial projectiles.

• • •

The first would be hurled against army headquarters, arsenals, commissary and quartermaster depots, public buildings, docks, ships, etc.; the second would catch troops when they were massed in close formation, or crossing a bridge, or when discovered by the man overhead in any other narrow space, such as a narrow mountain defile; the incendiary projectiles are long, hollow, metal cylinders, with solid sharp pointed steel heads, which are percussed, filled with nitroglycerin, or something just as bad, for the purpose of igniting stores of oil, gasoline and other inflammable substances; aerial projectiles are for use against other aeroplanes. Very little has been done in this field, aside from the invention of an aerial torpedo by Colonel Unge, of the Swedish army.

• • •

The best aerial bomb thrower in the world is an American. He is Riley E. Scott, a former lieutenant in the army. In this one instance alone, and only so far as this individual aviator is concerned, does the United States rank ahead of any standing whatever as an aviation country. In 1911 Lieutenant Scott participated in Paris in an international competition of dropping dummy bombs on a target. Prizes totaled $20,000, and Scott won the world series. From a height of 3,000 feet he was able to place twelve out of fifteen shots on a target within a radius of thirty-three feet.

• • •

Passing by Scott's achievement of over three years ago, this country, the pioneer of aviation, the home of the Wrights, the greatest aerial inventors, is not worth mentioning today in international aerial competition. France, Germany, Great Britain and Russia have left us so far behind that there is no comparison. Evan Japan is spending $1,000,000 a year, while, after many sighs, we part with less than $150,000, counting both the army and the navy. Italy, Belgium, Austria, Chile, Bulgaria, Greece, Spain and Brazil are ahead of us.

• • •

Since the Wrights taught the world aviation Germany has spent $28,000,000 on the science, including the development of the dirigible; France, $7,000,000; Russia, $13,000,000; Italy, $8,000,000; Austria, $5,000,000, etc. Our total expenditure has been less than $600,000. At the present time France is spending $7,500,000 per annum, and Great Britain, Germany and Russia about $5,000,000 each. France has twenty dirigible balloons, 600 aeroplanes of all types, and 1,174 officers and men, besides a waiting list of 2,000. We boast of twenty military aeroplanes, ten of whom have received military aviator's licenses. We have seventeen aeroplanes, but not a single dirigible.

• • •

The value of the dirigible appears not to have dawned on our government at all, although army and navy authorities have been keenly alive to the situation. And yet the dirigible is the battleship of the air, while the aeroplane is the dispatch boat and the scout cruiser of the aerial service. Germany has protected the dirigible more than any other country, while no great nation has neglected it so completely as we have. A dirigible balloon costs about $175,000, while a good military aeroplane can be built for less than $20,000, with bomb and gun equipment. On the other hand, the dirigible can hover for hours over an enemy's position. It can operate at night, and, with a searchlight, spy out every movement of troops. It can carry a crew of twenty and a military landing party of fifty. It can carry human freight, equipment, explosives and machine guns up to a total weight of five tons. The value of such an engine of warfare to us in Mexico would be beyond calculation.

Southern Baptists to Meet in Nashville

By Alex W. Bealer

The fifty-ninth session of the Southern Baptist convention will meet next Wednesday in Nashville, Tenn., and Georgia, as usual, will take a very important part in the deliberations of the body. Between sixteen hundred and two thousand representatives will be there, sent up from more than twenty-four thousand Baptist churches scattered all over the south and west. These churches have a membership of two and a half million. In addition to this there are fully as many negro Baptists in the same territory and a few other Baptist bodies that do not affiliate with the convention.

WHO WILL BE THE PRESIDENT?

One of the most interesting questions that is now in the minds of the Georgia Baptists is "Who will be elected president of the body?" Dr. E. C. Dargan, pastor of the First Baptist church of Macon, is the present incumbent and he is one of the very best presiding officers that ever wielded the gavel in the convention. He has been in office for three sessions and it is highly probable that a new man will be elected. He has as yet made no announcement as to what his intentions are. There is, however, an unwritten law among the brethren that no man shall keep the office more than three terms. It was formerly the custom for the president to hold his office for a long term of years but when Judge Jonathan Haralson, of Alabama, died, after being president for ten years the body elected William H. Northen, of Georgia, to succeed him. After he had served for three terms he retired and James P. Eagle, of Arkansas, was elected. He served for three terms and Joshua Levering, of Maryland, succeeded him. But Baltimore he allowed his name to go before the body for re-election but an unknown delegate nominated E. C. Dargan, of Georgia, and he was elected by a large majority. It is more than probable that he will decline to allow his name to go before the convention at Nashville. Another Georgian, Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Americus, has been prominently mentioned for the presidency. He has served the convention faithfully as its secretary for thirty-two years and many of the brethren feel that it would be a compliment worthily bestowed to elevate him to the highest honor.

The convention sermon will be preached by Dr. George W. McDaniel, of Richmond, or by Dr. Forrest Smith, of Texas, his alternate.

SOME LARGE FINANCIAL ACHIEVEMENTS.

The past year has marked some large financial achievements among southern Baptists. At the last session the body agreed to attempt to raise the sum of six hundred and forty-six thousand dollars for home missions, and four hundred and thirty-four thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars for home missions, a total of one million and seventy-eight thousand dollars and fifty cents. The convention was asked to raise of this amount nineteen thousand dollars for foreign missions and nine thousand dollars for home missions. The figures at the time the books were closed show that the whole south raised the sum of one hundred and eighty-seven thousand, four hundred and fifty-eight dollars for foreign missions, and the sum of three hundred and ninety-seven thousand one hundred and fifty-eight dollars for home missions. Georgia raised of this amount apportioned to her a little more than seventy-four thousand dollars for missions and the sum of forty-one thousand dollars for home missions.

Georgia has raised this year for all missions twenty seven thousand dollars more than for last year at the same time. This is a remarkable showing on account of the illness of Dr. J. J. Hurt, the corresponding secretary. The credit of the work down is due to Dr. H. R. Bernard, the auditor of the state mission board.

The gifts of the south for foreign missions were forty-four thousand dollars above those of last year and the gifts to the home board were twenty-eight thousand above last year.

A MOVEMENT THAT WILL FAIL.

Another matter of interest is a proposition to have the foreign mission board move at Richmond, the home mission board now at Atlanta and the Sunday school board now at Nashville all located in the building of the Sunday school board which has just been completed in the city of Nashville. It is the property of the convention and the idea is that it would be a great saving of money to have such boards located in a building where no rent would have to be paid. The agitation was started by Rev. W. P. Price, pastor of the First Baptist church at Waycross but it has since been taken up by other prominent men in the convention, among them Dr. F. C. McConnell, of Waco, Tex. He is a man of great influence among the brethren, but the indications are that the movement will fall as it is too radical in its nature and too many difficulties would attend such a change.

THE NEXT PLACE OF MEETING.

A question of interest is the next place of meeting. The convention always carries with it a thousand or more visitors in addition to the regular delegates and those who attend the meeting of the Women's Baptist Missionary union. On this account there are not many cities in the country which are able to offer it suitable entertainment. It means a good deal of money in the pocket of the city that captures the convention.

At the coming convention Asheville, N. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., New Orleans and Houston, Tex., will all have delegates present to work for the convention of 1915. Texas has not had the convention since 1906.

HAVE PASTORS BEEN HELPED?

At the last meeting of the body in St. Louis a committee was appointed to look into the question of securing some assistance to the Baptist pastors of the south in the way of increasing their condition. It was the idea that the convention might encourage the churches to increase the salaries of their pastors and to build them parsonages. Some of them were being given a very scanty living. It has been a year since the committee was appointed and there is much interest attached to the report that will be made showing what work, if any, has been accomplished.

Another committee was appointed last year to see if some improvement could not be made in the methods of the convention. It has seemed for a number of years that the body was getting away from being a convention and was simply a one and ended meeting in which the ordinary delegate felt that he was butting in if he arose to speak when he had not been invited to do so. The committee will seek to present some rules and regulations so that everyone may have a chance to perfectly to express himself upon any question that may come up.

SEMINARY FOR NEGRO PREACHERS.

For many years it has been the desire of the southern Baptists to get in closer touch with the negro Baptists in the territory from whom they were weaned away during the war. One of the most important steps taken in this direction for a number of years was a resolution at the last convention calling for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the feasibility of establishing a seminary for the negro Baptists in charge of the south. A large committee was appointed, at the head of which was Dr. E. C. Dargan, president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, at Louisville. This committee is to make its report at the coming convention.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE IN THE AIR.

The everlasting woman's question from the suffrage standpoint has found its way into the convention. The constitution of the body provides that it shall be made up of brethren and that it has never been appointed as a representative. Some of the state conventions are made up of both men and women, but most of them are composed entirely of men, the women being in their own organizations. They have to these organizations even in the states where they are admitted to the conventions. Last year at the St. Louis convention Robert H. Coleman, of Texas, offered a motion to amend the constitution of the body so that women as well as men can be admitted in the future.

It was expected that this motion would come up at the Nashville convention, and if this had been true it would have provoked a heated discussion. Mr. Coleman has not announced through the denominational papers that he will not bring it up this year on account of other matters of importance, but he will let it lie over until the session of 1915.

The convention will be in session for five days and Nashville will have her hands full in looking after the visitors and will throng her streets from all over the south.

METHODISTS DEVOTE BIG SUM TO SCHOOLS

General Educational Board Appropriates $68,600 for Schools in Country

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, May. 8.—The board of education of the Methodist church, south, in session at St. Luke's church today, appropriated $68,600 for the various Methodist schools throughout the country, and in maintaining different educational enterprises of the church. The appropriation is made for the year 1914, as this board meets annually. At today's session, Dr. Stonewall Anderson, of Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the education board correspondding secretary of the board, submitted his report, covering the activities and work of the board during the past year and also for the four year period ending May 1, 1914.

Dr. Anderson's reports were read to the general board today. It will be read to the general conference when the general session is ready to consider educational matters.

Three committees of the educational board have met previous to the board meetings, namely: the committee on appropriations, religious education and ministerial supply and training.

The appropriations today's report made as follows: $13,800 for the Biblical department of Vanderbilt university; $15,800 for the colored schools; $10,000 for the correspondence schools for ministers; $19,000 for white schools; $12,000 for the colored schools; $10,000 for the correspondence schools for ministers; $19,000 for white schools; $12,000 for the colored schools; $10,000 for the correspondence schools for ministers, etc. The aggregate of appropriations is greater than last year, for the above purposes, but each year for the last four years the board has appropriated $24,588 in defending the church's right in the Vanderbuilt university lawsuit. As that case is finally decided, the board will not make any further appropriations for such purpose.

Upon recommendation of a committee, the board decided today not to reclassify the schools of the church this year, as the classification of them are unclassified at the present time. As the general conference will select a new board of education, the next quadrennium it was deemed advisable not to reclassify the schools until the new board took charge.

To Address R. R. Men

REV. JERE MOORE.

Mr. Moore will speak at the afternoon service Sunday of the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

SOUTHERN METHODISTS INCREASE IN NUMBER

Total Membership Is Now 1,-996,877, a Gain of 46,-231 Since 1912

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 9.—According to reports which have been made available since the opening of the seventeenth quadrennial session of the general conference of the Methodist Church, South, in Oklahoma City, May 6, the total membership of the Southern Methodist church is 1,996,877, a gain during the year 1913 of 46,231 over 1912. There are 7,203 traveling preachers, making a grand total of 2,009,026.

Thirty-six men have been elected to the episcopacy and fourteen are living. Of the living bishops, Bishop E. D. Mouzon, of San Antonio, Tex., is the youngest, being forty-four years old. He was elected when he was forty. Bishop McCoy, of Alabama, is next to the youngest, he was elected four years ago when he was forty-one. Bishop Duncan Kerr Sharpe, Texas, is the oldest bishop in point of years, being now in his eighty-fifth year. He was elected in 1882. He is the son, of Baltimore, while not on a charge, is still active. He is now being eighty years, is called "senior bishop," because he has been a bishop longer than any man in the Church, having been elected in 1832. He is the "chief justice" among the bishops. He is the presiding officer of the conference. In 1883, Bishop Wilson in the sole survivor. He is still active and vigorous and it is unlikely that he will be superannuated, despite his age. Bishop Key is superannuated.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY DR. MARION McG. HULL.

MAY 10, 1914. Luke 16:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—He that is faithful in a very little is faithful also in much; and he that is unrighteous in a very little is unrighteous also in much. Luke 16:10.

Probably the most difficult parable in all the Bible is the one which constitutes the basis of our study today. And yet if we study it in the light of the circumstances upon which it was uttered it is not so hard to find what Jesus meant. Let us see what this setting is.

In answer to the criticism which the Pharisees had made against Him that He received sinners and ate with them, Jesus spoke the three-fold parable of the lost sheep, and the lost coin, and the lost boy, teaching them that the work of the Lord was to seek with the Saviour, to search with the Spirit, and to rejoice with the Father. He tacitly condemned thus the attitude of the Pharisees. He gave them the truth, and yet they were not doing the work of God.

Then, turning to His disciples, Jesus spoke this parable of the unjust steward to them to show them that the work of the kingdom was committed to them as stewards, and what He expected of them. Undoubtedly the point of this parable, and as the result of it, the Pharisees who had heard it were greatly displeased, and turning to them, Jesus spoke to them other parables, which dealt a blow at their covetousness.

A PARADOXICAL PARABLE.

Note these essential details in the parable. The rich man had intrusted with his master's goods. His business was to look after them carefully and to his master's advantage. Instead, he had let them slip through his hands, and he was called to account to his trust that he did not even know the amount that the debtors owed. He was directed to account for it to his master. He is charged with his unfaithfulness, but not even attempt to deny it or to defend himself, and is discharged by his master and ordered to turn the books over.

Notice his predicament. He has no job. He is unfit for work; he is not physically able to do it, and is suddenly thrown on his own resources. Unprepared and respectable, and forced to make a living. Incidentally, let me remark that this is just the condition of many all too many young men, and more so than young men, and their lot is no bed of roses.

He is unable to do physically unfit for work and too respectable to beg, had his wits about him, though. He was shrewd, keen, and in all cleverness, fully, until, finally, an idea struck him. "I have got just the thing," he said. "Just a few more chance at that money and I will make the most of it. Supposing I do get a few more chance, and fix myself for the future." This was his scheme. He gave remission to his master's fellow bondmen. He gave away what did not belong to him, and he did not account for it to his master's funds, made a soft place for himself.

When the master (not Jesus) heard of it, he commended him for his dishonesty and sagacity in making the most of his opportunities. He did not commend him for his rascality at this time, or for his unfaithfulness in the past. Just here is where many find the first difficulty in understanding the parable. The commendatory statement should make it clear, however, that Jesus was not commending the steward at all.

Jesus made use of this story to point a lesson to His disciples. He said, "I say unto you, make for yourselves friends, by means of the mammon of unrighteousness, that, when it shall fail, your friends, thus made, may receive you into the eternal tabernacle. What Jesus was teaching them was this: God has entrusted to us as His steward, certain of the goods—money, time, energy, ability, influence—and what not. These all belong to God. They are merely loaned to us by Him. What Jesus would have us do would be for us to be as wise in making the most of our opportunity as the unfaithful steward was in making the most of his opportunity. And just here hinges the pith of the parable. He has in the consideration of the comparison between the sons of this age, and the sons of light, and comparison between one generation with the eternal generations. The sons of this age are living their life merely for this age, with no thought of any other age. The sons of light are those whose whole life is governed by the fact that they are to serve this generation, in which they live, and they have no thought for any future generation. They do not serve this generation with first thought for the second generation to be, with second thought for the present generation, to prepare it for the generations that are to follow. The sons of this generation are wiser considering their own generation, than the sons of light are considering their eternal generations.

Notice the actual wisdom of the children of this age. Did you ever think how much energy and consecration, and concentration, and study and thought, how to whistle? He goes at it as if there was nothing else worth while, and he succeeds. He has become an expert. And yet when he has learned it there is nothing that is worth while, really. Take a contortionist. Starting from infancy, while his joints are supple, did you ever think how much time and effort in turning himself and curling up like a snail, and doing apparently impossible things with his body. And yet when he has attained perfection, he has nothing. Did you ever think how much time, how much risk, how much courage are required of a thief? Now no one would think of commending him as a model. He takes as a life work, and yet, considering the generation in which they live, they are wise. But in the sense of eternal considerations, would it not be much wiser to have the thief's energy, and courage and sagacity and persistence in doing God's work?

Here is the teaching of the parable. While the use of his lord's wealth in order to make friends was not the height of unfaithfulness in the steward, the use of our Lord's wealth in order to make friends for Him, God's wealth in order to make friends for Him, is the acme of faithfulness in us. The noblest use of mammon, the fates riches, in order to make friends for God. To be faithful in the unfaithfulness as God's steward requires a prudent use of God's goods.

God has intrusted us with His gospel; be faithful in proclaiming it. God has intrusted you with His money; be faithful in using it for Him. God has intrusted you with the dearest possession, immortal souls; faithful in every moment of it in His service. "Ye cannot serve God and mammon, but ye can serve God with mammon."

Tech Meets Georgia in Second Game--Big Delegation Goes to Athens

LITTLE PAL---HE WANTS TO KNOW WHAT THE WIDOW MEANT -BY LEO

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

AFTER J. W. RILEY.

As one who cons at evening o'er a dope book all alone
And muses on the pitching and the batting feats he's known,
So I turned the leaves of fancy till in shadowy design
I came upon the makeup of an always perfect nine.

Its pitcher never gave a hit in any bally game,
Its fielders never made a muff in any hectic frame,
Its batsmen soaked the whirling ball each time they came to bat
And no one ever pulled a bone or any part of that.

It was a team of each fan's dream that never lost a scrap,
A team for hero worship all across the sportive map;
But two weeks out I heard each fan beseeching in the clinch
For a good old-fashioned strike-out and a bobble in the pinch.

THE ONE SANE SYSTEM.

Old Hughey Fullerton has stifled conclusively that argument in golf as to whether one should look at the ball in putting or at the cup. "I have devised the scheme," he writes, "of always laying my approach so close that I can easily watch both ball and hole as I make the putt."

Considerable idea. Some day we may yield to a lucid interval and give it a trial.

WHY DELAY?

Hughie Jennings reports that he won't make any pennant claim until after he sees the eastern clubs at work and goes against them.

Foolish idea. The time to launch this claim is right now. After moving against the Mackmen and Walter Johnson it may be entirely too late.

THE FIRST INTERSECTIONAL CLASH.

After all there is no real basis for establishing the strength of any bill club until the two rival sections have exchanged blows. No one can say whether Pittsburg is so far in front through any great increase in strength or through the weakness of Reds, Cubs and Cardinals. The slump of the Athletics may be partly due to the increased efficiency of Yanks, Senators and Red Sox.

The Tigerines have risen to the top over the prostrate forms of White Sox, Browns and Naps. But upsetting the four eastern clubs may be quite a different proposition. The only time to absorb any fair line upon the situation is after the first interlocking clash, when every club has met every rival. And sometimes, even then, one has to wait until July or October before completing his report.

EVANS' ADVANTAGE.

Chick Evans has this big advantage in the coming English golf melee. Most people are expecting Travers and Ouimet to carry on most of the fighting. Few have conceded Chick much of a chance. He isn't entered with any heavy responsibility to carry. And somehow in the sporting drift we have often noticed that the unexpected entry is the one who rises and delivers the punch.

Ouimet has undoubtedly been handicapped by being shown too often that a heavy responsibility is his. It is almost as if he is going to war rather than to a friendly joust at cleeks and niblicks and putters. This responsibility won't worry Travers very much, for he has been over the trail too often, and is keenest when it is put up to him strongest. But it bothered Evans two or three years ago, and this time he will be in a far better fix to go out and go to it with more ease and abandon.

GREATLY.

According to the esteemed Yanks, the report that Walter Johnson is all in has been greatly exaggerated. They say the fellow still has something in addition to his glove.

Johnson so far has worked in 37 innings and has allowed 9 runs, or an average of about two to the game. This is well below his 1913 scoring, but there is still a game or two left in which he can reduce the average. Quite a number of earnest young pitchers would esteem it much bliss to sink so low that an average of two runs a game was wrenched from their output. It is much after the order of being a has been—like Hans Wagner and Christy Mathewson. Or of not having a cent more money than Rockefeller carries.

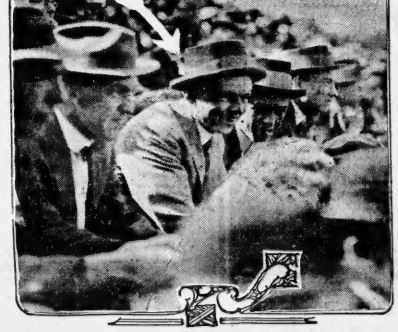

JENNING HANDICAP.

In building up or in rebuilding his club, Hugh Jennings was up against a much harder handicap than either McGraw or Mack. The Giant leader, through all his shifts, had Mathewson to build around in developing a new staff. Mack has had Plank and Bender.

But from the old pennant days of 1909 Jennings hasn't been able to carry on a pitcher from the old guard. Donovan, Summers, Killian, Siever, Willett, Mullin and the rest have all faded from his staff. He had to find an entire staff of pitchers—which is not the simplest discovery ever established.

And those who criticise Hughey for not having entered another winner should recall the fact that rebuilding a victorious club is no light task. McGraw won a pennant in 1905, and it was six years later, 1911, before he had established another flag machine. Mack also won in 1905, and then had to wait until 1910 before he had erected his present legion. When a pennant machine cracks the wreckage seems to be utter and complete.

Gala Day in Athens as Georgia Beat Jackets

Hitchcock and Eubanks Pitched Brilliant Ball, but Later's Support Broke Behind Him, Costing Game

BY INNIS BROWN.

ATHENS, Ga., May 9.—Atlanta may have her week of grand opera, her Shriners' convention or half a hundred other reasons of excitement and merrymaking, to vary the daily routine of life along Peachtree street and other thoroughfares, but as for Athens, give her a series, or for that matter, a single athletic event between the stalwart sons of the Red and Black, and the hustling Bulldogs of Georgia, Tech, and regardless of attendant circumstance, a gala occasion is on tap for the Classic City.

Turn these two contending forces loose in the citadel of Clark, and provocation sufficient is at hand to warrant the closing of business houses, the formation of supporting hordes, and a pilgrimage for Sanford Field, there to challenge the world to produce more noise, and demonstrate greater enthusiasm per capita, on this a great occasion, than will the sturdy supporters of the two teams.

On Friday the two teams got off to a start on one of two two-game series of baseball games, the first of which is played at Athens and the other in Atlanta next week. By the time the two warring factions had girded themselves for the actual fray, every available seat in the park was taken, including sections of new bleachers provided especially for the occasion. Furthermore a fringe of highly enthusiastic spectators decorated the banks of the creek which runs through the outskirts of the park, to say nothing of a liberal assemblage of long-distance fans, who roosted on the high grounds beyond the palisades, enjoying the battle gratis.

LOTS OF ROOTING.

In numbers there is strength and especially does this apply with reference to a bunch of lusty-lunged collegians, and a kindred gathering of equally as lusty-lunged post-grads and alumni, who are on hand to watch the old colleges do battle on the diamond. Tech was the favorite for every occasion, which being handicapped by reason of pitching this first battle on foreign soil. But every mother's son of those present was contributing his full quota toward making the game a typical occasion.

And in addition to these yeaky expressions, there was the band. Don't overlook the band. This collection of college musicans coaxed more weird combinations of sounds from cornets, trombones, flutes, snare drums and accompanying equipment, than the average conductor of a grand opera score ever imagined, and when the two processes of these exponents of noise and sound. With "Skippy" Conyers of football fame and two colleagues stationed well out afront, this band tore off an air now and then in Friday's battle, for it be a lively matter accompanying the scoring of a run by Georgia, a rataat-tat-tat to time to mark striking out of a Tech batter, or solemn taps over the exit of the said Jackets.

It was a typical big day in baseball between two time-honored rivals, and all the fixtures, furbelows and flourishes that should attend, were gaudily tacked on. The weather was ideal, and incidentally the home team won, wherefore business of abundant rejoicing.

GOOD GAME.

As to that first battle, it was a great exhibition. Furthermore it was a most commendable exposition of the correct way to play the great national game, except in one or two spots. The Jackets lost largely because they were unable to break underneath the guard of Big Ed Hitchcock, who worked on the slab for the Georgians. The Red and Black cashed largely because the support back of "Smooge" Eubanks bent and warped in a couple of spots, long enough to allow them to ease past his reach. This hurler worked in great shape, and with jam-up support, the conflict would doubtless have gone on into extra sessions, possibly until darkness checked hostilities.

Georgia grabbed the lead as soon as the opportunity was offered. In their half of the first attempt, Clements got a substantial boost, slamming the next pitch. It was high and to left field, and Pound gathered it in. Wooten forced with McWhorter's grounder until both runners were safe, when there should have been a double play. Eubanks unleashed a wild pitch, and both runners advanced. Ginn scored, as Montague was heading Henderson off at first.

Again in the third, the Athenians scored a counter with the same couple. On his attempt to sacrifice, McWhorter popped up a low foul to Witherington. Clements broke for third, and Wooten on a hit-and-run play, while Wooten was pinging Henderson at first. Harrison hit a hot bounder to Eubanks, which the Tech hurler knocked down but could not recover in time to catch the batter at first, and Clements scored. The drive went for a single.

EUBANKS TIGHTENS UP.

About this time, Eubanks tightened up. Owens ended the inning with a tap to E. Montague, and in the next frame Eubanks nicked three stickers in a row on strikes. He was working his curve ball with great results. In fact, from the third to the eighth the Georgians got only two men on, one through a pass and another on a single. But in the eighth he wobbled for a moment, and his support bucked under him.

He walked Clements, and the latter promptly stole and went to third, as the pitcher was throwing out McWhorter. Wooten threw Henderson's grounder wild, and Clements scored. Henderson reaching second. At this point Witherington hurt his hand and was replaced by Newsom. Henderson stole third and when Newsom's peg was wild, he scored. Harrison shoved a bunt toward first and beat it for a single. He stole second, but the next two men failed to help him along.

In the meantime Tech was making practically no headway against Hitchcock and his backers. For the first seven innings Tech had two men left on bases, and both of these were camping at first when the third man was retired. Fast work by Georgia's infield was largely responsible for the failure of the Jackets to make further progress around the bags, together with superb pitching by Hitchcock. Three times up until the seventh did the Jackets get a runner on with one or none down, and each time a double play resulted. In the second Clements errored on Pound's grounder, but when Witherington laid a bunt down in front of the plate Torbett grabbed it and pegged the Jackets' captain out at second to Harrison, who in turn caught Witherington at first. It was a great play.

In the eighth Captain Pound got on again through an error by Clements and moved up to second when Torbett's throw to catch him napping off first was wide. But Witherington flied to McWhorter, Joe Pitts hitting for E. Montague grounded to Harrison, and Hill hit to Clements, both resulting in outs to Henderson. The Jackets got their run in the ninth. Tyler Montague doubled to center. Burr hit one which took a bad bound at Clements and went for a hit. Montague scored, and when McWhorter let the ball get through him, Burr went to third. Wooten had fanned before this hitting began, and Hitchcock also put on steam and whiffed Johnson for the third out.

The two teams play again this afternoon. Coach Bean will use Corley, while Coach Heisman will no doubt use Pitts. This will be a battle for blood, since another victory for Georgia will come near clinching the series for them, and the southern championship, while a victory for Tech will put the Jackets back on an even footing with the Georgians. A special train bringing Tech rooters will arrive in time for the game, with the Jackets' band, and a great demonstration of rooting is expected.

Ten Entries in Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9.—At least ten, and possibly twelve, of the crack three-year-olds of the country are expected to go to the post at Churchill Downs track here this afternoon in the fortieth annual Kentucky Derby to contest for the richest stake in the history of this classic of the American turf. The heavy rain of yesterday and last night made the track muddy and, according to horsemen, precluded the possibility that the record of 2:04 4-5 for the mile and a quarter, made by Donerail, last year's Derby winner, would be broken. Notwithstanding weather conditions, preparations have been made for one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed the event, including many leaders in racing circles from all over the country, as today marks the opening of the Churchill Downs spring meeting.

Of the ten entries which their owners have declared are certain to start, five are colts, three geldings and two fillies. The Kentucky Derby never has been won by a filly, and only three geldings have been victors, the last being Macbeth II, in 1888. The purse for today's race with $10,000 added will aggregate about $12,500, of which approximately $10,000 goes to the winner.

Old Rosebud, a gelding, continues the favorite in the betting at about 5 to 2, but Hodge, Bronsewing, Ivan Gardner and John Gund have strong followings, with Watermelon, 112, C. Turner, and Bellce, as "long shots." The probable starters, weights and jockeys are as follows:

Old Rosebud, 114, J. McCabe.
Hodge, 114, W. Taylor.
Surpising, 117, C. Peak.
John Gund, 117, B. Byrne.
Bronsewing, 117, J. Rooney.
Ivan Gardner, 122, J. Hanover.
Constant, 117, E. Martin.
Watermelon, 112, C. Turner.
Bellce, 117, J. Henry.
Old Ben, 114, Kederis.

Hill Climb Will Be Held Today

The Atlanta Automobile and Accessory association will hold its third annual hill climb on Stewart avenue this afternoon. The festivities will begin promptly at 1 o'clock.

In addition to the twenty-seven automobiles, several motorcycles have entered the contest. From present indications this will be one of the largest events of this kind ever held in the south.

The following are the entries:

Event No. 1—160 cu. in. piston displacement and under:

Studebaker "20," E. H. Odom; Studebaker "20," C. C. Rooney; Oakland, George W. Hanson.

Event No. 2—161 to 230 cu. in.:

Metz "22," R. W. Billups, Watkinsville, Ga.; Buick, H. A. Hartih, Jr., Knoxville, Tenn.; Ford "T," R. S. Abbott; Studebaker "20," M. B. Frost; Studebaker "20," Studebaker Corp.; Chalmers "30," H. B. and H. S. Moss.

Event No. 3—230 to 300 cu. in.:

Pope-Hartford, L. S. Crane; Overland W. S. Becker; Stearns, K. T. McKinstry; Velie, Velie Motor Vehicle company.

Event No. 4—301 to 450. cu. in.:

Case, George M. Ruddy; Pope-Hartford, L. S. Crane; National, Bruce McKerrall.

Event No. 5—Free for all:

Studebaker, M. B. Frost; Metz, R. W. Billups; Marmon, Dr. Frank Edmondson; Studebaker, Studebaker Corp.; Case, George M. Ruddy; Studebaker, E. H. Odom; Ford, R. S. Abbott; Pope-Hartford, L. S. Crane; Studebaker, C. C. Rooney; National, Bruce McKerrall; Chalmers, H. B. and H. S. Moss.

Many valuable prizes and cups have been offered to the winning drivers.

Ty Cobb Has Batting Rally

CHICAGO, May 9.—Ty Cobb jumped from thirty-eighth place to thirteenth among the American league batters this week, according to averages published here today. Including last Wednesday's game the Detroit star has a percentage of .307 as against .240 which the records showed for him last week. His rival Joe Jackson, of Cleveland, was taker the lead, batting at the rate of .414 Then come Wood, Cleveland, .412, Crawford, Detroit, .408. Philadelphia leads in club batting with .265 and Cleveland is next with .256. Turner, of Cleveland, is leading base stealers with 11 to his credit.

Art Phelan, of Chicago, and Beals Becker, of Philadelphia, are tied for first in the National league with .350 each. Next are Magee, Philadelphia, .446; Cahers, St. Louis, .429. Philadelphia leads the clubs in hitting with an average of .295 and Brooklyn is next with .296.

BIG LEAGUE NOTES

Ray Caldwell has been informed by Chance that if he keeps up his great pitching he will be in the same boat with Johnson, Mathewson, Alexander, Wood and other star boxmen. Caldwell is beginning to regard himself seriously.

Manager Griffith resents the idea that "Doc" Ayres is a second-class pitcher. "Ayres is one of the best workmen on my staff," said the Old Fox, "and he will show the other fellows that he has the real class before the season is very old."

It is said to be the prevailing opinion among the Athletic players that the Washington team is going to give them quite a battle before they are allowed to break the tape at the finish. The Mackmen have no fears of any other team in the race.

It is no longer necessary for George McBride to do all the covering of Washington's second base when steals are attempted. Ray Morgan has greatly improved in this respect, and he is now handling throws and tagging runners in an entirely competent manner.

Speaker Champ Clark, of the house of representatives, who took President Wilson's place and tossed out the first ball, at the opening game in Washington, is the proud possessor of the selfsame period that he transferred to Walter Johnson with a rather ineffective underhand delivery.

Frank Chance declares he has made up his mind to retire permanently from diamond activities. "Williams looks so good to me on first base that there is no need to continue the ordeal of keeping in playing trim, he said yesterday, "especially when I could not expect more than a year of usefulness."

One of the most improved young players in the U. S. A. is Captain Peckinpaugh, of the New Yorks. This once awkward performer is a master at shortstop now.

Col. Hedges threatens to put an end to gambling on the Browns. This causes a New York Contemporary to remark: "But why should anybody gamble on the Browns?"

DREAM OF SCHANG CAUSES PANIC IN AURORA HOTEL

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Wally Schang, the Athletics' young catcher, caused a panic in an East Aurora, N. Y., hotel by dreaming that he was playing baseball. He tagged Ty Cobb in his sleep, shouted everybody in the hotel, and nearly strangled his brother in an argument with the umpire.

Schang recently was in East Aurora as a member of a bowling team, of which his brother, Bob, was also a part. After the game the boys went to the hotel and retired for the night. On reaching dreamland Wally's mind turned from bowling to baseball, and this fact is what caused all the rumpus and nearly threw the other hotel guests into pandemonium.

"He's out! He's out!" cried Wally. "I touched him when he was two feet off the bag." It was all in the dream, but when the other members of the bowling team broke into the room occupied by the Schang brothers, Wally had the strangle hold on "brother" Bob and had nearly choked him black in the face.

They had some trouble in waking him up and making him understand that he was not playing the great national game and that Brother Bob was not Ty Cobb, the player he was trying to put out at the home plate.

When Wally was thoroughly awake he laughed foolishly at his dream game of ball and then explained: "You see, it was like this. We were playing a close game with Detroit and Leslie Bush was pitching. There was a runner on first and Cobb was at third. I was afraid of the 'double steal' and gave Bush the signal to look out for it.

"He threw to first, trying to drive the runner back, but just as he raised his arm Cobb started for the plate. The ball was returned to Bush from first and he whipped it home to me. I tagged Cobb fully two feet before he got home, but the umpire called him safe.

"I was crazy, and I guess I'd have choked Bobby to death if you boys had not come into the room. It was one of the most real games I ever—"

Crackers Lost Last Battle to The Lookouts

Doescher and Kissinger Did Hurling Duty—Score Was 8 to 6—Game Called Early to Allow Moosemen to Catch Train

As at the battle of Vera Cruz, Moose McCormick and his Lookouts moved on the Crackers Friday and took the final game of the series with apparent ease. After seven rounds of battling the count stood 8 to 6 with the visitors holding the large end.

Manager Smith in a vain effort to stave off defeat sent Jack Doescher to the mound. The big fellow lasted but three innings when Rube Kissinger did the rescuing act. The Rube hurled good ball after the fourth stanza holding McCormick's crew scoreless.

Harding, the goodluck pitcher was McCormick's choice for hurling honors, and he got away with it in good shape. Harding is one of the luckiest pitchers we ever saw perform in this circuit. While he throws nothing but a fast curve ball, he seems to be master of the situation at all times. He was relieved by Lorenzen who was touched up freely by the locals. Had he been hurling from the start the decision might have been different.

Harry Welchonce, who has been out of the game for some time with an attack of lagrippe covered the center garden in Friday's affair. While he played a good game in the field, he was badly off form in his batting. Most of his efforts were weak taps to the infielders. But everyone knows what Harry can do when he rounds into condition again.

On account of the game being called early and the cool weather it was rather a small aggregation of fans that witnessed the Lookouts put the final touch on the humiliating scene they have been staging at Poncey park for the past four days.

The Lookouts left last night for New Orleans, where they open a series with the Pelicans. Carleton Molesworth will bring his Barons to the city today for a three game series with the locals. Today's contest to start at 3:30. As an added attraction the Crackers will raise the flag they won last year after an exciting finish.

Auburn Easily Defeats Cumberland

AUBURN, Ala., May 9.—Auburn won a slow and uninteresting game from Cumberland university Friday afternoon, the final score being 9 to 2. The features of the game were the hard hitting of Loudell, who got two hits, one a three-bagger, out of three times up, the home run by Harris, of Auburn, over right field fence, three hits to the plate by Prendergrast, getting a runner there, and the hitting of Hunter, of Cumberland, who hit safely three times out of four times up, one for two bases.

Cumberland	2	4	3

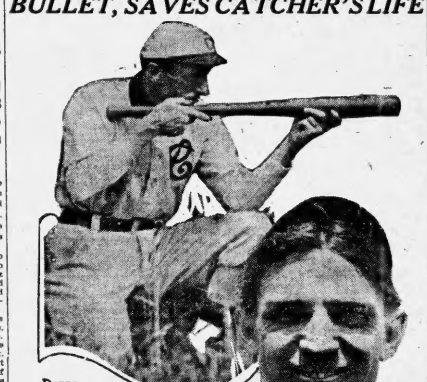

Batteries: Reese and McNeil; Bell and Cameron.

Yale Varsity Won

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9.—Yale varsity eight won the principal race of the annual university regatta late Friday, but was hard pushed by the first freshman eight. The second varsity shell came in third.

The juniors won the interclass championship race.

SOLDIER BALL PLAYER BATS BULLET, SAVES CATCHER'S LIFE

BY RUGE S. FULLERTON.

Dare Devil Dave Altizer, the hard hitting veteran who has played all over America, is one of the few ball players who ever saw service in the army. John Gaugel, manager of Rochester, was another, he having served as a lieutenant in Dole's rebellion in Hawaii. Altizer was in the Philippines and first attracted attention as a player out there.

"We had one fellow I'd like to see bat in the big show," said Davy one day. "His name was Reed, and if he couldn't hit Walter Johnson no one could. We were playing a game of ball at Baguio one day. We had occupied the town and were holding it while cleaning up the district, and we played ball every day when not out chasing some of the trouble makers. This day Reed was at bat when some of the natives came creeping up the edge of the jungle to rush us, probably, and bolo us before we could reach the guns. One of them fired a shot. Reed swung, the bullet hit his bat and the catcher's life was saved. Reed always claimed he saw the bullet coming and struck at it."

Teams Hold Track Meet Today

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9.—Yale and Princeton will hold their annual track meet on Yale field today. A comparison of recent inter-class meets of the two teams would indicate that the Blue has a slight margin. Yale won last year by four points. Yale uncovered a star in Poucher in last Saturday's meet who broke the university record in the mile run.

Both Fighters Say It Will Be Slugging Bee

Hanlon and Perry Will Mix Until One of Them Goes Down, Big Battles at Orpheum Theater Next Wednesday Night

When Jimmy Perry and Eddie Hanlon climb into the ring at the Orpheum theater next Wednesday night local followers of the fistic art will see a real scrap. These boys don't like each other a bit and there won't be a second of stalling and fiddling.

"I'll stop Perry in the first round if I can," said Hanlon today. "I'm going right in and slug until I stop Jimmy or he stops me. I have given up the plan of boxing the first three or four rounds. My manager, Billy Lots, has impressed on me that Jimmy is too clever a boxer for me, but that I can win if I slug. Well, I'll give Perry all the fighting he cares for."

When Perry heard that Hanlon intended making a rushing fight of it, he said:

"I never saw a slugger yet that I couldn't stop. The clever fellows like Young Cline and Mike Gibbons gave me the most trouble. Now, take Chip for instance. Why, I beat him all over the ring in a six-round bout that we had in Pittsburg a couple of years ago. And I guess Atlanta fans know what I did to Donnelly, Miller, Young Nitchie and a lot of those other sluggers. I just hope that Hanlon means what he says. I promise him that I will come out of my corner in the first round, stand toe to toe with him, and won't stop exchanging until one of us drop."

There will be thirty other rounds of boxing at the Orpheum, and also a battle royal between a bunch of the best negro sluggers in the city.

Tickets will go on sale Saturday afternoon at the Rex and Tumlin Bros. stores.

Special reservations have been made for the visiting Shriners.

PENNANT RAISING TODAY; BARONS ARE HONOR GUESTS

This afternoon at Ponce de Leon the present crew of the Cracker schooner will hoist to the breeze the flag captured by last season's warriors, after one of the most thrilling finishes ever put on in the Southern league. The Birmingham Barons will be the guests of honor of the occasion.

As befits the rules of warfare, this afternoon's program will prove a practical exposition of the theory that to the victor belongs the spoils. Accordingly the local musketeers propose to make the occasion a gala one. It was some conflict that landed the local entry out in front by an eyelash at the finish of last season's race, and there is now among the Cracker camp a liberal residue from the battle-scarred legions that were in on that finish. Ed Dent and Gil Price were with us, as were Harry Bittercof and Joe Dunn. Harry Welchonce and Tommy Long. And more important still there is Skipper Bill Smith. This afternoon all of these will participate in the special ceremonies.

Before the game begins, the two teams will form in front of the stands and march to the flag pole in center field, where the new bunting will be run up, with due ceremonies. With this part of the program completed, the two warring forces will then proceed to mix it in vigorous battle on the diamond.

The Barons got away to a rather bad start early in the season, but for the past ten days or two weeks they have been going like a house afire. Marlton Molesworth has made several changes in his team, and a number of new men will be introduced to Atlanta fans. Tragresser, a new catcher, will doubtless work in the first battle. Also at first, Tex Covington has replaced ancient Bill McGilvray. In the outfield, Magee and Stewart will appear in place of Bob Messenger and Clyde McBride, while Dick Robertson will doubtless do the hurling in the opener. Eddie McDonald at third, Roy Elliam on short, Lil Marcan at second, and the Hon. Peter Kniesly in right field are the familiar faces that will appear in the line-up.

Ames Pitches Four-Hit Game

Senators Tie With Athletics

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Philadelphia and Washingtons battled for ten innings Friday to a 9 to 9 tie. The Athletics used three pitchers and the locals four. Plank started for the visitors, but retired at the end of the fifth. Pennock pitched for three innings, and then gave way to Bush. Philadelphia pounded Johnson hard. A triple play by Foster and Gandil, with the bases full in the ninth, prevented Philadelphia from winning.

Bills Triumph Over Mobile

MONTGOMERY, May 9.—By winning Friday's game, Montgomery evened up the series of Mobile. The score was 6 to 4. The visitors did not appear dangerous until the last inning when they batted in three runs a fast double play with the bases full preventing further tallying. The batting of Kirby and Snedecor featured, the former making four hits out of four trips to the plate, while the latter secured three hits out of four times at bat. Lantzen hit a home run drive over the left field fence, which was the first of the season on the local grounds.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Mobile	000 000 103—4	6	1
Montgomery	200 201 00x—6	11	0

Batteries—Fritz and Schmidt; Black, Buscher and Donahue.

Pels Win Game From Barons

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 9.—Birmingham again suffered defeat here Friday afternoon, three local pitchers being hit hard by the New Orleans players. The score was 6 to 3. Johnson opened for the local club, but was erratic and was replaced by Gregory in the third inning. Gregory lasted two and two-thirds innings, after which Harbin went into the box.

Styles opened for the visitors, but in the sixth he became wild and was taken out, Bagby going to the mound. The game was loosely played, players of both teams running wild on the bases and many errors were made.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Birmingham	000 021 000—3
New Orleans	202 020 00x—6

Batteries: Harbin, Gregory, Johnson and Tragresser; Bagby, Styles and Higgins.

Kolehmainen Sails For Home in Finnland

NEW YORK, May 9.—Hannes Kolehmainen, the sturdy Finn who has won hundreds of races and hung up dozens of records since he came here two years ago, sailed for home today on the Olympic.

Kolehmainen said he liked America and would return in September in time to compete in the national championships. While abroad he will race in several countries, representing the Irish-American Athletic club of this city.

New Polo Committee Appointed

LONDON, May 9.—The contest committee of the Hurlingham Polo club today appointed a special sub-committee comprising Major General Henry Hughes Wilson; Major General Sir Henry Seymour Rawlinson, Major Lawton Green and Lieutenant General Sir Douglas Haig, to form a new challenging team for the international polo cup.

Will Wrestle for Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, and Yussif Hussano, the "Dallas Turk," will meet here Friday night in a mat contest, the winner of which will claim the championship of the world. It is reported that Frank Gotch, the world's champion, will witness the match and personally challenge the winner.

The veteran catcher-coach Joe Sugden, says he never met a man with sounder baseball theories than Manager Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Browns.

Motor Racing Starts Today

Afternoon Meet Begins at 2:30 Night Program Starts at 8:00—Good Cards Announced

Should you hear the noisy pop-pop of what appears to be volumes of musketry, accompanied by an occasional explosion of cannon in the distance, this afternoon, have no fear that the Mexicans are invading Georgia and storming Decatur. It will be nothing other than the attendant sounds of opening day for the motorcycle speedway, which puts on its initial program this afternoon, followed by another tonight.

Beginning at 2:30 o'clock races will begin at the Jackson street course. Noon Hudson, one of the men in charge, and Morty Graves, who will captain the riders, both state that the meet will show Atlanta fans what real speed on a two-wheel motor is. Graves has brought some of the best motorcycle riders in the country here for these races, and local track records together with others are likely to be smashed.

An excellent card, of which the Woodward sweepstakes, over a distance of three miles is the feature, will be put on during the afternoon. Tonight the Walter Taylor sweepstakes over a distance of five miles, open to all riders at the track will feature the card.

Here are the entries and events for the two programs:

AFTERNOON.

First Heat, Motordrome Purse, 2 Miles—Glenn (7), Luther (6), Burtchall (4).

Second Heat, Motordrome Purse, 3 Miles—Fleckenstein (10), Richards (5), Suddeth (3).

Third Heat, Motordrome Purse, 2 Miles—Lewis (9), Graves (1), Crevistone (8).

Final, Motordrome Purse, 3 Miles—First man in each heat and second man in fastest heat to qualify.

First Heat, Mayor Woodward Sweepstakes, 3 Miles—Lewis (9), Glenn (7), Suddeth (3).

Second Heat, Mayor Woodward Sweepstakes, 3 Miles—Luther (6), Burtchall (4).

Third Heat, Mayor Woodward Sweepstakes, 3 Miles—Richards (5), Fleckenstein (10), Crevieton (8).

Final, Mayor Woodward Sweepstakes, 4 Miles—First man in each heat and second man in fastest heat to qualify.

NIGHT.

Second Heat, Match Race, Invitation, 5 Miles—First and second man in each heat to qualify.

Second Heat, Match Race—Fleckenstein (10) vs. Glenn (7).

Consolation Race—Five riders to be announced from Judges' stand.

Third Heat, Match Race, 3 Miles—Fleckenstein (10) vs. Richards (5).

Walter Taylor Sweepstakes, 5 Miles—Free for all. Open to all the riders at the track.

Today's Batteries

Mobile vs. Memphis

MOBILE, Ala., May 9.—After playing four games at New Orleans and four at Montgomery, out of which they split even in the number of victories, Mobile faced the Memphis club on Monroe field this afternoon for the first time this season with Hogg on the pitching mound and Schmidt catching. Lehbrandt and Schiel are the Memphis battery. This is the first invasion of the western division of the league against the southern and results are expected to test the strength of the various clubs and to determine the pennant timber. The Turtles came into Mobile Friday afternoon and had a full day's rest.

Montgomery vs. Nashville

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 9.—Nashville opens here for the first time of the season this afternoon at 3:45. Manager Gilks announced that the battery for Montgomery will be Black and Donahue. No announcement of a battery was made by the visitors.

Teams Will Race

PRINCETON, N. J., May 9.—Columbia, Pennsylvania and Princeton's eight-oared crews had workouts Friday over the course on Lake Carnegie which will be used for the Intercollegiate regatta today.

Clem Wood, of Harvard, will referee the race.

New rule forbids a coacher touching a runner at third base, and in a recent White Sox-Nap game Umpire O'Laughlin called out a runner who was shoved up a coacher at first base. This is a pioneer ruling, but the absolutely original umpire will be he who calls a runner out for being touched by a coacher at second base.

St. Louis scribes say that Bill James, now with the Browns, has "come back with flying colors. James made two efforts with the Naps and was sent back as a failure each time.

FAVORABLE WEATHER CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 2 to 10 Points Down From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 9.—The cotton market opened steady today 1 point lower to 1 point higher, with near months steady while the new and more distant months showed a favorable weather report. There also seemed some forcing selling of December, but there was enough week-end covering to give a steady undertone. Prices weakened after receipt of the western bluish forecast, and active months sold 4 to 5 points net lower.

The favorable weather official forecasts gave the market an easier tone late in the morning and close was barely steady at a net decline of 2 to 10 points under scattering liquidation.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS.

Hubbe & Co.—We look for good buying or days in sure from positions on all short setbacks.

Hardin, Stone & Co.—We see no new grain a good start there will be a decided change of sentiment to the upward advance.

Morris H. Rothschild & Co.—We advise purchase of new crops on an investment basis.

S. B. Chapin & Co.—It is doubtful if rains will go far to prove more than temporary.

William Ray & Co.—We look for a slow dragging market.

Logan & Bryan—A rainy weather season favor pointing some fresh incentive.

Ford Motor Company Makes Formal Application for a $275,000 Building Permit for Its Great Assembly Plant on Ponce de Leon Avenue, Which Will Be Granted Some Time Next Week—Steady Growth of Decatur Permits is Shown

Formal application for a building permit of $275,000 was today made by the Ford Motor company for the construction of its great assembly plant on Ponce de Leon avenue.

The permit itself will be granted next week sometime. The plans are now on file in the office of Ed R. Hayes, the building inspector.

Meanwhile May building value is being compared with May, 1913, when the $250,000 permit for the Y. M. C. A. was taken, and as a result both the month and the year show a deficit, the former about $300,000 and the latter $171,000. There were other large permits last May which will have to be offset this month if 1914 maintains a lead.

The Ford permit, however, will more than offset the size of the Y. M. C. A. permit, and enough important building is in sight to give an increase for the month and the year to date.

As for general real estate news, there was none. Everybody had his mind on the Shriners today.

DECATUR BUILDING PERMITS.

Decatur's building permits for 1914 to date continue to show the steady growth that has existed in the town for several years past.

For the first four months of 1914, 31 permits, of aggregate value of $50,250, have been issued. The value of permits in 1913 aggregated $138,885; in 1912, $142,515, and in 1911, $119,000.

Gas mains are now being laid in Decatur and this will undoubtedly tend to increase the demand for homes there.

WANTED—Renting Property

You Owners of Rent Property:

HEART INTEREST aside from 8 per cent kind, is the only kind that really rewards.

A RENTING AGENT should truly and honestly represent your interests.

WHEN he does represent you, faithfully, just the same as he would look after his own interests, then, your rent account, which has formerly been a Nightmare as an Investment, on account of mechanical representation, begins to look like you are getting returns worth while out of your hard earned dollars.

WITH our long experience; with our every modern facility for handling rent accounts; with our exceptional location; and with plenty of young blood right on the alert, we know we can make it to your advantage to start right, by placing your consignments with us.

IF YOU are contemplating a change, we want your business.

JURY IN NEW TRIAL OF LIEUT. BECKER BROKEN

Two Asked to Be Excused and Were Eliminated From Murder Case

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 9.—Though completed last night the jury selected for the second trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was broken up again this morning necessitating further examination of talesmen and delaying the opening address of District Attorney Whitman.

When court convened Justice Seabury announced that two jurors had asked to be excused. They were accordingly eliminated.

The fate of Becker was filled late yesterday afternoon, but Justice Seabury ordered that the jury meet on the panle of talesmen at adjournment should return today. This order was to provide for a vacancy in the jury should one occur before the presentation of evidence begins.

As constituted when court opened today the jury met with the approval of both Becker and his wife, both of whom passed upon each man as he was being examined. It was then the women asked to be excused. At the first trial Becker preferred men with families as jurors, both of the twelve men in the jury box today six are unmarried. The average age of the present jury is under forty-five years, which is younger than the previous jury.

The actual presentation of testimony by the prosecution will not begin before Monday, at which time it is expected that District Attorney Whitman will call "Jack" Rose to the stand to tell the story of the alleged plot for the murder of Rosenthal.

Interest in the case increased today, and large crowds stood in the corridors and in the streets outside the criminal court's building.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT R. R. Y. M. C. A. AT 3:30 P. M.

The usual strong type of service will be held at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Jere A. Moore, of Harris street Presbyterian church, will address the meeting. He has a wide reputation as the working man's preacher and has served for several years a chaplain of the Federation of Labor. Messrs. J. A. and G. W. Fruett, of the W. & A. shops, will sing a duet and will give other selections with the association's orchestra. The association's fine orchestra will play. The whole program will be specially attractive and helpful.

The railroad men invite all their men friends to join them at this hour and give assurances of a time worth while.

SENATOR THORNTON NOW IS AGAINST FREE TOLLS

Louisianan Says He Is Convinced First Position on Question Was Wrong

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Convinced that his position both on the legal and on the economic side of the Panama tolls question in 1912, was wrong, Senator Thornton, of Louisiana, today told the senate he now would vote to repeal the law.

Senator Thornton said the position taken by the president in a personal letter to him and the message to congress, in which the president said the existence of the exemption law embarrassed him in the foreign relations of the United States, caused him to vote for the repeal.

The statements of former Ambassador Choate and others who participated in the negotiating of the Hay-Pauncefote treaties had convinced him that the United States was within the right to discriminate in favor of its ships he said.

On the economic phase of the controversy, Senator Thornton said that the report of the house committee on merchant marine had convinced him tha tthe free tolls inured to the benefit solely of the coastwise shipping monopoly that fixed rates by agreements beyond the reach of American law. He said the shipping bill was not in need of a subsidy such as the exemption.

MANY WANT RETURN OF FUNDS LEVIED ON AUTOS

Secretary of State Phillip Cook issued a statement Saturday in which he declared that notwithstanding the distribution clause of the automobile registration law, passed by the last general assembly may be null and void because it is impossible of enforcement, this fact does not act the clause which levies a registration fee of $5 on each automobile and motorcycle.

The law provided that the money derived from registration fees should be distributed among the various counties on a basis of the rural route mileage in each county. The state treasurer found it impossible to ascertain the rural route mileage of the various counties, and, acting under the direction of the attorney general he has held up the distribution of the fund until the legislature meets and perfects the law.

When it became known that the distribution clause of the law was nullified many automobile owners concluded that the entire law was void and wrote the secretary of state asking a refund of the money paid for registration fees under the new law. Secretary Cook says that the levying clause of the law is legal and that there can be no refunds.

NEGRO CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO SCHOOL

State Fire Marshal W. R. Joyner reported to Insurance Commissioner W. A. Wright Saturday that after investigating the circumstances surrounding the burning of a large school house at Cowena, Emanuel county, that Hardy Bird, a negro, arrested on a warrant charging arson.

This school house, valued at about $2,000, was burned on the night of April 30. According to Captain Joyner the property was in litigation and there are circumstances which lead him to the belief that the negro was employed to burn it down.

LABORER RUN DOWN AND INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

While working at Peachtree street near Ivy Saturday afternoon, William R. Smith, a laborer, 326 Linwood street, was run down and slightly hurt by the machine of A. H. Folsom, 18 Williams street. Folsom was driving the car. He tried to avoid Smith, who had signaled him to pass on the left, but Smith, becoming confused, jumped to the left and the car struck him.

Folsom took the injured man to the Grady, where his wounds consisting of cuts on his forehead, were dressed.

but manned also by Shriners—engineer, conductor, flagman and all; that is, all except the negro porters. The officials arranging the train had to send to the Birmingham division for a fireman Shriner, none being available in the Jacksonville division.

Here are the names of the train crew members of the "Morocco Special" from Jacksonville. Conductor, Noble T. C. Stevens; flagman, Noble John Strickland; baggagemaster, Noble A. J. Burke; engineer, Noble T. J. Russell.

The first exception in the matter of holidays ever made by the Georgia School of Technology has been ordered by the faculty. By order of the trustees, only Thanksgiving day and Memorial day are granted as holidays to the students there. The exception has been made in favor of next Tuesday, when the Shriners' parade will be marching. A half holiday has been granted, to let the boys see the spectacular. "This is the only exception we have ever known the board to agree to," writes K. G. Matheson, president of Tech, in a letter notifying Mr. Adair.

Atlanta's population will be swelled Tuesday and Wednesday by unnumbered thousands of people from town and country within a radius of many miles of the city. Word came from Covington, Saturday, that business there will suspend in order to let Covington's customers come to Atlanta and see the parades. Covington is 40 miles distant, its interest in typical. Statisticians have computed that there are 1,000,000 people within a radius of 40 miles around Atlanta. A good part of that million, with some more from a greater radius, will come into Atlanta very early Tuesday morning, spend the day here, go home for the night, and come back Wednesday morning to see the parade review and exhibition drills at Piedmont park. Hotels in towns within a number of miles of Atlanta will be filled all week with people from more distant points.

About the only people who won't see the parades Tuesday and the special exhibition, Wednesday, will be the train crews and trolly car crews on duty at those hours.

Throughout the line or march of the parade the spectators will be distributed. It is expected that Peachtree and Whitehall will be crowded to suffocation, but the crowds will continue also along Mitchell, Broad, Marietta, Spring, Walton, Forsyth and Carnegie Way.

R. H. Johnston, dentist in the Candler building, has suggested that everybody wave a handkerchief to the paraders Tuesday.

"The effect would be beautiful," he has written to Potentate Adair. "Thousands of people will view the morning parade from office buildings, department stores, grand stands, the tops of buildings, and other points of vantage. If each one of the thousands would wave a pocket handkerchief, it would show a fluttering sea of white. The decorations are beautiful, but they lack motion. They are the champagne without the sparkle. Let the handkerchiefs add the sparkle. Just the right thing at the right moment—about it?"

Special precautions will be taken by the city police and county police in cooperation with them to guard the residence districts of the city next Tuesday morning and particularly next Tuesday evening. Those districts will be all but deserted by the dwellers, who will be downtown seeing the sights. Hundreds of sneak thieves and bolder criminals flock to big gatherings like the Shriners' convention, expecting harvests not only from pockets picked but from looser rifled.

"I want to invite everybody's attention to the fact that Sunday has been proclaimed 'Mothers' day,'" said Potentate Adair. "It will be a tremendous day from the standpoint of local Shriners, for thousands of visitors will be coming in. Yet we don't want to make anybody forget it's the day when we must wear a white flower and go to see his mother, if he's fortunate enough to have his mother with him yet."

Two nobles of Cairo temple, Rutland, Vt., have arrived by automobile to attend the meeting. They traveled the whole distance by road. Local Shriners got a glimpse of them, then lost them in the crowding crowds.

Another long distance car conspicuous in Atlanta is a magnificent big blue machine, with a lot of eggplants number on it and the Shrine colors decking it. Several days ago a car loaded with Tacoma, Wash., Shriners passed on down to Jacksonville to spend a couple of days.

Members of Yaarab patrol are ordered to report this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Masonic temple, to remain on duty until released. They will wear their red uniforms, their white canvas shoes with red laces, the official yellow sox and the white Atlanta sash.

TRAIN OF FOURTEEN CARS.

Chairman W. A. Fuller and the other "welcomers" at the railway stations will have their hands full of little jobs. Chairman Fuller received Saturday morning a telegram from Hella temple, Dallas, Tex., that it will arrive Monday morning at 8 o'clock in a special train of fourteen cars. In the baggage truck, said the dispatch, Chairman Fuller will find a cage full of live panthers, which he will please see is unloaded properly and delivered where Hella temple will want the animals later.

"I have been handling goats, camels, and elephants, and incidentally burros," said Noble Fuller, "but this is the first time, absolutely, that I have been called on to manipulate panthers. However", he sighed, and tried the muscles of his arms.

Members of the medical staff organized by Dr. A. B. Elkin for the Shriners' parades will have headquarters at 211 Grand theater building. The following assignments have been made:

Georgian Terrace to West Peachtree, Dr. Howard Bucknell.

Peachtree and Ellis, Dr. J. N. Brawner.

Peachtree and Forsyth, Dr. B. Wolff.

Peachtree and Walton, Dr. L. C. Fischer.

Birmingham Train Will Lead Shriners' Specials

BIRMINGHAM, May 9.—Mid the crash of tom-toms and the weird wail of Oriental flutes, 300 Birmingham Shriners, members of Zamora temple, will leave for Atlanta Monday night in the most splendidly equipped train the Southern railway has ever handled. Chief Potentate Arthur Barton will head the Magic City delegation.

The Birmingham train will head the procession of Shriner specials into Atlanta. It will be composed of eight coaches luxurious in every detail and supplied with everything calculated to please the Shriner.

Practically all trains from the west and southwest bearing Shriners to Atlanta will pass through Birmingham. Most of them will arrive here Monday morning and a stop-over here is provided, at which time they are planning a royal reception for them.

The Al Chymia Temple of Memphis, in a special train of eight coaches will arrive in Birmingham Sunday morning over the Frisco and will be handled out of Birmingham over the Southern to Atlanta.

The Hamassia Temple of Meridian, will reach Birmingham Sunday afternoon over the Queen and Crescent and will be handled out of here over the Southern. Over the same line will arrive the El Karugah temple of Shreveport Monday morning. The Dallas and California delegations are also expected to pass through Birmingham.

Plans for the entertainment of many of the Shriners who will pass through Birmingham on their return from Atlanta are also being made.

The Birmingham Shriners will take the largest delegation to Atlanta that has ever gone to a Shrine meeting. The Arab patrol has been drilling for several weeks in anticipation of walking away with the prize for the best drilled patrol.

Salute of 21 Guns Will Greet Imperial Potentate

A salute of twenty-one guns will be fired Monday morning from the Washington street viaduct when the big gun of all Shrinedom, Imperial Potentate W. W. Irwin, of Wheeling, W. Va., steps from the train in Atlanta.

The exact hour of the imperial potentate's coming is not definite. Railroad officials are keeping track of his train, mile by mile, and are passing their information on to local shriners.

Potentate Forrest Adair, of Yaarab temple, has charged Noble Albert S. Adams with the responsibility of notifying Captain J. O. Seamans, commander of Yaarab patrol, at the precise moment the Imperial Potentate Irwin leaves the train. Captain Seamans will command the artillery battery firing the salute.

Several trains are preceding and following that of the imperial potentate, bearing hundreds of Shriners who form his escort.

California Delegation Pelt Pedestrians With Oranges

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Several hundred Shriners en route from California to Atlanta convention too Washington by storm this morning. Headed by a band of one hundred pieces, they paraded Pennsylvania avenue. Sandwiched in amongst the Shriners were several wagon loads of oranges and the pedestrians along the avenue were pelted with this luscious fruit by the happy hearted Shriners. The California delegation will leave this afternoon on a special train.

Two Past Imperial Potentates Will Arrive Together

Two of the past imperial potentates of the Shrine will arrive together Sunday morning with several lesser lights and will be met by a special welcoming committee from Yaarab temple.

The two high officers are Past Imperial Potentate William A. Cunningham, of Baltimore, who went out of office at Dallas last year, and Past Imperial Potentate Harrison Dingman, of Washington, who retired in 1897.

They are expected to arrive by the Southern railway at the Terminal station at 11:40 o'clock Sunday morning.

the negress, who had taken the witness stand.

"You have made an affidavit in the Frank case?"

"I suppose it was."

"How came you to leave the city after making the affidavit?"

"Mr. Burns told me to go."

"Mr. Burns, the detective?"

"William J. Burns?"

"Did he give you the money on which you left?"

"No; he had one of his operators, I guess that's what you call them, go with me. I went from Atlanta to Union City and from there to Montgomery, Ala."

"Who was this man?"

"Dr. White is the name he went under. I don't know his real name."

"Where did he go with you?"

"He only went as far as New Orleans."

"Did he give you any money?"

"Not into my hands."

DETECTIVES SUGGESTED IT.

"After you made the affidavit, who first suggested that you leave?"

"Mr. Burns and Mr. Lehon suggested that I leave."

"Why?"

"They said that I had better go where I would not come in contact with the city detectives, who would want me to make different statements."

"Had you turned over the letters to them then?"

"I didn't see the letters until I got to New Orleans."

"Who brought you back from there?"

"A colored operator. He took me from New Orleans to Montgomery and from there we went to Chicago and then came back here. When I started we went to Union City in an automobile. Dr. White and Mr. Lehon both with me in automobile. I took the train with Dr. White then."

"Who put up the money?"

"Well, when they said for me to go, I said I would like to take a trip, but didn't know about where I would get the money to go and come back on. Then Mr. Lehon said it was understood that the expenses would be stood by him."

HAD $5 TO SPEND.

"In New Orleans, who paid your board?"

"I went into the family of Eddie Collins, the colored operator and I guess he paid the board."

"Didn't you have any money?"

"I was given five dollars to spend."

"Pocket money?"

"Yes."

"How did you happen to come back?"

"I wanted to come back just as soon as I saw in the paper that you wanted me to, and Mr. Lehon sent a message saying for me to come."

Judge Hill then turned to counsel for defense, Attorney Luther Z. Rosser, Reuben R. Arnold and Leonard Haas being present, and asked if they had any question.

Mr. Arnold replied that he had none, and the court turned to the solicitor.

"I would like to ask," said Mr. Dorsey, "this woman to tell us which one of these gentlemen is her attorney?"

SELECTS TWO NUNES.

"I have had Mr. Von Nunes all of the time, and he is my lawyer," the woman said.

"Did Mr. Gordon and Mr. Lehon come to see you in the jail yesterday?"

"Yes."

"Who did you see in Montgomery besides the Burns people—what lawyer?"

"I saw Mr. Haas."

"What Haas, Mr. Herbert J. Haas?"

"I don't know."

"Does his hair stand back this way?" asked Dorsey, making a pompadour effect.

"Yes."

(Attorney Leonard Haas stated after the hearing the man the woman saw in Montgomery was not Herbert, but Albert Haas.)

"Did this Mr. Haas give you any money?" asked the solicitor.

"No."

Mr. Dorsey said he had no further questions, and Judge Hill said: "Draw a rule nisi, Mr. Solicitor, ordering William J. Burns and Dan S. Lehon to appear before me next Tuesday morning to show cause why they are not in contempt of court."

The hearing then adjourned, and Judge Hill asked the attorneys for the defense of Frank if they were ready with the papers in the appeal of the extraordinary motion for a new trial.

CERTIFIES TO RECORD.

Neither the bill of exceptions nor the brief had been prepared, but the attorneys said they would like for the court to certify to the grounds of the motion.

The papers were produced and Judge Hill certified that the records of fact set out in each ground of the motion and in each amendment is correct. It was agreed that the Ragsdale amendment, stricken by the defense, will not go to the supreme court.

Mr. Arnold declared it will take a large force of stenographers to get the bill of exceptions and the brief of the evidence ready within the twenty days allowed by law for filing the papers with the supreme court.

In an informal discussion, the motion to set aside was mentioned and Attorney Arnold stated that he and Mr. Rosser would have nothing to do with that except possibly to appear as witnesses.

Judge Hill stated he would probably hear oral testimony on the motion.

Attorney Von Nunes, discussing Annie Maud Carter's testimony, stated to a Journal reporter before the hearing that the woman has told him Conley told her many and varied stories about the murder case.

The woman does not deny that in one story Conley said he killed the girl, but does say that after he had made the statement, she said to him: "Jim, you know you are lying. Mr. Frank killed the girl" and Conley laughed, saying: "Take it as you please."

On Prison Furlough Man Kills His Wife And Shoots Himself

(By Associated Press.)

COALGATE, Okla., May 9.—After, it is alleged, crushing his wife's skull with a hatchet, Arthur McKinley who returned to his home here yesterday on a furlough from the state penitentiary to attend the funeral of his sister, late last night fired a charge from a shotgun into his own face. The woman is dead and McKinley is probably fatally wounded.

Mrs. McKinley instituted suit for divorce when her husband was convicted of having attacked a young woman and sentenced to six years in prison.

Kryptok Bifocals

Why We Make Kryptok Bifocals and Recommend Them

First of all because of their convenience. They give Near and Far Vision in one solid glass, doing away with two pairs of glasses.

They can be more perfectly ground than any other bifocal known, no ugly seams or pieces to blister or become loose. We make them in Toric or Curved form, giving a larger field both for reading and distance.

Each pair is made to order, conforming to the face in every detail. You never know you have on bifocals. They are absolutely invisible while on the face. They are a joy, not a discomfort. Ask some of our patients how they are pleased.

SHE OFTEN PRAYED TO DIE

But Friend Comes to Rescue With Some Sound Advice, which was Followed with Gratifying Results

Nettleton, Ark.—"My troubles date back five years," says Mrs. Mary Bentley, of this town. "I was first taken with awful pains in my right side, headache, and backache. The pain from my side seemed to move down my right limb, and settled in the right knee. Then it would move back, and once a month I would almost die with pain.

I was told I had tumor, and would have to undergo an operation at once. It just seemed I could not submit to it. I often prayed to die. It seemed that nothing would give me the desired relief, until finally I was advised by a friend to try Cardui and it is undoubtedly curing me. I have only used three and a half bottles and it is a pleasure to tell of the beneficial results.

I shall ever spread the good tidings of what Cardui has done for me and will do for other suffering ladies if they will only try it."

You can depend on Cardui because Cardui is a gentle harmless vegetable tonic that can do you nothing but good.

Prepared from herbal ingredients, Cardui has a specific effect on the womanly constitution and puts strength where it is most needed.

Try Cardui—at once.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

It is Just Natural To Admire Babies

Our altruistic nature impels love for the cooing infant. And at the same time the subject of motherhood is ever uppermost in the minds of expectant mothers. To know what to do that will add to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has heretofore most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." We have known so many grandmothers who in their younger days relied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indicates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, ligaments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy.

A little book mailed by Bradfield Regulator Co., 306 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., refers to many things that women like to read about. Many write not only to the relief from muscle strain due to their expansion but also to nausea, morning sickness, caking of breasts and many other distresses.

WORD pictures of the needs of many, calls to every walk of life, The Journal Wants radiate with vitally important facts to many, who each day look to them for chances worth while.
