REV. WALTER M. WHITE NOW HEADS DISCIPLES

Resolution to Abolish Delegate System of Convention Is Withdrawn

Resolution of officers, with W. M. White, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, heading the list, was adopted and withdrawn by Rev. W. M. White, of Columbia, Mo., of his resolution to abolish the delegate system of conventions. Monday morning brought to a close the two most important matters before the international convention of the Disciples of Christ.

As vice presidents, I. W. Gill, of Wichita, Kas., Rev. Allan R. Moore, of Kansas, Mo., and Dr. R. L. Riddle, of San Francisco, Cal., were chosen. Colonel Fred W. Fleming, of Kansas City, was elected treasurer.

July 10 Hall of Fort Worth, Tex., was elected to succeed himself as recording secretary and Rev. Robert Graham Park, of Liberty, Mo., was re-elected corresponding secretary.

As new members of the executive committee to serve for the next four years, Rev. C. R. Stuffer, of Cincinnati, O., and Rev. E. L. Day, of Indianapolis, Ind., were elected.

Dr. M. J. Locke's resolution was withdrawn following spirited attacks on his part to abolish the delegate plan. It was carried by collection, led by Rev. A. R. Moore, of Savannah, Ga., to the matter being held over for a year. Mr. Locke stated that "in the face of such opposition it would withdraw his resolution." It was carried by collection.

Resolution of consideration of Rev. M. J. Locke's resolution was the signal to debate that consumed practically the entire session.

Dr. R. S. Lapham, of Cincinnati, editor of the Christian Standard, defended the motion, declaring that the present system was small and most confused convention ever held and that the following year he would give it a new plan.

A practically unanimous vote the convention adopted its approval of the delegate plan by collecting to the withdrawal of the Book resolution.

Dr. White, the new president, succeeded him M. Bell of Des Moines, Iowa.

1700 CONVERSIONS. The conversion of 2,700 persons in foreign fields in the past year was announced Monday morning in the annual report submitted to the Foreign Missionary Society by A. McLean, of Cincinnati, the secretary.

INCOME SHOWS GAIN. The society's income during the past year was $113,745, a gain of $12,545 of 1913 according to the report. The report also showed that the society had 151 American missionaries and 827 native evangelists and teachers, who have been educated in its colleges in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, Africa and Africa. One hundred and thirty-nine schools and colleges and twenty-five hospitals and dispensaries also are maintained by the society. The total of its property in foreign fields is $1,000,000.

Addressing the convention on the "Will of God for the Church," Dr. J. H. Miller, of New York, N. Y., declared the union of Christians has for its end and supreme purpose the evangelizing of the world.

The Christian Christian union and bid good from the work of world-wide redemption. Dr. Armstrong, of New York, declared that the world is not unscriptural as for the opportunity.

COUNCIL NAMED. The new committee on nominations was announced as consisting of J. H. Miller, of Ohio; Dr. H. H. Miller, of Illinois; J. L. Spencer, of Kentucky; W. M. White, of Iowa; J. R. Jones, of Indiana.

Appointed on the resolutions committee were H. P. Atkins, of Alabama; T. H. Baker, of Oklahoma; B. R. Jones, of Kentucky; J. L. Hamaker, of Virginia; H. H. Walker, of Ontario; J. E. Baker, of Iowa.

The society voted to cable the Oriental conference, now in China on a tour of the far east, expressing sympathy for the commission's work and hope for the safe return home of its members. It was decided to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Emma Lyons, a missionary to China, who is ill at her home in London.

Dr. F. Baum told the society of the new opportunities for missionary work in India.

Dr. H. Miller told of the commission's work in the Congo and the morning session closed with an address by A. W. White, on "The Will of God for the Disciples of Christ in the Field."

AFTERNOON SESSION. The Monday afternoon session was called to order by L. N. D. Miller, of Ohio, as the Minister of the Disciples of Christ.

Dr. White on "The Outlook in the Philippines and George Jones on "Why I Trust Missions as Good Paying Business."

Dr. F. Baum to conduct a symposium on money and foreign missions. The Monday night session will be devoted to the men and women missionaries. Addresses are to be delivered by H. Miller on "The Spiritual Significance of the Men and Women Missionaries" and A. P. Cory to report on the progress of the movement during the past year.

The program Sunday opened with a Bible school demonstration and included a convention sermon by Minister L. N. D. Miller, president of Illinois conference, O. A. communion service in which hundreds of members of the church partook, a young people's mass meeting, a general review of the missionary work of the church by the workers in both home and foreign fields. Visiting ministers occupied the pulpits of almost all Atlanta churches of various denominations.

A MEDICINE OF MERIT A proprietary medicine, like everything else that comes before the public, has to prove its merit. The law of the market is the same in this field as in others. The reason for the tremendous success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound is because it has been found to be a real human need for forty years, so that today thousands of women are their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs—nature's remedy for women's ailments.

MOTHER DEFENDS SON AGAINST THEFT CHARGE

Mrs. M. Ellis Says She Can Prove He Had No Connection With Burglaries

Mrs. M. Ellis, of Atlanta, mother of Charlie Ellis, who has been arrested in Tampa, Fla., at the instance of the Atlanta police department in connection with a series of burglaries on Peachtree street clothing store, declares her son is entirely innocent.

"Charlie was in Tampa when these burglaries were committed," she said Monday. "He went there in the hope of getting work in the orange packing industry. I had just married him, and he came to my home looking for a letter addressed general delivery."

"One of the boys arrested in the same case told Charlie nearly to death with a knife wound. He is now under indictment for that crime and Charlie and I have been subpoenaed as witnesses against him. He and his pals told the detectives Charlie was implicated in the burglaries to save himself out of the way as a witness."

"I have been in the store that was burglarized and found the date of the burglaries. Charlie went to Tampa previous to those dates. I can prove that was there. Hence I expect no difficulty in clearing him of any blame or suspicion in connection with the burglaries."

TWO PRIZE DOGS DIE ON EVE OF ATLANTA SHOW

One Died Natural Death and Other Ran in Front of Automobile

Death swooped down on Atlanta dogs Sunday, claiming two of the 350 entries to Atlanta's first big dog show held under American Kennel club auspices, which opened Monday morning at the Racetrack company, 225 Peachtree street.

Two empty stalls among the array of barking, howling dogs gave mute witness to the tragedy which befell Fox and Snookums on the eve their debut into the aristocracy of American Kennel club.

For the Boston terrier of Mrs. H. S. Courtney, had his ears clipped, his tail chopped, his pink ears snipped, his coat washed and scrubbed, in preparation for the show. In all the glory of his very best, he trotted into the path of a big black touring car on North Boulevard Sunday afternoon, and was killed before the eyes of his mistress, who was standing and calling to him from the sidewalk.

Snookums, the prize blondism spaniel of Mrs. C. B. Stinson, also died Sunday morning, shortly before her owner had arranged to enter her in the show. She was one of the best dogs in the city.

No hint of sadness hung over the dog show Monday morning, however. For blocks out Peachtree street, you could hear the chorus of barks, as you neared the Carters building, it swelled to a roar that deafened you as you entered, and put conversation in the outland class.

Here were many rowdy terriers, black bulls jerking frantically on their leashes and yelping like mad; noble collies in stately poses until a sky trotter passed, when they leaped to life and barked defiance to the world; long-haired, eyed bloodhounds in gloomy solitude; diminutive black-and-tan yapping and yowling; fox terriers with red tongues racing back and forth; the ugliest bull dogs in captivity squat-kneed in their stables; a whole box full of setters jumbled together in their names: Airedales, cockers, dachshunds, Dalmatians, Tups, Pekinians, Pomeranians, pointers, Russian Wolfhounds, a great regiment of cocked ears and stiff tails and leaping fore legs, with an ever-increasing din of yaps, barks and howls, a very hubbub of excitement.

There was Mrs. W. M. Stephenson's collie, Champion Southport Aristocrat, and Mrs. J. H. Hayward, of New York City, who will make his championship at this show, thereby being the second American bred Pekinians to be champion.

ROYAL DOGS. One and all, they are a great lot of dogs, and when Dr. J. E. DeMott, of Brooklyn, and James H. Steffen, of Birmingham, begin the judging at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, they will have their work cut out for them. The show closes Wednesday.

The dogs that are being awarded by the Atlanta Kennel club, under whose auspices the show is taking place, are in display at Residences on Wilkes street. There are many other cups and prizes.

A nominal admission is being charged for the show, all proceeds going to the Home for Incurables.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

By Edward B. Bagby

The interest of Sunday centered in the big convention service held in the auditorium in the afternoon. Bagby was the Sunday school teacher of the day. It was upon the institution of this tradition, Pastor Bricker, at the church, teaching his class, which filled the auditorium (there were 1,400 in the whole school), said: "I tremble to think what would have been the history of our people had it not been for the F. M. B. of the weekly communion."

"Undoubtedly it has been one of the strongest conserving forces for weak and unstable congregations. It is not uncommon in the country for members to drive from sight to fifteen miles that they may observe the Lord's supper."

know of a country church at Beaver Creek, Mo., that in the history of the twenty-two years has failed only twice to observe the ordinance and then during the Civil war when Union soldiers stationed along the roads turned the worshippers back. And the disciples met together upon the first day of the week broke bread. "A favorite text with our ministers. 'You should not come together, they are accustomed to say, to hear brilliant oratory or to see sermons, but to remember Jesus in this feast of love.'"

To emphasize this thought in the monitory gathering in the auditorium, the service was an absence of all speech making and special music. Choir and people sang such hymns as "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross," "The Midnight" and "On Olives' Brow."

When I survey the Wanderer Cross it took about fifty elders and deacons to serve the people, but it was done quickly and as impressively as in the ordinary service in the church.

The crowd of delegates was augmented by the city people, representatives of various communities as the disciples do not practice close communion.

ALL ATLANTA ON EDGE

FOR BIG CIRCUS TODAY

Thousands Line Streets to See Ringling Bros.' Parade as Prelude to Great Circus

Thousands of Atlanta people Sunday morning saw Ringling Bros.' circus parade as it rolled the streets downtown. And thousands Monday afternoon and night will pass under the big tent to witness the spectacle as it comes to the city. What American man boy has not anticipated the vast and complex, and undulating and placid, and what American woman has not longed to see the circus parade to town? They go to the circus grounds together, the American boy and the American girl, and arm in arm they watch the parade and are the stars for the great performance.

And in these days when efficiency has become a fetish, what an splendid example of efficiency could be unfolded before the eyes of the city. The circus arrived in the night hours Sunday morning and unloading commenced before the first glimpse of the sun. Throughout the forenoon the marvelous organized machinery was in action—men for every man, and every man doing his job. The old motorcycle speeder had been rendered useless, the car was off, and when the tents were up, and the paraphernalia in place there was little space unused, for the circus ground covers acres upon acres of ground.

Monday morning the crowds were gathering for the parade by the thousands. Small boys in a fever of excitement, standing on the very edge of the curb as to miss a detail of the wondrous sight.

Little girls clinging to their mothers' hands and craning their necks to catch the first glimpse of the procession. And grownups waiting with just as much interest as the children.

"Here comes..." rang the word from boy to boy as the band struck up in Peachtree street, up Whitehall and Peachtree through a lane of spectators, and then into Auburn street again and back to the circus square.

The last performance began at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon and the night performance started at 8 o'clock. The doors will open an hour ahead of time for each performance so the people can see the animals before the main show starts.

MANY ATLANTIANS HEAR SERMONS BY DR. PATTON

Former Princeton President Filled Two Pulpits in Atlanta Sunday

Two large congregations on Sunday heard sermons by Dr. Francis L. Patton, former president of Princeton University and the Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Patton, among Presbyterians as the dean of religious philosophy, preached Sunday morning at the North Avenue Presbyterian church and Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church.

Both of Dr. Patton's sermons were interesting and well received. He took his text for the evening sermon from the words of the Apostle Paul: "The One Thing I Do." Dr. Patton used this text to illustrate the fact that the chief aim of life is the decision in self-realization. Dr. Patton declared that this is an age of specialization, and that self-realization consists of but two things—measure and more perfection. More people, he said, are seeking after pleasure and self-interest, and the man who is generous for the sake of giving others pleasure is the ideal man. Dr. Patton said there are but two essentials—concentration of energy and persistence.

REV. ATKINSON GOES AFTER MAN IN STREET

Dr. John R. Atkinson, the new dean of St. Philip's cathedral, made his first public statement Sunday night when he went to the cathedral and in a short time invited passers-by to enter the church.

The minister promised he would not keep his congregation longer than fifteen minutes, and the size of the audience was materially increased by the presence of a number of men who turned into the church as the result of his appeal.

OFFICER BATTLES WITH NEGRO BARK ATTIC

Dog of Black Suspected of Attempted Burglary Given the Officers Clue

Grappling in black darkness in the attic of a Danmore street with a desperate negro, Call Officer Long had a narrow escape from the clutches of a bark attic dog of black suspected of attempted burglary. The negro, James Tall, was finally overcome when Call Officer Jones and Cochran came to the aid of Long.

The negro had been trailed with his dog as a clue to the house on Danmore street from the grocery store of N. H. Baird, 44 Lee street. Baird, who lives at 44 Lee street, said he was awakened by a crashing sound at 3 o'clock in the morning, looking out of the window he saw a negro battering the front door of his store with an axe.

When they were searching near the store for possible traces of the fugitive, a yellow dog walked up, wagging its tail. Baird recognized the dog as being that of the negro, James Tall.

The two dogs sprang upon the negro, Long climbed up a rickety ladder into the small loft or attic. Here he saw the negro, who was trying to break through the door.

SCHOOL OF METHODS FOR ATLANTA SOON

Sunday School Workers Will Be Given Opportunity for Study

Among the good things that come to Atlanta this year is the Atlanta School of Methods for Sunday school workers. The first class, training will be held under the auspices of the Georgia Sunday School association, and the Atlanta Superintendent's congress.

The purpose of this school is to bring within reach of the Sunday school teachers and workers of the city, the opportunity for improvement, which comes from sitting at the feet of Sunday school experts. The management has been very fortunate in securing as managers of the faculty of this school this year, Mr. John L. Alexander, of Chicago, Mrs. H. M. Hamilton, of Nashville, and Mrs. A. B. Hamilton, of Birmingham.

Mrs. Hamilton will have charge of the elementary series. Mrs. Hamilton is the superintendent of the Teacher Training department of the Alabama Sunday School association, and also president of the Birmingham Graded Union. She has unusual experience and most remarkable success in her particular line in her sister city.

Local workers will contribute to the success of the program and Rev. W. L. Walker, of Rome, at one time assistant to Dr. L. G. Brough, the Bible teacher of wide experience will conduct a Bible hour each day.

The sessions of the school will be free to all Sunday school workers and those interested in Sunday school work. The only requirements are that all those who attend must register and receive an admission card, as no one will be admitted without an admission card. The purpose of this is merely for the sake of registration.

To all who attend 16 periods and keep satisfactory notes, an international Training School certificate will be given. Officers of special honor will be given.

LOW PRICE OF COTTON SEED IS INVESTIGATED

Government Will See If Mills Are in Combine to Cut Price

The department of justice of the United States government, including the Atlanta office, is at work on an investigation into the low price cotton seed of mills, are paying farmers for their cotton seed.

The department is trying to find whether the mills are in an agreement to lower prices.

Such an agreement may exist is indicated by the fact that while the price of cotton seed now averages 160 per cent less than at the same time last year, the price of cotton seed products, such as meal, hulls, oil and lard, has been reduced but slightly, and that since the government began its investigation.

Last year the farmers at the time received from $12 to $15 a ton for their cotton seed, whereas now they receive from $14 to $18, the latter figure being exceptional in some Texas points the price is as low as $10 and $12.

From the sale of his cotton seed, the farmer expects to pay some of his pressing debts and practically all his labor, but this he cannot do with the price as low as they now are.

As the products of cotton seed are food products, there is no reason why they should be lower in price. There was some flurried recently about cotton product shipments being seized abroad, but an investigation by Senator Hoke Smith disclosed that there had been no instance of this kind, and that it had been corrected, and that there would be no further trouble on this score.

ILLINOIS SECRETARY OF STATE COMMITS SUICIDE

Shot Self With Revolver Sunday at His Springfield Home

(By Associated Press.)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 12.—Secretary of State Harry Woods, one of the Democratic senatorial candidates at the September election, was shot and killed in the Chicago board of trade, killed himself early yesterday. His body, with a bullet wound in the forehead and a bullet in the right arm, was discovered early today in a garage at the rear of his residence.

Mrs. Woods and a neighbor, whom she called when she became alarmed at her husband's name, were the only persons in the building.

No note of explanation was left by Woods and the only clue which would give a possible indication for the shooting was a bundle of letters showing extensive dealings with a Chicago brokerage house.

Woods could assign no motive for her husband's death.

John J. Coffey, assistant chief clerk of the Illinois state senate, said of the office of the secretary of state.

An examination of the accounts of the office will be started immediately. The accounts for the year ending September 30 will be started by Secretary Woods was on June 30 when the total was $170,576.53 for the quarter. No return has been made for the quarter ending September 28.

Woods' friends attribute his peculiarities to the effects of a blow on the head which he received in a prize-fight in Chicago several years ago in which Representative John McLaughlin was his opponent.

Woods fell out with Governor Dunne soon after he assumed office, and he had been violent in his denunciation of the governor.

He also had frequent clashes with the state civil service commission, and discharged employees without regard to the law. In fact, they were under civil service.

Old Machine of Mackmen Is on the Fritz at Last And Braves Look Winners

Mack Must Look Around for New Talent, Must Send Bressler and Other Youngsters Against the Hard-Hitting Bostons, If He Would Win—Stallings Says the Title Will Be Copped in Four Straights

GRANTLAND RICE.

BY GRANTLAND RICE

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The strangest, weirdest sporting year that sportsman has ever known is drawing to a close. And of all the un-expected, shocking upsets that have developed since last January, this October day in Boston tops the field in the bald statement that the Mackmen machine this afternoon is fighting with its back against the wall in the vain hope that a miracle will intervene and give them at least a fighting chance for another championship.

The situation is truly a delicious one. Against Cubs and Giants the Mackmen expected some keen opposition and were granted walk-overs. Against the Braves they expected a Tennessee cake walk, and at the end of two games have found themselves out-batted, out-pitched, out-fieled, out-guessed and out-gamed.

NO ALIBI.

If there was only one handy alibi at hand upon which they might hang an excuse things might be different. But they have been outclassed in every feature that figures in the make-up of the game that has furnished them more glory than any machine has ever known. There is no one department of the game in which they can say they have drawn an even-bat. And yet, one night in Philadelphia last week, we saw around for two hours with Mally and Ty Cobb and every one agreed that of the nine positions—on all base ball form—the Mackmen excelled in seven, tied in one and were nose-d out of it by a shade only in the other. Mally and Cobb carry as much brains and as much keen judgment as any two players the ever-lived-one represents the National league and one the American. There was no prejudice at stake in the comparison.

Both admitted by every argument that the Mackmen had been outplayed at every angle. And yet, both believed that Mack's team was the better club in seven positions and only a faint shade weaker in one.

Yet today we find Boston not only prevalent and predominant, but looking to be 50 per cent the better machine and the more virile baseball force.

TWO REASONS.

How can this thing be one known, save for these two reasons:

The Braves are not only a club of inspiration but a far better ball club in every detail than any one, save Stallings has given them credit for being.

They are said to have but one or two stars—when as a matter of fact they have at least five stars and a number of others almost as good. This is the first season.

The second is that Mack's club is in a heavy batting slump. Its greatest effective force for victory, this slump started several days before the series. Yank pitchers made the heavy Mackmen hitters look foolish. Rudolph and James made them look like busters.

Rudolph and James are two great pitchers—two of the greatest of the year. But does any one believe that under normal conditions they are good enough to hold this Philadelphia machine in two games to a batting average of about .105? If they are then the Mackmen have gone back—and this is part of the answer.

There has never been an exception to the rule, iron law that rules sport. You risk for too long and that hit the chutes and fade into the mists.

THEY TOOK TOO LONG.

There has never been an exception. And the Mackmen are human. They slip the grip they have ruled the field since 1910. They are due to go back—as things used to be and it isn't likely this machine will ever win an American league pennant.

But for all that they are not yet through. If they succeed in this late time slump they will have the brains, the courage and the make to win their throne and retain their crown. But to win they must first win upon some new talent. Bender and Plank have had their share. Mack must now fall back upon some youngster who is a buster, both or the other. Stallings believes in letting well enough alone. He says he will win the American league champs to-day and come back with Hill James to-morrow.

Stallings says that he will win now in sound possible but no one thought Stallings was possessed of reason or judgment when he predicted that the Braves would whirl in against the Mackmen with such ferocity that the Mack machine would be overwhelmed. Yet this is what happened on Shibe field—and the Braves at home, since late last week, have been the hardest club in the world to beat. They have a harder time alone. So since June and back at home against the Athletics they have more won than they have lost.

BRAVES CONFIDENT.

To a man they believe they have Mack's club whipped and on the run. Which brings up the most interesting point of the entire campaign—How we have the Braves pitted against the greatest machine in the game. Yet Jim Gaffney, the Braves' owner, told us that Stallings had but one fear, and had but one fear all alone. This fear was that his club would be too over-confident and would expect to win too easily. Can you imagine or could you have imagined some weeks ago a Boston National league club being so over-confident against the Athletics that it might not take the series seriously? Yet this was Stallings' chief fear.

"Every man on my club," he said, "all along has believed that we had 'clashed Mack's team' in every way—and that the result was a cinch—that Philadelphia never had a chance. And in place of trying to put courage into their souls, I've had to try and make them believe that while the best club they still had to fight."

BAT VS. JIM.

It was just as if twelve years ago that Nelson and Jim Jeffries were to meet and Nelson's manager was trying to prevent him from being overconfident. It's the most unusual sporting angle that has ever divided the club and the history of sports. The most un-

Georgia Hopes Sent Soaring By Tiger Game

Result at Sewanee Was One of Numerous Surprises in Southern Football—Tech's Score Against Mercer a Record One

Southern football Saturday saw several sensational surprises. In fact, nearly every game was a surprise. Nobody thought Georgia would lick Sewanee; few expected Tech to run up a 108 to 0 score against Mercer; Florida's showing against Auburn was unexpected; Vandy's work against Michigan was a mile better than was looked for. The Georgia-Sewanee battle was the upset of the day. With the odds all favoring the Tigers, the 7-6 win of the Red and Black has about the same hope into the hearts of Georgia's supporters.

If the Athens team can hold its own against an eleven of Sewanee's caliber, it is argued they should, with the advent of Captain Dave Paddock this week, give any southern crew in the South a run for its money.

Paddock's presence will just round out the team. According to reports from the mountain, the Georgia line played rings around Sewanee. Broyles was praised for his line plunging. With this line, Broyles, Paddock, Thompson and Steve Trump in the backfield, Dixie defense had best watch the Red and Black.

Georgia's game next Saturday here with North Carolina will bring out a big crowd. It should be a close game, and the fact that it is Georgia's first local appearance will add to the interest.

Tech's score against Mercer is ground for jubilation. One hundred and five to nothing is the largest score, so far as is known, made in the south this year. The largest ever run up by a Tech team.

If the Jackets keep up their gall, they should win easily from Alabama in Tuscaloosa next Saturday.

Vanderbilt's road game against Michigan prevented her from a whitewash. It was kicked by Josh Cobb. Playing his first year as a Vandy's left tackle, Cobb fought it over six feet tall. When he started after the game, he was hailed as a hero, but her supporters can content themselves with the result, truly a creditable one against such a team as Michigan, which has licked the stuffing out of everything else it has encountered this year and is heading on to Harvard victory.

For twenty-six minutes of actual play Saturday Auburn was prevented from scoring by the game eleven of the University of Florida. When the Alabama boys finally did get going, they won the game, 20 to 0, but the subdued outburst by the light 'Olor team has shown Georgia and Tech men that Auburn is not so invincible as was first believed.

Auburn's game with Clemson in Auburn next Saturday will serve as ground for comparison with Tennessee, which defeated the Carolinians, 27 to 0, Saturday.

Other southern games next Saturday are Vanderbilt vs. Central of Kentucky in Nashville; Sewanee vs. Chattanooga; Davidson vs. Wake Forest in Winston, N. C.; and Georgia Tech vs. Georgia in Athens.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—The St. Louis American league leader yesterday won the city series by defeating the Nationals 2 to 0 in the first game of a double header. The second game was tied 2 to 2.

FIRST GAME.

SECOND GAME.

usual and the most interesting. No wonder that Boston and all New England is in a raging tumult over the Braves cause and is pulling its collective heart out for a Brave triumph.

"I could easily sell 100,000 seats," said Jim Gaffney this forenoon. And he could. What's more, he could easily sell 250,000 seats, if the general clamor for tickets is any indication of the widespread interest. We have seen ball clubs before that were admired and fêted by the home populace, but never as deep in home affection as this courageous band that has come from such depths to such heights by the sheer force of fighting courage and the ability of, of course, but no finer than man's ability to affirm around second or third place.

Bender-James Best Hurlers

The Big Chief Finished the Season With 3 Games Lost Out of 17—James Lost 6 of His 45 Games

Records for the season just closed show that Chief Bender, the Indian, the Braves drove from the box in the first world's series game, was the best pitcher in the American league.

James, the Boston hurler, topped the National staff artists.
