

RHEUMATISM GOES

IF HOOD'S IS USED

The genuine old reliable Hood's Sarsaparilla corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the whole system. It drives out rheumatism because it cleanses the blood. It has been successfully used for forty years in many thousands of cases all over the world over.

There is no better remedy for skin and blood diseases, for loss of appetite, rheumatism, stomach and kidney troubles, general debility and all ills arising from impure, impoverished, debilitated blood.

It is unnecessary to suffer. Start treatment at once. Get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla from your nearest druggist. You will be pleased with the results.—(Advt.)

HEADACHE, COLD OR SOUR STOMACH, REGULATE YOUR BOWELS--10 CENTS

Sick headache! Always trace them to lazy bowels; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Polypus, constipated matter, gases and bile carried out of the system, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood, then the poison reaches the delicate brain tissue. It causes constipation and that, sickening headache. Cathartics will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on out of the bowels. One taking tonight straightaway 100 out of 100 bowels regular, and make bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cathartics, too.

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER;
FOUR PERSONS INJURED

NASHVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—An automobile accident yesterday afternoon, seven miles this side of Odessa, came very near ending the lives of four people from Nashville. Manuel Stevens, driving a Ford car, undertook to take a sharp curve at low speed, but lost control of the car, and it rolled over on its side. Stevens received serious injuries, and may die. He was pinned under the car. Miss Irene Shedd was also pinned under the car and had a leg broken. Mr. W. W. Hall and Miss Elsie Higgs were thrown out of the car. She was the least injured, and returned to the car and succeeded in pulling Miss Shedd from under the car, before help came.

JOHN D. MELL, OF ATHENS, HEADS BAPTIST COLLEGE

Chosen by Carrollton Convention as President of Bessie Tift

BY ALICE W. READER.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
CARROLLTON, Ga., Nov. 19.—The trustees of Bessie Tift college this morning unanimously elected Dr. John D. Mell, of Athens, as president to succeed Dr. C. H. S. Jackson. He has not as yet accepted the place but has taken it under consideration.

Dr. Mell is a son of Dr. P. H. Mell, for many years president of the Southern Baptist convention. He is president of the Georgia Baptist convention and has the confidence of the entire brotherhood. For a number of years Dr. Mell practiced law in Athens and then he entered the ministry. He has for years been pastor of several country churches and a lecturer on parliamentary practice in the law department of the University of Georgia. His election is looked upon as one very wise in its nature and the entire convention hopes that he will accept.

The convention instructed the state mission board to meet a secretary of the college as a suitable man can be found. The board of missions will meet in Athens at an early date. A number of men have been suggested as suitable to fill the office of executive. The man who is most prominently mentioned is J. E. Sammons, pastor of the First Baptist church at Griffin. Other men suggested are Joe Gross and John Jester, former Georgia men, now in Texas, and S. Y. Jameson, of Arkansas.

This morning Dr. W. L. Pickard, the new president of Mercer, made his first address as guest to the convention. It was a great speech that moved the brethren mightily.

BESSIE-TIFT-SHORTER.
The Georgia Baptist convention on Wednesday afternoon took up the Bessie-Tift-Sorter matter and settled it in such a manner that the body of the college is a serious situation terminated in a love feast.

The request of Shorter college to withdraw from the convention was granted and the non-attendance of Baptist college is no longer under the control of the convention. Dr. W. Van Hosen, the president, addressed the convention. He had seen that there was friction between Shorter and Bessie-Tift and he had written to a number of brethren asking their opinion as to the withdrawal. They all agreed that it would be wise. He said Shorter would have to be a Baptist college and now she would enter upon a larger career of usefulness. He said the great task now was to lift the debt from Bessie-Tift college. He pledged himself to the extent of his ability to help the college to do the great work that was before her.

Dr. L. E. Barton, of Atlanta, as chairman of the committee appointed to confer with the trustees of Bessie-Tift college reported, recommending that the convention give the college the right of way for the next six months and that the pastors and churches and all other agencies of the body be directed to raise the necessary $50,000 and that the campaign be directed by a committee consisting of three members of the board of trustees, three members of the board of education and three members from the convention at large, all to be appointed by the president of the convention.

Dr. J. M. Kester, of Gainesville, explained how the debt on Bessie-Tift was made. When the property was taken by the convention it was worth $30,000. Today it is worth $29,850. The debt had been accumulating for thirteen years and it was necessary to make the debt to make the college what it is today. If it was not for this debt hundreds of our girls would be groping in darkness instead of being women of usefulness in the state.

Dr. C. H. S. Jackson, the retiring president of Bessie-Tift, made an impassioned speech in telling of the great burden that had rested upon him and of the struggles through which he had passed in keeping up the college. He related that he had set the pace to make a great Baptist college of the institution.

Dr. L. G. Hardman called forth applause by saying that he would be one of a hundred men to give $1,000 in cash for the relief of the college. An amendment offered by him was adopted that in the future no debt or mortgage should be put upon the college property.

Dr. Pickard was applauded when he said that there was not a greater Baptist college man beneath the stars than C. H. S. Jackson. It was not his fault that this debt was on the college. The convention itself was guilty. When it began to be suggested four years ago that Bessie-Tift was to be made a secondary college and Shorter the best of the two, the delegates began to strike their daughters to Shorter. Then and there Bessie-Tift began to decline and Shorter to go up. "You put Bessie-Tift down and you are guilty. That is the truth and if I don't say it the stones would cry out against me."

It was finally decided to protect the campaign to raise $50,000 for Bessie-Tift and to secure at least $25,000 of it within the next future.

The convention is a unit on lifting the debt from the college and thus keeping her out of the courts.

BANK BOOKKEEPER WILL ENTER A PLEA OF GUILTY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 18.—M. R. Campbell, former head bookkeeper of the First National bank, will plead guilty to making a false entry in the bank's books with intent to defraud or to deceive officials of the bank. This plea has already been entered before John A. Elmore, United States commissioner, and will be referred to the federal grand jury when it is empaneled December 1. A state charge of embezzling more than $18,000 of bank funds may be placed against Campbell, but it is probable the federal charge will first be disposed of as he is held in federal warrants now.

A Nervous Wreck

Had No Desire To Live—Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Strode, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis., a few months ago when her health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt in desire to live.

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life."

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder. Mr. Charles Brown, R. 4, Box 79, Hopedale, Penn., writes: 'I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder.'"

Speaking of the Farmer—
How About the Skilled Mechanic and Laborer?

The low price of cotton has affected the farmers, and this year they will lose some money; we all do, sometimes. But why all this cry, "Save the farmer," when we know the crying need today (locally) is save the common laborer and skilled mechanic?

They are not crying charity.
They are not asking special meetings of legislature.
They are not asking congress to advance millions.
They are simply asking for work at a living wage.

The farmer may own his own farm; have milk, butter, potatoes, peas and meat in the barn. If he rents, he has paid his rent to January 1 in 10-cent cotton. No danger of him being put out of house and home.

It is different with the laborer and mechanic. The most of them live by the week. They are out of work or possibly working half time; rents are due; grocery bills due; coal to buy (no wood like the farmer).

The question is, how can we best help them and help ourselves at the same time? Listen! The building business is paralyzed and almost shut down on account of low-price cotton and stagnant money. ("Banks ain't doing right, either.")

Probably you have some improved property that is vacant or at least paying less on the investment than it should. Now is the time to improve it. Brush it up; paint it; remodel it if necessary. MAKE IT PAY.

Very few people are building homes now, but if YOU are thinking of it, now is the time. Prices are right. You will get the benefit later.

We are now remodeling the four-story building for the owners, corner Decatur and Pryor streets. By doing so, we are doubling the rent and giving employment to fifty men; we are also remodeling the old City Hall building for Messrs. Arnold and Hill, employing twenty-five men. It is paying them to do this remodeling, as well as helping the working man. All this helps.

This is an ad, but think it over. Maybe you have a building that needs the same attention. If so, call

DEMURRER TO BURNS MEN INDICTMENT OVERRULED

Attorneys for Defendants Agree to Go to Trial Early in December

Judge Ben M. Hill, of Fulton superior court, Thursday morning overruled the demurrer to the indictment of Dan S. Lehon, C. C. Tedder and Arthur Thurman, on the charge of subornation of perjury in connection with the Frank case.

Lehon is the Burns lieutenant who worked with Burns in the Frank case. Tedder is the former bailiff of Attorney William M. Smith, and worked with the Burns agents. Thurman is an Atlanta attorney. They were indicted several months ago and the demurrer, by their attorneys was argued before Judge Hill Wednesday.

After Judge Hill rendered his decision the attorneys for the defendants agreed to appeal both the conviction and Judge Hill's decision on the demurrer to the supreme court at the same time, thereby saving several months which would be consumed in a separate appeal.

The defendants are represented by Judge Arthur G. Powell, of Atlanta, and Mr. Clear Adams, of New Orleans, the latter being the former district attorney in that city.

The principal ground set up in the demurrer was that a murder charge cannot be defended with an admission that a person other than the defendant committed the murder.

Therefore, that the affidavit of Rev. C. B. Bagdasarian, in which he alleged he overheard Jim Smiley confess to the murder of Mary Phagan, was totally foreign to the Frank case and not admissible as evidence, so that Bagdasarian could not have perjured himself nor could the defendants have submitted his perjury.

The attorneys for the defendants in setting up this ground of demurrer took advantage of the wording of the indictments as drawn by Solicitor Dorey, wherein the indictments charged them with "subornation of perjury in connection with the Frank case."

OLD FLIM-FLAM GAME IS WORKED ON GROCERS

An unidentified white man, with a horse and buggy, worked a time-worn, but nearly always effective, flim-flam game Wednesday afternoon on Ware & Rogers, grocers, 1008 DeKalb avenue.

This man telephoned the grocers an offer for ten dollars worth of food-stuffs and requested that they send him with $10 in change to 38 Josephine street. He said he had a $20 bill and requested the change to be able to pay for the groceries.

As the delivery boy came up Josephine street with the groceries the man stopped his buggy, asked him if he had the order and the $10 in change for the groceries and, receiving an affirmative reply, really directed the boy to give him the $10 and to deliver the groceries at 38 Josephine street.

His wife, he said, would hand him $20 bill.

When the boy brought the groceries to 38 no one there knew anything about the placing of the order.

He found it was the residence of G. P. Heddingfield, an employee of The Atlanta Journal.

That Mr. Heddingfield was absent and that Mrs. Heddingfield not only had not placed the order but knew nothing what- ever about it.

Prisoner Curses Court For 20 Minutes and Escapes Without Fine

A prisoner in Judge James B. Ridley's division of the municipal court for more than twenty minutes Wednesday flouted the judge, the bailiffs and the spectators, yet escaped without a fine for contempt of court.

The prisoner had been brought to the court on a possessory warrant, and evidently she didn't like the surroundings of this court room. He began to curse and abuse everybody in sight.

The judge at first didn't understand the chatter for it was in Spanish, but finally he turned to a reporter, who had a smattering of the language of the Dons and said: "What is that bird saying?"

The reporter told him. "We can't have any conversation like this in this court room," declared Judge Ridley, as he instructed Deputy E. V. Laster to remove the prisoner to an ante-room.

The prisoner is officially described in the warrant as "one yellow headed Central American parrot named Lora."

The warrant was sworn out by O. A. Hargis, an employee at the Terminal station, and was directed against S. L. Fontaine, of 115 Cooper street. A deputy arrested the parrot and brought it to court.

Fontaine according to the plaintiff, purchased the parrot from a negro who stole it from Mrs. Hargis's residence, and then refused to give it up without the purchase price.

After the parrot had shocked the court with its fluent and profane Spanish, Hargis and Fontaine reached an agreement, and had the case dismissed.

Fontaine then signed a check for the bird and its conversation left the building in the custody of the original owner.

SOCIETY NIGHT WILL BE HELD AT THE ART SALON

An exquisite pastel landscape painted by C. R. Hardy, who is exhibiting at the salon, has been presented by Mr. Hardy to the Atlanta Art association. His pictures have attracted much attention and he is common with a number of other artists, have made sales directly as the result of the salon.

In every way the salon has been a success and the art association plans to make it an annual event. It will close at the end of this week.

MOVEMENT IS ON FOOT TO OUST DAN CAREY

Park Board Members Unfriendly to Him Chose J. O. Cochran as Candidate

Members of the city park board unfriendly to Park Manager Dan Carey have started a movement to defeat him for re-election in January, when his two-year term expires.

The candidate they have chosen for their purpose is J. O. Cochran, former president of the park board and now an investigator in the law department of the city.

Mr. Cochran while a member of the Park board was not the enemy of Manager Carey, but on the contrary was one of Manager Carey's strongest supporters when a fight was made to defeat him two years ago.

Mr. Cochran claims he did not authorize the use of his name by the members of the board who are now planning to oust the general manager.

The movement started without his knowledge, and I have discouraged the use of my name to every member of the board who has mentioned the subject to me," he said Wednesday.

But the anti-Carey board members say they are determined to beat him, and are going to elect Mr. Cochran if they can, whether he is a candidate for the place or not.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL HOLD MEETING

Another meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club will be held at the English avenue school house at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

A special invitation has been extended by the club to Dr. J. M. Pierce, member of the board of education from the fifth, to be present, and he will be asked to explain the status of complaints against the board, which the club has made.

Mays Badgett Entertains

Mays Badgett, the violin-maker, entertained several hundred of his friends Wednesday evening at a heartiest dinner in the Central dancing academy on Alabama street.

This was the fourth annual banquet given by Mr. Badgett to his friends, and it was in the nature of a compliment to the Atlanta Federation of Musicians. The musicians were there in large numbers with their wives and sweethearts.

Bill, the Bar Beast, On Way to Florida, Called on Leavers

Borne on the back of the cold wave that whistled through Atlanta Monday was the raucous leaver of the great army of the restless who from now on will march their cohorts through Georgia to warmer winds and the land of sunshine.

The open season for tramps has started. The police station had an inkling of it Monday night when twelve shivering while men registered on the sleepers' dock, and the hint became a certainty Tuesday night when no less than twenty-five sought shelter, a record for the Atlanta sleepers' dock.

Bill, the Bar Beast, late of Halstead street, Chicago, explained. "I've been hanging' the ribs ever since. Last night it was too lame cold for a polar bear down in the yards, so I call on me old pal, Chief Beavers. Get me?"

Each one of the twenty-five beat it from the station house Wednesday morning, and now are doubtless somewhere between here and Macon. They left a myriad of names scribbled on the walls of their call; among them, Penelope Peck, Tacoma, Wash.; Marie Kim, Fairfield, Mont.; Just Joye, Three Stars, Twenty-two Thompson; After All, and Mitch.

En-Ar-Co Oil Cured Neuralgia

Mr. H. D. Sab, S. C., writes:

"I suffered with neuralgia for years, and tried doctors. None of them did me any good until I used En-Ar-Co Oil. That cured me."

To suffer with neuralgia is foolish when relief can be obtained so easily. Rub the face or affected part with En-Ar-Co Oil and the pain will disappear. The effect is wonderful.

For Sciatica, Rheumatism, Sprains or Sore Muscles, use the same treatment. Burns, Bruises, Sore Throat, Toothache, Insect Bites, etc., all yield to the family remedy—En-Ar-Co Oil (celebrated for 30 years as The Wonderful Japanese Oil)—the great enemy of aches and pains. A home without a bottle is a home without defense. Get a bottle today at your drug store or write to a bottle today at your drug store or write to a bottle today at your drug store.

LITTLE GIRL FROM POLAND "SEEKS ZE EDUCATION"

"I look for an education," said nine-year-old Rosina Vadickas, late of Poland, Russia, now living at 128 Decatur street, when she approached a man in front of the Boys' High school at dusk Wednesday. "Can I get him here?"

The man directed her across the Washington street viaduct to the Girls' High school. There she was taken in charge by a kind policeman and brought home. She told the officer her mother was poor to buy her books and couldn't send her to day school, but she was determined to get an education at night school.

NEW RECORDER CLEARS ROSTRUM OF LOAFERS

One of the first official acts of George H. Johnson, newly elected recorder, was the issuance of an order to Court Bailiff George Cornett to keep the platform or judge's rostrum clear of all persons except newspaper men and invited guests of the recorder.

By an order, all persons within the courtroom will be required to get seats. Also orders were issued to the bailiff to maintain order in the courtroom. This has heretofore been the duty of the clerk of the court.

W. H. LEAHY RETURNS TO WORK FOR RAILROADS

Atlantic Is Named Traveling Passenger Agent of N. C. & St. L.

W. H. Leahy has been named traveling passenger agent of the N. C. & St. L. and the Western Atlantic railroad with headquarters in Atlanta, according to announcement by the two roads Thursday.

The many friends of Mr. Leahy, who is widely known, will be interested to learn that he has returned to railroad work, and pleased at the fact that his headquarters will be in Atlanta.

He was formerly with the Atlantic Coast Line and the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, but recently he has been secretary of the industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

The circular, which announces Mr. Leahy's appointment also states that he has been named traveling passenger agent of the N. C. & St. L. with headquarters at Chattanooga.

He succeeded as Florida passenger agent of the road by T. A. Von Dohlen, H. C. Davis, who is now in charge.

Mr. Leahy will have his office for the present at 11 Yiddish place. Mr. Leahy states that he is gratified that his new appointment keeps him in Atlanta, where he has been for the past nine years, and where he expects to continue to live.

GOVERNOR DESIGNATES NOV. 29 TUBERCULOSIS DAY

Day Will Be Observed All Over United States in War on White Plague

The following proclamation by Governor Stanton officially designating Sunday, November 29, as Tuberculosis Day was issued from the executive office Thursday:

"Whereas, The greatest plague with which the human race is afflicted, is the disease known as tuberculosis, and whereas, A large percentage of the deaths in Georgia last year (5,310 according to reliable figures) were caused from this disease, the control and eradication of which can be accomplished only by the united efforts of all the people of the commonwealth in the spreading of information regarding its control, and

"Whereas, Sunday, November 29, 1914 has been named as Tuberculosis Day by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and I have been requested to issue a proclamation so designating the day.

"Therefore, I, John M. Stanton, governor of Georgia, do issue this, my proclamation, fixing Sunday, November 29, as Tuberculosis Day in Georgia for this year, and I call on all the people of this state to observe it in such manner as in their judgment will further advance the world-wide movement against the spread and looking to the final eradication of this disease and thereby to the highest good of humanity.

Man Who Had Rather Starve Than Work Is On a Hunger Strike

Raymond Malone, a young white man who never has worked, doesn't want to work and declared he never will work, has gone on a hunger strike at the Fulton county jail.

Raymond had been in the Fulton county jail since he was arrested at the Terminal station Tuesday while loitering at a game of pool. Before being taken to the jail, he had been in the city for some time.

"I come south each year for my health on account of the climate," he informed the judge in perfect English. "It is no hard on one's lungs, up in Floboken. Now, your honor, it is very easy, indeed, to live without working. So why work?"

"Well, we'll see if he can't make you work out at the stroke," said the judge when he heard him say that.

Malone was taken to the tower. Since then he has refused to eat. He told the turnkey that nobody had the right to arrest him for not working, and he would rather starve than go to the shame of mental employment.

RAILROADS GIVE LOW RATES FOR CARNIVAL

Reduced Fare Will Increase Attendance at Hog and Hominy Festival

Announcement by the railroads that they will make effective special low rates for out-of-town visitors to the hog and hominy carnival, December 3, will attract to Atlanta one of the largest visiting delegations ever entertained here.

Interest in the carnival centers in the selection of a queen to preside at the carnival ball in the evening, and in the big parade which will be the afternoon feature. City authorities will be asked to declare a half-holiday.

Twelve of Atlanta's prettiest girls have already entered the race for queen and the eleven next, in the order of voting, will be crowned queen and will have the privilege of selecting, one each, another maid of honor. Altogether, the royal court will represent a gathering of the most popular young women in Atlanta.

Candidates for queen will meet Tuesday morning in the Hotel Andrey at the headquarters of the Ad Men's club in the chamber of commerce building.

GEORGIA PRODUCTS DAY SUCCESS IN DEKALB CO.

Big Dinner at Decatur Is Attended by Number of Notables

DeKalb county celebrated Georgia Products day with a dinner at the court house in Decatur Wednesday night, given under the auspices of the Decatur board of trade and attended by over 200 residents of the community.

An elaborate menu of home-grown foodstuffs had been prepared by the committee on arrangements, Scott Chandler, chairman, assisted by President Dabney and Secretary Ramon, of the board of trade; Mrs. P. F. Callahan, president of the Decatur Woman's club, and a committee of representative Decatur ladies.

Among the speeches which followed none was more interesting than that of J. T. Holliman, president of the Southern Mortgage company, of Atlanta, who declared with telling emphasis that the "one-crop" system, was all that was keeping the south from unparalleled prosperity. He urged that the papers of the state impress on the farmers the evil of the cotton oligarchy, which he declared had been a drag on the progress of Dixie for the last three decades.

Other speeches were made by Judge C. R. Reid, of the Stone Mountain superior court, on "Improved Conditions in Georgia"; Mrs. P. F. Callahan, on "Gleanings of the Clubs"; Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, on "Stone Mountain as a Convention Attraction"; W. Bayne Gibson, director of the Decatur board of trade, on "Hog and Hominy"; and Congressman William Schley Howard, on "Boys' Corn Clubs."

ATLANTA BIDS FAREWELL TO TEMPERANCE WORKERS

Meeting Wednesday Night
Brings Annual W. C. T. U.
Convention to Close

Atlanta bids farewell Thursday morning to more than 1,200 visitors to the fifty-first annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which ended Wednesday night at the Baptist Tabernacle after daily sessions which began a week ago.

The last business of the executive committee was the selection of a city for the 1915 convention. Seattle, Wash., was chosen Thursday.

The convention held three sessions on its last day. At the afternoon session the toast, "Atlanta, the country's greatest convention city," was drunk in clear, cold water. Mrs. T. Patterson, president of the Georgia union, was given official recognition for the services she has rendered in entertaining the delegates, and Atlanta women who assisted her were introduced before the convention and cheered to the echo.

Three hundred dollars was raised for the Lillian M. Lawrence memorial fund, and the union was presented with a 12-ounce silver clock woven from cotton before the civil war. This was the gift of Mrs. Henry Hubner. The clock was cut into little pieces and sold to the delegates for the benefit of the "Suev's" fund.

At "recognition night" Wednesday, forty-six states celebrated gains in membership. The president of each state informed women suffrage except Virginia's president, who declared Virginia's men would vote the way the women wanted them to.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all have the advantage of a youthful appearance. Darken the hair, it makes it more like the face. It fades, turns gray and looks dry, waxy and scraggly. Just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance. A hair restorer.

"Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 25 cent bottle of 'Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound.' Thousands of false advertisements of this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally. Evenly. You maintain a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, the natural color is restored and it becomes thick, soft and lustrous and you appear years younger—(ADV.)"

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 601 Calquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

CHAMP CLARK DINES ON GEORGIA 'POSSUM

"That's the Best I've Eaten in Ten Years," Speaker Tells Hosts in Macon

(By Associated Press.)
MACON, Ga., Nov. 19.—"I've eaten the best 'possum I've had in ten years," said Champ Clark last night as he was being entertained by a Macon club at a Georgia Products dinner.

Members of the club told humorous stories and the speaker laughed uproariously.

He remarked that he had had several good laughs in Georgia, the first he had had in five months.

"It has been no laughing matter up there in Washington," said the speaker. "Things have been too serious to laugh."

Newspaper men. He and Mrs. Joyce are both delighted with Atlanta and expect to make the south their permanent home.

Baltimore Debutantes Will Cut Expenses to Aid Victims of War

(By Associated Press.)
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 19.—Thirty-four debutantes who will make their bows to Baltimore society within the next few weeks have signed an agreement which insures an absence of rivalry in elegance in their respective social functions and pledges the signers and their families to refrain from extravagance in entertainments.

Announcement was made today "in view of the widespread misery caused by the war," the debutantes have agreed that the entertainments will be from the home, and that larger contributions may be made for the relief of suffering both at home and abroad.

The hope is expressed that these entertaining debutantes will "co-operate in this effort toward simplicity."

CLOTHES OF ATLANTIANS SHIPPED TO WAR ZONE

Old Garments Will Be Made Into Bandages for the Wounded

Atlanta's old sheets, pillowcases, mosquito netting, napkins, petticoats and other wearing apparel are being sent to bandage Europe's wounded.

Through the local branch of the Salvation Army, one shipment already has been made, and another will follow shortly.

Mrs. A. W. Crawford, wife of Brigadier Crawford, was busy yesterday morning in the Peck building, sorting bundles of old linen and cotton cloth which generous Atlantians had sent in. With each piece, it is necessary to rip out the hem and the seams so that an unrolled sheet of cloth may be rolled up. This is then sent to the Army factories in New York, where it is sterilized and converted into pads and bandages that are then shipped across the seas.

Mrs. Crawford said that army surgeons call at the home of anyone who clothes to give away old linen and cotton. A telephone message is all that is necessary. Almost any sort of old clothing can be used.

Serge Dresses $11.95

Most Likable Styles We Have Ever Seen, at . . .

They Would Be $18.50, $20.00 and $25.00

It Makes an Interesting Story the Way This Maker Turned His Serges Into NEW Styles and Sold Them at a Price That Averages Near Half.

It is not hard to understand why the maker of these dresses stands among the stalwarts of the business. He is smart. He found himself with a little surplus lot of serges, fine men's wear serge, strong, firm wool.

He must dispose of these surplus serges.

The ordinary, the usual way, would be to make them into dresses such as he had been selling all season.

But this maker was an out-of-the-ordinary man.

He turned new models, styles just coming into favor, and then had the hardihood to dispose of them---"at a price."

Here they are, 100 of them, 10 models, new, smart and still at notable savings.

Navy and black men's wear serges---

---Russian Effects	---Plain Flare Skirts
---Choker Collar Effects	---Flare Tunics
---Coat Effects	---Russian Tunics
---Belted Effects	---Fur Trimmed Skirts

But among the ten styles are a hundred little details that will catch the eyes of women---such as the double flat collars (silk in contrasting colors), the collars that button close around the neck, often showing a fur or metal braid ruff---the rows of horn buttons down fronts, the uses of embroidery, the wide girdles of self material.

That are just now appearing in dresses at two and three times the price of these, we have! And you will see they are just what we say $18.50, $20.00 and $25.00 dresses

Chattanooga Success With Its New Public Market.

Georgia Products day has come and gone, again emphasizing the value of a greater home production of articles of food, clothing and comfort and the duty of larger home consumption of these articles. It has left a lesson that can not be too often rethought and reinforced, nor can it be made too clear that the obligation under it is twofold—namely production and consumption.

Without one the other languishes.
So far as the products of the market garden and poultry, hog and cattle farms are concerned, Atlanta has vastly increased its consumption of home-raised commodities by the simple expedient of opening a public market.

The struggle to break away from the one-crop system in the South and to inaugurate in its place an enduring plan of diversified agriculture has ever been hampered by the lack of sure local markets for farm products other than cotton and the consequent absence of knowledge of the art of marketing on the part of producers.

A public market solves all these difficulties for growers for miles around the city in which the market is located. It furnishes them with a steady, accessible outlet for all their products as the products reach maturity, while for this service the city itself is many times repaid in the lowered cost of living and the freshness and wholesomeness of the food it receives.

These observations are rendered pertinent by a consideration of the immediate success that has attended the opening of a public market system in the city of Chattanooga, Tenn. More than four thousand persons visited the new market house on opening day.
There could be no better proof of the popular demand for such an institution. Municipal experts of Chattanooga estimate that at least a forty per cent saving will be effected there in the cost of green goods and truck products.

So much for the way it was received by the consumers. How about growers? Did they find it beneficial to them. Decidedly so, for there were five applications or more for each stall in both the central and branch markets.

In the special dispatch to The Journal giving an account of the new market in Chattanooga the following paragraph sets forth the benefits that are to accrue therefrom:

Many advantages are expected from the new market house system. First of these is that it will greatly reduce the high cost of living. Second is that it will improve the quality of vegetables and meats. Third is that it will lead to a rapid and complete exploitation of the truck lands in this immediate section. Fourth that it will be new sent out of Chattanooga for truck commodities that could be grown here. And fifth it will lead to the creation of extensive shipping projects to northern and eastern points.

A public market in Atlanta would produce similar results but on a much larger scale. Atlanta, with its progress and its eminence over other Southern cities in a hundred ways, lags sadly behind them in this.

With the readjustment and revival of business, the people of this city could devote their energies to bringing to completion no more urgent and no more definitely profitable enterprise than a city market.

A public market for Atlanta has long been advocated here. The chamber of commerce has lent its cooperation but so far obstruction and delay has been its portion. Let the movement be revived and prosecuted with vigor. Let all the interests that can lend a hand, do so. It should take definite shape immediately so that the city council in making up its budget of expense for the new year can make provision for the beginning of the system—the opening of one public market house at least, with definite plans laid for a similar service for all the city.

Europe may be able to float large war loans, but it takes the United States to raise a big cotton pool.

Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign

The campaign now being conducted by committees of business men to secure a full quota of all classes of membership for the Young Men's Christian association deserves the consideration and active support of all citizens to whom uplift is more than a name and for whom present work for future fruition has the sanction of experience and wisdom.

Atlanta has one of the finest and best equipped Y. M. C. A. homes in the United States. It has just been opened. It represents a combined investment for a better Atlanta. It must, however, be made to bring its maximum return on the investment in the way of healthier and more efficient Atlantians. This it cannot do unless its membership is large enough to make its current operations self-sustaining.

The larger the class of business men's membership becomes the larger may become the membership of boys who can pay but a nominal fee but to whom the benefits of Y. M. C. A. training and association are of value, incalculable. We bespeak for the campaign workers the full-hearted cooperation of our entire citizenship.

Cotton Loan Fund Completed.

Announcement of the completion of the one hundred and thirty-five million dollar cotton loan fund brings with it two things—rejoicing that the South is to receive this very practical relief in the time of its greatest difficulty and praise for the officials of the United States treasury and the Federal reserve system who are responsible for its final success. It is to be noted, too, that the Atlanta banks are to yield their cooperation freely in making the loan fund effective and they are to be commended accordingly.

The plan was originally outlined by Festus J.
Wade, of St. Louis. It contemplated a pool of one hundred and thirty-five million dollars, one hundred million dollars to be subscribed by banking institutions of the south and the rest to be raised in the cotton states, and the fund so raised to be lent to cotton growers on their cotton.

The fund grew rapidly, notwithstanding the fact that in some sections of the north it was derided as a cotton trust. It is entirely free from any such features as has been shown by an opinion rendered by the attorney general. Its completion, nevertheless, was delayed by the active opposition of certain textile manufacturers and other specialized interests.

Secretary McAdoo of the United States treasury approved the plan from the first and took it under his particular care when it seemed in sore straits and was the chief factor in its final success. The fund is to be distributed, too, under his direction.
Exactly what is the quality of the loans he and his associates are performing is shown in the following language from his report on the completion of the fund:

The successful completion of this plan throws upon my associates of the Federal reserve board and myself added responsibilities and a large amount of onerous work. It is no part of our official duties. We are already burdened with many difficult problems, but we have regarded the organization of this cotton loan fund just as we did the gold fund and its proper administration, as a patriotic service and have felt obliged therefore to respond to the call that has been made upon us.

And yet there are still some misguided and misinformed persons in Georgia and the other cotton states who set up the hopeless whine, "The Democratic administration hasn't done anything for the cotton farmers."

It took statistics of exports to show what a great king cotton really was.

The Krupp works also declared a dividend and voted to water the stock. Business is good in Germany.

General Managers For Cities.

The general protest in this country against the inefficiency and waste of the old councilmanic form of city government will not down. It rests upon too true and too substantial a basis ever to perish altogether. It has its periods of recession, it is true, but these only result in its gathering greater momentum for a still more pronounced advance.

This protest has taken various forms. By the close of the year 1913 it had resulted in the establishment of the commission form of government in 293 towns and cities in the United States. In hundreds of others it was marked by some change in the old worn-out system, making it more responsive to modern business methods and requirements.

In the city of Los Angeles it has taken the form of a proposed amendment to the city charter which will provide for a city manager and a board of eleven directors while at the same time retaining the mayor and the city council. Should the amendment be adopted, which will be voted on at an election to be held on December 28, Los Angeles will doubtless be the first large city in the United States whose affairs will be administered by directors and a general manager. This, however, is merely the essence of commission government under another name but a name which gives a very striking idea of what is designed to be accomplished by the revolt against the ineffectiveness of the old system.

A board of directors and a general manager conduct practically every big successful American enterprise today. In fact it is the machinery of the business success for which America is world-famed. A city is a business enterprise. Its legislative and governmental functions are of minor consequence compared to its chief end, namely, the expenditure of large sums of money in the interest of the inhabitants who furnish the money in the forms of taxes so that the funds so disbursed may yield the people the greatest return in health, comfort, safety and pleasure.

The old form, modeled on state and national governments, is suited to an organization whose chief end is legislation and the enforcement of that legislation and in which business considerations are only incidental. Hence its final and utter breakdown when applied to a municipality which is essentially a business corporation.

Advancing progress will in time send it to the discard everywhere.

Both Carranza and Villa seem to be willing to retire, but not absolutely to quit.

Another war started in Mexico early this morning, but peace is scheduled any minute.

Why should the man who thinks he is the whole thing try to conceal it? He doesn't.

The directors of the Krupp works have generously given a large sum to the families of dead soldiers and also as pensions, showing how a concern can get you going and coming.

FOOTANDMOUTH DISEASE

Its Cause and Prevention
By FRANK C. KASCHIN.

The greatest difficulty encountered by the federal and state inspectors who are fighting the spread of foot-and-mouth disease has been to convince the people of the almost incredibly contagious character of the malady. Farmers in regions where the disease has been discovered have insisted upon cure to examine the sick cattle of their neighbors, curious to see what the new scourge is like, with the result that they have often carried the germ to their own.

There is no other disease that is so certainly and readily spread by contact and the animals are even where about premises where infected cattle have been kept. It has been found that healthy animals exposed for even an instant to the miasmatic vapors, or cars that have been occupied by affected cattle, will frequently acquire the disease. Buckets, clothes, brushes and all other objects that have been used by an infected cattle are carriers of the infection; and fodder which has been in the same stables with them, even though they have not actually touched it, is apt to carry the germ. The disease is readily conveyed by small animals such as dogs, cats, rats and birds, while the hands, boots and clothing of men give ready lodging to the disease. Experience has shown that a road along which diseased cattle have passed may retain enough of the virus to infect other cattle which pass along it, and several cases have been reported in which have been occupied by the diseased cattle are not safe for other cattle for several months after the disease has disappeared.

The quality of extreme contagion is the one which makes an epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease dangerous. The disease is itself merely a fever, known to veterinarians as aphthous fever, and may be cured in individuals in a large percentage of cases, the percentage of mortality being very small. The danger to man is not in the disease itself, but in the fact that it is afflicted animals lose weight; in the case of milking cows, the flow of milk is greatly diminished, and it is no longer fit for human food. While animals which have the disease may carry the infection for a month after the symptoms have disappeared. Thus an outbreak of the disease will quickly render a herd of cattle almost worthless, and the disease may persist in the long run is to kill and bury all infected stock before the fast-traveling infection can reach healthy animals.

The symptoms of the disease most readily recognized are sloughiness, shivering, poor appetite, lameness, the slivering of the tongue, and the appearance of sores between the toes of the hoof. The attacks vary greatly in severity, and any of these symptoms, if sufficiently marked, should be the signal for the immediate destruction of the afflicted animals. In addition to cattle, swine and sheep are also subject to the disease. In them, usually, the feet only are affected.

Human beings may take the disease in a mild form, and get it from infected animals. The symptoms are usually fever, blisters in the mouth and occasional sores upon the hands. Veterinarians who have compared the disease in European countries have expressed the opinion that the numbers of the past few years in those countries had the disease but in such a mild form as to be scarcely noticed by the infected person. The disease may be conveyed to man by the milk of an infected cow, and it is reported that the milk of infected cattle as well as by contact with them or the premises where they have been kept; and in the case of weak or sickly children, it may become dangerous.

A characteristic which makes the foot-and-mouth disease especially hard to combat is that one attack does not confer immunity, as is the case with most other contagious diseases. Hence to inoculate healthy cattle with a serum containing virus of the disease, as is done for the prevention of hog cholera, is not only not only useless, but dangerous, as it would serve to introduce the infection. In Europe, however, the practice of this inoculating the healthy cattle of a herd where the infection has broken out, has been resorted to in order to hasten the recovery of the infected. It also causes the animals so inoculated to have the disease in a milder form. The danger of spreading infection by such a method is, however, very small. However, that the authorities in this country have never used it.

The method adopted by the department of agriculture for the eradication of the disease consists of a complete and rigorous quarantine of all infected areas and the destruction of infected cattle. In addition with five other epidemics in this country has taught the government veterinarians that these heroic measures are the cheapest in the long run. They have urged that farmers who discover infection among their stock put the method into practice at once by carefully isolating all infected animals.

When the news of the epidemic reached Washington, the department of agriculture immediately issued an order like a well-trained army. The first step in the fight was the quarantine order issued by the secretary of agriculture, which has been in force ever since. It prohibits the export of infected animals, and the shipment of dressed meat is not allowed unless the horns and hoofs are removed, nor that of hides and fodder unless the hides have been disinfected and the fodder burned. All boats and cars that have been in the infected areas must be disinfected, and shipments of cattle through quarantined territory must be made in closed cars.

This order safeguards the live stock of the country so far as interstate commerce is concerned. The farms where the infection exists are quarantined by state officials, and 200 federal inspectors and deputy inspectors, aided by a large number of state officials, are doing the actual work of stamping out the scourge.
The first step in this work is to locate the infected areas, to destroy all animals which have the disease or have been directly exposed to it. Trenches at least seven feet deep are dug, the sick cattle are led to the edge, and there shot, so that they will topple into their graves, and infection will not be spread by dragging them. Their hides are slashed, they are covered with quicklime, and then buried under five feet of earth. The owners of the cattle are reimbursed at the appraised value of the stock, the appalling loss being done by a state inspection and state and federal governments sharing the expense.

When all the infected animals have been killed, the next step in the process of eradication is the disinfection of the premises they have occupied. For this work the inspectors are dressed in rubber coats, hats and gloves, and after leaving each infected farm, this wearing apparel is disinfected by means of a small hydrochloric acid. No visitors are allowed in disinfecting premises, according to local conditions, and the utmost thoroughness is necessary. Where a large area is involved, a tank is usually filled with a 1 per cent solution of chlorinated lime, and this is sprayed over the means of a force pump operated by a portable steam engine, in disinfecting barns and stables, the woodwork and floors are usually torn out and the walls and the walls and ceiling are then thoroughly sprayed with the gas of barns where large amounts of hay and fodder are stored, fumigation is generally used.

By far the largest and most difficult task confronting the inspectors is the disinfecting of the great stock yards at Chicago, New York and Buffalo, where the disease has appeared. Tons of chloride of lime and many cubic yards of chlorinated lime are used at each of these places before they will be declared safe for the receipt of shipments of uninfected cattle. All of the pens, alleys, troughs, mangers and fences must be soaked with disinfectant, and in addition these places must be cleared of dirt and manure, which might otherwise harbor the disease after all the infected cattle had been killed.

In combating the present epidemic, the department of agriculture has been fortunate in having in its employ several military units, so that the officials both

The Causes of The War

By DR. FRANK CHASE.
(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Chase.)

As near as we can gather from a diligent perusal of current periodicals, the causes of the European war are these:

1. Emperor William's personal ambition.
2. The emperor had nothing to do with it; he was away from home when the trouble broke loose; it was caused by the military party of Germany.
3. It was not caused by the military party, but was the result of a popular uprising of all classes in Germany.
4. Serbian intrigue, by which she was planning to disrupt Austria-Hungary.
5. Austria, that lusts to possess Serbia.
6. Russia, that plotted to crush Austria and Germany, and to rule all the Slavs.
7. Germany, by its invasion of Belgium.
8. Some French officer rode over in automobiles into Belgium before the war, and thus violated the neutrality of that country.
9. Belgium, that was ungrateful to Germany and related the passage of the army over her fields.
10. England, that hated Germany, envied her achievements and stirred up the world against her.
11. England's hypocrisy and lying.
12. The war is the natural evolution of Germany's destiny, the plan of state to spread German culture over the world.
13. Overpopulation in Germany. Too many German babies.
14. Germany's rapidly increasing numbers had to have room.
15. The whole war is the result of competition in commerce.
16. The conflict is traceable to the craft of the capitalist class.
17. The presence of great armaments, as in Germany.
18. The absence of great armaments, as in Luxemburg.
19. The German desire for conquest.
20. The German desire to defend the fatherland.
21. French revenge.
22. The wish of the French to get back Alsace and Lorraine.
23. It was all a question of colonial expansion.
24. It was owing to the craving of the Kaiser and his people to have their place in the sun.
25. Whoever was at fault it was somebody else.
26. Pure coincidence.
27. No one knows what you can give to the world.

There are twenty-six other reasons which space does not allow to mention.

Is it not singular that for the greatest crime since man created he can give only about a dozen sort of excuses a wolf gives for killing sheep?

The Journal's Letter Box

Refugees at Dinard.

Editor The Journal:

When there already is so much asking and giving about, and also so much asking and giving about,
"Give here instead." But if I could read your paper I should like to see the Americans who have been at Dinard. Dinard, the delightful sea-bathing place in Brittany, is now a convenient place of refuge not only for the French, but for the Germans and the British.
Red Cross work after, but for increasing the number of the war's newest victims, the best and most efficient of patients, women and children, who nobody is permitted to take care of. Unfortunately, a delicate bathing place equipped with one or two great castles, that merrily swallow up the visitors' money, and the hotels for the comfort-loving who can afford it, are not much else there of importance, is bound to be less resourceful in a great human emergency than in everyday life.

If those of us who have been at Dinard will send a little of the money we have wanted there, we thought that the good it will now save hundreds of women and little ones from starvation. I was there when the war broke out, and before the war I saw the wretched creatures who were coming in their distress and who were being taken care of.

Châlet du Vallon, Dinard, Ile de V. France.

Sept. 4.

Dear Mrs. Palmer: I am writing to tell you perhaps some of your kind friends if you will send money to help. We have to dress and feed some poor children who are coming in here. Some 150 and I am 1,000 children are expected to come.
American help; England has all she can do. Will you send, and if your friends would rather send a major, M. C. please send. We are in a great something and soon. We have 4,000 women there, the government look after. But we try to take care of them. I hope you will get over all the things that are in your mind. We are in a great something and soon. We have 4,000 women

I'm sure some of us who have been at Dinard will send a little of the money we have wanted there,

A Peace Proposal.

Editor Atlanta Journal:
The whole world is clamoring for universal peace, but we have been shown very clearly that you can put any reliance in mankind when the devil influences him.

He whispers his peace treaties to the wind as a "man of paper."

He promises to God control and regulate the lives of men we could easily have universal peace and "love will do thy neighbor no harm," but the fourth commandment is inspired and led by the most ambitious selfishness and covetousness, and nothing but force will hold mankind in check, although nothing else.

It is the selfishness, the expenditure of billions of dollars every year, as the nation that can not defend itself will be in subjection to selfish, ambitious rulers.
The selfishness of the nation will be in subjection to selfish, ambitious rulers.

My proposition is this: Re-establish the High Court of the World, the national law, the supreme court of the world and the court of the last resort.
Establish other lower courts to try matters between nations from the nation that can not defend itself to the supreme court of the world. Establish a universal commission, composed of members from all nations, to settle the disputes of the world. The commission and they have entire control of the world and will use this navy to police the world and hold it in subjection to the world.

No nation will be allowed to own any battleship keep on standing army. It will be only necessary to have a small army to keep their military forces subject to this naval commission in case of an invasion against any other nation.

Every day the world is in a state of war. The world for fifty years and the world would be rid of this enormous expenditure of money.
The world would be rid of this enormous expenditure of money and the world would be rid of this enormous expenditure of money.

Just how these people come down to the water in their beautifully colored ceremonial dress, how they bathe and manage to redress themselves in dry clothes as they gradually step up out of the water is a mystery that the understanding of the occidental mind, but it is true.

It may be very unsanitary for all these people to bathe in the same water, with some of them carrying the ashes of some burned body in their midst, but even the most practical of Yankees cannot fail to be fascinated by the sight. The Hindu, who has a step out into the water, pours the three (thousands from his hands and scatters lotus blossoms upon the breast of Mother Ganges.

An Old, Family Cough Remedy, Home-Made

Quickly Prepared—Costs Very Little, but is Prompt, Sure and Effective

By making this pint of old-time cough syrup at home you may save about $2, as compared with the ready-made and, but you will also have much more prompt and positive remedy in every way. It cures the most stubborn, throat and chest colds in 24 hours, relieves even whooping cough quickly, and is excellent, too, for bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness and spasmodic cough.

Get from any drug store 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup. Full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. It quickly loosens the dry, hoarse or painful cough and leads the inflamed membranes. It also has a remarkable effect in overcoming the persistent loose cough by stopping the forcing of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes. The effect of Pinex on the membranes is known by almost every one. Pinex is a valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with quinine and other natural healing ingredients.

There are many worthless imitations of this famous mixture. To avoid this, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, money promptly refunded, is given with this preparation. The Pinex Co., P. E. Wayne, Ind.

WOMEN SUFFER FROM WAR

Thousands of women of Europe are left destitute, unprotected and in misery.

The hearts of the women of America are torn by the news that their sisters in Europe who have been left without any means of support are in the hands of the enemy.

At a time when the women of America are suffering from the loss of their husbands and fathers, it is a cruel irony that the women of Europe are suffering from the loss of their homes and possessions.

It is a cruel irony that the women of America are suffering from the loss of their husbands and fathers, it is a cruel irony that the women of Europe are suffering from the loss of their homes and possessions.

Luncheon at Wren's Nest

"The Wren's Nest" was the scene of a delightful hospital Thursday morning when the members of the executive board of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, entertained at luncheon in compliment to Mrs. Daisy McLaughlin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and to Mrs. Charles C. Leigh, president of the club. Mrs. McLaughlin was the guest of Mrs. A. Melv Wilson.

The occasion was characterized by a delightful informality, a buffet luncheon was served in the dining room which was made bright with many handsome chrysanthemums and garlands of light tinted autumn leaves. Mrs. Joel Candler Harris was an honor guest and assisted in the entertainment of the guests who included besides the officers of the association only a limited number of out of town guests. The president and members of the executive board included Mrs. A. Melv Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Connally, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. H. C. Hastings, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. F. T. Heifner, who were assisted by the official hostess, Mrs. K. Taylor Connally. During the morning a number of names distinguished visitors were added to the register of the home which now holds over two thousand names inscribed since January 1.

Croup Relieved in Fifteen Minutes

No need to dose with nauseous drugs or alcoholic syrups. Simply rub a little Vicks' Vapo-Rub Croup and Pneumonia Salve well over the throat and chest. The vapors inhaled loosen the croup, choking phlegm and ease the difficulty breathing. One application at bed time, covered with a warm flannel cloth, is a sure preventive. Vicks' is quicker than internal medicines for all inflammations of the respiratory tract, from colds and catarrh—asthma and bronchitis—down to deep chest colds and pneumonia. Try a jar now—30c, 50c and $1.00, at all dealers.

Market in New York Closed 7 to 10 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—There appeared to be very little change in the offerings of the market here early today. The opening was quiet at a decline of 1 point on November, but an advance in the price of the December contract, with the undertone steady, and prices soon added some 5 to 7 points net higher. The absence of offerings was taken by local traders as indicating that the winter oil was coming in had been pretty well liquidated and that the decline had carried prices below an attractive buying level. There was covering on the advance in the price of the December contract, and buying was reported through commission houses. Offerings continued very light during the middle of the day and the active months added 7 to 11 points. The first decline was

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
 NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—Cotton futures today opened quiet and steady at an advance of 1/16 to 1/8 of a point. Futures were active as usual and the market was firm. No cotton was sold.

Shorts who wanted to buy covers bid prices up on the open. Half an hour after the opening the market stood 5 to 6 points up.

The market maintained a good tone throughout the morning. Offerings were slender and a small demand served to widen the advance to 9 to 12 points by the noon call.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The principal feature of the market today was the buying of new contracts by Liverpool and spot interests buying December and selling distant positions. It was widely indicated there was a demand from speculators for the near contract and it was not unlikely that there is a local speculative share interest in December which will probably cover, on any indication of trade buying. We have sold around 50 points since the re-opening of the market, but the market to a great extent, and sentiment generally, has been favorable to the market today than since the opening. The completion of the $135,000,000 pool is having a stimulating effect and there is a hesitancy to sell short owing to the difference the rice of wars in the south and quotations here, but it is hard to form an opinion as outside business is extremely light and very little interest is shown in the market, but at present it looks as if we would have an upturn, and it will take further developments in the spot situation to cause a decline below the present prices.—Anderson.

PROPERTY STATEMENTS

A prominent western credit man says: "Perhaps most of us have examined ideas of our own property, and an applicant for credit might, in good faith, make statements which must be discounted 50 per cent."

If banks and the larger business houses were to insist upon certified statements by public accountants, there is no doubt but that the annual loss from bad debts of some one hundred odd million dollars would be substantially reduced.

The services of a qualified certified public accountant cost far less than the average loss of money through poor credit.
