FRENCH AND GERMANS IN TRENCHES COMPETE IN SHOOTING RABBITS

When Not Engaged in Killing Each Other They Are Friends and Observe Strict Code of Honor

THE HAGUE, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—When a battle is not in progress the best of feeling appears to exist between the French and German soldiers here. For two months have faced one another on the long line between Neuport and Belfort. No close are the camps to each other that it is possible for the two forces to exchange words. They indulge in good natured contests such as shooting at a target, or in the exchange of letters. They also exchange news, and compete for harems which run between the lines.

A French soldier writes of these amusements: "A target is painted on a spade and moved through our trench in such a way that it shows about two feet above the ground. The Germans shoot at it. With a stick we indicate the results of their fire and when one hits the bulge he is rewarded with the waving of a French flag."

"There is another sort of target practice in which the Germans are very expert. It is full of cabbage fields and the cabbage fields are full of rabbits. These hares sometimes cross our own private meadow. Immediately the French are all on their feet, and, throwing their ears up in the air and firing a volley of bullets at the rabbits. If a rabbit is hit the French are very proud of it. They then come the time to divide up the spoils. If a French soldier kills a rabbit he has the right to take it. If a German half the carcass of the country prescribes that a German may leave the trenches and get the prize. That day the German cavaliers set 'hambanister' (if the animal dies on our side we designate a man to fetch him and we say 'Levee farci'). But if he should die in our trench, then the French are in trouble. We both run for our meat while a terrible fire is opened and we run the risk of being killed by friend as well as by enemy."

"The other day we did not know on which side of the line a hare had died. We looked out of our trenches and the Germans fired. The Germans began around the corner and we fired. Finally a court of arbitration took the matter in hand. A loud German voice called out 'tobacco.' We thought that the proposal was fair. One of our men showed the Germans three packages of cigarettes. Then he climbed out of the trench and walked to the dead hare. He devoured his cigarettes and took the hare. Then he returned. A German came and took the tobacco. Five minutes later the Germans were smoking and we were preparing our stew."

"The camps frequently entertain each other with singing. And perhaps a few moments later the efforts of both sides will turn to whistling—singing about one another's hares."

Figures Taken From Files of Railway Are Used in Evidence

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Inquiry by the senate committee into charges of rate discrimination by the Southern railroad in favor of northern coal operators against independent in southwestern Virginia, eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee, was continued today with Frank C. Wright, of Bristol, Tenn., testifying as to the purchase by the Southern railroad of lines tapping the coal district.

Wright, who is the committee's expert, said the committee had a letter from the Virginia and Southwestern railroad acquired the Virginia and Southwestern there was a division of rates allowing the Virginia and Southwestern 72 1/2 cents a ton on business to North and South Carolina and east Georgia, and delivered to the Southern at Bull's Gap, 50 cents a ton on business to North and South Carolina and east Georgia, and delivered to the Southern at Bull's Gap, 50 cents a ton on business for Ohio river points and St. Louis.

"Where did the committee get these figures?" asked A. F. Thom, counsel for the Southern.

"From the department of justice," said Wright.

"And where did the department of justice get them?" he asked.

"From the files of the Southern railway," he replied.

HARRELLS CONCEALED ASSETS, CREDITORS SAY

Sensational Charges Brought in Bankruptcy Case of M. I. and Frank Harrell

Charges that M. I. and Frank Harrell, formerly partners of the Wincoff and Harrells, are charged with concealing more than $5,000 of their assets by statements made by witnesses at the bankruptcy case of M. I. and Frank Harrell, filed in the United States district court.

The most sensational testimony in the bankruptcy case has been given by Miss Pearl Wincoff, cashier at the Wincoffs at the time of the failure of the Harrells. She declared that they frequently would fail to enter amounts received on their cash books.

Trustee H. A. Ferris is pushing the case and making an investigation, and he has been aided by Attorney H. B. Moore, who represents the creditors. Mr. Moore says that during the strike week he is informed that the Wincoffs took more than $15,000 of the books of the Harrells and sold to receipt for only $7,000.

GERMANS OUTWITTED BY COMPANY OF FRENCHMEN

Small Force Covers Retreat and Then Escapes Capture by Clever Ruse

HAYRE, Nov. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—How a single company of French infantry, told off to cover a retreat, without a large force of Germans for several hours during the battle of Verdun, then escaped through a ruse, is related by a wounded officer. The entire division had been ordered to withdraw during a sharp counter attack at Charleville. One company was selected to check the German advance. This lot fell to the company which the officer, now in a local hospital, had commanded.

It was 1 o'clock in the evening when the company was ordered out. The men carried a heavy rifle and machine gun fire to a farmhouse, in which they barricaded themselves. The Germans tried to break the line. The company tried to approach, they were stopped by volley firing. This lasted nearly three hours. Twenty times the enemy's bullets announced a bayonet charge, and each time the rush was repulsed. But the defenders began to run short of ammunition.

The vigor of the German attacks was now broken. This was the chance the commander quickly took advantage of. He ordered a bugle to sound the French retreat. The Germans stopped firing and braced themselves to meet it. During this pause, so as not to break the still of the night with suspicious sounds, the French stole out of the house. When the German firing of the strain of awaiting the attack, took the house by a rush, they found it nothing but empty shells.

He said he was not a member of the committee and was not a member of the committee and was not a member of the committee.

FOR BIGGER UNITED STATES ARMY AND NAVY

AGAINST LARGER UNITED STATES ARMY AND NAVY

The returns of the coast-to-coast straw vote referendum on the question of whether we have a bigger army and navy are in.

The referendum, which was conducted by a group of newspapers in 47 different cities, was the largest ever conducted nationally.

The proposition as placed before the voters was: "Do you favor a larger army and navy?"

The results of the vote in the various cities are as follows:

Atlanta: For, 1,200; Against, 3,500.
Cincinnati: For, 1,500; Against, 2,500.
Chicago: For, 2,000; Against, 3,000.

The early returns from all the cities show a general opposition to the plan.

THE MODERN WAR WAS "MADE IN THE U. S. A."

Submarine, Machine Gun, Aeroplane and Barbed Wire American Invention

"Made in the U. S. A." applies to the ghastly modernness of modern warfare as now waged by the warring powers of Europe.

They must thank American inventors for practically all of the weapons with which they are making the present struggle the bloodiest in history.

Take the sinister submarine, for instance. The first practical submarine torpedo boat was built by Captain David Bushnell of the American revolutionary forces.

Oddly enough, just as British battleships today have been the most terrible scourge of the modern submarine, so it was against a British battleship that Bushnell's primitive submarine directed its attack.

He built it in 1776. A certain Sergeant Lee Manned it, propelled it by hand, and actually drove the strange egg-shaped tub under the hull of a British warship—the Eagle—anchored in New York harbor.

The attack failed to result in blowing up the ship, but it was a success in the only way.

This same Captain Bushnell was the inventor of the first torpedo actually used in a general battle.

It was not till the civil war, however, that torpedoes came into serious use.

Torpedoes fired by the rebels resulted in the destruction of 40 Federal warships. Only one southern vessel was thus destroyed.

The situation is exactly paralleled by that of the British fleet today, which is partly at the mercy of German torpedoes actually because it must keep to the open sea to avoid the blockade.

The machine gun, probably the most terrible of the death dealers now in use, also is a "made in America" invention.

The Gatling gun, invented by Dr. H. J. Gatling, of Indianapolis, in 1862, was the first machine gun to be used in war.

The magazine rifle, likewise, with which all the armies at the front are equipped today, was first brought to practical use in the United States, when a development of the Krag-Jorgensen was adopted by an army band in 1892.

Among many other American inventions which have completely revolutionized war as now played in Europe are the aeroplane, for which credit is universally given to the Wright brothers, which, strung into entanglements, the machine gun, and the silent factor in converting the present European battles into the ghastly unparalleled slaughter of modern warfare.

SLATON ASKS RULING ON TAX FOR BONDS

State and county officers elected in the recent general state election and confirmed in the past few days by Governor Bland are sending their bonds to the governor in some instances without documentary stamps issued under the emergency revenue act of Congress.

Not being sure whether the bonds should bear these stamps or not, the governor has written a letter of inquiry to W. W. Osborn, the collector of internal revenue in Washington, and in the meantime will hold bonds received without documentary stamps subject to Mr. Osborn's direction.

Young Girl Aids the Police in Search for Bu. girl Who Escapes

Quietly studying her lessons at her home, 112 Forrest avenue, about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night, Miss Estelle Lindsey, a member of the Junior class of the Girls' high school, was startled by a scream which appeared to come from the house next door, the home of Mrs. J. T. Stephenson.

Instead of being frightened or calling for help, Miss Lindsey hurried at once to the telephone and notified police station. Then she armed herself with a revolver, boldly opened the front door and rushed over to her neighbor's to see what the trouble was all about.

She found Mrs. Stephenson endeavoring to break into the Stephenson home, but had been seen by Miss Lindsey, a young lady who lives there, had been screaming. When Officers Hallett, Gantt and Blanton arrived on the scene a few moments later, Miss Lindsey accompanied them through the house in search for the burglar.

The three policemen were enthusiastic in praise of her self-control and bravery. It wasn't her fault that the burglar made a safe getaway, they declared.

"Dear editor . . . I want to ask a favor of you. Please ask the people through your paper to give my husband work, or we will be obliged to suffer."

We don't want charity. . . We have been here eleven years, and never was in such a fix."

These are scattered sentences from the letter received at The Journal office Friday from Mrs. Sallie Wright, of 24 Beaman avenue. It tells its own story. The Journal publishes it in the form of a plea that some one will come to the rescue.

"With a sad heart and sore feet" she has been walking the streets, says Mrs. Wright, looking not for charity, but for work. "Wright is a carpenter by trade, and his wife 'will do anything—cook, clean house or anything else."

POLICE BOARD'S POWER ABSOLUTE, SAYS MAYOR

Policemen May Be Hired and Fired Without Chief's Advice, Woodward Holds

The ordinance passed a year ago to make the chief of police "chief in fact as well as in name" is declared a dead letter by Mayor Woodward and if the mayor's policy is carried out the police board will proceed to name policemen, elect police officers, and discharge police officers without reference to the wishes or desires of Chief of Police Beavers.

On the heels of council's action Thursday in sustaining the mayor's veto of the resolution of censure for the police board, which elected three supernumeraries who were not nominated by the chief, Councilman R. L. Dallas and Jesse B. Lee have discovered a section of the city charter, which they and the mayor declare makes illegal and void the Nutting ordinance which the council resolution took the police board to task for violating.

This is section 402 of the charter, which it is claimed by the councilmen, provides that the board has the exclusive right to elect members of the force, only the number to be limited by council ordinance.

CONFLICT IS CLAIMED. Councilman Dallas, before the vote on the veto, said that the ordinance alleged to have been violated conflicted with the charter and the mayor after the meeting Councilman Lee found the charter section in question and took it to the mayor.

"I hope the police board in future," said Mayor Woodward, will proceed to do its work without reference to the howls of petty kickers in council. The board is a chartered body and council has no business to interfere with its work. I hope and believe that the board will in future proceed to do its work, regardless of these kicks. It has the exclusive right to place men in the force, to promote them, and to discharge them, and it should exercise this right without reference to anybody.

The ordinance, which is said to be void, it will take much of their power away from the heads of all departments.

VETO IS SUSTAINED. The mayor's veto of the resolution of censure of the board of police commissioners was sustained by council Thursday afternoon. Only fourteen votes, a majority by one of the members present, instead of the required two-thirds, was mustered for the resolution.

WOMAN WITH VALUABLE SECURITIES DISAPPEARS

Leaves for Bank to Get $1,000 But Fails to Return

Detectives from police headquarters Friday are searching Atlanta for Mrs. L. A. Johnson, who lives near the station on the Marietta car line, and whose car it is said, started to leave Thursday afternoon and has not been heard of since.

According to the report given the police, the woman, who is 38 years old, started to the Third National bank to convert securities, which she possessed into $1,000 cash. This money, according to the report, was taken to W. O. Pincher, a Marietta landowner, for a farm which Mrs. Johnson had contracted to purchase. She is said to have disappeared before reaching the bank.

After a considerable wait, Mrs. Johnson's husband, to whom she was married last June, together with Mr. Pincher, started out in search of her. They traced her to the car line but there all traces ended and after waiting for some time, they grew apprehensive and reported the matter to the police.

NEGRO WORKMAN KILLED WHEN HEAVY WALL FALLS

Man on Top of Structure Escapes by Making Daring Leap

One negro was killed and another saved his own life by a daring jump, when a heavy wall fell from the top of a building under construction on Friday.

Almost the entire population of De Kal street and adjacent alleys, comprising some five hundred people, white and colored, rushed to the scene and looked on with interest at the falling debris.

The structure was engaged in remodeling the old theater. Without realizing it, the building, a two-story brick structure, the wall was about twenty feet high.

Charles Williamson, colored, was working on top of the wall. James Walker, colored, was below. When the wall fell, Williamson leaped clear, but the full force of the bricks struck Walker, burying him under their mass.

Williamson was taken to the Grady hospital, but his injuries are pronounced as superficial. The quickness saved him. Walker was identified from letters in his pocket addressed to him at Springfield, Ala.

For his services as a hallyhoon man to the "World's Museum," so-called, Robert Wingo, late of Canada, has taken out a laborer's lien in the municipal court against Claude Hamilton, who has been given only soup and bread during the past week.

Attorney Thomas H. Goodwin acted for Wingo, and Thursday had two affidavits from the marshal's office on the museum, which is on South Pryor street across from the Kimball house, to see what spot might be levied on in lieu of Wingo's pay.

After viewing the wild woman "from the plains of Texas," and other freaks whose attractions "laments" have been employed to "hark" from the entrance, the bailiffs finally decided that the exhibit was the most valuable possession in sight.

But the exhibit is an unwieldy bird, running to square and neck which offer obstacles in the way of comfortable transportation. The exhibit refused to be moved, coaxed or captured. Instead of being given up in despair, instead of being levied, they set a $14 cash bond for Hamilton, which he made.

Trials of the case have been set for the January term of the municipal court.

Attorney Goodwin promises some interesting revelations regarding freak shows.

He says that his client was lured from his home in Canada by a woman, a negro North Carolina it was reduced to $5 per day, and that of late, there has been no salary forthcoming at all; that Wingo's sole sustenance was soup and bread furnished him along with the wild woman and other show folk.

"Crook Drama" Held To Blame for Spread Of Crime in Atlanta

The "crook drama," as displayed in certain motion picture houses in Atlanta, is held by Chief of Police Beavers to be in large measure responsible for the recent increase of crime in the city.

Discussing the number of burglaries and hold ups which have kept the police busy the past few weeks, the chief declared Friday that in his opinion many a negro thief drew his inspiration from an exciting film in a Decatur street motion picture theater and that both white and colored theaters alike exhibit entirely too many pictures based on crime, murder and half-breeds escape, thus inflaming the ignorant and youthful mind to attempt similar feasts.

Burglars Steal Goat
And Number of Fine
Rhode Island Reds

It's bad enough for burglars to get your money, or your jewelry, or your watch, but when they get your goat, why that's something else again. C. H. Hicks, of 57 Powell street, had a goat which he prized very highly. Just as most people prize their goats, and Thursday night burglars invaded his premises and got the goat and went away with it.

And when one has a flock of fine hens, feeding them for Christmas, and burglars take them away in the night, why that's no laughing matter either. Harry L. Schlesinger, well-known Atlanta, who lives at 275 West Peachtree street, woke up Friday morning to find his chicken house empty. The burglars had picked him clean-taking an assortment of fifteen Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks and Leghorns. Mr. Schlesinger is rather surprised they didn't take his automobile, as long as they were about it.

W. B. Stephens, of 163 Whitehall street, is in the same boat with Mr. Schlesinger. They got four hens from him Thursday night. Among the others visited by burglars during the night were C. C. Edwards, of 233 Oak street, where they got two pistols and a savings bank containing $5, and Miss Marion Rosenberg, of 148 Washington street, where they got a gold watch.

FARM CREDITS MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION

Farmer Pays Too Much Interest, Says Former New York Central Head

(By Associated Press.)
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 11.—Farm wealth of the United States estimated at $40,000,000,000, should be the basis on which the prosperity of the country rests permanently, yet there is no adequate law under which to finance the farm. That was the condition described here today at the Interstate Agricultural congress by W. C. Brown, former president of the New York Central railroad.

"The establishment of farm credits is one of the most important questions now before the nation," Mr. Brown said. "The farmer is paying twice the interest he should. Long-time loan at a low rate would enable the farmer to properly finance his work, and it is financing upon which depends to a large degree the prosperity of the country."

HEBREW SUNDAY SCHOOL IN CHANUCHAH CONCERT

The Hebrew Sunday school of the congregation Ahavath Achim will give a Chanukah concert on Sunday, December 13, at 4:30 p. m., at the Gilmer street synagogue, corner of Gilmer street and Piedmont avenue.

A most interesting and instructive program has been arranged by M. Shelnbaum, under whose direction it is given. Dr. Solo, H. Goldstone is the musical director and Rabbi Dr. H. Yood will make the principal address. The Young Israel club will take an active part in the program and will light the Chanukah candles.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By Charlotte W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit picked up his long ears and listened. Could it be, could it possibly be, that that dog was barking on his trail? Had certainly been setting excited over something right before Peter had been a little while before, and Peter strongly suspected that that something was the scent he had left in his tracks when he was there.

"I believe it is," muttered Peter. "I certainly believe it is. I'll have a little run with that dog and then when I get tired I'll play a trick or two on him and go home to the dear Old Briar Patch."

Now, Peter knew that he should have been in the dear Old Briar Patch long before, here it was broad daylight and he was still in the Green Forest. He knew just what little Mrs. Peter would say to him when he did go home, and he knew that he deserved it. The truth is Peter had felt so good the night before and had had so much fun scampering around in the moonlight, which he dearly loves, that he just hadn't realized how late it was getting until quite suddenly he had discovered that Mistress Moon had retired, and Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun had begun his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. Even then he had delayed starting for the Old Briar Patch. "I am so late, anyway, that it won't make any difference if I'm a little later," he had thought.

Now a dog had found his tracks and he was likely to have to do some running to keep a whole skin. Peter thought didn't trouble him much. He had been chased many a time by dogs, and he knew that he looked on it as a game. To be sure, this dog wasn't Bowser the Hound. He knew that by his voice. But he didn't care. He felt quite sure that he could fool any dog, and if he couldn't why there was the dear Old Briar Patch. He could always find safety in that.

So Peter sat listening and not at all frightened. He would wait until the dog almost reached him, and then he would lead that dog's merry chase until he was tired, when he would fool him and go home. Nearer and nearer came the dog, and of course the nearer he got the fresher was the scent in Peter's tracks and the easier they were to follow. When the dog was almost

FEDERALS WERE WISE IN GRABBING STAR PLAYERS SAYS HUGH FULLERTON

Walter Johnson

Johnson, Bender, Plank and Others Will Prove Big Enough Cards to Draw Through Turnstiles Even More Than They Cost in Purchase and Salaries

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Finally we are beginning to get some kind of a line on the baseball situation.

The American league is split into two factions, with Johnson still in control by a safe majority. The National league is divided into three factions, and it is doubtful whether Tener can control a majority in case of a strike fight.

In the recent raids the Feds have attacked the American league viciously, and taken what was loose in the National league. There no longer remains a doubt but that the players of both leagues are strongly in favor of the Feds. The declaration of certain club owners that their first step after peace with the national league was the destruction of the players' association has borne fruit.

If it is evident from some of the later contracts, that the major club owners at first were very much alarmed and signed their players to straight, gal and binding contracts. Later in the season some of the clubs tried another scheme. They offered the players what practically is a trick contract—no more binding upon the club than the old form, but on its face at least, binding upon the players. They were trying to keep them from signing contracts for three years yet hold the monopoly upon the services of that player just so long as they desired.

Some of the contracts evolved by "smart" lawyers ought to be printed in the comic supplements, handed out to an attorney a few days ago and after studying it he remarked:

"What is this, an effort to bluff someone into thinking he has a contract?"

From a playing standpoint the Feds have acquired much strength and yet have not weakened the old league in any great extent. It is true that Walter Johnson, Eddie Plank and Chief Bender, who drew in at the rate all the money they saw in the Fed in one trip around the circuit. I can imagine that at Indianapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis and Baltimore, where these stars have not been seen in action, they will attract big crowds. Johnson's first game in Chicago ought to bring $5,000 additional to the gate.

In cold advertising space each one of these men now has repaid the Feds.

Herman or Pappas May Meet Williams Here

The winner of the bout between Kid Herman and Jimmy Pappas at the 31st street theatre Tuesday night may be given a chance to meet either Frankie Burns or Champion Kid Williams before an Atlanta club. Mike Saul, who is bringing these two boys together, believes he will have no trouble in getting either of these two boxes here for a match, and both of the contestants for Tuesday night are anxious for a try at this pair.

It is to be expected that Herman and Pappas have never had such an opportunity offered him. From present indications the bout Tuesday night should be one of the best ever staged here.

Discussion of One-Year Rule Expected to Be Chief Topic, Tech Represented at Meeting

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 11.—Chief among the problems for discussion at the meeting today of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic association was proposed abolition of the rule which prohibits that year men from playing on a university football team. It was understood representatives of Vanderbilt university favored returning to the four year plan and were supported by many other delegates.

Georgia Technological Institute, which is not a member of the association, has representative present and it was the belief that certain demands it has presented will be accepted and that the institution will join the conference.

Representatives from twenty-three colleges and universities were here when the conference got under way. A general discussion was opened on football, basketball and other college athletics and the minutes were outlined.

The News BY INNIS BROWN

While the one-year rule at football is expected to prove the liveliest proposition at the annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, which convenes in Lexington today, other important developments hinge on the outcome of this gathering. Chief among these is the effect the action taken by the meeting will have on football schedules for next year.

Tech is not a member of the association now, and it is not anticipated that the Jackets will ask to be taken back in at an early date. In fact, if the move to get back is made at this meeting, the proposition will be a rather sudden one, since no intimation has been given out that a return to the fold has been anticipated at any definite time. Yet in spite of the fact that they are out of the fold, the Jackets are delaying the actual closing up of their 1915 schedule until the outcome of the meeting has been learned.

The local eleven has been swamped with requests for games next fall. Practically every prominent team in the association has applied for a place on the schedule, while as many more teams from other sections have identified a desire to be listed among the Jackets' arduous appointments for next season.

Among others who are regarded as likely to land a place on the schedule is the strong North Carolina team. When Carolina visited the city during the past season for the game with Georgia, the Tech authorities held a post-football meeting with the coaches and manager, looking toward a game next fall. But no contracts have been signed covering a game with the Tar Heels, nor with any others, but it is generally believed that the Carolina eleven will withdraw the football guests to appear at Grant field next fall.

Up at Vanderbilt the authorities are pursuing the same course with reference to a schedule for next season. Contracts covering games with Virginia and Auburn have been signed. These were signed last season and have not been more than run yet. But rather than these, the Commodores have set no other dates, unless it be the annual Thanksgiving game with the Sewanee Tigers. There is a strong feeling in Nashville that unless the one-year rule is repealed Vanderbilt will withdraw from the association.

The Commodore's schedule next season will call for a trip to Charlottesville to play Virginia. If they play Michigan they will doubtless be called on to journey to Ann Arbor.

In signing up a schedule for next season, it is due to make two trials, and it is hardly case counts. Auburn was played in Birmingham, and Michigan is scheduled to play the Jackets in Nashville. The team will play the Jackets in Nashville, and the Jackets will play the team in Nashville.

The action of the meeting will have a great effect on the football schedules for next year. The action of the meeting will have a great effect on the football schedules for next year.

CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 6 to 21 Points Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Cotton was 60000

tied early today owing to the circulation of December notices, estimated at about 3,000 bales, and renewed liquidation. Yesterday's government estimate evidently inspired comparatively little selling in Liverpool as the cables were better than due, but after opening steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points, the local market eased off. December was relatively easy and there seemed to be southern selling as well as scattering

Trading became somewhat less active around midday, but the market continued easy with prices some 6 to 16 points net lower during the early afternoon.

The interior statement for the week fully shows the free movement of cotton in Texas and confirms the reports of free selling. Dallas

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11.—Cotton futures advanced one to four points in the early trading today chiefly as the result of a better Liverpool market than due. Shorts were inclined to cover and the demand from them was met by only small selling orders.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—There was reticence in selling on and after the call coming from the ring generally. This was said to be because selling from the south, Liverpool and Wall street interests. The only buying of consequence came from one or two brokers which was thought to be trade buying. Sentiment continues very bearish since yesterday's position figures and the news that the market indicates a crop around 17,000,000 bushels. The demand for October was especially noticeable.

not the heavy selling was too much for the limited support. However, at the moment the market is steady and short covering may sustain prices around present levels for a short time, but the general trend looks lower.—Anderson.
